DISMISSED COMPLAINTS

22 WITNESSES CALLED

Hearing Before a Large Crowd, Lasted Three Hours—Judge Advises a Love-Feast of Factions.

After a three-hour hearing, in which twenty-two witnesses were examined, the charge of disorderly conduct made against Rev. J. W. Mitchell, by Deacon Mansfield Robinson, as a counter-move in the Calvary church row, was dismissed by Justice Hand last night. The case was dismissed on the ground that the act on which the charge was based, ordering the arrest of Rev. P. T. Morris in the pulpit, on warrant, did not constitute disorder.

"I cannot bring myself to see that this of itself constitutes a breach of the peace," says Justice Hand in the written decision, handed down this morning. "Were it otherwise, no one would be safe in swearing out a warrant and having an arrest made. The preponderance of testimony," the decision says further on, "was to the effect that the arrest was made in a very quiet and orderly manner. From other testimony it appears that the defendant was following the advice of his lawyer in pursuing the course he did."

In concluding the decision, Justice Hand says: "I would advise all concerned to get together in a love-feast, and settle their dispute without appealing to the criminal courts."

The court room was crowded to the doors a quarter of an hour before the time set for the opening. Judge Hand came in later and by the time the hearing opened there was no room at all inside the doors and very little in the hall. The audience was of all hues, with very little white in the variety. The supporters of the two sides followed the testimony with interest so deep that the collapse of the building would hardly have ruffled it. Encouraging exclamations came from different groups, as the witnesses gave testimony that appealed to them.

Former Justice F. J. Huff, who is now practicing law, sat on the bench with Justice Hand in the role of associate judge.

W. S. Angleman, counsel for the defense, made the usual motion to dismiss. Answering his query, Clarence L. Murphy, counsel for the prosecution, said he was proceeding under the law covering breaches of the peace, and Mr. Angleman asked for a dismissal on the ground that the complaint failed to show any breach of the peace. The court ordered the case on.

Deacon Mansfield Robinson, the complainant, was the first witness for the prosecution. He testified that the service at which Mr. Mitchell was alleged to have committed the disorder was a "sisters' meeting," and not in charge of Rev. P. T. Morris, whose claim to the pulpit Mitchell disputed on behalf of Rev. Mr. Bailey. Deacon Robinson said Mitchell brought on a lot of disorder, noise and hubbub by having Mr. Morris arrested. He described the arrest and the fuss that followed. The witness swore he was head deacon and had charge of all keys to the church property. He told how the trustees of the church had called Morris to the pastorate. He said the trustees did the calling under the church law.

In cross-examining the witness, Lawyer Angleman brought down on himself a sharp rebuke from the court. Justice Hand said the lawyer was handling the witness with undue severity, and he didn't intend to have anything like that in his court.

Rev. Mr. Morris took the stand and told his view of the occurrence and of the pastorate tangle. He is an unusually intelligent man, with practically no trace of dialect in his speech, and his testimony was presented in clear, precise language.

He threw a little confusion into the prosecution's camp early in his testimony by bringing out the fact that Mr. Angleman had been present at the "sisters' meeting." Mr. Angleman looked a trifle tired as the statement was made.

Morris told how a committee of trustees had waited on him with the call to the pastorate on February 7. He admitted that the vote was 64 to 47 for Bailey at the congregational meeting, but said the trustees had found evidence of alleged illegal voting by Morris supporters. He understood that his forty-seven votes were all of undoubted regularity. A letter from the board of trustees, calling him to the pastorate at $40 a month was shown. Mr. Morris testified that the meeting at which he was arrested was in charge of a sister of the church, and that he was not in the position of one conducting the service at the time.

WILL FORGERY CASE ON

Slow Progress Being Made in the Trial of Blaurenburg Farmer.

DEFENDANT BENEFITS

William Lanehart Either Did Or Did Not Bequeath His Neighbor $8,000—Some Witnesses Examined.

The Lanehart will case, in which an effort is being made to prove William H. Skillman, a farmer, of Blawenburg, a forger of the alleged will of his neighbor, the late William Lanehart, is which he is a beneficiary to the amount of $8,000, is moving slowly in the Somerset Orphans' Court at Somerville. Only four witnesses have been examined in two days.

William H. Skillman left the stand Tuesday after undergoing a grueling cross-examination, which failed to break down his story that he drew the will according to the dictation of Lanehart. Skillman is a keen old man, who studied law in his younger days, and who for a number of years occupied the position of president of the New Jersey Horticultural Society.

Skillman was followed to the stand by W. H. Ely, one of the witnesses of the alleged will. His memory was somewhat hazy as to the day and date he witnessed the will. He said he did not go to Skillman's house for the purpose of witnessing the will. He happened to drive there to see Skillman. As he neared the house Skillman opened the door and called him in. In the house he met old man Lanehart, who said: "Ely, I have been making my will, and I want you to witness it."

Ely described the manner in which Lanehart had signed the will while seated at Skillman's desk, after which he and Jerry Skillman, a son of William Skillman, affixed their signatures as witnesses to the will at the request of Lanehart. Ely said that he did not read the will or did not hear it read, and that he had no knowledge at the time of its contents. He identified the will in evidence as the one he signed, and swore that he saw Lanehart write his signature on it.

He said he observed that Lanehart's signature was written in a shaky hand and that it "run up hill."

Ely was asked several times during the course of the cross-examination about the date of the "Asbury sale" in the neighborhood. He remembered the sale, but could not remember the date of it. It is intimated that the counsel for the contestants will attempt to prove that Ely was at the Asbury sale and could not possibly have been at the Skillman house at the time it is alleged that the will was executed.

Rev. John S. Van Orden, a former pastor of the Blawenburg Reformed church, testified that he had an intimate acquaintance with both Skillman and Lanehart, and had frequently heard Lanehart talk in a complimentary manner of Skillman.

J. H. Skillman, the son of William Skillman, and the second witness to the alleged will, swore that he could not remember the day or date that he had witnessed the will nor the date of the Asbury sale. He believed that he witnesed the will some time in February, 1905.

OPERA CLUB WILL BE ORGANIZED MONDAY.

Charles J. Fisk to Be Asked to Accept Presidency.

Those who presented the comic opera, "The Pirates of Penzance," at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night will meet at the Casino Monday night, when it is expected that definite steps will be taken toward forming a permanent organization. Former Mayor Charles J Fisk, who was largely responsible for the recent production, will probably attend, it being the desire to make him president.

It will not be known for several days as to the profits for the Day Nursery, for which charity the opera was given. While the City Union, King's Daughters, was deeply interested in the production and did all in its power to make it a success, directly it had nothing to do with the affair.

Banquet Tonight.

Since the announcement that Governor E. C. Stokes would speak with Senator Everett Colby at the "Junior American banquet" at the Casino tonight, it is expected that there will be 200 at the affair. The committee has planned to hold an informal reception for Governor Stokes, Senator Colby and other invited guests from 8 to 8:30 o'clock. An orchestra will play during the first part of the evening.

"MAYOR BILL" A FUGITIVE

All But Kills Barber at Caldwell Following a Quarrel.

POLICE SEEKING HIM.

Victim Has Concussion of the Brain and May Not Live—Was Smith's Tenant.

Though "Mayor Bill" Smith shook the dust of New Market from his feet, reports from Essex county indicate that his propensity for getting into trouble has not been lessened any by his change of location. He has been living at the little village of Caldwell and the residents have been sitting up and taking notice ever since he arrived. All his doings have been of the minor sort until yesterday, when "Bill's" pugnaciousness asserted itself and he is now a fugitive from justice, having all but killed John Ottenheimer, the only barber in the place.

Ottenheimer has been conducting a shop in a building owned by the Fair heir and because of the latter's "butting in" habit, bad blood has existed between them. They got into a wordy argument yesterday and the "mayor" suddenly felled the barber with a terrific blow. His head struck the floor and he remained there senseless. When picked up it was found he had concussion of the brain and he is now in a serious condition. His life was despaired of last night, but physicians succeeded in keeping him alive but did not restore consciousness.

Smith disappeared after the assault and the police have since been looking for him. Word has been sent to all his old haunts and a strict watch has been kept for him at places where he might be apt to seek refuge. New Market was included in the warned district, but Bill had gone when the word reached there.

"Mayor Bil" left New Market several months ago, claiming to friends that he was harassed too much by "this one and that one" and that he was going to Caldwell to live quietly. Other relatives of the late Mrs. Fair have always made their home there and Smith's mother, the late Mrs. Nelson, was with them a great deal of the time just previous to her death.

Bill skipped for New Market after the row. He had no time to pack a portmanteau and fled for the seclusion of his old village in his slippers. The New Marketers were amazed by Bill's sudden and shoeless descent, and the village hummed with the talk thereon. He told them he'd had a row in Caldwell, but they didn't learn then that he was wanted by the police.

The fugitive child of fortune put up at the hotel of his brother-in-law, Charles Thornton. Bill gave the hotel to Thornton in the early days of his fortune. The "mayor" stayed there until late in the afternoon, when he disappeared. He went off with a pair of Thornton's shoes, it is said, and equipped for a longer journey. He probably decided New Market was too easy a guess for the Caldwell police and hiked for some section where he wasn't known.

DUNLAP ROW TO BE CHANGED IN CHARACTER

NEGRO FAMILIES WILL GO OUT; HOUSES RENOVATED.

The row of shanties on East Sixth street near Richmond, owned by the Abram Dunlap estate, is to be renovated and improved. The improvement of the property will change the character of the tenantry from black to white.

There are twelve houses in the row and the twenty families in them are all colored, but one, which is Italian. Over one hundred negroes, old and young, live there.

The improvement of the row was considered some time ago. It was realized that the change would make the houses the natural location for the men of the Scott shop, and the move was definitely announced yesterday. This morning dispossess notices were served on the tenants, giving them until April 1 to get out.

As soon as the tenants leave work on the houses will begin. They will be completely overhauled and put in first class modern shape. They will be all but rebuilt.

Found Cummutation Ticket.

If the person who lost a March commutation ticket good for passage between Netherwood and Aldene will call on William J. Whalen, secretary and treasurer of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, the ticket will cheerfully be returned to him.

GASTON IS POSTMASTER

President Roosevelt Appoints Senators Reed's Friend to Somerville Berth.

HE SUCCEEDS COOPER

Charles H. Bateman Defeated Candidate—Frelinghuysen Recommended Gaston.

President Roosevelt yesterday nominated John G. Gaston, acting postmaster of Somerville, to be the postmaster at that place. This settles the matter as far as Charles A. Bateman, present editor of the Somerville Unionist-Gazette, who was an active candidate for the post, is concerned.

Senator Frelinghuysen, chairman of the Somerset County Republican Committee, had agreed on Gaston for the post. Gaston is a friend of former Senator Charles A. Reed, who, as counsel for former Postmaster Cooper's bondsmen, had him appointed to the position temporarily. The differences between Senator Frelinghuysen and Senator Reed were settled at the outset of the last campaign.

Congressman Wood said that he was out of it and would recommend for appointment the man whom Senator Frelinghuysen selected. The matter terminated yesterday when Gaston was nominated by the President.

FIREMAN NARROWLY ESCAPES FATAL BURNS

SPRANG FROM HOUSE WITH CLOTHES IN FLAMES.

In a small fire which occurred at the home of J. V. Beekman, on West Seventh street, at 1:30 this afternoon, Frank Hart, of No. 2 hose, had a narrow escape from being fatally burned. The blaze in the place was caused by gasolene and in throwing out a can containing it, Hart's clothes became ignited. He sprang from the house enveloped in flames and outside was caught by a man whose identity was not learned. He ripped the fireman's coat up the back, tearing it off, and then with his hands beat out the rest of the blaze. Hart's neck was severely scorched and he was also badly burned about the hands.

The fire was caused by the ignition of gasolene being used by Mrs. Beekman to clean some wearing apparel. The can contained six quarts of the liquid and having been exposed the fumes had filled the room. Mrs. Beekman quickly shut the door and notified fire headquarters by telephone, Chief Doane and No. 2's men arriving in a few minutes. A chemical stream was put on the blaze, but fearing that it would prove dangerous a gong alarm was turned in from box 32. The removal of the can lessened the trouble and the rest was out before the remained of the apparatus reached the scene. The damage was trifling.

MAY ABOLISH PEW RENTS AT FIRST BAPTIST.

Suggested that Envelope System Be Substituted as Source of Revenue.

For the purpose of increasing the revenue from the weekly envelope system, the Men's Club of the First Baptist church has appointed a committee of twenty to make a canvass of the membership. This system of supporting the church expenses other than through the pew rents, has been in force but a few years and out of a membership of between 900 and 1,000 there are about 200 contributors by the weekly envelope system.

Another change that has been suggested by the Men's Association to be considered by the trustees of the church is that of abolishing pew rents entirely and depend upon the envelope system for its revenue. If a sufficient number of members agree to contribute to the church by this system, it would not be difficult to give up the rentals obtained from the pews, for the revenue would be larger through the other system.

Big Lenten Congregations.

Large congregations attended the Ash Wednesday services at the Catholic and Episcopal churches yesterday. The evening congregations were, of course, the largest. St. Mary's church was crowded at night. At St. Mary's and St. Joseph's churches the ashes were blessed in the morning, and distributed both then and at the evening service. Father Bogan, at St. Mary's, and Father Miller, at St. Joseph's, delivered sermons appropriate to the day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shearness, of Mt. Bethel, are spending several days with Mrs. Caroline Sharp, of East Second street.

MET DEATH ON CROSSING

David Eriksen's Anxiety to Reach Home Costs Him His Life.

DODGED UNDER GATES

Accident at Garwood Witnessed by Fellow-Workmen— Companion Has Narrow Escape.

Dodging under the crossing gate opposite the Garwood station of the New Jersey Central last night, David Eriksen, of West Third street, stepped directly in front of the eastbound express which leaves this city at 5:44. He attempted to jump back, but was struck and hurled fifty feet up the tracks. When spectators reached his side life was extinct, death having been instantaneous. The pilot of the locomotive had crushed his head, otherwise the body was not mangled.

Eriksen is a carpenter and had been employed at the Aeolian works. With several companions, he started for the station to get a train home, and finding the gate down became impatient. He and another man darted beneath, thinking they could get over before the express could reach the crossing. It was making up lost time and traveling at the rate of sixty miles an hour, something the men had not reckoned upon. They realized their danger when too late, but both attempted to get out of the way. The companion missed Eriksen's fate by barely a few inches. He is also a Plainfielder, and was in a state of nervous collapse when he reached home.

Eriksen was thirty-five years old, single, and boarded at the home of Mrs. Emma J. Wolf, on West Third street, near Monroe avenue. He came to this country from Sweden a year ago and was employed by several local contractors before getting the place at Garwood. He has one brother in Plainfield, who also makes his home at Mrs. Wolf's.

The body was taken to the Cranford freight station and is being held there pending proper disposition. A certificate of removal was granted by County Physician Westcott and it is probable that the Carpenters' Union will take the matter in charge. The funeral will be held at his late home.

TALKS ON HIGH LICENSE

Sermons on Liquor Question to Be Heard in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's.

ON SUNDAY NEXT

Catholic Church Like the Episcopal Church Disapproves of Local Option and Takes Firm Stand.

Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, yesterday sent out a letter to all the priests in the Trenton diocese, including Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, asking for special sermons next Sunday on the liquor question at the last mass. A similar letter will be sent out to the priests of the Newark diocese, and Father Bogan, of St. Mary's church, this city, will receive one.

The letter is accompanied by copies of a petition which rectors have been urged to sign calling upon the Legislature to pass Senate bills 136 and 137, known as the high license bills, on the ground that they are interests of morality and good government.

Bishop McFaul in his letter says:

"At this session of the New Jersey Legislature there have been introduced bills, copies of which are herewith enclosed, regulating the liquor traffic. Doubtless an attempt will be made to modify some of their features. These bills substantially represent laws already on the statute books, which, however, have not been duly enforced. Experience has taught that only a healthy, strong public opinion will cause municipal authorities and grand jurors to do their duty, owing to the intermixing of the saloon with politics.

"It behooves us to arouse our people to a sense of the terrible abuse of intoxicants permitted against existent aw, to control the influence of those who are debauching our young men and bringing our young women to disgrace and ruin.

"Every one knows that the Catholic church does not condemn the use of liquor. Let it be clearly understood, therefore, that this campaign is inaugurated solely against prevailing abuses.

"Kindly bring the subject to the notice of your people at all the masses on next Sunday, March 4, and preach a special sermon on the subject at the last mass.

"Enclosed you will also find a petition, which you will please sign and forward to me immediately. All these petitions are to be presented en masse to the Legislature on Monday night, March 5, 1906, without fail."

SIX SENTENCES BY JUDGE VAIL.

Prisoners Arraigned in the Court of Quarter Sessions Yesterday.

In the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth, yesterday, before Judge Vail, several persons were arraigned and sentenced.

Frederick Hand, recently convicted of the larceny of chickens, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10.

Thomas Brady, who pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with breaking and entering, was placed in the hands of the probation officer.

Harry Inman, who recently pleaded guilty to an assault and battery, was sentenced to one day in jail. He has already been confined in jail thirty-one days.

Joseph Schulze, charged with destroying telephone wire, was released on his own recognizance in the sum of $100 to appear for trial at the May term of court.

Stanislau Mercovage, indicted for assault and battery, was admitted to $200 bail to appear for trial at the next term of court.

Tea for Miss Acly.

Mrs. W. G. Wright, of West Eighth street, gave a tea at her home on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Julia Acly, formerly a resident of this city, but now of Paris. Those assisting Mrs. Wright were Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, Mrs. Percy Stewart, Mrs. Charles Andrews, Mrs. John Doull Miller, Mrs. William Wherry, Mrs. William S. Tyler, Mrs. Frederick Mygatt and Miss Anne Murphy. Miss Acly will sail for home the latter part of March.

Annual Auto Parade.

With the increased number of automobiles in Plainfield and vicinity, the annual auto parade to be held in June will undoubtedly be an interesting event. Although no steps have been taken as yet to arrange for the event, a meeting will probably be held within a few weeks for that purpose. Not only has the number of machines increased, but the style of them will make it possible to have a parade that will be well worth seeing.

FANS HERE ARE ASLEEP

Unless Daab is Assured of Support, Plainfield Will Have no Team.

A MEETING SUGGESTED

Hoboken Manager Will Not Accept Offer From Denman—May Go to Morristown, However.

While fandom throughout the country is awakening from its winter lethargy local baseball fans have failed to take any steps toward having a first class team here this season. Everyone is waiting for some one to take the initiative and in consequence nothing is being done. One thing is sure, speedy action must be taken or the class of baseball presented here last year will not be witnessed on the local diamond.

Manager Philip Daab, of Hoboken, who gave Plainfield the best baseball in its history during 1905, is willing to assume his share of the responsibility and manage the team, providing there are others who will take the rest of the responsibility and support him. For him to finance and manage the team is out of the question and he will not do it. Several leading baseball enthusiasts have been approached on the subject, but as yet they have failed to interest the fans.

It is now suggested that a meeting be held soon and that all persons interested in having a team here this season be invited to attend. It is further suggested that Mr. Daab be asked to attend the meeting and give his views on the subject. In this way the ball could be started, and no doubt an organization formed that would support a strong team such as represented this city in 1905. It is conceded by the merchants that the team last year was a good advertisement for Plainfield and was instrumental in bringing many people to town. In a city of the size of Plainfield it should not be difficult to support such a team, and it is believed that it can be done.

Mr. Daab lost money in Plainfield last year through a chain of circumstances not likely to occur again, but he believes that with an organization properly formed it would be possible to declare a dividend at the end of the season. He is perfectly willing to co-operate with the fans in any way that is satisfactory and practical. His team is well known as the strongest semi-professional aggregation in this part of the country and capable of playing the best ball. With proper support it can be brought here again.

There is some truth in a report that Manager Daab considered going to Westfield, but this arrangement is now off for good. Mr. Daab received a flattering offer from Manager Denman, and he was invited to meet the fans of Westfield and talk it over. Mr. Daab informed the Westfield manager that he would not consider his proposition at all until the Plainfield matter was disposed of, but in view of other happenings he has now decided that he will not entertain any proposition from Westfield. He has received another offer to represent the Morristown-Chatham Club, but as yet has not given it much thought.

An effort will be made within a few days to fix a date for a meeting of the fans when Mr. Daab can be present. It has been suggested that a Saturday afternoon or night would be the best time and as soon as arrangements are completed the date will be announced.

Reports from the Westfield Standard indicate that baseball will be dead in that town this season. If this is true a team here would be sure to attract many lovers of the game.

Basketball Schedule.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball five, first team, has an exceptionally strong schedule for this month, beginning with the third and deciding game with the Atlantic Boat Club on Saturday night. Each team has won a game by a close score, and Saturday's contest will be of great interest. Other contests arranged for March include the last one with Newark Y. M. C. A., at Newark, two with Montclair, one here and one at Montclair, and one game with Orange Y. M. C. A., on the local courts. All of these teams are well-known in the basketball world and they will make the locals hustle to win.

She Was Eighteen.

Miss Clara Meyer, of West Sixth street, was eighteen years old Tuesday night, and her mother arranged a surprise party to mark the event. About thirty young people attended it. Games, singing and refreshments were enjoyed.

Rev. Mr. Field to Speak.

At the men's meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., the Rev. Elliott Field, of East Orange, will be the speaker. His subject will be: "Wanted, a Man." George H. Isaac will be the soloist.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The patrons of Joe Weber's cosy theatre now have better opportunity than ever before to witness the fun-making ability of this comedian and his company of all star players. "Twiddle Twaddle" is still retained but a new burlesque, "The Squaw Man's Girl of the Golden West," was added Monday night and has done more than anything in recent years to make audiences laugh. It is a travesty on two current Far West play successes and those who have seen either of the dramas can readily see what opportunities are offered such a capable organization as makes Weber's its home. Chief in the cast are Joe Weber, Marie Dressler, Charles A. Bigelow, Lee Harrison, Ernest Lambart, Edward J. Connolly, Sam Marion, Bonnie Magin, Flora Zabelle, May Montfort, Edith Moyer and Erminie Earle.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Belief that the move marks covert action against Supervising Principal Lester Meserole is said to be back of the opposition of Rev. W. W. Casselberry, and those who supported him, to the outside high school course advocated by the school board. It is said on authority of men who should know what they are talking about that Mr. Meserole's friends are, or at least, were at the time of the meeting, convinced that the majority of the board desired to force Mr. Meserole out, and pursued the plan for a full four years' course out of town to make it uncomfortable for him. Mr. Meserole is known to be opposed to that plan, believing a two years' course here, as at present, with only two years away from the local school, to be the best solution of the problem. He is said to have made no attempt to conceal his convictions on the subject, stating them openly to his personal friends as well as the board members. President Frederick spoke privately to some of Mr. Meserole's friends after Monday's meetings, it is said, and assured them that the board was not figuring Mr. Meserole in its stand on the high school course; they were given to understand that what he thought or did not think, or did, or said, had no bearing on the question for them. Mr. Frederick quiety pointed out that if the board felt impelled to oust Mr. Meserole it didn't have to go through any circuitous intrigue—a simple refusal on its part to sign his contract for another year would put him out without the need for any further action. It does not look exactly as if Mr. Meserole was going toward the parting of the ways, but the relations between him and the majority of the board are not particularly friendly.

Some sanguine New Marketers see a great chance for the village if the South Plainfield borough bill goes through. The chance is that the Lehigh might be induced to move its coal storage to this end of the township on a part remission of taxes basis.

Melvin Smalley again secured an adjournment of his hearing before Judge Von Minden yesterday. He will be arraigned in two weeks. The defense intends to fight hard, and the hearing is likely to be the most interesting of the lot.

An interesting and well attended meeting was held at the Presbyterian church last night. "Why Not Believe?" was the topic. "Why Tarry?" will be the subject tonight.

It is the general impression in this end of the township that the South Plainfield borough bill is doomed. The railroad objection is regarded as fatal.

Antone Marienschenck will be unable to use his injured hand, which was caught in a planer last week, for seven or eight days yet.

Mrs. Eugene Runyon entertained Friendship Circle at its bi-weekly meeting yesterday. The usual good time was enjoyed.

C. T. Rogers and A. E. Curtis are delegates to the State meeting of the A. O. U. W. to be held at Camden March 7.

Bartley Kelly is steadily regaining his strength. He is likely to be brought home in two weeks.

John Evans will make a number of improvements to his new farm this spring.

William Piddington, Jr., has returned from a stay in Long Branch.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Several of the members of Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will attend the Junior's banquet tonight at the Casino. Governor E. C. Stokes and Assemblyman Everett Colby will be the speakers of the evening.

March 1 will see but few changes in residences among the residents here, for the reason that good houses are not available, the demand far exceeding the supply.

Yesterday marked the beginning of Lent. Special services were held at All Saints' Episcopal church, Rev. Mr. Mulford, rector of the church, being in charge.

Several days ago the boys in town were beginning to play ball, yesterday they were skating. This is certainly the extreme.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Collins, who have been residents of the borough for several years, have removed to Westfield.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Buckley have removed from their Stout avenue property to their cottage on Park avenue.

Mrs. Frank Perry, of McKinley avenue, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Schreiner, of Mountain avenue.

Robert T. Johnston, of Chicago, Ill., has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Edward M. Johnston.

The sudden change in the temperature again has made skating good on the smaller ponds.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A question asked of the Lehigh Valley Railroad representative at the borough bill hearing at Trenton, Tuesday, was: "What difference does it make who 'guns' you; whether the borough or the Piscataway township?" This question was asked by a member of the Legislative Law Committee after the representative of the L. V. Company had remarked that the boroughites were gunning after the coal storage proportion of taxes.

The deacons of the South Plainfield Baptist church were the guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Cubberley at dinner yesterday at the parsonage.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. William Auten, of Somerville, is visiting relatives here for a few days.

Miss Ida Backer, of this city, has returned home from a visit with relatives at Whitehouse.

Mrs. Nathaniel Wildes, of Delaware, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Maury Corbin, who were recently married here, are now in Cuba. They expect to proceed to their home in Cincinnati during March.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Weightman, of Philadelphia, who have been visiting Mrs. Weightman's mother, Mrs. Rowland Cox, of West Seventh street, have returned home.

Miss Caroline Dawes, who took the part of "Mabel" in "The Pirates of Penzance," Tuesday night, has returned to her home in Westfield, after spending several days in town.

Frank O. Reinhart, of Belvidere avenue, who has been visiting at Fairmount, Va., returned home the forepart of the week ill with typhoid fever. His condition is quite serious, two trained nurses being in constant attendance.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

All of the scenes and incidents contained in "Mr. Dooley," the musical comedy of novel distinction and which will be offered at the New Plainfield theatre tonight, are very much alive with frolicsome interest and the action moves with such alacrity that the merrymakers are kept in a constant turmoil of comical antics. The surprising number of high class musical gems and the song infusions of characteristic tunefulness are said to run a pretty tight race during the intervals allotted for the relief of the exciting comedy work.

A successful play must do something more than entertain. The pieces that live are the ones which teach some strong lesson. The American public has no sympathy with the playwright who throws together a lot of impossible rubbish, gives it a daring name, and inveigles some manager to produce it. Phil Hunt, who will bring "A Crown of Thorns" to the New Plainfield theatre Saturday for afternoon and night performances, has never been in sympathy with this class of people. All of his productions have been noteworthy for their unoffensive strength and purity of theme, and it is claimed that "A Crown of Thorns" is no exception to the rule. The play is the work of Jay Hunt, the author of "Hearts of Gold," which fact alone is a guarantee.

The coming of Miss Florence Hamilton in "The Senator's Wife," on Monday, March 5, at the New Plainfield theatre, will be looked for eagerly by local theatregoers. No attraction leaving Metropolitan shores this season has been so successful from both an artistic and a financial standpoint as the above production. Miss Hamilton's performances have always been a delight and gratification to her many admirers, but this year she far surpasses any thing she has done in the past. No expense has been spared or detail overlooked to make "The Senator's Wife" the acme of dramatic perfection.

One of Charles E. Blaney's latest sensational melodramatic novelties, "More to Be Pitied Than Scorned," is the offering for next Tuesday night at Manager Counihan's popular playhouse. The play is said to be of an original and unique type, and is a combination of the tragic, humorous and unusual. The play deals with characters connected with the church and stage, is in five acts and eight scenes, the scenic equipment of this company being unusually large. The principal scene shows a full-dress rehearsal of the Amphion Stock Co. This scene has aroused the wildest enthusiasm, requiring twenty supernumaries in addition to the thirty principals, who are in the cast.

"From Rags to Riches," under the management of Max H. Meyers, which appears at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night, is a realistic drama of life as found on the east side of Greater New York. The play abounds in thrilling scenes and startling climaxes, and presents some effects never before seen on the stage. The story is deeply interesting and has a strong heart interest. The dialogue is clever and bright and the plot teaches a plain moral lesson to the waywardly inclined. The company presenting the play is a strong one in every particular, and has been greeted by crowded houses everywhere.

Preparing for Elizabeth Kermiss.

Elizabeth, March 1.—Preparations are now in progress here for the grand kermiss which will be given by society women here April 18, 19, 20 and 21, at Jacobs' theatre, for the benefit of the Elizabeth Public Library. The list of patronesses include the leading matrons in fashionable circles here, while the younger members of society will participate in the various dances. Mrs. Christine B. Knapp is chairman of the kermiss. Associated with her is Mrs. Dr. Alonzo Pettit, one of the hardest workers in charitable work in Elizabeth, and a corps of efficient assistants. A pretty souvenir programme will be given to every person who attends the affair.

P. R. R. to Stand Robbery Loss.

New Brunswick, March 1—The safecrackers who dynamited the safe in the Jamesburg Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad last week got about $15 in cash, but did not take any tickets. The loss will be stood by the railroad company. Sometime ago the depot was robbed and the day's receipts, which were in the money drawer of the agent's desk, were taken. The company made the agent stand the loss, claiming the money should have been in the safe. This time the safe was blown open to get the money. The company will buy a new safe and stand the cash loss.

Water Company Will Appeal.

Long Branch, March 1—President Rufus Blodgett, of the Tintern Manor Water Company, has declined to accept the counter proposition of the city for certain concessions to the water contract handed down in Vice-Chancellor Pitney's decree. Chairman Stratton made the statement at the meeting of the City Council Monday night, when it was carried by a vote of 7 to 5 to instruct Attorney-General McCarter to appeal from the vice-chancellor's decree to the Court of Errors and Appeals, and perfect plans for an argument at an early date.

BANKING HEAD MAKES ANSWER TO MR. COLBY

DENIES DEPARNMENT EVER WITHHELD PROPER DATA FROM COMMISSIONERS.

Trenton, March 1.—Commissioner of Banks and Insurance David O. Watkins is in an aggressive mood over the remarks of Senator Colby in reference to the latter's effort to have the Senate agree to an investigation of the affairs of the Prudential Insurance Company and its allied interests. The commissioner expected to be called before the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday, but was not, because the committee had other hearings to attend to, and the insurance investigation matter was not considered.

Commissioner Watkins wants no delay, inasmuch as he considers the statement of the Essex Senator an implied reflection on his management of the department, and he declares the insinuation unwarranted.

In connection with that he said:

"Senator Colby is mistaken in his deductions from the correspondence of my office and the Massachusetts and Wisconsin commissioners. We have never refused any information on insurance matters, and the correspondence of the office shows this. It can be called for at any time by the Legislature and will speak for itself.

"As to allowing other State commissioners to come in and examine our trust companies and other banking institutions we will not permit it. The examinations made by my department are confidential in the extreme, and we will not allow any one to get information as to whether or not John Jones had a note discounted in a trust company. Any other system would destroy the ethics of gool banking.

"Any commissioners of any State can come in and we will freely give them any data that we have on our insurance companies, but they cannot come here nor get us to send to them the list of notes carried in the vaults of trust companies. Any sensible man can see the foolishness of such a request. It might as well be said that every business man had to show his books to every prying Tom who wanted to learn the secrets of his business. Our State examiners go over these securities for the sake of determining the real value, and on their reports this department determines the solvency of institutions. We have no warrant to do more if things are in a state of solvency, and the experience of the past shows how quickly this department acts when there is danger of insolvency.

"There is no merit in the claim of Senator Colby that my department ever withheld any information that could rightfully be given to any State commissioners asking for it."

RAILROADS' STATE DIRECTOR.

Legislature Re-elects Charles Bradley of Newark.

Trenton, March 1—The Senate and Assembly met in joint session at noon Monday and proceeded to the election of a State director of railroads to succeed Charles Bradley, of Newark, the present incumbent. Senator Hillery nominated Mr. Bradley and Senator Minturn named William K. Devereux, of Monmouth. Mr. Bradley was elected by a vote of 72 to 8.

On the ballot, two Republicans, Senator McKee, of Passaic, and Assemblyman Reed, of Monmouth, voted for Devereux. Mr. McKee changed his vote to Bradley, but Mr. Reed stuck to the wit of the Legislative Correspondents' Club.

Mare Foals Her Twelfth Colt.

Lexington, Ky., March 1.—The famous brood mare Reflection, by imp. Zorilla, dam Shadow, by Virgil, owned by Julius Baur, broke the world's record for thoroughbred brood mares at the Kenmore farm Sunday night by foaling her twelfth consecutive colt, which was a bay in color, by the noted race horse and sir Mesmerist. The colt is a half-brother to seven winners, five of which are stake winners, they being Judith Campbell, Kiemesha, Moharib, Van Antwerp and Reina, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap.

New Trial for ex-Freeholder.

Trenton, March 1.—The Supreme Court Monday reversed the conviction of former Freeholder Charles Newman, of Passaic county, for embezzlement in selling a second hand bridge plank for $4.50. Newman sold the plank to a club and allowed the proceeds to be accredited on his dues. The court reversed the conviction because the trial court admitted two different conversations concerning the sale in the absence of the defendant.

G. A. R. Accepts Invitation.

Paterson, March 1—The council of administration of the department of New Jersey, Grand Army of the Republic, at a meeting held in the department headquarters in the Curie building, Monday afternoon, accepted Paterson's invitation to hold their annual campfire and business session in this city. The dates will be set later.

John Becker, Sr., of the borough, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital under treatment for a fractured leg, expects to return home this week.

Plainfield, N. J., March 1, 1906.

Welcome, Senator Colby!

Wish we had local option on the weather.

McCurdy goes to Europe, but there is no go in Jerome.

Senator Reed may be a "dead one," as alleged, but his frequent political resurrections seem to strike terror in the camp of his enemies.

Mr. Roosevelt has taken a hand in the settlement of the dispute between the coal operators and miners. Now will he help the insurance policyholders?

The attorney general should not only reveal the name of the newspaper man he accused, but he should have that entire speech printed for free distribution.

When Governor Stokes comes to town today, someone should provide him with a spy glass so he can find the dividing line between Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Probably Senator Colby would be willing to have the Trenton State Gazette in every home. Its editorial attacks bring conviction that the Senator from Essex is the right kind of a man to represent the people.

WILL GIVE AWAY LIQUOR.

Asbury Park Boniface Has a Plan to Beat Excise Law.

Col. Bly, of the Plaza Hotel, Asbury Park, believes he has hit upon a plan to serve liquors to his summer patrons without breaking the law. He will place a sign bearing the words, "Plaza Bar—Drinks Free to Patrons; No Liquor Sold."

Over the bar in his hotel patrons will get liquor free, whether they order only a sandwich or a full dinner. Women unescorted will not be served. Col. Bly says he has obtained legal advice that he is within the law so long as he does not accept any money or its equivalent for the liquor dispensed.

His Leg Amputated at 87.

At eighty-seven years, Watson Wilson, of 26 State street, East Orange, has undergone the operation of amputation of his right leg. Though he is in a critical condition, the old man has rallied from the operation and is making a gallant fight for his life. Mr. Wilson has been under treatment for a long time for an embolism which formed in one of the large veins in his leg. The passage of the blood was obstructed and remedies applied with a view to dissolving the clot failed to accomplish the desired result and gangrene supervened. It then became necessary to resort to amputation.

Bridegroom's Death Stops Wedding.

Albert Grieser, a steel engraver, of 25 Avon place, Newark, who was to have been married yesterday to Miss Caroline Schaeffer, of 8 Magnolia street, died on Tuesday night in a private hospital in Littleton avenue, Newark, after on operation. Miss Schaeffer is prostrated. All arrangements had been made for the ceremony. Grieser had purchased a house and furnished it throughout. Miss Schaeffer had arranged her trousseau and the minister was ready to proceed to the bride's home when the news of the bridegroom's death reached him.

Wants $10,000 for Four Fingers.

Summons in a suit for $10,000 damages, instituted by James Fox against the Kinnear Pressed Radiator Company, of Pittsburg, were issued from the sheriff's office yesterday. The company has a factory in Irvington, and the plaintiffs contends that his right hand was caught in a press and four fingers had to be amputated. Careless protection of the machinery is alleged as contributing to the mishap. The case will be tried in the Circuit Court.

Strikers Follow Jersey Printers.

New York, Mar. 1.—First Deputy Police Commissioner Waldo, Inspector Walsh, Secretary Slattery and Magistrate Barlow dropped in at the West Forty-seventh street station Tuesday night at a time when three striking printers were being examined by the sergeant. The printers had followed four printers recruited by Isaac H. Blanchard, of 268 Canal street, from Sussex, N. J., from the Canal street station of the Subway to the Circle station. The Sussex men suspected they were being shadowed and the strikers followed them, but did not speak or offer violence. At the circle a foreman in Blanchard's shop, who was acting as bodyguard for the strangers, called for policemen and had the strikers arrested. They were held.

Suicide Gave Trenton Address.

New York, Mar. .—A young woman who registered as Mary Smith, Trenton, N. J., but who is believed to be Mrs. Mary Callahan, of Goshen, N. Y., committed suicide Tuesday at the Sturtevant Hotel, 137 Tihtry-fifth street, by taking carbolic acid. Engaging her room early in the day, the young woman went directly to it, and was not seen again until late in the afternoon, when she was found dying. She was taken to the New York Hospital, where she died. In a handbag were found an envelope addressed to "M. Callahan, Goshen, N. Y.," a return trip ticket to that place and a handkerchief with the initials "M. A. C." The bottle that had contained the acid bore the label of a Goshen druggist.

Shipping Anarchist to Italy.

San Francisco, March 1.—United States Immigrant Inspector Thomas M. Crawford will leave for New York tonight with Benedetto Tordini, an Italian Anarchist, who is to be sent home to Italy by order of the Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Benedetto served ten years in the penitentiary of this State for burning a warehouse at Petaluma. After his release he went to Italy, where he was imprisoned for carrying concealed weapons. When released he returned to Petaluma, with the avowed purpose of murdering the officers who had arrested him for arson. He had been confined in the jail at Santa Rosa for several months.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The "Mr. Dooley" show, which appears her tonight, played to a packed house at Hoboken Tuesday night. It has also broken box office records in other cities.

Leonce Texier, assistant treasurer at the New Plainfield, took advantage of last night's darkness at the house and escorted a party of friends to the Hippodrome.

Miss Florence Hamilton, a capable emotional actress who appeared several times at Music Hall, is coming to the New Plainfield next week in a new drama, "The Senator's Wife."

The Elks' minstrel committee made a report last night showing that the net receipts were $450. The financial success is very pleasing, but not nearly so much as the artistic triumph. It is planned to give the show two nights next year.

Manager Counihan and Treasurer Sam Cunningham spent yesterday in a jaunt up and down the Great White Way. Incidentally they made arrangements for some more "big ones" at the New Plainfield for this and next season. One contract closed was for the third return of Richard Carle on Labor Day next.

Dan S. Fishell, head press representative for Barnum & Bailey and a staunch friend of Manager Counihan, has written the latter that he will run out to Plainfield in a short time to look over the field in connection with preparing the season's route. Fishell is a St. Louis man and secured his first job in the business through the Plainfield manager.

Trenton Official Brings Suit.

Trenton, Mar. 1.—Two suits in the sum of $5,000 each have been entered in the Supreme Court against the Trenton Street Railway Company and its general manager, Peter E. Hurley. The basis of the action is the dispute between General Manager Hurley and Counselor John H. Backes, last January. At that time, after the close of a case in court, the two became involved in a discussion over the case. After both had left the court room th ecounselor boarded a trolley car. Mr. Hurley claimed that it was a special car and the lawyer was ejected, but not until blows had been struck.

Inspect Passaic Almshouse.

Paterson, Mar. 1.—Freeholders Drew, Norval, Pettersen and Hopper paid a visit to the almshouse Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of inspecting that institution and seeing how the county inmates are being taken care of. They were greatly pleased with the conditions.

Women Raid Trading Stamp Store.

New Brunswick, Mar. 1.—A raid was made by a score or more of women on the trading stamp store of the Legal Gold Stamp Company at Perth Amboy Tuesday. H. R. Ruling, who says he lives in Jersey City and owns a macaroni factory, took possession of the store. The news soon spread that he had arrived, and the women who had stamp books made a rush for the place to get the value of their stamps. Violins, pictures, lamps and other goods were carried off.

No Reconciliation.

It has been denied by counsel for James B. Duke that there is any truth in the rumored probable reconciliation between him and his wife, from whom he is seeking a divorce and who has filed a cross bill against him. Alvah A. Clark, one of Mr. Duke's counsel, said there was no possibility of reconciliation, and the story must have originated in the stars. The hearing is set for April 26 before Vice-Chancellor Pitney in Newark.

STATE INSTITUTIONS ASK APPROPRIATIONS.

Rahway Reformatory Wants $300,000 and the Boys' Home Would Like to Have $27,500.

Trenton, Mar. 1.—The joint Committee on Appropriations continued its work in the comptroller's office Monday afternoon. Thus far this year the meetings of this committee have been executive and only those who have applications for appropriations to make are admitted. At yesterday's meeting Gervas Ely, Fred M. Lockwood and Edward Spaeth, of Newark, trustees of the State Home for Boys, asked the committee for $27,500 for a new cottage at the home. They told of the excellent work the home was doing and set forth the necessity for the extra cottage.

Former Assemblyman George A. Squire, president of the board of managers of the New Jersey Reformatory at Rahway, and Captain Joseph Martin, superintendent of the institution, pleaded for $300,000 for the erection of a new wing to the reformatory. They told the now well known story of how the institution was overcrowded and the inmates were sleeping on cots in the corridors, which was not at all conducive to discipline.

Mrs. Emily Williamson, one of the board of managers of the Home for Feeble-minded Women, at Vineland, and Mr. Mary Dunlap, the head of that institution, asked for money to buy a small tract of land adjacent to the home's premises.

All the applicants were heard and their applications were taken under consideration.

RAILROADS WANT TAX REDUCTIONS.

Those Entering Essex County Declare Assessments Are Forty Per Cent. Too High.

Hearings on appeals of the various steam railroads entering Newark, South Orange, Orange, Montclair, Caldwell, Bloomfield, Belleville and other places in Essex county for a reduction of about forty per cent. in the assessment of local second class railroad property were begun in Newark yesterday by the State Board of Equalization of Taxation Twenty-three appeals in all are on the list.

The first case taken up was that of the Central Railroad. Its counsel contended that its second class property was assessed at a one hundred per cent. valuation, while neighboring properties were assessed at very much smaller figures.

New Incident in Assault Case.

Paterson, Mar. 1.—A new development in connection with the mysterious attack made upon George Reithel on the Notch road on Monday night came to light Tuesday. A few minutes previous to the time Reithel was shot a young woman was stopped by a man who had been hiding behind the big tree at the point where the man was assaulted. The man ran out from behind the tree and grabbed hold of the girl. He hugged her and then let her go. Reithel, who was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, was slightly improved yesterday, but his condition is still considered dangerous.

Gathering Ice at Pocono Lake.

Delaware Water Gap, March 1.—The temperature went down to zero at some points on the Pocono Mountain yesterday morning. Ice is being cut on all the lakes in this vicinity, and a strong effort is being made to harvest the crop before another thaw. The ice is from ten to thirteen inches thick at Pocono Pines and Pocono Lake. At Naomi Pines it is thirteen inches, and of fine quality. The largest quantity of ice gathered in one day this season was housed Monday.

Say Slaying Was in Self-defense.

Paterson, Mar. 1—All the evidence adduced at a coroner's inquest Tuesday evening tended to prove that Dominico Chiarelli, alias Tony Rutch, acted in self-defense when he stabbed Joseph Calabrese, who died at the General Hospital last week, after lingering since Sunday, January 14. In returning a verdict the jury held Rutch for the crime, but neglected to exonerate him from blame or accuse him of deliberate murder. Rutch, or Chiarelli, is now in jail, having been arrested on the night of the affray.

MUTUAL LIFE'S TO GET IT NOW.

Five States Will Unite in Examining Its Affairs, Just as They Did N. Y. Life's.

New York, Mar. 1.—The next important step in the Mutual Life situation will be the beginning by Western insurance commissioners of an examination of the company's affairs. The commissioners from Tennessee, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska announced last fall before they began their investigation of the New York Life that they would take up the Mutual next.

Information reached this city yesterday that the Western commissioners will apply to the New York State Insurance Department, if they have not already done so, to co-operate with them in this investigation. With the New York State Department a party to the examination, it would be possible to examine the officers and trustees under oath.

Samuel Untermeyer has been discussed as a possible choice for counsel in the event of the New York State Department consenting to join in the investigation.

President Peabody, of the Mutual, sent word that he had nothing to say on the subject of the investigation.

Officers of the "big three" life insurance companies continued yesterday to confer with their expert advisers in regard to the recommendations of the Armstrong committee. The longer they study the recommendations and the more light they get on the probable effects, the more firmly are they convinced that the changes suggested are too sweeping.

DOCTORS RAISE PRICES FOR VISITS OF STORK.

Costs Double Rates Now to Be Born At Ellwood City.

Sharon, Pa., March 1.—Hereafter it will cost more to be born in Ellwood City, because the doctors have declared war on the stork.

They have organized and formulated a wage scale. One baby will now cost its fond papa as much as two did formerly, for the price per baby has advanced from $10 to $20.

People here say the town is so healthful that the doctors are obliged to raise the price of visits to make a fair living.

MINTURN FOR CONGRESS.

State Senator Will Be Democratic Nominee to Succeed McDermott.

Hoboken, Mar. 1.—Friends of State Senator James F. Minturn announce that he will be the Democratic nominee for Congress in this district at the next election, to succeed Representative Allan McDermott, of Jersey City. Mr. McDermott's friends caused an announcement to be made a few weeks ago that the Congressman was anxious to retire from public life and would step out voluntarily at the completion of his present term.

Accompanying this announcement was the statement that Congressman McDermott would urge the nomination of former Assemblyman James A. Hamill, of Jersey City, one of the leaders of the Hudson county Democrats. It is now said that the original slate has been changed, which is satisfactory all around, whereby Hamill will receive the Senatorial nomination and that Minturn will be the candidate for Congress.

Regiment's Record Trip to 'Frisco.

San Francisco, March 1.—All records for the movement of troops from the Atlantic seaboard to this city were broken yesterday with the arrival of a Southern Pacific special train over the Sunset route, carrying the Eighth Regiment of the United States Army. The regiment left Jersey City at 6 p. m., February 20, and arrived here at 7 o'clock Tuesday night. The transfer was effected in six and a half days, and had it not been for a delay of seventeen hours at Lordsburg and a stopover at Los Angeles of seven hours the time occupied would have been but five and a half days.

Says Highwaymen Robbed Him.

Paterson, Mar. 1.—Hyman Sandelson, an agent of the Prudential Insurance Company, called at police headquarters Tuesday evening and reported to Chief's Secretary Gall that he had been the victim of a hold-up. At the point of revolvers, two masked men stopped Sandelson on Burhans lane, he says, and robbed him of his cash and a gold watch and chain. The thieves got between $50 and $60. The timepiece was of gold, closed case and had a chain and locket attached.

Morristown is Thinking of Factories.

At a large meeting of the business men of Morristown, in the County Hall, last night, trolleys and factories were discussed as the means of betterding the mercantile business of the city. An organization was effected and the officers elected were: George C. Smith, president; Freeholder George T. Allen, vice-president, and Stephen Griffith, secretary and treasurer.

Says King Edward Is Not Ill.

Vienna, March 1.—Dr. Ott, King Edward's Marienbad physician, has taken the occasion of his return from his visit to England to publicly deny the rumors of the King's ill health. These, Dr. Ott declares, are malicious inventions possibly traceable to political motives. He says King Edward was never in better health than at present.

Rosa Morris, a daughter of the preacher, testified to the disturbance occasioned by Mitcnell's action.

Deacon Spencer Conway, a founder of the church and Deacon Robinson's chief aide in the campaign for Morris, testified as to the call extended by the trustees, and showed a letter in which Morris accepted the charge. He said Bailey's majority in the congregational meeting was "a majority of falsehood."

Mr. Angleman asked the witness if Mitchell wasn't notified that he was no longer in charge as acting pastor after the arrest, the lawyer's intention being to show that Mitchell had been, on the Sunday night in question, the head of the church. Conway denied that Mitchell was the acting-pastor. He had merely filled the pulpit when the church could get no one else.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell was the first of the eight witnesses sworn by the defense. He told of the arrest, and denied that there was any disorder. He claimed to have been regularly in charge of the church, and was still its head.

Five of the seven deacons, Ransom, Barnes, Touzey, Mallon and Hurley, testified that there was no disorder at the meeting. Mrs. Brinkley, the "sister" in charge of the meeting, swore that it was one of the most prayerful and uplifting she had ever attended. There was no disorder, she said, "and Jesus was at the helm."

Rev. Mr. Bailey was sworn and testified to the call received after the congregational meeting. He said he would take up the Lord's work as soon as the trouble ended.

The question of who is who in the pastorate will be threshed out at a general council to be held at the church this afternoon.

Senator Will Entertain Governor.

Governor Edward C. Stokes, who will be one of the principal speakers at the "Junior American banquet," at the Casino, tonight, will be entertained at the home of Senator Ernest R. Ackerman. Senator Colby will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde.

Plainfielders at the Show.

James Murray, brother of Tax Collector J. W. Murray, Jr., has charge of the New York Sporting Goods' Company's large exhibit at the Sportmen's Show, New York. Matthew D. Sweeney, formerly of this city, also is in charge of a big exhibit at the same place.

Colored Church Council.

The Calvary Baptist church row will be discussed and debated at a general meeting of the congregation this afternoon. The meeting was called by he deacons, who comprise the governing body. It is hoped to settle the whole dispute before adjournment.

March 4: "A Life of Unselfish Ministration"—Matt. xx. 27, 28; II Cor. viii. 9; Rom. xiv. 7, 8; I Cor. x. 33; Gal. vi. 2; John iv. 21.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

"And this commandment have we from Him, that he who loveth God love his brother also."

In all ways the highest and purest life this earth has seen lived was that of Jesus of Nazareth. It was altogether admirable and blameless and such that if every man would make his like it would soon transform this world and make it an earthly kingdom of God.

The clew to that life was unselfish devotion and ministration to others. His own interests were not neglected in this care for others. His own life grew richer in experience and enjoyment of the spiritual qualities of existence the more He gave His time and effort to assisting others. Nor was it of such a kind that other men cannot in great measure model theirs by it. In essential principle it was based, as all other lives should be, on supreme love of God and sincere regard for the well being of one's fellow men.

When we come to believe that God was Creator of all men and is the preserver and governor of the world, of things and of men it becomes utterly inconceivable how we can worship Him without having real interest in the welfare of our fellows. To love God and not love men is utterly impossible and a spiritual absurdity.

Nor can love to God and men live where it is only exercised semioccasionally. Life, to continue, must be ever active in its manifestations or it ceases to be. No inner power can abide unless it has constant outward expression in deeds.

Each grows by the use of the other. Inner spirit life becomes ever stronger and fuller the more it is expressed in outward deed of good and word of kindness, and the deeper becomes the devotion of soul in the secret heart depths the more it overflows into speech and act.

He who comes to have the God life abiding in him feels a yearning of soul to bring others to the same condition of mind and heart. He cannot rest in his own possession of rich experiences. He has found treasure with which he is dissatisfied until he has shared with another and still others. His circle of sympathy is ever widening and his scope of desire deepening to take in all possible in all ways conceivable.

This is the secret of the Christian life. It is a consuming desire to give and to bless. It is in its essence pure love. It delights to bear burdens of others and cannot help weeping with the afflicted, because their woe is his own sorrow and he feels the hurt in himself. The happiness of others makes him sing, for he feels it all as if it was his own case. He gives because the need of the other man is felt as keenly as if it was himself. There is no forcing of spirit in all this. It is as natural as breathing or it is not at all.

When all other impulses fail and interest in things of the world would die and life itself would not seem worth the exertion of breathing, this is the impulse that rescues life from utter failure and worthlessness. Forget self and get out after some one else for awhile and see what a different world this will become. Folks will not seem half so mean nor the trials of your own life nearly so heavy. Your own lot will be almost forgotten and the sting of your privations unthought of in the absorbing interest in another's relief. Living comes to mean greater and deeper things. Wider prospects open, and new power comes to one never known to be possessed. The earnestness of existence opens with greater emphasis, and one lives more intensely and more rapidly. Hours are not long enough for the work. No ennui depresses the soul, but real burdens press on the shoulders, and strength is sought from the great burden bearer and wisdom from the all wise One until we grow wise. Feeding the hungry, we are fed; ministering to others, we receive service full and rich.

A Prayer.

My heart needs Thee, O Lord; my heart needs Thee! No part of my being needs Thee like my heart. All else within me can be filled by Thy gifts. My hunger can be satisfied by daily bread; my thirst can be allayed by earthly waters; my cold can be removed by household fires; my weariness can be relieved by outward rest, but no outward thing can make my heart pure. This world has not provided for my heart. It has provided for my eye; it has provided for my ear; it has provided for my touch; it has provided for my taste; it has provided for my sense of beauty, but it has not provided for my heart. Provide for my heart, O Lord! Be Thou the strength of my heart. Be Thou its fortress in temptation, its shield in remorse, its covert in the storm, its star in the night, its voice in the solitude. Guide it in its gloom; help it in its heat; direct it in its doubt; calm it in its conflict; fan it in its faintness; prompt it in its perplexity; lead it through its labyrinths; raise it from its ruins. I cannot rule this heart of mine. Keep it under the shadow of Thine own wings.—Rev. George Matheson, D. D., in Christian Endeavor World.

Minor Moralities.

There are no minor moralities. Every real question is a question of right or wrong. And where principle is involved the great issue of life appears. For right and wrong are not questions of size, but of moral quality. A little lie is wrong, just as truly as a great lie. Things are great or small apart from moral principle, according to their consequences, but they are right or wrong according to their nature.—Sunday School Times.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning March 4.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—What is true happiness? The worldly idea; the Christian idea.—Luke vi. 20-35; I John ii. 12-17; II Cor. vi. 10; Phil. iv. 4-7. (Consecration meeting.)

Horace Bushnell has defined happiness as "that which happens or comes to one by a hap—that is, by an outward befalling or favorable condition. Some good is conceived, out of the soul, which comes to it as a happy visitation, stirring in the receiver a pleasant excitement." And happiness in some form or another is the desire and ambition of every human life. The sentiment of Pope will be universally corroborated in his exclamation, "O happiness, our being's end and aim." But men seek the same thing in various ways. One who desires to gain riches remains quietly at home and through business methods attempts to realize his ambitions, while another, possessing the same desire, hurries to a distant gold field that, if possible, he may accumulate wealth there. Millions want to gain an entrance into heaven, yet how many different ways they appear to be traveling to reach the same destination! So it is with happiness. All men want it, but they have vastly different conceptions of what it is and travel on many different roads to reach it. It is little wonder therefore that men have always considered the questions as to the nature of true happiness and the best way to attain to it. And even to Christian Endeavorers these questions are worthy of serious and prayerful consideration.

The topic suggests the consideration of two ideals of happiness—the world's ideal and the Christian's ideal, between which there has been a conflict through all the Christian centuries. It may be said that the world has two ideals of happiness—the physical and the mental, pleasurable physical excitement and pleasurable mental excitement. The lowest ideal of happiness is without question the physical, the gratification of the physical senses. Yet it must be confessed that to many this is the idea of happiness. To them it is what money yields or will buy—dress, equipage, fashion, luxuries of the table or the gratification of the baser human passions. The second idea of the world is mental. It is the possession of mental equipment or of the desires of the heart that a well stored and vigorous mind may attain—"applause [of men], admiration, glory, honor, * * * rank, political standing, victory, power." The Christian's idea of happiness is spiritual rather than physical or mental. It consists in contentment of soul, together with the proper control of physical appetites and passions and the proper direction of the mind in its relation to life, to God and to the life to come, undoubtedly the truest and divinest conception of happiness. It is joy in the Lord instead of outside of Him. It is pleasure in what we are rather than in what we have, whether it be rank, wealth or achieved success. It is the subordination of body and mind to the soul. And in these things alone can true and lasting happiness be found.

The superiority of Christian happiness over worldly happiness must be conceded, no matter which our personal ideal may be. Christian happiness grows sweeter and stronger with age, while worldly happiness declines as we advance in years. Soul joy does not decrease the soul's possibilities for joy, but increases them, while all know that with worldly pleasures the opposite is true. Body and mind become sated with excessive indulgence and lose their powers of producing the effects desired. The capabilities of spiritual enjoyment, on the other hand, increase with exercise. "I never knew what it was to be happy until I became a Christian," declared one who had sought happiness in the world. Moreover, Christian joys are eternal, while worldly pleasures are but temporal. Passion, wealth, rank and power die when we die, but "godliness is profitable unto all things, having the promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come."

BIBLE READINGS.

Neh. viii. 9, 10; Eccl. i. 17, 18; ii. 1-11; xii. 1, 13, 14; Matt. vi. 24-34; Luke i. 46-55; Acts viii. 5-8; Phil. ii. 1-11; I Tim. iv. 8.

How to Warm Up.

The English Christian Endeavor Times gives the following excellent rules for starting a fire in a cold Christian Endeavor society:

First.—Let the social committee get all the sticks together—i. e., have the seats upside down at the back of the meeting room, placing them one by one at the front as the members come in.

Second.—Let the prayer meeting committee bring a box of matches—i. e. provide opportunities for every one to take part; and let them go down on their knees to kindle the fire.

Third.—Let the sunshine committee use the poker judiciously. "Provoke unto love and good works."

Fourth.—Let the lookout committee blow the bellows. Look up and seek to infuse a divine glow into lukewarm members.

Fifth.—Let the evangelistic committee take "a live coal from off the altar." Burning lips fit Endeavorers to "pluck brands from the burning."

Above all, let each member stir up the gift within him to a flame; so shall others be set on fire, and it will be seen how great a matter a little fire kindleth.

A Strenuous Officer.

Tell Endeavorers everywhere that Treasurer William Shaw is a strenuous worker. He spent two weeks in New York state, traveled 1,500 miles, made twenty-five addresses in eighteen cities and sat at his own table for turkey on Thanksgiving day as optimistically happy as though no such record breaking achievement stood to his credit.—Empire State Notes.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

See America First.

The Governors of Western States and railroad men from that section have been meeting at Salt Lake City, Utah, to promote what is called the "See America First" campaign. The idea of the movement is to persuade Eastern people to command a knowledge of our own country before they travel in Europe, and to keep all the tourist money possible at home. This is, of course, an excellent idea, and it is proposed to develop it in the most attractive ways possible. California, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Arkansas, Mississippi and other States are represented.—Springfield Journal.

The Tariff on Art.

Every imposition of a duty, on a picture, statue, engraving, photograph, of any other work of art or representation of art, is a deterrent to the placing of worthy objects in the American schools, galleries and museums, which, as a rule, are leanly finished in such matters. It is a deterrent to all the higher and more graceful expressions of human thought and emotion. Economically it is not needed, while on the individual buyer it is oppressive. In the case of the collection assembled by Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, of Boston, duties have been paid amounting to $200,000. It is her intention to give the museum to the public. Had government been more liberal in this matter the collection would doubtless have been $200,000 worth larger and better than it is. The tariff on art is an incubus, an anomaly, it protects those who resist protection, and it puts us on record as opposed to a liberal civilization. Hence it should be abolished.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Poor Millionaire.

Not many decades ago we were proud in America of our few struggling millionaires and boastfully counted our Astors and Vanderbilts on the fingers of one hand. There are so many of them now that they are beginning to bore, and even the prospect of soon possessing a billionaire palls in anticipation. It used to be the fashion to deplore the overcrowding of the slums; now the pressing problem is the congestion of Fifth avenue. Tenement laws had to be pasesd to secure air, light and water for the huddled poor; now we need palace laws to assure the ordinary comforts of home to our swarming millionaires. A Chicago reformer last week proposed to undertake settlement work among millionaires' children if he could raise the funds. "The poor devil of a millionaire," as somebody once called him, is the most modern object of charity. Soon we may have to establish homes at the public expense for those who are too rich to care for their own children or need a helping hand in their old age because of the overkindness of fortune.—New York World.

Three Imperatives.

No session of the New Jersey Legislature has had before it so many important subjects as that of 1906. Some of them are bound to go untouched. The Legislature can afford to leave some of them go untouched. But there are others that must needs receive prompt and vigorous attention, unless this Legislature is willing to be weighed in the balances and found wanting.

The legislation for which there is an imperative and immediate demand and which stands foremost in the array at the State House, follows:

Equal taxation.
A "corrupt practices" act.
Abolition of the fee system.
Jury reform.

Three of these subjects overshadow all others, for with laws covering them on the statute books it will be less difficult than it has been in the past to secure the elimination of other political ills. They are:

Purification of the ballot.
"Corrupt practices" act.
Jury reform.

The ballot can be purged by a simple amendment to the existing law granting immunity to the bribe-giver or vote-seller who shall furnish information necessary to convict the other party.

A "corrupt practices" act should and campaign funds by corporations, directly or indirectly; should require all candidates and campaign committees to file after each election sworn and itemized statements of their receipts and expenditures.

But though these laws should be enacted they would be vain so long as our jury system remains as it is. As Governor Stokes suggested in his message, the judge of the Common Pleas should be a determining factor in the drawing of all juries.

The people demand equal taxation. They demand abolition of fees for county officials. They are not likely to get either from this Legislature. Corporation influences seem bound to palm off on them a railroad taxation bill quite as faulty in principle as the existing law. The county officials who are waxing fat off the fee system seem to be quite as powerful in this Legislature as they have been in any of the past. Another Legislature will be elected next fall, and the people can rebuke their misrepresentatives for their perfidy, if those misrepresentatives will only enact laws to guarantee an honest ballot, and a jury system from which punishment for political offenders may reasonably be expected.—Trenton True American.

The girl then entered the house, humming. Most women would have got out the lavender salts and lain down the rest of the day, considering the routine of a fashionable dinner, which was the chief duty of the evening.

"I am grateful to you, James. My daughter is directly in your care when she rides, and I give you full authority. Never permit her to mount any horse but her own. She is all I have, and if anything should happen to her—"

"Yes, sir; I understand."

The colonel followed his daughter; and Warburton led Dick to the stables, gave orders to William, and flung himself down on his cot. He was dead tired. And the hour he had dreaded had come! He had to drive her through the shopping district. Well, so be it. If any one exposed him, very good. This groom business was decidedly like work. And there was that confounded dinner-party, and he would have to limp around a table and carry soup plates! And as likely as not he would run into the very last person he expected to see.

Which he did.

CHAPTER XIV.

AN ORDEAL OR TWO.

Mr. Robert vows that he will never forgive me for the ten minutes' agony which I gratuitously added to his measure. It came about in this wise. I was on my way down Seventeenth street that afternoon, and it was in front of a fashionable apartment house that I met him. He was seated on his box, the whip at the proper angle and his eyes riveted on his pair's ears. It was the first time I had seen him since the day of the episode at the police-station. He was growing thin. He did not see me, and he did not even notice me till I stopped and the sounds of my heels on the walk ceased. Arms akimbo. I surveyed him.

"Well?" I began. I admit that the smile I offered him was a deal like that which a cat offers a cornered mouse.

He turned his head. I shall not repeat the word he muttered. It was very improper, though they often refer to it in the Sabbath-schools, always in a hushed breath, however, as though to full-voice it would only fan the flames still higher.

"What have you to say for yourself?" I went on.

"Nothing for myself, but for you, move on and let me alone, or when I get the opportunity, Chuck, I'll punch your head, glasses or no glasses."

"Brother-in-law or no brother-in-law."

"Chuck, will you go on?"—hoarsely, "I mean it."

I saw that he did. "You don't look very happy for a man who has cracked so tremendous a joke."

"Will you go along?"

"Not till I get good and ready, James. I've told too many lies on your account already not to make myself a present of this joyful reunion. Has Miss Annesley any idea of the imposture?"

He did not answer.

"How did you like waiting in Scott Circle the other night?"

Still no answer. I have half an idea that he was making ready to leap from his box. He ran his fingers up and down the lines. I could see that he was mad through and through; but I enjoyed the scene nevertheless. He deserved a little roasting on the gridiron.

"I am given to understand," I continued, "that you act as butler, besides, and pass soup around the table."

Silence. Then I heard a door close, and saw a look of despair grow on his face. I turned and saw Miss Annesley and Mrs. Chadwick coming down the steps.

"Why, how do you do, Mr. Henderson? Mrs. Chadwick."

"I have already had the pleasure of meeting this famous young orator," purred Mrs. Chadwick, giving me her hand. She was a fashionable, not to say brilliant, intrigante. I knew her to have been concerned indirectly with half a dozen big lobby schemes. She was rather wealthy. But she was seen everywhere, and everywhere was admired. She was as completely at home abroad as here in Washington. She was a widow, perhaps 38, handsome and fascinating, a delightful raconteur, and had the remarkable reputation of never indulging in scandal. She was the repository of more secrets than I should care to discover.

I recall one night at a state function when she sat between the French ambassador and that wily Chinaman, Li Hung Chang. She discoursed on wines in French with the ambassador and immediately turned to the Chinaman and recited Confucius in the original Chinese.

Not until recently did I learn that at one time Karloff had been very attentive to her.

"Where are you bound?" asked Miss Annesley.

"I am on the way to the war department."

"Plenty of room; jump in and we shall drop you there. James, drive to the war department."

Ordinarily I should have declined, as I generally prefer to walk; but in this instance it would be superfluous to say that I was delighted to accept the invitation. I secretly hugged myself as I thought of the driver.

"How is Miss Warburton?" asked Miss Annesley, as she settled back among the cushions.

"Beautiful as ever," I replied, smiling happily.

"You must meet Miss Warburton, Grace,"—speaking to Mrs. Chadwick, who looked at me with polite inquiry. "One of the most charming girls in the land, and as good as she is beautiful. Mr. Henderson is the most fortunate of young men."

"So I admit. She was greatly disappointed that you did not meet her younger brother." First shot at the groom.

"I did expect to meet him, but I understand that he has gone on a hunting expedition. Whom does he resemble?"

"Neither Nancy nor Jack," I said. "He's a good-looking beggar, though, only you can't depend upon him for five minutes at a time. Hadn't seen the family in more than two years. Spends one night at home, and is off again, no one knows where. Some persons like him, but I like a man with more stability. Not but that he has his good points; but he is a born vagabond. His brother expects to get him a berth at Vienna and is working rather successfully toward that end." I wondered how this bit of news affected the groom.

"A diplomat?" said Mrs. Chadwick. "That is the life for a young man with brains. Is he a good linguist?"

"Capital! Speaks French, German and Spanish, besides I don't know how many Indian sign-languages." Now I was patting the groom on the back. I sat facing the ladies, so it was impossible to see the expression on his face. I kept up this banter till we arrived at the department. I bade the ladies good day. I do not recollect when I have enjoyed ten minutes more thoroughly.

An hour in the shopping district, that is to say, up and down Pennsylvania avenue, where everybody who was anybody was similarly occupied, shopping, nearly took the spine out of our jehu. Everywhere he imagined he saw Nancy. And half a dozen times he saw persons whom he knew, persons he had dined with in New York; persons he had met abroad. But true to human nature, they were looking toward higher things than a groom in livery. When there was no more room for bundles, the women started for Mrs. Chadwick's apartments.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

DROPS DEAD IN STATION.

Mrs. N. B. Randall, of Orange, a Victim of Heart Disease.

Summit, March 1—Mrs. N. B. Randall, widow of a clergyman who was for many years pastor of the Summit Baptist church, dropped dead from heart disease in the station here Monday night. She had come from her home in Orange with her son, Harry Randall, on Saturday, for a visit to the family of W. F. Bailey. During her two days' stay she had been apparently in good health and had not complained up to the time she started for the depot to return to her home in Orange. Mrs. Randall and her son had just entered the depot when she collapsed and became unconscious. Life had passed away when a physician reached her side.

Mrs. Randall's husband was one of the best-known figures in the Baptist Church of New Jersey. He served for many years as pastor of the Summit church, retiring from there and removing to Orange to engage in evangilical work. Mrs. Randall was herself active in missionary work. The body was sent to Orange.

Summit Board of Trade Dines.

Summit, March 1—The first annual dinner of the Board of Trade was held Monday night at the clubhouse of the Highland Club. About seventy were present. George V. Muchmore, president of the Board of Trade who presided, gave a review of the progress of Summit during the years he had known it. He also suggested some improvements which might be made. John H. Ward, of Jersey City, spoke on the school question, his special theme being the handling of the foreign element. Rev. W. Warren Giles, Ruford Franklin and Rev. M. S. Morgan were speakers.

Mrs. William Abbott, of West Eighth street, has about recovered from a recent illness.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager Gavett, of the P. H. S. ball team, is completing a very strong schedule for the season. The team promises to be even stronger than last year.

The Hoboken team will open the baseball season at Hoboken on Sunday, April 15, with the Jersey City Eastern League Club, Managers Daab and Murray having arranged a series for the season.

"Willie" Deegan will undoubtedly do most of the pitching for the Hoboken team, this season. The popular twirler was never in better condition and feels sure of having a successful year. "Tip" O'Neil will be at the receiving end.

Manager Brown, of Leal's School baseball team, is rapidly filling the schedule for the season. The school expects to have a strong aggregation of players. Bergen will probably do the pitching and Will Glenney, the captain, will do the backstop work.

The New York Nationals left on Tuesday for the South, where they will do their spring training. The fans here will watch with considerable interest the work of Henry Mathewson, brother of "Matty," who gives promise of being as good a twirler as his brother. In height and build he is similar to "Matty," and it is claimed that he has all the curves, plenty of speed and good control.

OSHKOSH ON DECK.

Club Is Now Planning Its Third Performance.

The Oshkosk Club, which has given two very creditable amateur performances at the Casino, is now planning a third event, which promises to excell the first one, which is generally conceded to be the best effort of the club. The production will be of the variety style and will differ from the others in that no women will take part.

The entertainment will be given at the Casino soon after Easter. A meeting of the club will be held within a few days when the plans for the affair will be discussed and future action decided upon.

SALOON-KEEPER, OUT ON BAIL, IS MISSING.

Elizabeth Man, Called to Court, Fails to Put in Appearance—Bondsmen Hunt for Him.

A stir was created in the Union County Court at Elizabeth yesterday when it was learned that Cortland B. Gardner, former proprietor of the United States Hotel, on West Grand street, Elizabeth, who was to appear in court yesterday morning for resentence, was missing. Gardner was convicted by a jury in the Court of Common Pleas on an indictment found against him by the grand jury of conducting a disorderly house. He was sentenced to two years in State prison, but through the influence of friends an appeal was made to the court for a mitigation of sentence.

The appeal was successful, and the punishment was changed to three months in the county jail and $1,000 fine. Another appeal was made from this penalty, and the matter was carried to the Supreme Court. Gardner, meanwhile, was released in $2,500 bail, his bondsmen being William H. Reynolds, vice president of the Rising Sun Brewery Company, Elizabeth, and Jacob Reuter, an Elizabeth saloonkeeper, each of whom is responsible to the court for the full amount of the bail. Gardner went from Elizabeth to Newark, where he engaged in the saloon business.

The Supreme Court this month sustained the action of Judge Vail in the sentence he imposed on Gardner and dismissed the appeal. The latter's bondsmen were notified to produce him in court yesterday, when they learned he had disappeared from Newark, and that his present whereabouts was not known. They held a hurried conference with Prosecutor English, who finally agreed to let them renew the Gardner bond, and now an effort will be made by them, aided by the police, to locate that vanishing individual. Gardner formerly lived in Paterson before coming to Elizabeth, and ran a saloon there.

Summit Social Worker's Article.

Baltimore, March 1—The alumnae number of The Kalends, the magazine published by the Women's College students, has just been issued. It contains some interesting contributions by the "grads." Miss Grace Elizabeth Paine, of the class of 1900, has written "A Call to Social Service," in which she tells about the methods open for training students in philanthropic work. Miss Paine is going social settlement work with marked success in Summit, N. J. Miss Elizabeth Kern, '05, of Winchester, Va., contributed "The Non-Literary Diary of One Elizabeth Nelson, A. W. C. B. Student (So-called." It is a very amusing collection of a college girl's impressions. Miss Marguerite Dice, who was editor-in-chief of The Kalends last year, sent a note of greeting. The other alumnae article is written by Miss Elizabeth De Bow, '03, and is called "A Plea for Greater Intercollegiate Spirit."

Langley, Flying Machine Man, Dead.

Aiken, S. C., March 1.—S. P. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and known as a scientist throughout the world, died here Tuesday. His body will be taken to Washington today. It is probable that interment will be in Boston, the place of his birth. He had a slight stroke of paralysis November 22, which affected his right side. Professor Langley was seventy-two years old. His whole life had been devoted to scientific work. Though by profession a civil engineer and architect, astronomy occupied most of his time. Several years ago he conducted a series of flying machine experiments at Widewater, Va., on the Potomac River, which, however, ended disastrously. He had been the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution since 1887. His published writings include more that 100 titles.

ELIZABETH WOMAN WAS DUPE.

Accepted Proposal of Married Man and Wed Him.

Elizabeth, Mar. 1.—Miss Dorothy A. Dow, of this city, who was married October 16, 1905, at Hackettstown, by Rev. J. A. Owen, a former pastor of St. James' Methodist Episcopal church, this city, to Henry Masson, who was arrested here Saturday on a charge of bigamy, is a daughter of John A. Dow, of 445 Spring street. Neither he nor his daughter was at home today when a reporter called. The self-confessed bigamist had been working at Newark and living with his bride at her parents' residence since their marriage, and it was in this house he was taken into custody by Policeman McDonald on a warrant obtained by wife No. 1 from Justice of the Peace E. J. Wildrick, of Hackettstown.

Masson, after deserting his first wife, who, before her marriage to him, was Miss Anna Hahne, of 170 South Orange avenue, Newark, came to Elizabeth and secured board at the home of the Dow family. He became acquainted with Dorothy. Their friendship ripened into love on Miss Dow's part. She believed him to be single, and when he proposed matrimony she accepted. Then he suggested the ceremony should be performed at Hackettstown, to which the intended bride made no objection.

EXECUTORS' DISPUTE REFERRED TO SURROGATE.

Judge Vail Postpones Opinion in the Ralph Marsh Estate.

The matter of rendering an accounting by the executors of the Ralph Marsh estate, of Rahway and New York City, came up again yesterday in the Orphans' Court, at Elizabeth. Judge Vail, after hearing the statements of Frederic Faulks, who represented J. Edward Marsh, of Rahway, one of the executors, and Mr. Parmly, of Jersey City, who appeared for William L. Marsh, of Summit, the other executor, both being sons of the dead man, decided to refer the whole matter to Surrogate Parrot to take testimony, and when he makes his report to the Orphans' Court Judge Vail will then pass upon th emerits of the controversy. The dispute between the executors is mainly as to whether certain moneys paid out should be charged to the income or principal of the estate, which is worth some millions of dollars, chiefly in New York City property.

"TOUCHIN' ON AND APPERTAININ' TO" US.

An organization has been formed in Plainfield which has for its object the checking of the rapacity of the Public Service Corporation. How "Tom" McCarter and Brother "Bob" must weep! Think of the obtuseness of these Plainfield folk! And the Public Service's only interest is the dear public! The dear public!—Trenton True American.

That speech of Frank Bergen's before the Plainfield Board of Trade doesn't seem to have done his employers much good. The Plainfield Protective Association, organized to fight the Public Service, is just as strong a body as would have been possible had Senator Colby been substituted as the after-dinner orator in place of the general counsel of the corporation.—Newark Evening News.

Markley, Richard H. Reeve, Augustus Reeve, Howard M. Cooper, Watson Depuy, Alexander C. Wood and Ephraim Tomlinson. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

P.H.S. FIVE DEFEATS LEAL'S SCHOOL TEAM

PUBLIC SCHOOL LADS WIN FINAL GAME IN INTERESTED SERIES.

The Plainfield High School basketball five met the team from Leal's School at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, in the second and last game of a series for this year's city championship. Although P. H. S. was handicapped by the loss of the services of Collier and Smith, who were not permitted to play owing to scholarship requirements, it cleverly outclassed Leal's again and won by the score of 33 to 18.

Leal's started in hopefully, and for awhile it looked as though the teams were evenly matched, but the High School representatives steadily forged ahead and at the end of the first half they led by a score of 11 to 8. Both teams were encouraged at their showing in the first period of play and went into the game with even more spirit during the second half. Realizing that they were doomed to defeat, Leal's players began to use rough tactics, but this was of no avail, P. H. S. winning by a score of 33 to 18.

The best work for the High School boys was done by Caldwell, who did some accurate shooting, while Howard and Stuart Freeman accomplished some fine team work. Line, of P. H. S., although handicapped by size, played a steady game. For the private school boys, Captain Howard and Endicott did very creditable work. With this game decided the city scholastic league closes, the result being that P. H. S. is city champion, having won all four games played. Leal's team is second with two victories and two defeats, while N. P. H. S. brings up the rear with four defeats and no victories. The lineup and score:

P. H. S.		Leal's.
Line	right guard.	Lyman
H. Freeman	left guard.	Brokaw
S. Freeman	center.	Endicott
Caldwell	right forward.	Howard

Summary—Field goals—S. Freeman, 2; H. Freeman, 3; Caldwell, 7; Line, 2; Gavett, 2; Howard, 3; Endicott, 3; Alpaugh, 2; Brokaw, 1. Foul goals—H. Freeman, 1. Score—First half, P. H. S., 11; Leal's, 8; second half, P. H. S., 22; Leal's, 10. Final score—P. H. S., 33; Leal's, 18. Referee—Dr. W. Kempton Browning. Scorer—Kenneth Robbie. Timer—Arthur Reed.

Following the above game there was another contest between the first and second teams of these schools. P. H. S. again won, by the score of 16 to 2. Captain Leggett and Morris did the best work for the winning team. Dallas excelled for Leal's. This game also ends the junior scholastic league, P. H. S. winning this championship with three victories and one defeat. Leal's School and N. P. H. S. follow in order. The lineup:

P. H. S. 2d.		Leal's 2d.

MISSIONARY WORKER ON MOUNTAIN WHITES

MRS. BASS TALKS ON DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Mrs. N. W. Bass, National organizer for the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, who has been working among the local home mission societies, addressed the society of the First M. E. church in Vincent chapel, last night. Mrs. E. Clark, Jr., president of the society, was in charge of the meeting and after a song service, conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, and a solo, "Just For Today," by Mrs. Stephen H. Tugwell, Mrs. Bass was introduced.

She told of the work of the home missionary society, presenting the many problems confronting it, especially in the large cities where there is a large influx of foreigners who must be looked after. The work among the colored people of the South was described, and especially interesting was her story of the mountain whites of the South. She related incidents of extreme poverty and ignorance among these people. She said that they lack religious instruction and great numbers do not even know what the Bible is and are unable to read. The are located in the mountains of North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama. In closing her remarks, Mrs. Bass touched briefly on the work among the New Mexicans.

After the meeting an invitation was given those not members to join the society, and a number did so.

SUBSTITUTE AUTO BILL INTRODUCED IN SENATE.

Differs from Frelinghuysen's Original Measure in Two Material Particulars.

Trenton, Mar. 1.—Senator Frelinghuysen changed his programme as to his automobile bill over night. He has prepared a substitute measure, which he introduced this afternoon, and which, he says, will be reported out of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate promtply, as he has submitted the substitute to the individual members.

The substitute bill differs from the original in several minor particulars, and in two articulars that are material. The license charge of seventy-five cents per horsepower for each machine is abandoned, and in its place is a provision that each machine of thirty horsepower or less shall pay a fee of $3, and each machine above thirty horsepower shall pay a fee of $5. The chauffeur of a machine of thirty horsepower or less shall pay $1 as a license fee and the chauffeur of a machine of more than thirty horsepower shall pay $2.

The changes in the estimation of automobilists around the State House today are an improvement, but the opposition to the measure, on account of the restrictions as to speed limit and arrest without warrant, is as great as ever, and the bill will be stubbornly contested until it is made a law or defeated.

Spent Money; Accused of Robbery.

New Brunswick, Mar. 1.—Because she bought furniture, carpets and other house furnishings, paying for the goods with $5 and $20 bills, with now and then a $5 gold piece, Mrs. Mildred Breece, wife of Grover Cleveland Breece, of Prospect Plains, has been arrested by Constable Gordon on a charge of stealing $125 from the home of Albert Stults, of that place. The money was taken February 14, but the theft was not discovered until a week ago. In the meantime Mrs. Breece has been spending money. The stolen money was in $5 and $20 bills and $5 gold pieces. Annie Gardner, a bound girl, working at the Stults place, has also been arrested, but protested her innocence.

Engineer Hurled from His Cab.

Paterson, Mar. 1.—Suffering from injuries he received by being knocked out of the window of his cab, Charles Parry, of Jersey City, engineer of a Lackawanna passenger train, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday. It is believed he will recover. He has a fractured hip. Parry was running his locomotive through Lincoln Park at a moderate speed. He was leaning out of the window when in the darkness he struck some obstacle and the force of the blow pulled him from his cab. His fireman saw the accident and the train was stopped. Parry was discovered at the foot of a steep embankment.

CAN PICK NO MORE COAL.

Detectives Stop Woman's Calling, and She Has to Seek Aid.

A pale-faced, scantily-dressed woman carrying in her arms an infant, called yesterday upon Poormaster Boorman, of Bayonne, and asked for assistance. She said:

"Please give me and my babe just one meal. I have no way of earning a living. I used to gather enough coal along the railroad tracks to sell to buy food and pay the rent. Now theer are so many detectives on duty that I cannot even gather a bagful. Starvation stares me in the face."

She was given aid by the poormaster.

Waggaman Art Sale Suit.

Washington, March 1.—The right of the Catholic University of America to the proceeds of the art collection of Thomas E. Waggaman, which was sold in New York last winter, was Tuesday questioned by H. Rosier Dulany, trustee in bankruptcy of Mr. Waggaman, in a petition filed in the District Supreme Court. Mr. Dulany asks that the bill of sale given to the Catholic University of the collection be declared null and void and the amount realized from the sale, $279,555, be turned over to the general fund for the benefit of Mr. Waggaman's creditors.

Dr. Frank Borneman, of Philadelphia, returned home yesterday after a visit to his sister, Mrs. Frank H. Haurand, of East Front street.

To Make Atlantic City a Port.

Atlantic City, Mar. 1.—A move has been started in this city for a deeper channel in the Absecon Inlet, at the head of this island, and Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, has offered to lend his aid in the interest of the measure, provided it is properly started by Congressman John J. Gardner. It has been said by government experts, who have looked over the situation, that a dike or jetty could be built on the opposite, or Brigantine, side of the channel, and that the currents would then cut away the sand, and in a comparatively short time would dig a channel of sufficient depth to admit a boat of almost any draft.

Record Tide in North Shrewsbury.

Red Bank, Mar. 1—The tide in the North Shrewsbury River is lower than it has been within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Last night the wind blew with gale force from the northwest, driving the water out of the river. Early this morning, when the tide was at its lowest ebb, nothing but narrow brooklets trickled along the muddy bed. Oyster beds were exposed, and eels, coaxed from the mud by the recent warm spell, could be seen lazily crawling through the ooze. Last night, at flood tide, the water in the river was from eight to twelve feet deep.

DYING ALONE SIX DAYS

Missing Man Paralyzed and Senseless in His Home.

FOUND BY POLICEMAN

Henry Tiedemann Lay at the Door of Death In Lonely House, While Neighbors Wondered at His Disappearance.

In the little house on Cottage place where he lived alone, the mystery of the six-days' disappearance of Henry Tiedemann, thirty-five years old, one of Street Commissioner Gavett's laboring men, was solved by a policeman last night. He was found paralyzed and unconscious, in which condition he had probably lain for at least four days, and perhaps for all the time he was missing.

Tiedemann got a day off last week to visit relatives in Montclair. He did not return next day and no word of him was received the day following. He had been a regular workman, and Mr. Gavett was surprised at his absence, but it was assumed that the attractions in Montclair were holding him.

In Cottage place the neighbors began to take note of Tiedemann's absence two days ago. He had lived by himself in one of the tiny cottages for years, and the sudden cessation of his regular goings and comings created comment. The neighbors didn't know of the proposed visit to Montclair, and, unlike the street department, they suspected something was wrong.

Yesterday afternoon a colored man from the row went to police headquarters and told Chief Kiely of the case. When the officers were lined up for inspeceion two hours later the chief instructed Policeman Dennis Keefe, whose beat includes Cottage place, to break into Tiedemann's house if he was still missing when he got there.

Keefe carried out the instructions and the discovery of the street worker followed. The man was barely alive, starvation having added its weakening effects to the stroke. Dr. Lufburrow, the city physician, was brought to the house as fast as his horse could travel, but the case was too serious for treatment there. Tiedemann was hurried to the hospital, where heroic measures were found necessary to keep him alive. It was said at the institution this morning that his condition was very grave. He had not recovered consciousness at noon.

The police are trying to locate Nellie Tiedeman, a sister, the only relative he is known to have. She left here several years ago, and the authorities have no clue, beyond the proposed trip to Montclair, on which to trace her. The Montclair police will be asked to assist in the search.

FIRST BAPTIST ACTIVITY.

George H. Batchelor Re-elected Sunday-School Superintendent.

Officers were elected, reports presented and other business considered at the annual meeting of the officers and teachers of the First Baptist church Sunday-school, last night, and it was decided to adopt plans to increase the membership and interest in the school.

George H. Batchelor was re-elected superintendent, Newton P. Drake, secretary, and Samuel Case, treasurer. The report of the treasurer showed a substantial balance with all bills paid.

Resolutions were passed regarding the death of Miss Florence Marsh, for many years a faithful worker in the school, and a copy will be sent to the family. It was decided to hold a social for the officers and teachers early in April. On Sunday a committee will be appointed to arrange for the annual excursion this summer.

Sauerkraut Was Gasoline.

Fred Endress, the butcher, had a barrel of gasoline sent to his South Plainfield farm yesterday afternoon. When it arrived the German farmhand in charge of the place thought it was a barrel of sauerkraut and rolled it into the cellar. Then he knocked in the head of the barrel to see what the sauerkraut looked like, and nearly died of fright. He was so scared at the idea of a barrel of gasoline in the cellar that his panic spread to the rest of the household. He gathered up his courage after a while and carried the stuff out by the pailful. Nothing happened.

Purse of Money for Pastor.

The Women's Baptist Missionary Society of the Calvary Baptist church visited Rev. J. W. Mitchell at his home last night. After an hour of prayer and song and a few words from Mr. Mitchell, the minister was presented with a purse of money. Messrs. Brinkley and Whindleton made the presentation.

DEACONS TO ARBITRATE CALVARY CHURCH ROW

MINISTERIAL COUNCIL POINTS TO WAY OF SETTLEMENT.

As a result of an advisory ministerial conference, held at the church yesterday afternoon, the Calvary Baptist pastorate tangle is in the hands of four deacons for arbitration. One of the factions is already accusing the other of a settled intention to ignore the peace tribunal, but there is hope that the mixup will be adjusted on some basis that will quiet the church and restore it to the even tenor of its way.

Pastors of twenty-four colored churches in different places about this section took part in the council, which was called by the deacons. The congregation was invited to attend, but it had no part in the council. The supporters of Rev. G. W. Bailey, who disputes the pastorate with Rev. P. T. Morris, were opposed to the calling of the council, but they were well represented at the meeting.

Rev. Dr. A. G. Young, of Lakewood, was chosen moderator of the council, and Rev. Dr. E. E. Jackson, of New York, formerly pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, was made secretary.

Exactly what took place at the meeting no newspaper knows. About the first thing the council did was to exclude reporters, and the exclusion was rigidly maintained. The things discussed by the council were lively enough to make interesting reading, but the council leaders were wise enough to realize it and warned the brethren accordingly.

The report of the proceedings was made to the newspapers by Rev P. T. Morris, who was delegated to give it out by Secretary Jackson.

"In the first place," said Mr. Morris, "the council decided that it was purely advisory in character, and had no power to enforce its decisions. This being understood, they passed a resolution, after a lengthy debate, advising the church to submit the pastorate dispute to four deacons, two from each party, providing the two claimants would withdraw from active contest for the place while the tribunal was discussing the trouble.

"Immediately the Rev. Bailey arose, although he was not invited into the council and had no right to a voice in it, and announced that he would not withdraw. He said the people supporting him had spent a lot of money and he would stick until Gabriel blew his trumpet.

"The four deacons on the arbitration committee were chosen before adjournment. Deacons Robinson and Conway represent the Morris party and Deacons Patrick Reid and Scipio Whindleton act for the Bailey supporters. They have not decided on their first meeting yet, but it has been agreed by the deacons that neither Rev. Bailey nor myself will take charge next Sunday.

"I don't think the Bailey party will keep the arbitration agreement," said Mr. Morris, speaking as a claimant and not as a reporter. "It appears to me that Rev. Bailey's announcement indicates that. For myself, I would keep the agreement rigidly. I am perfectly willing and ready to step down from the pastorate if Rev. Bailey will. If he persists in his claim I will maintain the contest."

MUHLENBERG NURSES' ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

MISS MARGARET CRAMER CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF THE ORGANIZATION.

The graduate trained nurses of the city met yesterday afternoon at the Nurses' Home and organized the Muhlenberg Alumni Association. There are twenty-seven graduate nurses eligible to membership and the new association was started under very favorable auspices. Mrs. D. Arcy Stevens, president of the State Nurses' Association, was present and addressed the nurses, giving them some valuable and interesting suggestions about the State organization.

After a thorough discussion of the objects of the Alumni Association, these officers were elected: President, Miss Margaret Cramer; first vice-president, Miss Henrietta Wildey; second vice-president, Miss Grace Palmer; secretary, Miss Olive O. De Lany; treasurer, Miss Mary Van Campen.

Thirteen nurses joined the association yesterday and the remaining fourteen are expected to do so soon. It was decided to meet on the third Tuesday in each month at places to be selected by the association.

DISGRACEFUL SCENE ON TROLLEY CAR 1706

PASSENGERS STOP CONDUCTOR FROM TRYING TO EJECT WOMAN PASSENGER

Main line trolley car No. 1706, which reached the Watchung avenue terminus at 8 o'clock last night, bore a conductor who evidently served his apprenticeship on the New York Subway and who gave an exhibition that would even put some of those rough-shod individuals to shame.

This particular knight of the bell cord got into an argument with a respectable looking woman well past middle life over the payment of fare, just after the car had left Westfield. He claimed she had only given him a nickle, while she insisted that it was a dime to pay her way from Cranford to this city. She refused to present another fare and after the car had passed Terrill road he essayed to put her off. She clung to the door and a struggle followed in which the conductor showed anything but common decency, acting the part of a bully to perfection.

Male passengers in the car interfered and one of them offered to pay the disputed five cents, thus ending the struggle, though the woman declared as before that she had already done so. She had considerable money in a pocketbook and this was torn from her grasp during the scuffle and the contents scattered on the floor.

Seats for New School Arrive.

Principal I. W. Travell informed the students at the High School this morning that the seats for the new building had arrived and that "moving" would be accomplished Monday or Tuesday. In that event, the first exercises at the Plainfield High School will be held Tuesday or Wednesday. All the pictures and furnishings have already been taken from the old to the new building.

John Brown's Condition.

The condition of John B. Brown, of Park avenue, who was badly hurt by falling through an open trap door, Tuesday, remains about the same. The broken shoulder blade has been set and to all appearances will mend but it will require a long time. He is still unable to lie down to any extent because of painful contusions and remains in a chair the greater part of the time.

Arm Broken in Slight Fall.

Mrs. John Lant, of Prescott place, sustained a broken arm in a slight accident a few days ago. In descending a short flight of steps she slipped and fell, doubling the member beneath her. It was an even break and will mend in a few weeks.

Their Closing Dance.

The last dance of the season will be held by the K. N. H. Club at Fanwood engine house on April 19. William Sharkey is chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

Horses.

Stonewall Jackson will have a carload of Western horses on sale at his old stable, Somerset street, tomorrow, Saturday. He would like to see his old friends, or any new ones, in want of horses.

Borough Council Tonight.

The Borough Council will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight. Several important matters will be considered and the date for the public hearing on the sewer system will be set.

ARREST OF POSTMASTER

Geo. W. Cooper, of Somerville, Charged With Having Defrauded the Government.

HAS HEARING TODAY

Taken to Newark by Inspector Yesterday—Before Commissioner Today—How He "Worked" the Government.

George W. Cooper, who was removed from the office of postmaster of Somerville two months ago on a report by inspectors that they had found irregularities amounting to $400 in his accounts, was arrested yesterday on a complaint made by Postoffice Inspector Williams.

It is alleged that he falsified vouchers and obtained $1,300 a year for the services of an assistant, to whom he paid only $600 a year.

Cooper was taken to the Essex county jail in Newark. He will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Whitehead there today.

MAYOR CALLS MEETING OF PLAINFIELD FANS

SMALLEY WANTS DATE FOR CONFERENCE WITH PHILIP DAAB.

As a means of getting the baseball fans together to talk over the situation for the coming season, Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of the borough, has issued a call for a meeting to be held at the Hotel Iroquois on Saturday night, March 10, at 7:30 o'clock. In the meantime an effort will be made to reach as many of the fans as possible and have them promise to attend the meeting. Manager Daab, of Hoboken, will be invited and will be asked to explain his plans so far as bringing his team here this season.

The principal object of the meeting will be to form an organization if possible which will lend its support to Mr. Daab. After this preliminary meeting another one will probably be held soon to which representatives from Somerville and Westfield will be invited. The object of this is to bring about a co-operation of the three towns in a series of games during the season which it is believed will revive the old-time enthusiasm.

FAITH CHAPEL REPORTS.

Trustees Re-elected at Annual Meeting.

The annual business meeting of Faith chapel for the election of two trustees and transaction of other important matters was held at the chapel last night. Charles W. McCutchen, president of the Board of Trustees, called the meeting to order and Rev. J. W. Musson was chosen moderator.

After the re-election of U. B. Crane and L. W. Randolph as trustees for three years, the board authorized the construction of a baptistry at the chapel, whereby it will be possible for Pastor Musson to conduct the ordinance of baptism. Heretofore this has been done at the First Baptist church. The work on the baptistry will be started on Monday. Reports were received from the various departments of the chapel work, showing all to be in a healthy condition.

MRS. FREEMAN RESIGNS.

Grace Church Organist Retires After Twenty Years' Service.

The resignation of Mrs. W. A. Freeman, organist of Grace P. E. church for nearly twenty years, was received and accepted by the vestry of the church at its meeting last night. W. E. MacClymont, who is organist of Holy Trinity church, Harlem, New York, was appointed in her place.

Mrs. Freeman's reason for resigning was not given out with the announcement of her retirement this morning. No immediate changes in the choir organization are anticipated.

Cheers for "Consolidation."

Hearty and prolonged applause followed former Mayor W. L. Saunders' reference to the proposed consolidation of the city and borough at the "Junior American banquet" last night, giving evidence that the issue is still very much alive.

—You make no mistake when you buy Rockdale print or creamery butter. It is the very best and is guaranteed by Neuman Brothers, the local sellers.

—Jacob W. Wall, of Westfield, has purchased the stationery and newspaper stand of L. C. Major, in that town, and will conduct an up-to-date newspaper stand at the place.

MARRIAGE CEREMONY PRECEDES MOTHER'S DEATH

MRS. JANE AUGUSTA JENNINGS MADE IT HER DYING REQUEST.

Following an illness of eight weeks from a complication of troubles, Mrs. Jane Augusta Jennings died at her home on Somerset street at 1 o'clock this morning. She was the daughter of the late Enoch Ruckman and had made her home in this city nearly all her life. She was a member of the First Methodist church and also Old Glory Council, D. of L. The funeral will be held at the home Monday morning at 10:30 and interment will be at Hillside.

Mrs. Jennings leaves four children, Edward, Charles I. and Lendrum, and one daughter, Mrs. Phillip Drake. The latter was Miss Lucy Jennings until last evening, when at the mother's request the young people, whose engagement had been announced, were married. They proceeded to the home of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, where the ceremony was performed, Charles and Lendrum Jennings acting as attendants. Mr. Drake is a machinist and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake, of West Third street.

COLLIES ATTACKED AND NEARLY KILLED HORSE

FRAZEE HAD TO SHOOT IT AND SUES DOGS' OWNERS.

Edward P. Frazee, of Oak Tree, has sued Lewis and William Noe, of the same place, for $300, in tort, in the district court at New Brunswick, for damage alleged to have been done to his horse by two collie dogs belonging to the defendants.

Frazee claims that the two dogs rushed out at his horse while he was driving by the Noe place on February 14, and attacked it. It is alleged that they bit and tore the horse with remarkable fury, and damaged it so badly before they could be driven off as to necessitate its destruction. It is charged that the dogs are vicious and have a habit of running at passing horses.

The case will be tried before Judge Hicks. William G. De Meza, of this city, is counsel for the plaintiff, and George S. Silzer, of New Brunswick, is the defendants' lawyer.

CORIELL PROPERTY SOLD.

Good Prices Obtained at Executor's Sale of Real Estate.

The executor's sale of property to close the estate of the late William McD. Coriell, yesterday afternoon, attracted a good sized crowd. B. Frank Coriell, executor, conducted the sale, and he disposed of all the property at good prices.

The homestead property at Clinton avenue and South Second street, was sold to Henry Leifke for $7,900, and Charles H. Hand purchased the property at West Front street and Clinton avenue for $4,475. John F. Pound purchased lots three and two in the rear of the West Front street property, paying $350 for lot three and $385 for lot two. Henry Leifke purchased lot one in the same tract for $360. The house and lot on Milton place was sold to U. B. Crane for $1,000.

No Discontinuance of Pew Rentals.

The report that there is any purpose on the part of the trustees of the First Baptist church to abandon the pew rental system proves to be without foundation. The object of appointing a committee of twenty in the Men's Club is solely to further the envelope system of collections. In other words it is desired to increase the number of subscribers to this system of church revenue. The finances of the church were never in better condition, but, as in every church, it is desired to enlist the co-operation of the entire membership.

Church Friends' Gift.

In honor of the fifty-fifth birthday anniversary, the members of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church and other friends, spent a pleasant time at the residence of Theodore Hoope, of Richmond street, last night. In recognition of his services to the church he was presented with a handsome oak sideboard, the gift being presented by Rev. H. C. Ashley. Rev. F. D. Tildon made a fer appropriate remarks.

First Lenten Recital.

Lovers of good music will be interested in the first of the series of free organ recitals during Lent to be held at the Holy Cross church, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Lee, the organist, who will render a number of selections, will be assisted by Mr. Loder, baritone. It is proposed to give these recitals on Saturday afternoons during Lent and will be free to the public.

COLBY DEFINES "RADICALISM" IN JERSEY POLITICS

Senator From Essex Given Splendid Ovation By Representative Men at the American Banquet Where He Tells How Freedom of Speech and Thought is Forbidden by Party Bosses.

FATHER OF "CONSOLIDATION" PLEADS FOR UNION

Former Mayor Saunders Responds for Plainfield to Toast, "Our City"—Mayor Smalley Toastmaster—Governor Stokes Unable to Attend—State Officers of the Order Speak—Colby's Speech.

When Mayor Newton B. Smalley, North Plainfield's fighting mayor, introduced Everett Colby, Senator from Essex county, at the "Junior American banquet," given at the Casino last night by Franklin and Benevolent Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., the stalwart foe of the State Republican machine, received an ovation that lasted fully three minutes, and when he arose to speak again prolonged applause was given that must have dispelled any vestige of doubt as to the genuineness of the welcome, and the desire of Plainfielders to see and hear him.

The gathering was a thorough representative one, including not only members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., but many others prominent in city, county and State affairs. There were over 200 guests seated at the various tables, which were attractively decorated with the National colors.

Early in the evening it was learned that Governor Edward C. Stokes would be unable to attend, as he had been called to Millville by the serious illness of his mother. He informed Mayor Smalley late in the afternoon of his inability to be present and expressed his regrets.

Naturally, however, the greatest interest centred in Senator Colby. The failure of the Board of Trade to invite him to its banquet only increased the desire of Plainfielders to have the Senator from Essex county come here and his doctrines expressed in earnest, forcible words found a responsive chord in the heart of everyone present.

In introducing Senator Colby, Mayor Smalley remarked that he felt particularly unfitted to do so. He said that a man who rose from the ranks, reaching the high position of Senator must have some unusual power. However, he did not think that the Senator was a stranger here inasmuch as he had to come to Plainfield to get his better half.

At the outset Mr. Colby expressed his delight in meeting those present, and also in the fact that women had been admitted—Mrs. E. R. Ackerman and Mrs. Colby occupying seats in the balcony. Continuing, the Senator said:

"I don't think that we half appreciate what the women have done. Going back several years to the horrible massacres in Armenia we learn that the Sultan was able to repulse England and Germany, but when a woman, Clara Barton, appeared before him, within six months she stood on the ramparts and was instrumental in putting a stop to the brutality. This is not my first visit to Plainfield. I was a candidate here once, but not a political candidate. At that time I didn't care whether the county was Democratic or Republican, but was concerned as to how I stood with a small minority.

"I am sorry Governor Stokes is not here, though we may not all agree with him. If his life work should end tonight there are three monuments he would leave—the school system, the primary law and his last message, which I think, should be filed with the State papers.

"I am convinced that every one should be a politician, not the kind that follows a boss and sells his vote for $2, but a follower of an ideal or an idea. I was deeply impressed with the remarks of one speaker in his reference to the American flag, and it reminded me of a trip I took to Hong Kong. On the voyage I was continually annoyed by an Englishman who spoke sneeringly of our navy, but when we sailed into Hong Kong and saw the American fleet anchored there showing the National colors, the tears fairly streamed down my face, and yet that was not patriotism—the kind that inspires at the noon hour or when one is in some obscure corner."

Senator Colby's subject was "Patriotism." He spoke as follows:

"Patriotism is the product of environment. A seed is sown in childhood in the home and in the school. If sown on good ground the bright leaves of a small plant appear above the surface, they reach out toward the sun, they breathe in the air that surrounds them, and, if nourished and protected from the chill blasts of civic indifference, those small leaves will burst into the perfect flower of love and devotion to our country and its ideals. We see, therefore, the great need of preparing the soil from which the plant is to draw its vigor and its life. If the seed falls in stony ground, it will not take root. Its leaves will be scorched by the sun and wither; the stones must be taken from the field. It is a hard task for a few but so easy for the many if each would carry but one stone from the field.

"You remember the story of Christ crossing the field with his disciples. It was covered with stones and the Master suggested that it could be easily prepared for harvest and made to yield its fruit if each one would but carry away one stone; so each picked up a stone, but one of the disciples looked about for the smallest he could find that his burden might be light. Soon they stopped for lunch, and having nothing to eat, Christ turned the stones into bread and the disciple with the pebble found that he received but little. On the return they repeated their task, and the one who had taken the smallest stone, thinking that he would profit by experience, sought the largest in the field, but at the border of the river Christ ordered the stones to be thrown into the water, suggesting that the man who works only when there is a reward deserves nothing in return. Is there not a pretty good Sunday-school lesson in that for us all? If the stones must be taken from the field, should we not all look for the biggest boulder we can carry on our backs?

"What are some of the stones in the political field? Is not one the wrongful application of money in public life? It is a rock that must be removed from the field if a harvest is to be reaped. Patriotism cannot live in an atmosphere of corruption nor can it breathe the air of a commercialism that barters on exchange the ideals and principles that are and should always be the foundations of our government—freedom of speech, freedom of thought and freedom to do as you please until you infringe upon the rights of your neighbor.

"In Essex County, where I live, freedom of speech and freedom of thought have in a large measure been curtailed through fear. The only men who seem willing to tell the whole truth are the ministers of the gospel and some independent editors. The Essex County Bar, although composed of many high-minded, splendid and able men, as an organization to influence public opinion hasn't the courage of a robust clam when it comes to a fight in the open. If it wants to oppose some nomination, it does it in the cellar and it sends a second cousin of a brother-in-law who wont tell you from whom he comes rather than come out in the light of day.

"Now why is this? Because certain men control the business of the county and have it in their hands to make and unmake the prosperity of thousands of men. It is not a case of actual corruption. It is not a case of open threat, but it is the power to prevent a man from developing his own resources by his own endeavor. In the case of those who are striving hard to make a living it is natural that they should guard their interests by the sacrifice of independent speech. We would all do the same, but in the case of men who can make a living without the aid of certain influences I see little excuse for shirking the responsibility of blurting out the truth.

"But what happens when a group of men try to pick up a few of these bricks? They are said to be unpatriotic, radical and unsafe. Let us see. They started out to make the railroads pay their fair share of taxes. Is that radicalism? They attempted to secure the passage of a law to limit the period for which cities and towns should grant special privileges to the corporations. Is that radicalism? They are trying to restore government by the people so that a young man in this free country can seek public office without contributing to a campaign fund, asking leave of a political boss or calling at

Why Not Be First With Spring Styles?

THIS STORE bids you choose your gowns from what we believe to be the most comprehensive collection of beautifully made suits and dresses that has ever been exhibited in any New Jersey establishment.

Early to choose, say you! Certainly. But why not be one of Spring's first fashions' blossoms? What single advantage is there in waiting? Why should any one tag on behind the big procession that will soon be in motion?

The suits here for the most part are of the sort you can put on right away. The styles are right for now, and will be right throughout the Spring and Summer season. You can make no mistake in selecting anything we have in stock.

are examples of the beautiful effects that are now put into popular priced garments. We do not think that the suits in other stores at anything less than $32.50 will match these at $25.00. The Panama is of superior quality and may be had in black, Alice blue, old rose and navy. The suits are made with a jaunty Eton, prettily tucked and trimmed with braid, with effective crushed silk belt. The skirt is made with clusters of plaits, front and back, and with circular side fold at bottom. Any woman, no matter what her circumstances, could appropriately wear such suits as these, and when one thinks that $25 covers the whole cost, dressmaking and all, the prospects should be most pleasing to those who desire to dress fashionably without being extravagant.

made of handsome mixed Cheviots are additional evidence of our ability to sell beautifully made gowns for little money. These we value at $29.50 because they are sold for as mhch in many another store; fancy stripes and checks of many sorts to choose from; the suits are made with fashionable man-tailored coats having velvet collars, and skirts are in the most popular of this season's styles; the tailoring and finishing is simply superb and the fit is faultless. We are proud, indeed, to be able to sell you such suits for $22.50.

Springtime Coats

We are positive there is not another collection in any store in New Jersey that approaches this one in variety, beauty of style, quantity or moderate pricing. The Coats are made of Covert Cloths, Broadcloths and Fancy Mixtures; all the styles that fashion has decreed proper will be found here—short, jaunty styles, half-fitting box styles, tight-fitting styles and long loose styles. Pay almost any price you choose and be sure that whatever price you pay here you will get the best that your money will buy. See these Jackets at $7.50, $9.50, $12.50 and $16.50.

It comes from the same factory as the celebrated Agate Nickel Steel Ware, and is in every way reliable and dependable. This will probably be the last time we can offer equal ware at such low prices, as the metal manufacturers are just about to agree upon another advance in prices.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The Fairview A. C. baseball team will soon organize for the coming season. The club is composed of young boys living in the vicinity of Fairview avenue.

As soon as the weather will permit the Clinton Avenue Club will go out for practice. The team, practically the same as last year, has been secured and a strong schedule of games arranged.

The proposition to call a meeting of the local baseball fans is meeting with general approval, and it is likely that it will be held on Saturday, March 10. In the meantime all those interested in having Manager Daab and his team here this season will be invited to attend. Future action will then be decided upon.

Reach's baseball guide for the coming year is out and as usual is complete with valuable and interesting data for the baseball fan. Without doubt this is one of the best books published on the subject and a feature sure to attract attention is the excellent photograph of one of the world's championship games played at the Polo Grounds last fall between the Giants and Athletics, when Bender, the Indian, shut out the Giants. The guide will soon be placed on sale.

Quiet detective work on the part of Charles Thornton led to the discovery of a petty thief who had been stealing grain from the Thornton barn of Ziba Osmun, next to it. Not much grain was missed by the victims at any one time, but the thefts occurred with such regularity as to make the loss annoying if not serious. Mr. Thornton posted himself where he could watch the barn one day last week, and caught a man well known in New Market, who frequently drives into the village, taking two bags of oats from his place. Confronted by Mr. Thornton, with the goods on him, the man confessed his guilt freely. He pleaded that he was too poor to buy grain enough for his horse, and believed the small amount he took from the two barns did the owners no great harm. He seemed so sincerely penitent and in need that Mr. Thornton decided it was not a case for prosecution.

Mrs. William J. Hamilton entertained the W. C. T. U. at her home yesterday afternoon. The subject of the meeting was missionary work among jail inmates. Miss Sarah Keron, of Elizabeth, was the principal speaker. The meeting was largely attended. Tea was served after the session.

A Lenten service was held at Holy Innocents' church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Services will be held every Friday night for the balance of the penitential season, at 7:45 o'clock. A Lenten class for women will be held every Thursday afternoon, in the Guild room, at 3 o'clock.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The present season at the New Plainfield will close about the middle of May. The re-opening is scheduled for August 18 with the local favorites, Yorke and Adams, of "Bankers and Brokers" fame.

War Correspondent Dunn, who reported the Russo-Jap war for several of the leading American newspapers, will lecture in the New Plainfield next Thursday night on "How Russia Lost." He will use stereopticon pictures taken by himself.

The coming week at the New Plainfield theatre will be devoted almost exclusively to melodrama. On Monday night it will be Florence Hamilton in "The Senator's Wife;" Tuesday, "More to be Pitied Than Scorned;" Wednesday, "From Rags to Riches," and Saturday, "Deserted at the Altar."

Joseph Arthur, who wrote "The Still Alarm," "Blue Jeans, "Lost River," "The Cherry Pickers," and many other high class melodramas that have been seen in Plainfield, died at his home in New York last week. He began life as a newpaper man, then became an actor and afterward a producer.

The cast of "Deserted at the Altar," which appears here a week from tomorrow, includes Frank Vail, a former well known Plainfield boy. He resided on Lafayette place and left the city with the Kennedy repertoire company nearly ten years ago. Since then he has appeared with many big productions, among them "The Virginia," in which Dustin Farnum starred and which ran an entire season in New York. There were two other Vail boys who also adopted the stage as their profession, Will and Bert, both delightful singers. Will is now with a musical comedy, while Bert is a member of Lew Dockstader's minstrel troupe.

Clara Lipman and Louis Mann celebrated the 100th performance of Miss Lipman's clever play of New York life, "Julie Bonbon," on Friday, by distributing hand-painted, chatelaine powder puffs. These accessories to a ladies' toilet seemed particularly appropriate to the atmosphere of the millinery shop and boudoir of Julie. Miss Lipman plays Julie very delicately, with a fine appreciation of the naivete of the French milliner. Mr. Mann's impersonation of her father, Jean Poujol, the inebriated drag on her life, is one of the goods things seen on Broadway this year. A scene in the widely advertised restaurant, Little Hungary, is as realistic as the first act in Julie's millinery shop, which is one of the show settings of the play. Every detail of the restaurant is faithfully given, quite as the millinery shop is notable for a most wonderful display of tasty hats. The play has had a most prosperous life at Fields' theatre and has given Miss Lipman a new claim to distinction, that of playwrighting.

Mansfield Denies Cancer Story.

Buffalo, March 1.—"Thank God," said Richard Mansfield Tuesday night, "It's nothing like that which has influenced my determination to retire from the stage in 1909. I am perfectly well." He had been shown the statement from Cleveland that he was suffering from cancer at the base of the spine, which was the real reason for his recent announcement. The story of his trouble was very circumstantial, but he denied it in every detail.

TOMORROW THE LAST DAY.

THE MARSHALL & BALL "BROKEN LINE" SALE ENDS TOMORROW EVENING AT 10 O'CLOCK. And while the fire has forced us to smilingly pocket a loss, our patrons have been making a snug profit.

REV. CHARLES H. POOL DEAD AT SOMERVILLE

SECRETARY OF DOMESTIC MISSIONS BOARD OF REFORMED CHURCH

Rev. Charles Hubbard Pool, secretary of the Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed Church of America, with offices at 25 East Twenty-second street, New York, died at his home at Somerville yesterday morning, after a lingering illness. He preached on several occasions in Trinity Reformed church here and was well known to many Plainfielders. Dr. Pool was born in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn borough February 11, 1840. He graduated from Rutgers College in 1863, and from the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick in 1866.

In 1890 he received the degree of D. D. from Rutgers College. His first pastorate was the Reformed church at Bedminster, from 1866 to 1875, when he was called to the Third Reformed church of Raritan, where he remained until he became secretary of the Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed church on January 1, 1888. In the latter capacity he labored diligently and was a most efficient official.

MOODY CAUSES UPROAR AMONG THE DEMOCRATS

HE CALLED CLEVELAND, BRYAN AND PARKER POLITICAL CORPSES.

There was a lively row in a meeting of the recently formed Essex County Democratic League in Newark last night. It was caused by John Moody, chairman of the Union County Democratic Committee, who was present as a guest. Asked to speak, he forcibly and unhesitatingly denounced the Democratic State and national leaders, including Senator James F. Minturn, of Hudson county, and characterized as "political corpses" Grover Cleveland, Alton B. Parker and William J. Bryan. More than two hundred members of the league were present, and when Mr. Moody finished his speech he was greeted with mingled cheers and cries of disapproval. He took up a recent address made by Senator Minturn before the league and said that if the Senator had been correctly quoted he could not be relied upon, as his words then were in strong contrast to prevelous utterances.

As soon as Moody sat down, David T. Howell, a lawyer, of Newark, took the floor.

"It is unbecoming in a Democrat, especially one here as our guest," he said, "to attack such men as Cleveland, Parker and Bryan. I do not know Mr. Moody or Senator Minturn, but I am acquainted with the other three men he mentioned, and I will not stand by and hear a man who says he is a Democrat assail them and refer to them as 'corpses.' They are of sterling character and integrity, and I object to the remarks of Mr. Moody."

BIBLE SHOULD BE TAUGHT IN THE HOME

MISS CHADBOURNE URGES MOTHERS TO STUDY SCRIPTURE.

Working for a greater degree of co-operation with Sunday-school teachers on the part of mothers, Miss Elizabeth Chadbourne, of this city, teacher of a Sunday-school training class for women which meets at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church weekly, addressed a mothers' meeting at the Congregational church yesterday afternoon. Her subject was the use of the Bible in the home. The meeting was largely attended by the mothers of the church, and Miss Chadbourne's talk was accorded close attention.

She urged the mothers to study the Bible carefully and unceasingly. They could not hope to impart Bible knowledge to their children, she pointed out, if they were not themselves full of Bible knowledge and spirit. Careful and earnest preparation for the home teaching of the children, so necessary to bring the teachings of the Sunday-school to full fruition, was needed.

Miss Chadbourne presented a number of illustrations designed to show how the Bible should be opened to the children of different ages. As the children varied in age so their view of the Bible and its lessons changed. The viewpoint of the small child was not that of the growing boy or girl, and they, in turn, had a view that was not that of the youth or the maiden budding into maturity. There was something in the Bible for the child of every age, but the mothers must be wise enough and well enough posted to give them just what appeals to them most strongly.

An informal discussion among the mothers followed the talk. Tea was served and a social hour, which was much enjoyed, marked the close of the gathering.

Mrs. Emor Messersmith and Mrs. Henry Nomer were in charge of the social features.

DEFINES "RADICALISM"

the office of a corporation. Is that radicalism? Or is that the old-fashioned American way of doing business that was inaugurated by our fathers?

"As a matter of fact, patriotic radicalism to my mind is a good thing if tempered by education. Radicalism gets up steam; education confines it and guides its power in the right direction. Radicalism puts life into fossils, upsets foolish and ridiculous customs, stirs the sluggish pulse and starts the circulation in the body politic while all the time our splendid public schools act as a safety-valve and check to the enthusiasm of the radical. It is true, however, that the work of the radical should be done in the spirit of true patriotism. Patriotism knows no spite, revenge or intolerence. It seeks to injure none nor harm the innocent. It demends but justice to all, freedom for all and truth for all."

Prolonged applause with hearty cheers were given the Senator as he concluded his speech and sat down.

Mayor Smalley said that he realized that toastmasters were in the habit of occupying too much time and for that reason he decided to be brief in introducing the various speakers. In referring to statements made as to reasons for restricting immigration, he read an extract from a speech made by the Governor of Virginia, which said that rather than have this country filled with undesirable people it would be far better to allow the land to remain untilled. He then introduced former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, as "being from a section where politics are unknown, but who like the previous speaker was onto his job."

In responding to the toast, "Our City," Mr. Saunders said: "I am delighted to be here and I enjoyed the dinner and the speeches, especially the one by Senator Colby, but that which pleased me most was Mayor Smalley's quotation from the Governor of Virginia. I am surprised that he did not go further south and sell us what the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina. I haven't discovered any good reason for bringing me here tonight. When Mayor Smalley asked me to speak at this banquet I told him that I was too old to be called a Junior and questioned him about the Senior order. He told me that they were now angels in Heaven so I dropped the subject and I think that the Mayor's reason for inviting me here are found in the Scripture text: 'O, Lord we come to thee because we have nowhere else to go.'

"However we may differ with Mayor Smalley we always turn up on his side when the call is sounded. I was greatly interested in the patriotic speech from that 'Hercules of Essex,' who reminds me of that wonder of ancient Greece, whose work is so familiar to us all. I think that Mr. Swackhamer will agree with me that the situation is a beautiful one for the Democrats, and I want to say for the benefit of any Democrats who may be present that my only remorse is that we didn't start this reform movement.

"As Senator Colby was speaking I thought I saw Mayors Buckle and Smalley turning red, white and blue, and I thought I heard Mayor Buckle saying something—he usually does. While attending a dinner at Easton recently, a friend suggested that I secure a certain picture representing the 'Goddess of Wind,' to adorn the cover of my monthly magazine of 'Compressed Air.' At the time I did not know where such a picture could be secured, but since then thought I might get one of Mayor Buckle's photos.

"Why I should be asked to speak to the toast, 'Our City,' I don't know, for I do not even live here." At this time Mr. Saunders produced a huge volume of Webster's dictionary and proceeded to read therefrom the history of Plainfield, amid uproarious laughter. He then described the two tribes of Indians which discovered Plainfield in 1835, and presented statistics to show how the city and borough have grown since then. He gave many reasons why the municipalities should be united into one great city with a total population of 24,000 people. He gave the hint to the Jr. O. U. A. M. that it could perform no better service than to bring about such a union. He said that there was no more reason for a dividing line between the city and borough than there was that such a line should be drawn in the banquet hall.

One of the interesting speakers was State Council Secretary W. H. Miers, of Trenton, who has held this office for twenty-five years. His toast was "Our Order," and he paid a glowing tribute to the order, stating that it was organized at Camden in 1866 and today it has a membership in the State of 43,000. He set forth the objects, which includes the placing of an American flag on every public schoolhouse, the reading of the Bible therein, restriction of immigration and better laws governing naturalization.

The speaker refered to a bill recently introduced in Congress by Representative Howell, which tends to correct the naturalization laws, and said that other States are cooperating with New Jersey in urging its passage.

"Our Future" was the toast assigned State Vice Councilor Frank R. Sharp, of Newark, and he likened the order to a railroad train which got under such headway, that it was thought it never would stop. He also spoke on the duty of every American citizen to the Jr. O. U. A. M. Born in the hills of Morris county, where he had a common school education, Mr. Sharp said that he was taught to love his country's history as a Christian does his Bible. He then briefly reviewed the steady progress of the United States, mentioning the names of many leaders in the Nation's affairs to show how God had always chosen the right man for the right place.

H. H. Drake, Esq., of Elizabeth, a member of W. A. M. Mack Council, of that city, spoke on "The Flag and the School." He said that it was with a great deal of pride that he recognized the fact that the American flag protects everyone alike, and there never was a time when there were not men ready to fight and die for Old Glory. The stars and stripes, he said, always floated overhead and were never trampled in the dust.

Mr. Drake said that one of the objects of the order is to prevent sectarian interference in public school affairs, especially as regards a division of State funds for other than the public schools. He recited at some length the victories won in defense of the flag, both in the wars in this country and abroad, and how dear to the heart of every loyal American it is. He also stated that the order opposes the union of State and church. In conclusion Mr. Drake recited Kipling's "Recessional."

The joint committee from Franklin and Benevolent councils arranging the banquet comprised Albert D. Honeyman, chairman; Harry C. Runyon, secretary; Thomas E. Currin, Jr., treasurer; Ephraim Compton, John G. Bicknell and Alfred R. Tranchand. The committee was also ably assisted in its efforts by Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and Mayor Newton B. Smalley, the former being largely instrumental in bring Senator Colby here. The affair was a success financially and otherwise and only words of praise were spoken of the result.

Among those present were the following:

William R. Coward, Burlington, N. J., junior past State councilor; Frank R. Sharp, Irvington, N. J., State vice-councilor; William H. Miers, Trenton, N. J., State Council secretary; Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Senator Everett Colby, A. D. Honeyman, H. H. Drake, W. L. Saunders, Edgar F. Shepard, Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, Assemblyman E. K. Tucker, Mayor J. F. Buckle, J. W. Murray, Jr., George P. NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Women's Missionary Circle of the Baptist church held a meeting at Mrs. W. H. Manning's, and was conducted by Mrs. J. A. Cubberley yesterday afternoon. "Chinese Missions" was the subject of study.

Mrs. Frank Randolph, of Dunellen, spent yesterday as a guest of her sister, Mrs. T. C. Laing, of this place.

The borough bill will not be up for final action in the Legislature until next week.

Real Estate Changes.

These sales and rentals were recently made by Mulford, the real estate broker, of North avenue: W. E. Hyatt, of Fairview avenue, has purchased one of the new houses on Watchung avenue, near Ninth street, being erected by C. D. Manning, and will take possession early in the fall; F. Klin, of Kensington avenue, has rented Miss Allen's house at Putnam avenue and Webster place; Lucius L. Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, has rented Mrs. Van Zant's house on First place, and J. I. Lyle, of Grove street, has leased the property at 73 Sandford avenue.

Gave His a Start.

Holding up a pair of antique candlesticks, an auctioneer said:

"Give me a start."

"Fourpence!" came a voice from the crowd.

"What!" exclaimed the horrified auctioneer.

"Ah!" said the bidder, "I thought that would give him a start."—London Tit-Bits.

Explained.

"The milk you left yesterday was sour," indignantly said the young housekeeper.

"Was it, ma'am?" innocently asked the tricky milkman, "well, that's that lazy farmer's fault. He overslept himself yesterday morning and didn't milk the cows until three hours later than usual."—Philadelphia Press.

ODD BITS OF NEWS.

The Linneus Bulletin says that a Sullivan County dead man sang at his own funeral. A phonograph was placed on his coffin. When the religious ceremony was over the phonograph was turned on and the church listened to the dead man's voice rendering one of his favorite hymns.—Kansas City Journal.

Ellsworth Creiger, of Chicago, aged fifteen years and three months, and five feet five and one-half inches tall, who presented a numerously-signed petition to his mother for permission to be clothed in long pants carried the day. His petition reads like a list of the 400, for it includes the cream of Chicago swell society. —Chicago Post.

A case of whiskey and a pail of oysters are credited with saving the lives of a number of passengers on a stalled train in Dakota. The train was snowbound for four days, and the only nourishment obtainable was the Demon Rum and the oysters. Men who look lovingly on the distilled juice of the corn and the rye are prone to credit it with almost supernatural powers as a life preserver, and it undoubtedly is a stimulant of unusual merit. In the case mentioned, however, old John Barleycorn will hardly receive his just dues from the prohibitionists, for they will, in all probability, give the oysters all the credit for saving the lives of the snowbound passengers. — Portland Oregonian.

A telephone crank made things lively for the "hello" girls of the two companies in West Chester, Pa., and at the same time separated himself from a large amount of loose change. He registered at a leading hotel from Philadelphia and all night kept a porter busy directing him to the telephone booths. The calls were to various persons in Philadelphia, West Chester, and other places, and the conversation generally consisted of songs and alleged humorous stories by the man at this end. Then he disappeared. A hotel porter is authority for the statement that he dropped $13 in the slot at one booth.—Philadelphia Record.

Cats with nine lives and cats without tails have always been plentiful in Wapakoneta, O., but cats with two or three tails were never seen there before. Peisler Brothers are the proud possessors of three kittens with seven tails, two have two tails each, and one has only one common tail. The extra tails grow out of the kittens' back along the back bone, are fully developed and almost as long as the natural tails.—Exchange.

John King, a farmer in southern Pottawatomie county, down near the Seminole line, killed a five-foot rattlesnake last week, and that fact called forth some great reminiscences from the older residents about the time when rattlers were as plentiful as lizards are nowadays. It is claimed that the largest rattler ever seen in the county was killed in a den near Burnett a few years ago. It was a velvet tail rattler, and had seventy-two rattlers. Ordinarily the velvet tail has a black velvety tip ten inches long, but the one in question was so old it was black and velvety all over from head to the tip of its tail. The cliff was dynamited at the same time and 175 rattlers killed, according to Jeff Cagle, of Domulus, Mike Ryan, of Shawnee, and Col. Charlie Fox, of McComb, who are made to stand for a truly hair-raising story in the Shawnee Herald regarding the great killing. According to that story, the snakes were assembled in a sort of convention, and the big fellow with the seventy-two rattles, who was the king of the bunch, was making his farewell address at the time he was so foully done to death.—Kansas City Journal.

THE MALIGNED REPORTER.

Newspaper Men Really Detest Scandal Stories.

"A common charge brought against newspaper reporters is that they are heartless, that they revel in laying before the world the closely guarded secrets of individuals. It constantly happens that a reporter must do unpleasant things because others have been guilty of those violations of custom, law, or convention that make news. The opprobrium that belongs to the real offender is not infrequently heaped upon the innocent newsgaetherer. There is no work a reporter detests so much as that involving a social scandal, and there is no story that a large percentage of readers will devour more eagerly.

"There isn't a good reporter living who has not been guilty of that blackest, least forgivable of all journalistic crimes, 'throwing down' his newspaper, to protect a helpless person innocently involved in a legitimate news story that is a matter of public record. On the whole, the newsgatherers are a tender-hearted folk and generous, and that which often passes for synicism is an intense hatred and contempt for shams. If they appear suspicious it is because long experience has taught them that they must constantly guard against deception. There is no walk of life a good reporter is not compelled, sooner or later, to invade, and his position is the trying one of being compelled either to gain the confidence of or outwit those he meets there."—Hartley Davis in Everybody's Magazine.

A WORD ABOUT OUR MODERN CHARGE ACCOUNT SYSTEM

ONCE you realize the full advantages and convenience of our modern charge account—on our broad system of gradual payments, you will wonder why you were ever prejudiced against this way of buying. But you probably have never before had it exmplified in its best light, and it has remained for this store to elevate the instalment business to the same plane occupied by trades that have heretofore enjoyed greater dignity. Now to be candid, there are really no strictly cash houses. All of them give credit in some way or other—and the only difference lies in the way it is extended. Credit is and always will be the life of trade. How much business would be done if everybody refused credit? Broad, liberal dignified credit is what is making our stores the greatest business organizations in the country, and it serves two purposes with us—increases our business and gives you what you are entitled to.

CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE.

In Line at the White House.—Homer Hoch, of Marion,—"Our son Homer"—attended a White House reception when he was in Washington, and tells about it: "The line winds around two or three rooms, and you can't see the President until you are close enough to shake hands with him. A fellow in uniform asks you your name, and you tell him your name is Hoch. You turn a corner, find yourself right in front of the President, and as you reach out to shake hands the fellow in uniform announces in stentorian tones, 'Mr. Polk!' You bow your bowiest, as though you had always gone by the name of Polk, and before you know what has happened, or get a squint at the richly gowned ladies standing in line to watch you perform, you are being hustled on your way out to be numbered with the glad and festive throng who have shaken hands with the President! Fellow citizens, it is something great."—Kansas City Star Marion (Kan.) Correspondence.

Lightning Change on the Road.—A story is going the rounds of the territory press of a farmer, living a few miles from Henryetta, who wore his old suit until everybody was tired of it, and his estimable wife was almost ashamed of him. But one day when selling produce in town he determined to buy a new suit and a happy thought struck him. He would surprise Eliza. So he bundled a new suit into the wagon, hurried towards home, and at the bridge two miles from town he stood up in the wagon and "peeled" and threw the dispised old suit into the creek. Then he reached for his new clothes. They were gone—had jolted out of the wagon. The night was cold and his teeth chattered as he skurried for home. He surprised Eliza even more than he anticipated.—Kansas City Journal.

Up to "Pete."—Inasmuch as Pete and his domesticated Eagle continually prate that "some one is pulling the strings on the Events" and directing its course, other than the editor, we would like to have him publish the names of the "some ones" in his next issue. This paper makes no bones or mystery of its information. We know who "pulls the strings" on the Eagle and directs its course, and have often named them, to-wit: Messrs. Flynn, Grimes, and Beauchamp. We believe people ought to speak right out. Name your men, Pete; name your men.—Enid (Okla.) Events.

Col. Smith Arrived With the Goods.—Col. John R. Smith, of the Ridgeville section, was here Tuesday on a business trip. The colonel brought with him his wonted good health and spirits, and his friends in town were delighted to see him.—Caswell County (N. C.) Democrat.

PHILOSOPHY FROM A COMMONPLACE PERSON.

What one goes into debt for, nine times out of ten, is a luxury.

Gossips have no use for people who refuse to furnish material for them.

A man always making excuses leaves himself no time to make anything else.

Whoever wastes time brooding over time earlier wasted ages so much the faster.

They says there's a snare in good looks, but it usually catches those that haven't the looks.

Business based upon friendship threatens both; friendship based upon business strengthens both.

That man can best ignore the enmity of those who don't understand him who goes home to a wife who does.

Dishonesty, in its last essence, is the forsaking of permanent advantages for those that are merely temporary.

It runs in a circle. If trouble drives you to drink, drink leads you to more trouble, and there you are.

Tranquillity is a decent enough guest to entertain, but take care that she does not bring along her twin sister.—ennui.

It is a good deal easier to pray for men's souls than to pour balm into their wounds,—not to mention that it costs less.

The supreme court has not yet decided which is the weaker man,—he who is not able to see his own weakness, or he who has no faith in himself.

The millionaire who has caught up with fortune my turning sharp corners is much poorer than the bankrupt who failed doing his honest best.

That much talked-of "armor of suspicion" may protect the wearer once in a while, but usually it is of about as much help as a winter ulster in a hundred-yard dash.

From an intellectual point of view, that time of one's life is most wasted when he tries, in a spirit of dumb loyality, to admire all those things that are popularly considered admirable.—Success Magazine.

White Illiteracy.

The question of white illiteracy is not by any means a sectional matter. In New York State the ratio of illiteracy among native children of foreign-born parents is only 5.7 per cent., as against 9.2 per cent. for the children of native parents. Such a fact should serve to somewhat allay the exaggerated estimate of the danger arising from foreign immigration and at the same time to induce a better understanding of the white educational problem as it exists both in the North and South.—Philadelphia Record.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"A Crown of Thorns," which has proven one of the most deserving successes of the season, is announced at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. The play is free from all melodramatic conventionalities and is a welcome relief after the seemingly inexhaustive supply of immorally suggestive plays that have been nauseating the theatregoers for a few seasons past. "A Crown of Thorns" is a drama of more than ordinary merit, it is bright and clean, not overdrawn and has a distinct vein of comedy which brightens it wonderfully. It contains scenes of intense heart-interest, but there is a decided absence of maudlin sentiment and heart-rending pathos. "A Crown of Thorns" will be found a real novelty in comparison to many plays now before the public.

Miss Florence Hamilton, one of America's foremost actresses and a prime Broadway favorite, is booked at the New Plainfield theatre on Monday night in her new comedy-drama, "The Senator's Wife." The play calls for a number of magnificent stage settings and is rendered by a cast of prominent metropolitan players carefully selected by Miss Hamilton and Scott Marble, the author, for their especial ability in each particular character. "The Senator's Wife" is full of incident and wholesome comedy, affording Miss Hamilton the greatest dramatic opportunity of her career

An unusual treat is in store for the patrons of the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, when Charles E. Blaney's success of last season, "More to Be Pitied than Scorned," will be presented. The play is a picturesque drama of stage life, with scenes in and about the theatre, a subject always found interesting to the theatregoing public. The story is well written and told in a masterly manner, having many excellent comedy points and sensational scenes, which, being carefully blended, make a thoroughly artistic performance.

"From Rags to Riches," which is the attraction announced for the New Plainfield theatre Wednesday night, is the type of melodrama to which a man may take his family and feel sure that they will neither see nor hear anything that will offend the eye or ear, and leave the theatre well satisfied with their evening's entertainment. The plot is laid in New York City and the usual characters which figure in metropolitan plays are very much in evidence. Two children are introduced to the good old mother, the loving son, "Ned Nimble," the newsboy, whose sense of humor or pathos never forsakes him, and his quips and witticisms create no end of wonder and merriment. The play is properly equipped with scenery and electrical effects and the numerous characters are in capable hands. Manager Max H. Meyers has spared neither time nor expense to properly stage the production.

Wilton Lackaye will appear in "The Pit" at the New Plainfield theatre in the near future. "The Pit" is one of the greatest successes that the American stage has known for many years. It is a powerful story of active American life—the fictitious narrative of a "deal" in the Chicago wheat pit. The social existence, the gambling in stocks and the produce, the characteristic life of Chicago, form the background for an exceedingly vigorous and human tale of modern life and love.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the too of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

A TOBACCO-USING NATION.

Three Hundred Thousand Tons of the Weed Smoked Last Year.

This country smoked 300,000 tons of tobacco last year. We smoked 7,689,377,000 cigars, an increase of 185,000,000 over last year. The cigarette consumption was 3,368,212,000, an increase of over 141,131,000 over last year, says the Nashville American. The snuff output was 21,131,000 pounds, an increase of nearly 1,000,000 pounds over the previous year. The production of smoking and chewing tobacco was 334,489,000 pounds, an increase of two per cent. These are the figures of The Tobacco Leaf.

The total value of the tobacco consumption in 1900 was $263,977,000, cigars and cigarettes costing over $160,000,000. The increase in the tobacco industry is shown by the figures of the last twenty years. In 1880 the value of the total product was, in round numbers, $116,000,000, in 1890 it was $195,000,000; in 1900 it was $263,000.000. Last year it was probably $300,000,000. Last year we exported $37,000,000 worth of tobacco and imported $22,000,000 worth in its various forms.

This is a tobacco-using nation. So many people smoke it is not difficult to imagine what becomes of 3,000,000 cigarettes, but what is done with 21,000,000 pounds of snuff? Who uses it? There is still a considerable demand for snuff in the "backwoods" districts, and it is still used by women in the more remote rural regions and mountain sections of the South, but this would amount for only a small part of 21,000,000 pounds. Where are the snuff-dippers?

A Notable Woman.

Mrs. Fanny Bullock Workman lately lectured before a large and enthusiastic audience at the Royal Geographical Society of London on Himalayan exploration. Sir George Goldie, the president, said in introducing her, that a paper by a woman was so infrequent as to merit some comment. He could remember only the single instance of Mrs. Bishop's having read before the society. It was a matter for congratulation to the society and the geographic world when a woman like Mrs. Workman was able to put before them a valuable record of exploration. Mrs. Workman was received with cheers. Her subject was the first exploration of the Hot Gunga and Sosbon glaciers, Baltistan, and at the close of her lecture, which was illustrated by magnificent lantern views, Sir Frank E. Younghusband, of Tibetan fame, opened the discussion. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Workman for her able paper.

COURSE OF LECTURES FOR THE PATROLMEN.

Dr. Lufburrow to Give a Course on Aid to the Injured

It was decided at a meeting of the councilmanic police board last night to arrange with Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, the city physician, for a series of lectures on "First Aid to the Injured," for the benefit of the members of the department. The lectures will begin next week and will probably be held at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Frank Dobson and Daniel McDonald appeared before the board as candidates for positions on the force. They were instructed to take the regular examination, physical and mental, and a report will be made later on them.

Patrolman McCarthy was called before the board to answer to a charge of infraction of the rules. He was penitent and said that he had no excuses to offer. The members had a heart to heart talk wit hthe officer, and as it was the first charge preferred against him in seven years, it was decided to impose no penalty. He was given a solemn warning that the offense must not be repeated.

FOLLOWS EXAMPLE SET BY NEWARK

JERSEY CITY WANTS PERMISSION TO CONSTRUCT ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANTS.

Trenton, March 2.—Following the example set by Newark, Jersey City authorities had Assemblyman Bierck, of Hudson County, introduce in the House a bill, No. 322, which provides that cities which have the land with machinery available for use in the generation of electric power may convert the property into an electric light plant. The bill was sent to the committee on judiciary.

Again this year the bill to regulate the practice of the barber business and to establish a board of examiners has made its appearance. The bill is fathered by Assemblyman Galvin, of Hudson County. It provides that the examiners shall be appointed by the Governor, and that all practitioners of the trade shall pass examinations before the board prior to being permitted to practise. The bill is No. 325 and was sent to the committee on municipal corporations, of which Mr. Scovel is chairman.

BILL IN INTEREST OF SOME NEWSPAPERS LOST.

Provided for Publishing Financial Statements of Municipalities.

Trenton, Mar. 2—The House Wednesday afternoon relieved the monotony of rushing bills through by having a little fun with Mr. Heck, the farmer member from Bergen. A bill was introduced by Mr. Mills, of Morris, providing for the publication of the annual financial statements of municipalities of less than 12,000 inhabitants was pounced upon by some of the champions of economy as a needlessly extravagant measure in the interests of certain newspapers. Mr. Mills defended his measure rather indifferently, but Mr. Heck was earnest in supporting it and pleading for its passage. Just as the clerk began to call the roll on the final vote the rumor spread about the chamber that Mr. Mills had introduced the bill for Mr. Heck and that it was in reality the Bergen man's measure. When this reached Mr. Heck's ears he became indignant and, springing to his feet, shouted that he would like to have members know that he could take care of his own bills and that he did not have to have any one introduce measures for him. None the less the bill was lost.

Another measure which was lost in the House was Mr. Dippel's, providing that townships can borrow money in anticipation of appropriated revenues.

MUST DISSOLVE FIRM TO SATISFY THE UNION.

Junior Member Is a Minor, Whose Authority Masons Won't Recognize.

Because the younger member of the firm of Herrmann & Company, masons, of South Twelfth street, is under age, all the masons working for the firm went on a strike, until a dissolution of the partnership was promised. Articles of dissolution are now being drawn up by D. Frederick Burnett. It is John Herrmann, 16 years old and son of the head of the firm, who will have to go out of the business until he is no longer a legal infant.

The masons say, as a minor he must be an apprentice, and the laws of their union forbid their working for or recognizing the authority of an apprentice.

Wants $300 Damages.

Morris Meyerwirtz, of this city, was the plaintiff in a suit brought in the District Court, Elizabeth, yesterday, against the Public Service Corporation, claiming $300 damages to his horse and wagon, the result of an accident in this city on December 22, 1905. The plaintiff alleges that while he was driving along West Front street his horse was frightened by a pole swinging from a trolley repair car. It ran away and was injured to such an extent that he could not use him afterward. His wagon was also wrecked. Judge Atwater, before whom the case was tried, reserved decision.

A Sinking Fund Committee.

At the request of County Collector E. M. Wood, the Union County Board of Freeholders at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon appointed a committee to take charge of the sinking fund. This sum is now $24,000 and is being added to each year in order to meet payments of Court House bonds when due. Mr. Wood declared that the money is becoming cumbersome for one man to care for and he believed it was not policy. Feeholders King, Cady and Cladek were named as the committee.

Tiffany Building Gutted.

Four firemen were caught in the deadly back draught and were for a little while in peril of their lives this morning when the Tiffany building, at 354 Broadway, New York, was completely gutted by fire. The blaze gave the smoke eaters the hardest kind of work for over three hours, and it was only by the most strenuous effort that adjoining buildings went unscathed. When the fire had burned itself out only the shell of the Tiffany building was left. The loss is placed at more than $200,000.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Publicity in Pardons.

Homicides, embezzlers and grab offenders of all types commit crimes not only against the persons immediately wronged, but against society as a whole. Applications for pardons and the reasons on which they are based ought everywhere to be as public as trials themselves.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Hudson View on Consolidation.

North Hudson's three flourishing municipalities can be safely left to work out their own manifest destiny as to consolidation without gratuitous advice from either Newark or Jersey City. They know their own wants and are entirely capable of carrying into effect any project they may agree upon. As far as Jersey City is concerned it has thus far manifested no disposition to concern itself about the matter, though it may become interested should a proposed scheme to divide the county be seriously contemplated. Newark on the contrary, is very free with its suggestions that the Hudson towns should become part of that city. Eventually this may come to pass, but not until the experiment of consolidation on their own hook has been fairly tried and found unsatisfactory.—Hudson Observer.

TELEPHONE MERGER.

Companies That Have Been Operated Separately Now United.

Preparatory to the merger of all the telephone companies in this section of the country, the amalgamation took place today of the New York & New Jersey Company and the New York Telephone Company, with headquarters in the Telephone building, 15 Dey street, New York City. Hereafter the companies will be operated by one set of officers. Until yesterday, while the companies were maintained as different organizations, they had the same executives. It is expected that within a year the combination of all the companies in the eastern section of the country will have been consummated. The opinion was recently expressed by Union Noble Bethell, the head of the companies, that within a year there would be 800,000 subscribers under the call of the single concern.

Changes in the staffs at the various divisiions took effect yesterday. It was in connection with this general reassignment that Superintendent McCully, of Newark, was recently promoted.

The Denver Method of Dealing With Juvenile Delinquents.

Commitment, with Judge Lindsey, is always a last resort. So far, out of the hundreds of boys who have been in court, only eighteen have been sent to the Industrial School. The method of commitment is all Judge Lindsey's own. He simply gives the boy the warrant and tells him to go out to Golden and lock himself up. Not one boy has betrayed the judge's trust, althought the trip furnishes numerous opportunities for escape in a street-car ride across the city to the railroad station, a train ride to the Golden station, in the foothills, and a half-mile walk to the institution. The superintendent is not even notified to look out for the boy's arrival.

Although, as a concession to possible attacks upon its constitutionality, the Colorado law has provided for a jury trial and representation by attorney for juvenile delinquents when demanded, no jury has yet been drawn, and no attorney has yet been appointed in the Denver court. The principle upon which it is operated is that the court itself is the best conservator of the child's interests.

For results, the Denver court boasts that 95 per cent. of the boys are treated successfully without commitment, and that out of the 5 per cent. committed, one boy is considered a hopeless case. Opposed to this stands a record of 90 per cent. convicted and 75 per cent. to jails or reformatories under the old criminal system.—From the Children's Court in American City Life, by Frances Maule Bjorkman, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for March.

"The Man on the Box"

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Copyright, 1894, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

Said Mrs. Chadwick in French: "where, in the name of uncommon things, did you find such a handsome groom?"

"I was rather lucky," replied Miss Annesley in the same tongue. "Don't you see something familiar about him?"

Warburton shuddered.

"Familiar? What do you mean?"

"It is the groom who ran away with us."

"Heavens, no!" Mrs. Chadwick raised her lorgnette. "Whatever possessed you?"

"Mischief as much as anything."

"But the risk!"

"I am not afraid. There was something about him that appeared very much like a mystery, and you know how I adore mysteries."

"And this is the fellow we saw in the police-court, sitting among those light o' loves?" Mrs. Chadwick could not fully express her surprise.

"I can't analyze the impulse which prompted me to pay his fine and engage him."

"And after that affair at the carriage-door! Where is your pride?"

"To tell the truth, I believe he did make a mistake. Maybe I hired him because I liked his looks." Betty glanced amusedly at the groom, whose neck and ears were red. She laughed.

"You always were an extraordinary child. I do not understand it in the least. I am even worried. He may be a great criminal."

"No, not a great criminal," said Betty, recollecting the ride of that morning; "but a first-class horseman, willing and obedient. I have been forced to make James serve as butler. He has been under the hands of our cook, and I have been watching them. How I have laughed! Of all droll scenes!"

So she had laughed, eh? Warburton's jaws snapped. She had been watching, too?

"I rode Pirate this morning—"

"You rode that horse?" interrupted Mrs. Chadwick.

"Yes, and he ran away with me in fine style. If it hadn't been for the new groom, I shouldn't be here, and the dinner would be a dismal failure, with me in bed with an arm or leg broken. Heavens! I never was so frightened in all my life. We went so fast against the wind that I could scarce breathe. And when it was all over, fainted like a ninny."

"Fainted! I should have thought you would. I should have fallen on the animal and been killed. Betty, you certainly have neither forethought nor discretion. The very idea of your attempting to ride that animal!"

"Well, I am wiser, and none the worse for the scare . . . James, stop, stop!" Betty cried suddenly.

When this command struck his sense of hearing, James was pretty far away in thought. He was wondering if all this were true. If it was, he must make the best of it; but if it was a dream, he wanted to wake up right away, because it was becoming nightmarish.

"James!" The end of a parasol tickled him in the ribs and he drew up somewhat frightened. What was going to happen now? He was soon to find out. For this was to be the real climax of the day: or, at least, the incident was pregnant with the possibilities of a climax.

"Colonel, surely you are not going to pass us by in this fashion?" cried the girl. They were almost opposite the Army and Navy club.

"Why, is that you, Miss Betty? Pass you by? Only when I grow blind," roared a lion-like voice. "Very glad to see you, Mrs. Chadwick."

That voice, of all the voices he had ever heard! A chill of indescribable terror flew up and down my jehu's spine, and his pores closed up. He looked around cautiously. It was he, one of all men; his regimental colonel, who possessed the most remarkable memory of any army man west of the Mississippi, and who had often vowed that he knew his subalterns so well that he could always successfully prescribe for their livers!

"I was just about to turn into the club for my mail," declared the colonel. "It was very good of you to stop me. I'll wager you've been speculating in the shops,"—touching the bundles with his cane.

"You win," laughed Betty. "But I'll give you a hundred guesses in which to find out what any one of these packages contains."

"Guessing is a bad business. Whatever these things are, they can add but little to the beauty of those who will wear them; for I presume Mrs. Chadwick has some claim upon these bundles."

"Very adroitly worded," smiled Mrs. Chadwick, who loved a silken phrase.

"We shall see you at dinner tonight?"

"All the battalions of England could not keep me away from that festive board," the colonel vowed. (Another spasm for the groom!) "And how is that good father of yours?"

"As kind and loving as ever."

"I wish you could have seen him in the old days in Virginia," said the colonel, who, like all old men, continually fell back upon the reminiscent. "Handsomest man in the brigade, and a fight made him as happy as a bull-pup. I was with him the day he met your mother,"—softly. "How she humiliated him because he wore the blue! She was obliged to feed him—fortunes of war; but I could see that she hoped each mouthful would choke him."

"What! My mother wished that?"

Mrs. Chadwick laughed. The groom's chin sank into his collar.

"Wait a moment! She wasn't in love with him then. We were camped on that beautiful Virginian home of yours for nearly a month. You know how courtly he always was and is. Well, to every rebuff he replied with a smile and some trifling favor. She never had to lift a finger about the house. But one thing he was firm in: she should sit at the same table during the meals. And when Johnston came thundering down that memorable day, and your father was shot in the lungs and fell with a dozen saber cuts besides, you should have seen the change! He was the prisoner now, she the jailer. In her own white bed she had him placed, and for two months she nursed him. Ah, that was the prettiest love affair the world ever saw."

"And why have you not followed his example?" asked Mrs. Chadwick.

The colonel gazed thoughtfully at his old comrade's daughter, and he saw pity and unbounded respect in her eyes. "They say that for every heart there is a mate, but I do not believe it. Sometimes there are two hearts that seek the same mate. One or the other must win or lose. You will play for me to-night?"

"As often and as long as you please."—graciously. She was very fond of this upright old soldier, whom she had known since babyhood.

It was now that the colonel casually turned his attention to the groom. He observed him. First, his gray eyebrows arched abruptly in surprise, then sank in puzzlement.

"What is it?" inquired Betty, noting these signs.

"Nothing; nothing of importance," answered the colonel, growing violently red.

It would not be exaggerating to say that if the colonel turned red, his one-time orderly grew purple, only this purple quickly faded into a chalky pallor.

"Well, perhaps I am keeping you," remarked the colonel, soberly. "I shall hold you to your promise about the music."

"We are to have plenty of music. There will be a famous singer and a fine pianist."

"You will play that what-d'-ye-call-it from Schumann I like so well. I shall want you to play that. I want something in the way of memory to take back west with me. Good-by, then, till to-night."

"Good-by. All right, James; home," said the girl.

James relievedly touched his horses.

The colonel remained standing at the curb till the victoria disappeared. Of what he was thinking I don't know; but he finally muttered "James?" in an inquiring way, and made for the club shaking his head, as if suddenly confronted by a remarkably abstruse problem.

Further on I shall tell you how he solved it.

An After-Dinner Story.

A RED RASCAL.

"Why do you keep that infernal Indian hanging about here?" inquired Angus Tait, a young Britisher, of his companion, Othniel Queen, as they sat on the levee of Barker's Landing (upon the water of the ugly Missouri) late one summer evening.

"I expect he has as good a right here as we have. 'Cording to the records, his nation lorded over all things in this section 'fore ever skeeters, drummers and a soulless steamboat copperation eventuated such a doggone hole. As a connectin' link with the past, he's a nat'ral curiosity, when he's sober, which is seldom."

"Do you think there is any chance of the steamer getting here tonight?" inquired Angus, by way of changing the subject, and trying to get relief from an anxiety which was rapidly becoming insupportable.

"If she's rounded Fifty-mile Point, the pilot will come ahead; but, if sun is down 'fore he makes it, he'll rope her up just above, and wait for daylight to navigate a bit of water as complicated as a rich old maid's last will and testament. They will get cotched there some night or other, sure as small potatoes."

"What is the matter with the stream?"

"The banks of this hyer river are formed of alluvial deposit. That is, mud which hasn't quite made up its mind to be solid earth. Consequence is, that when the river is bank full, and a stiff breeze helping it, it cuts slick across points like that and forms a new channel. While it is doing that same there's no depth of water in the old bed or the new, and a steamboat aground in the old channel may stick there eternally, or till these redskins make matchwood of her. Hand over that bottle, if you please."

"I'm afraid there is nothing in this one," answered Angus, with a sigh.

"It's the last in store, and no Christian drink till the boat's in. Hello! here's the redskin, and full as a report of Congress. I wonder where in all mischief he got his liquor?"

The representative of a once noble but sorely oppressed race was making a circuitous course in their direction, with the nearest approach to a smile which the redman permits himself enlightening his inexpressive features.

"He has been doing some work," remarked Angus carelessly.

"How so?" replied his companion, with a strong expression of incredulity.

"He has a spade in his hand, and there is fresh mud upon it."

Othniel sprang to his feet with a violent expletive, rush upon the Indian, seized him by the throat and shook him till he grunted like a foghorn.

"You drunken abortion! Tell me what you have been doing before I whale the life outen your sinful skin!" he cried as he released his hold and bestowed a most complicated kick upon his victim.

With owl-like gravity the Indian answered:

"Burning-Sunset, the pride of his nation, serves the children of the palefaces, but gets little fire water. Plenty for all soon, when steamboats run on land and the remnants of my nation have their own way with her. Remember Fifty-mile Point for many, many moons!"

"Great heaven!" cried Queen, "this fiend has cut a ditch across the point, the Indians are out of their reserve, and every living soul aboard the 'Niobrara' will be slaughtered as soon as she goes aground there. Hurry up, Britisher!"

Tait's face whitened as he laid his hand on the young man's arm and said:

"I ought perhaps to have told, for I noticed that you saw I was anxious. My sweetheart is aboard that boat."

Seizing a couple of rifles the young men rushed along the river bank. Othniel beguiling the way with forcible and exhaustive comments on the pernicious results of the red man's passion for spirituous liquors.

For some moments "Burning-Sunset" looked after them, plunged in the depth of thought.

"He said 'sweetheart.' Where is mine? Dead, poisoned by those of my own race, for no fault but that she loved me. Who tried to save her? A woman skilled in medicine, but a daughter of the palefaces, and I vowed that never would I harm one of her kind who had a lover. Curses on the firewater they gave me to steal away my brain so that I dug that ditch. Curse son them!"

With a wild and mournful cry he set off as fast as he could run, not along the river bank, but inland toward a swamp in the direct line between the landing and the point. Over the treacherous ground he passed, with strides so long and step so light that even the wakeful wildfowl seemed to regard him as only a deeper shadow in the darkness, and cowered in silence as he passed.

In the meantime the "Niobrara" felt her way cautiously down the river. The puzzled pilot "rang her down" dead slow, then astern, and then ahead again. The captain, who was awakened from dreams of a full freight and a good market, by the clang of the bell, came on deck in light marching order to see what was wrong, but had wisdom enough not to ask questions.

The plaintive cry of the leadsman became more intermittent, the great wheels ceased to revolve, and then seven shots rang out from the pilot-house as the big boat ran hard aground, and the cry of the redmen rose from the bank.

That there was a fight on, and a fight for life or death, every passenger on the boat was well aware, and they knew that the chances were a level fifty to one against them at the least. In the half gloom, between the boat's lights and darkness of the shore, it was impossible to estimate numbers.

"You women git below!" yelled the captain, forgetting his usual free-school phraseology, and his suggestion was backed up by remarks from the pilot (whose education was strictly limited to "head-waters" lingo), which caused the order to be carried out promptly.

"There's one of the poison-breed skipped aboard!" cried the mate.

"Hold your fire!" vociferated the pilot, who had recognized Burning-Sunset.

"Now!" he added, as the Indian climbed to his side, "what's the racket?"

"Fire those empty barrels and throw to shore!" panted the redskin.

There were a pile of such things on the foredeck, and the men saw at once the wisdom of the order, so that when the howling savages came to the attack they found the steamer cut off by an impenetrable wall of flame blowing back in their faces. Tait and Queen arrived on the bank just in time to see what they thought was the destruction of the steamer and the l oss of all on board, for that little ditch, cut by the Indian across the point, with its soft alluvial banks, had now the full course of the big river running through it, and the old river bed was silting up as fast as it could.

With most unearthly cries the redskins retreated, and, half stifled by the smoke, many were hopelessly engulfed in the marsh, meeting a speedy death.

"Let into them!" cried Othniel, shooting as rapidly as his finger could press the trigger, and scattering destruction with each discharge.

"With you!" replied Angus, sending shot for shot.

There was a cry from the deck of the "Niobrara;" a storm had come down from the hills, and the "freshet" enabled her to back into the old channel so that Angus and Queen skipped aboard before she was fairly underway.

Tait met his sweetheart, as all sweethearts do, and then turned to Othniel, with many at his back, to inquire where the redskin hero was who had saved so many from robbery and pillage.

The reply came from the captain:

"That red rascal has got in the spirit room and is as drunk as Noah, but he had the old Amurrican grit, and don't you ferget it."—Exchange.

NOTHING SERIOUS.

The Same Rule.

"See here, sir," exclaimed the successful manufacturer to Mr. Adam Upp, his dilatory bookkeeper, "you are not as attentive to business as you might be. Now it has been my rule in life to be at my desk early and late and—"

"Me, too," interrupted Mr. Upp; "sometimes I get there early and sometimes late."

One Thing that Saved Him.

Casey—O! but that bye o' Finnegan's is the bad one.

Cassidy—Aye! he'd bring his father's gray hairs in sorrow to the grave if it wasn't fur wan thing.

Casey—An' w'at's that?

Cassidy—The Finnegans always git bald befoor they've a chance to git gray.

So Refined.

Mrs. Uuritch—Mr. Uuritch is so particular, so refined in his tastes, don't you know. For instance, he has his coffee imported direct and no one else in this country gets any just like it.

Mrs. McCall—Indeed? I suppose he drinks a great deal of it?

Mrs. Nuritch—O! No; only a saucerful at each meal.

News.

"Ah, yes," said Kwqter, "death is impartial. It seeks out the poor man and the rich man alike."

"Not exactly alike," replied Hardhead. "In the case of the rich man it is usually accompanied by reporters."

Sufficient Reason.

Hoggley—Yeh, I'm mighty glad I ain't got no children.

Pepprey—It's just as well.

Hoggley—Sure it is.

Pepprey—Yes, for in these days of free education they wouldn't be able to escape some knowledge of grammar and they'd be forever correcting you.

Two Questions.

"I've got something important to do," said the practical young man, "and I just don't know how to go about it. I'd like you to help me."

"Yes?" replied Miss Pechis. "What is it you propse to do?"

"That's not the question. It's 'what is it you do to propose?'"

Expenses Grew.

"Do you really believe," asked Singleton, "that living expenses have increased 25 per cent. in the last five years?"

"Do I? Why, they've increased 100 per cent.!"

"Impossible!"

"Not at al. Five years ago there was only my wife and me, but now there are six of us in the family."

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

WHAT WOMEN HAVE A RIGHT TO EXPECT

In an article on "Town Improvement" in a recent edition of the Federation Bulletin, the following is said about the offices of the city government:

"Amid all the civic activity and civic improvement there is one thing that we cannot learn too soon; and that is, we can never have any improvement in municipal conditions, so long as all the officers are the football of political parties. National politics have no place in town affairs. Here the problems are pure water, clean streets, and public education, and we want permanent service. We want trained financiers and sanitary engineers, and not Republicans or Democrats or even Mug wumps. There are parties in city affairs, not because there are two sides in city affairs, but because there are two sides to every office—the outside and the inside. The merit system in public affairs, insuring the appointment and retention in office of trained and experienced men, is the very corner-stone of civic progress. Without it we build in vain.

"At the biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at St. Louis, it was unanimously voted that all the federated women's organizations should make the extension of the merit system one of their chief lines of work; and it was advised that every woman's club throughout the country should devote the first meeting in January to the consideration of this great subject. It was advised further that every club should appoint civil service committees, whose duty it shall be to study the conditions of the civil service in their own town and State, and report to the club at large so that no woman may be ignorant of the imperative national need of this reform.

"Let no timid club imagine that this movement will commit us to politics. Civil service reform is not politics. On the contrary, it means that those who serve the State shall be independent of politics, and shall continue their service so long as it is done with an eye single to the public good.

"If London and Paris have clean streets, it is because no one knows the politics of the street commissioner. They were appointed because they know how to clean streets and not because they had a 'pull.' Philadelphia and Pittsburg have dirty streets because the commissioners must bring a certain number of votes to the party in power. Whether they can clean streets is a secondary consideration.

"Political boat inspection caused the loss of the General Slocum. Political fire inspection caused the loss of the Iroquois theatre. Politics in the water department means typhoid fever. Politics in the police department means illegal saloons and gambling dens and protected criminals. Fifty years ago the English government was no better than ours is now. If their cities stand today as models of cleanliness and good order, it is owing to the impartial enforcement of the principles of the merit system. If we wish to emulate the well-ordered cities of England and France, we must copy their methods, and intrust the city's affairs to competent and non-political hands. Until we do that, we need look for no permanent improvement. It is true that women cannot do much active work to bring about this fundamental improvement in municipal conditions, but we certainly have the power of influencing public opinion. We can teach our sons what good government means and how to get it. Women have a right to demand that the departments of the government that have to do with the cleanliness, comfort, peace and order of their homes shall be intrusted to competent men who understand their business."

FASHION HAS ITS FRILLS AND ITS FANCIES.

Many of the new shapes have the brim turned up on the left side. Others have flat brims and brims shelving downward from their base or merely turned down half an inch at the edge. It is said that these bell shapes promise to find much favor with dressy women.

The craze for all sorts of beads, buttons and chains, so much worn by women of today, would give one the idea that the savage instinct is again manifesting itself in the feminine portion of the world.

Milliners are using a new maline in the construction of the spring hats which they claim is shower proof. It is said it will come out fresh and crisp as when new, even after a severe wetting.

The new spring gowns cut with Dutch necks have chemisettes of linen or embroidered woolen goods in white and delicate colors. These are done in shades to match and add a touch of elegance to the gowns.

A novel idea in the trimming of the new hats is the use of tulle puffs arranged on the bandeau in colors to match the hair. This is considered a step in advance of last year's custom of introducing real hair curls and puffs in the trimmings of hats.

Many of the new short coats that will be so popular this season have vests of soft red lainage dotted with black or white. These vests are made tight-fitting and are extremely stylish when the coats are worn half open.

The lace boleros that were so popular a few seasons ago have again gained favor, and are shown in Russian and Irish crochet as well as many of the heavy laces. They give a touch of elegance to an otherwise plain blouse.

Some of the new hair decorations are most elaborate. High coombs of amber and shell mounted with precious stones are shown in the shops, and one of the newest fancies imported from abroad is the wearing of a real butterfly on the coiffure.

Fastidious women favor the pretty afternoon house coats of Irish crochet lace. They are lined with delicate shades of silk and edged with plaited frills of chiffon.

The new pedestrian skirts are made with strapped bands stitched around the bottom. In many cases the tailor arranges the straps in various designs.

The present indication in the world of fashion is that the elbow sleeves so popular during the past season will continue in favor during the spring and summer.

SOME GOOD RECIPES

Cheese Cream Toast.

Toast half a dozen slices of bread and cover slightly with grated cheese. Make a sauce with two level tablespoons each of butter and cornstarch, a level teaspoon of salt and two cups of milk. Set the toast in the oven until the cheese melts, then pour the sauce over and serve at once.

Fried Pig's Feet.

Wipe the pig's feet with a cloth wrung out of cold water and dip in an egg beaten with a tablespoon of cold watr and into fine bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat. Season the feet well with salt and pepper before crumbing.

Indian Pudding.

Scald three cups of milk and stir in one-quarter cup of cornmeal. Cook a few minutes, then cool and add one cup of milk, two-thirds cup of molasses, half a level teaspoon of cinnamon, half a level teaspoon of salt and three-quarters cup of raisins. Bake in a slow oven two hours, keeping the baking dish covered.

Flannel Cakes.

Rub a rounding tablespoon of butter into two cups of flour, add one-half level teaspoon of salt, the yolks of two eggs beaten light and two cups of milk. Add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and then three level teaspoons of baking powder. Bake on a hot griddle.

Prune Pie.

Wash the prunes and soak over night. In the morning cook them in the same water. Take out the stones, then press the prunes through a strainer. Sweeten to the taste and flavor with lemon juice. Line a plate with rich paste and fill with the prunes. Bake and cover with a meringue made from the whites of two eggs beaten with one-quarter cup of powdered sugar and seasonsed with lemon. Set in a very slow oven to color a little.

Dressing for Cabbage Salad.

Beat together two eggs and two slightly rounding tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon of butter, a level teaspoon of dry mustard and a saltspoon of pepper. Heat one cup of vinegar, add the other ingredients and cook until thick. Cool and it is ready for use.

Sponge Cake.

Beat the yolks of five eggs until they grow light colored. Add one cup of powdered sugar and beat again for several minutes. Add the grated yellow rind of one lemon and the juice of half a lemon, then add one cup of sifted pastry flour and last the whites of five eggs beaten stiff. Do not beat the whites, but fold them in lightly with a long stroke of the spoon, cutting through to the bottom of the bowl. Bake in a tube pan in a moderate oven for one hour.

Rice Muffins.

Heat two cups of milk to the scalding point, add two level tablespoons of sugar and three of butter. When lukewarm, add one-quarter yeast cake dissolved in one-quarter cup of lukewarm water, four cups of flour and one cup of cooked rice, then the beaten whites of two eggs. Cover and let rise light. Partly fill muffin pans or cups that have been buttered, let rise until light, then bake half an hour in a rather hot oven. The batter should be well beaten when first mixed and then when filled into the pans should be cut down as little as possible.

Cheese Timbals.

Beat three eggs light, add one-quarter cup of cold milk in which a few grains of soda have been dissolved, five level tablespoons of finely grated cheese and a few grains of salt and cayenne. Beat well together and fill small timbal molds that have been buttered. Set the molds into a pan partly filled with hot water and place in the oven until the mixture is firm. Serve on a warm dish with tomato sauce poured round. These timbals should be served as soon as taken from the oven.

Frosted Crackers.

Beat the white of one egg stiff with one-quarter cup of powdered sugar, add one-quarter cup of chopped nut meats and spread on thin crackers. Set in the oven to color a little, being sure that the heat is not enough to scorch or brown the frosting.

Indian Pudding.

Heat four cups of milk in a double boiler, add two-thirds cup of cornmeal mixed with three-quarters cup of molasses, two beaten eggs, one-half cup of sugar, a saltspoon of salt and the same of ginger. Mix well, cook a minute and pour into a well buttered pudding dish. Bake one hour, stirring several times, then add one cup of cold milk and cook one hour more; do not stir after the last cup of milk is added.

Turkish Delight.

Soak one-half box of gelatine in one-half cup of cold water for one hour. Put it into a saucepan with two cups of granulated sugar and a teaspoon of citric acid and three-quarters cup of cold water. Cook ten minutes, add a teaspoon of lemon flavoring and strain one-half through a cheese cloth or fine strainer on to a plate that has been rinsed in cold water. To the remainder add a speck of pink coloring, strain on to another plate and stir in one ounce of chopped almonds. When the candy has become firm cut in squares and roll each in sifted powdered or confectioner's sugar.

Chocolate Pie.

Line a plate with good paste and prepare a filling as follows: Mix a rounding tablespoon of cornstarch with one-half cup of sugar, the same of grated chocolate, a level tablespoon of butter and add two cups of hot milk slowly. When the mixture boils pour into the plate and bake. When served spread one-half cup of cream beaten light over the top.

Cabbage and Celery Salad.

Take a small, firm head of cabbage and cut the stalk to the leaves. Take off the rough outside leaves, then cut out the centre, leaving a shell of white leaves for a salad bowl. Shred the cabbage very fine and let stand in cold water for an hour. Wring dry in a piece of cheese cloth, and add one-third as much celery cut in thin crosswise slices. This must be done with a sharp knife. Moisten the whole with either a French or a boiled dressing and return to the shell. Garnish the top with celery tips.

Sour Cream Drop Cakes.

Cream one-half cup of butter, add one cup of sugar, one beaten egg, one-half lever teaspoon of soda dissolved in one-half cup of sour cream, one-half cup of seeded and chopped raisins, one-half cup of chopped nut meats, one-half teaspoon of vanilla and two and one-half cups of flour. Butter a large pan and drop the butter by spoonfuls two inches apart. Bake in a moderate oven.

FROM HER OWN MOUTH.

The cleverest of lawyers occasionally find their match when engaged in their favorite occupation of breaking down an opponent's witness; and this frequently occurs in the case of "horsey" individuals.

The following wordy contest between a hostler and a counsel is one of the most amusing specimens of the kind:

"Now, I ask you, sir, under what authority you are prepared to swear to the mare's age?"

"Under what authority?" said the hostler interrogatively.

"You are to reply, and not repeat the question put to you."

"I don't consider a man's bound to answer a question afore he's time to turn it in his mind."

"Nothing can be more simple, sir, than the question put, and I repeat it. Under what authority do you swear to the animal's age?"

"The best authority," said the witness gruffly.

"Then why such evasion? Why not state it at once?"

"Well, then, if you must have it"——

"Must! I will have it!" thundered the counsel, interrupting the witness.

"Well, if you must and will have it," rejoined the hostler, with imperturbable gravity, "why, then, I had it myself from the mare's own mouth!"—Chicago Journal.

A JAPANESE TEA.

A Japanese tea is a very popular and pretty way of raising money.

Decorate the rooms with paper flowers.

Get the paper cherry blossoms, or it is not hard to make chrysanthemums and irises out of crepe paper. Japanese fans, umbrellas, lanterns, and any other Japanese conceit may be used, too.

Burn pastils to give the proper incense flavor, and use Japanese china if possible. A good idea is to give away a cup and saucer with every cup of tea and to charge accordingly.

The attendants must be dressed in kimonos and Japanese costumes.

Arrange a pretty tea-table with all the articles one would have at home at an afternoon tea, and have the tea served there. Have small tables where the guests may sit while they take the tea, and on the tables have plates of Japanese sweets, candied ginger, candied dates and figs and salted nuts, and dishes of small cakes, wafers and sandwiches.

Provide some entertainment while the guests are drinking tea. Have readings from extracts about Japan or from stories. Have singing and piano recitals.

If a still more strongly Japanese atmosphere is desired, stereopticon pictures of Japan thrown on a screen would be diverting.

THE AMERICAN MAN IS NOT A DUMMY

The American man as Mr. Hen Peck is his last picture by his English cousin.

Of course we are more or less accustomed to having our foreign cousins picture us women as domineering, globe-trotting, do-as-you-please, disagreeable females.

The men have been spared; they have only been called good-natured, money-making individuals, with no imaginations, but they were at least called manly.

Now the last vestige of their manhood has been taken, and we are told by Professor Reich, the Hungarian historian and lecturer of a London university, that in America woman commands man and man does not count; that today man has no existence here; he is a dummy!

One can't help wondering in what part of the continent Professor Reich made his observations.

Perhaps it was in Colorado, where the women are so bold as to vote.

Or perchance he gleamed his fashionable facts from the new anaemic American specimens who frequent foreign shores.

It is not fair to judge the American man by the one you meet in Europe.

The best American is found at home.

Professor Reich's knowledge of American men and women seems to be limited to the comic-paper variety—the loud-voiced, masculine woman carrying her husband around Europe under her arm.

He doubtless has made up his mind that all American women being of this variety, all the men must be dummies. A most natural conclusion.

But, thank fortune, this is not the predominating type of woman in America, and the American man is something more than a wooden image, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

The American man doubtless has his shortcomings, but that only makes him more human.

None of us would enjoy living up to the virtues of a Gabriel.

Even with his shortcomings, in the eyes of most American women, he is far and away above men of other nations.

He is most kind and generous. He looks upon woman as his equal, and wishes to make a companion—not a slave—of his wife.

In this he differs from the men in foreign climes.

He is hard-working. His ambition in life is to make his wife comfortable and happy, to give his children a good education and to give them a better chance in the world than he has had.

He is courteous to women.

He is independent in thought and action; in fact, it is because he is not a dummy, but a very much alive, lovable creature, that the American woman delights to honor him.

NOT TO BE QUOTED!

The reporter boarded a Chestnut street car at Broad street. Two minutes later a bulky gentleman dropped into a seat by his side and jammed him against the window. The reporter grunted, but the newcomer was cheerful.

"I knew Chestnut street before it had car tracks," he announced pleasantly. "Used to run omnibuses up one side and down the other."

The reporter wasn't interested.

"Yes," he continued, "I've lived here all my life. I like to see the old town grow. I was born in 1844—on the 22d of 1844."

The reporter tried to imagine just when the momentous event happened. The information was somewhat hazy.

"Yes, those are facts," he went on. "I went to school— What, not going?"

"Yes," replied the reporter, "here is where I belong."

"Say, young man, what's your business?"

"I'm a reporter."

"A reporter! Great heavens!" he cried, "and here I've been talking so freely to you. Say, now, don't quote me. I wasn't talking for publication."

But he was, even if he didn't know it.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

As It May Be.

"Now, tell me," said Mrs. Hiram Offen, "why did you leave your last place?"

"Well," replied the new cook-lady, "me an' the woman couldn't git along. My automobile an' hers was different makes an' we was always discussin' about 'em."

His Experience.

"That's wrong," the old convict confessed.

CHURCH ROW INJUNCTION

Baileyites Seek to Have Morrisites Restrained From Acting.

DENY TRUSTEES' POWER

Five Deacons and the Acting Pastor Sue For the Writ—Hearing In Chanery Court March 6.

From the justices' courts the Calvary Baptist church pastorate tangle has jumped to the Court of Chancery, and Vice-Chancellor John R. Emery is to have his august say in the trouble. The case was taken from the field of night hearings and examinations of a light and airy character to the dignity of the chancellor's chambers by Councelor W. S. Angleman, adviser of the party supporting Rev. Griffin W. Bailey's claim to the pastorate. He secured a rule against Spencer Conway, John Crite, Ernest Crite and Charles Hardway, members of the Calvary Baptist church board of trustees, and Rev. Peter T. Morris, who disputes Mr. Bailey's claim, ordering them to show cause why an injunction should not be granted to restrain them from attempting to keep Rev. Mr. Bailey from the pastorate.

The bill of complaint was sworn out by Scipio Whindleton, Lewis Booker, Patrick Reid, William M. Ransome, Alfred Barnes, five of the seven deacons, and Rev. J. W. Mitchell, who claims to be the supply pastor of the church. Rev. Mr. Bailey was called to the pastorate by a congregational vote over Mr. Morris, and the five deacons, led by Rev. Mr. Mitchell, who filled the pulpit temporarily after Rev. Scott Wallace's death, have been holding the Bailey supporters in line against the Rev. Mr. Morris, who bases his claim on a call from the board of trustees, the four members named voting to ignore the congregational ballot on the ground that votes cast at the meeting were illegal. Samuel Redd, the other member of the trustees, protested against the action, and his affidavit was filed with the bill of complaint yesterday.

It is contended in the bill that the trustees have no power to call a pastor. That the right, under Baptist church government, lies wholly with the congregation. It is alleged that Mr. Morris came to town to scheme, with Deacon Spencer Conway, for possession of the pulpit "in defiance of a majority of the members of the congregation."

The rule to show cause is made returnable on March 6 in the Chancery chambers at Newark. The defendants were served with the notice this morning.

HIGH SCHOOL NINE SHAPING FOR SEASON.

Seven of Eleven Players Practically Decided Upon.

Indoor practice will be started by the P. H. S. baseball candidates at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium next week. The team must be in some sort of shape by April 8, when their season opens with Brooklyn High School.

All but two fielding berths are fitted with players, vets of one or more seasons. Phil Smith, the juvenile Mathewson, who had the metropolitan high schools scared to a standstill last year, will pitch, and Davis, his old backstop, will be in the opposite point again Collier is slated for second base, and if the management holds, Stuart Freeman will hold down the initial bag, Mahaffey will take third, and Brakeley short. Howard Freeman will be in the field. The other two fielders are the doubtful quantities. Edward Mosher is mentioned as a possibility in that territory.

The team will not be chosen definitely until after the first game. Collier, who is a star infielder, is out of athletics at present on account of examinations, but he will be back in time for the baseball game.

G. W. COOPER ARRAIGNED

Furnishes $2,000 Bail For Appearance Before Commissioner Bigelow Wednesday.

FRIEND GIVES BOND

Arrest Causes a Sensation at Somerville—Ex-Postmaster Was Well Regarded in the Community.

Former Postmaster George W. Cooper, of Somerville, who was arrested Thursday, charged with falsifying vouchers while in office, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Bigelow in Newark yesterday. A friend furnished a $2,000 bond and the accused man was released to appear for a hearing next Wednesday. He returned at once to Somerville, where his arrest has caused a sensation.

The charge against Cooper is the falsifying of vouchers while in office, and thereby illegally obtaining a considerable sum from the government. About two months ago rumors concerning irregularities in his accounts became current in Somerville. Postoffice Inspector Williams started an investigation and found, it is said, that the postmaster was about $400 short. Cooper said the shortage was due to an error on the part of the inspector, and asked for a second going over of his accounts. This was granted him and two experts found, it is said, that besides the first shortage, which was confirmed, Cooper had been turning in vouchers for an assistant at the rate of $1,300 a year, while the actual salary the postmaster paid the assistant was only $600 a year.

In the meanwhile Cooper had been removed from office and his bondsman selected John G. Gaston to take his place. The latter was recently appointed by President Roosevelt, who sent his name to the Senate Thursday for final action.

The postoffice inspectors decided to proceed against Cooper and a warrant was procured from Commissioner Bigelow Wednesday. The announcement caused a great surprise among Cooper's friends and many still refuse to believed that he is guilty as charged. He has always been well regarded in the community, where he owns considerable real estate. He was a director in the Raritan Savings Bank and formerly a member of the Somerville Board of Education.

COUNCIL MEETING MONDAY.

Matters to Be Considered at the March Session.

It is expected that final disposition of the matter of the appointment of a second assistant chief of the fire department will be made at the March meeting of the Common Council on Monday night. A majority of the members seem to favor abolishing the office, but there may be an attempt to confirm the Mayor's nomination.

The various committees are now at work deciding upon the amounts needed for the coming year. The police committee hope to have a sufficient amount to put on two more patrolmen, one for the Netherwood district and one in the West End. The street committee will also need a good round sum this year if the work of street improvements is to be continued.

The fire committee is contemplating some improvements, and if possible will try and carry them out as suggested in the Mayor's message. These things will undoubtedly be taken up in the near future.

BOARDING HOUSES AS BOOMERS OF TOWNS.

Bound Brook Board of Trade Wants a Truell Inn.

The Bound Brook Board of Trade is advocating the erection of a high grade family boarding house-hotel, on the order of the Truell Inn and Truell Court, to encourage substantial people to live in their town. It is argued that a hostelry of that character is a decided factor in bringing desirable people to a town, and forcing the beauties of the locality and of the municipal government on their attention.

Money enough to build the place is not in sight, but the Board of Trade thinks a joint stock company, to which all the town boomers might contribute, would bring about its erection. One of the board members said the Truell houses had done much to build up this city.

The Georgia Jubilee Singers will give a concert at the Y. M. C. A. hall on Saturday evening, March 10, at 8 o'clock. There will be plantation and jubilee melodies, southern stories and elocution. E. E. Thomas will be the character vocalist. A silver offering will be received at box office.

EVIDENCE IN WILL CASE

Bank Officials Testify They Believe Signature in Lanehard Docunent a Forgery.

HARD ON SKILLMAN

A Deed Commissioner Familiar With Dead Man's Handwriting Swears That There is Forgery In Will.

The fourth day of the Lanehart will case in the Somerset Orphans' Court at Somerville closed with a startling array of evidence against William H. Skillman, a former president of the New Jersey Horticultural Society, who is accused by Mary Jane Lanehart with forging a will purporting to be that of her brother, the late William Lanehart, which bequeaths to Skillman half of Lanehart's estate, valued at $19,000.

If the signature to the will is a forgery it is not a clever forgery, according to the testimony of a number of witnesses placed on the stand. There are mysterious lead pencil marks showing under the pen and ink writing of the signature, which are scarcely discernible to the naked eye, which Skillman accounts for by saying that Lanehart first wrote the signature with a pencil and then covered the pencil marks with pen and ink, but the work of covering over the pencil marks is so completely and skilfully done that experts who have examined the signature believe it incredible that the work could have been done by a man seventy-eight years old, who wrote with an unsteady hand, and who ,according to the testimony of Miss Laura Kellogg, his niece, had stiff wrists and wrote with difficulty at all times.

George V. Vander Veer, president of the Second National Bank, of Somerville; Henry Herbert, cashier of the First National Bank, of Bound Brook; Fred N. Voorhees, deputy county clerk of Somerset county, and Calvin D. McMurtry, of the First National Bank, of Somerville, took the stand in behalf of the contestant and swore that there was such a striking dissimilarity between the alleged signature of Lanehart in the will executed by Skillman and other proved signatures of Lanehart in evidence that they believed the signature of the will a forgery or the attempt of another hand to imitate the genuine signature of Lanehart.

William Henry Harrison, a commissioner of deeds of Hopewell, who had business dealings with Lanehart, and frequently saw him affix his signature to legal documents, brought to court with him legal papers which he swore Lanehart had signed in his presence. After comparing the signatures on these papers with the signature of the will the witness testified that he believed that the signature to the will was not in Lanehart's handwriting.

HOBOES HEAVE THINGS THROUGH POND WINDOWS

ANDREW M'CARDELL COMES TO POLICE WITH A COMPLAINT.

Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, who was chairman of the court-killed police commission, and whom Mr. Bullock and Mr. Tyler accused of running the police department even before he received a commission from Mayor Buckle, appeared at the East Front street headquarters this morning as a plain citizen with a complaint. Among the things that occupy Mr. McCardell's days is the superintendency of the Pond Machine Tool Company's foundry, and it was in the role of superintendent that he field his complaint.

Superintendent McCardell told Chief Kiely that a gang of hoboes on a freight train threw chunks of coal and rock through the shop windows as they rolled by. He said the floaters had a habit of doing that, and the company was getting tired of it. "There isn't a whole window left on the railroad side of the shop," he said. Chief Kiely promised to attend to Supt. McCardell's complaint.

CONSOLIDATION IS UP AGAIN

Board of Trade to Hear Father of the Proposition Discuss Bill For Union of City and Borough.

MR. SAUNDERS TO SPEAK

Special Meeting to Be Held Wednesday Night—J. O. Osgood Also to Talk on a Matter of Current Interest.

A meeting of the Board of Trade will be held Wednesday night, at which the proposition to consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield will be revived. Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, has promised to make an address on the present status of the consolidation.

Although a referendum clause was attached to the consolidation bill as signed by Governor Murphy three years ago, it never came to a vote. The reason was that so much bitterness was engendered by the annexation campaign that the friends of union between city and borough deemed it inadvisable to bring up that subject at the time.

Now it is believed that much of the bitterness has passed away and that the consolidation proposition will not be affected by the annexation feud. From what can be learned there is no intention of reviving the annexation scheme.

Under consolidation, the two municipalities would be merged into one. That is, North Plainfield would constitute a part of this city, but its bounds would remain the same. In other words, North Plainfield would still remain in Somerset county.

J. O. Osgood, chief engineer of the Jersey Central Railroad, will also speak at the meeting Wednesday night. The topic assigned to him is "Sewage Systems, and Their Benefit to a Community."

ASSEMBLY DISTRICT BILL INTRODUCED BY PERKINS

PLAINFIELD TO BE IN THIRD DISTRICT OF UNION COTNTRY.

For the purpose of changing the method of electing members of the Lower House of the Legislature, Assemblyman Perkins has introduced a bill at Trenton which provides that such representatives shall be elected by districts.

According to the bill, Union county will be divided into three districts, Plainfield being placed in the third together with Westfield, Rahway, Clark Township, Garwood, Fanwood township, Fanwood borough, Mountainside, New Providence borough and New Providence township.

The First district comprises the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Tenth wards of Elizabeth, together with Linden township, Linden borough and Roselle borough. The Second district comprises the First, Eighth, Ninth, Eleventh and Twelfth wards of Elizabeth, and Roselle Park, Cranford, Union, Springfield and Summit.

Boys Scare Nervous Woman.

James Dady, Joseph Brown and James Smith were arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning for throwing stones at Miss Mary Brown's dyeing store on West Second street. Miss Brown was injured, and had a narrow escape from death, in a gasoline explosion recently, and her nerves are in shape admirably suited to the aims of small boys who like to scare women. The trio admitted their guilt, and acknowledged that they threw the stones "to get her up in the air." The magistrate suspended sentence after a sharp scolding.

Baptism and Communion.

There will be the celebration of the Lord's Supper, infant and adult baptism and reception of members at the Monroe Avenue church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The regular evening service will be held at the usual hour.

NEW CIVIC ASSOCIATION

Formally Organized Last Night In the Interest of Good Government.

A NON-PARTISAN BODY

Officers Are Chosen—Association Favors Mayor Smalley's Sewer System Proposition.

The Plainfield Civic Association was formally organized last night. It is non-partisan in politics and the announcement is made that it proposes to strike at any existing evil regardless of who is hit. The association's principal objects are set forth in a paragraph of the constitution adopted last night:

"To promote and foster the prosperity of the city of Plainfield and the State of New Jersey. To devote its efforts to the interests of good government irrespective of politics. To crystallize public opinion in the matter of regulating taxation, thereby becoming a body of recognized authority."

The officers elected were William Jeffery, president; Francis E. Bodin, first vice-president; N. Douglas Drake, second vice-president; William B. Grannatt, Jr., secretary, and William H. Rogers, treasurer.

The subject of sewerage in the borough was discussed during the evening, and the following resolution unanimously adopted was proposed by Mr. Drake, chairman of the committee on public improvement:

"Wherefore, deeming it to the best interests of the citizens of North Plainfield for the future benefit and betterment of the borough that a proper sewerage system should be had and maintained;

"Now, therefore, we, members of the Plainfield Civic Association, heartily endorse any measure seeking to secure such an improvement;

"Be it resolved, therefore, that we express to the Mayor and Common Council of said borough our hearty approval of any means whereby this improvement may be obtained and urge the calling of a public meeting to secure an expression of the citizens in the matter."

A letter of regret was received from Bolton Hall, the New York lawyer and sociologist, expressing his inability to attend the meeting and extending his earnest approval of the objects of the association and promised his hearty support.

The Plainfield Civic Association meets every Friday night and many Plainfield citizens who are interested in the welfare of the community have expressed a desire to become members.

FIRE TRUCK COLLIDES WITH FURNITURE VAN

HORSES THROWN DOWN, BUT PRACTICALLY NO DAMAGE RESULTED.

A check rein on one of the horses attached to No. 1 hose truck, came loose as they were passing on West Second street, near the New Plainfield theatre in response to an alarm at 7:25 this morning. The animals got out of the control of Captain James Daley, who occupied the driver's seat, and swung against one of Hand & Son's vans drawn close to the curb. The step of the hose wagon in the front wheel of the van and one horse on either vehicle was thrown down.

Daley was not proceeding fast at the time and the fire rig was stopped by the brake before it could roll on top of the animals. Both remained quiet and were quickly gotten on their feet with no further damage than a few broken bits of harness and a bent step on the truck.

The alarm was turned in from box 13 and was for a slight fire in the kitchen of the Kensington Hotel. A pan of grease became ignited and filled the room with flame and smoke. The danger was over before the firemen arrived.

Boroughites on the Move.

Former Health Inspector William Pangborn and John T. Case, two well known borough residents, are soon to remove elsewhere. Pangborn will take up his abode on the Baldwin farm in Washington Valley and Case will make his home in the city. As both are pronounced anti-Smalleyites, borough politicians are wondering what led to the exodus.

Smoky Chimney Causes Still Alarm.

Hose Company No. 3 was sent to 211 Liberty street at 11 o'clock this morning in response to a still alarm received at fire headquarters. Chief Doane and the men found a smoky chimney the cause of the trouble and gave it a cleaning free of expense to the owner.

PLAN SEWER CONFERENCE

Borough Council and Board of Health to Hold Joint Meeting Monday Night.

PUBLIC HEARING NEXT

Mayor Smalley Declares That Time for Action Has Arrived and Promises His Earnest Support.

Through the action of both the Common Council and the Board of Health, the North Plainfield sewer system agitation is to be taken up in earnest. The two organizations are to hold a meeting Monday night when the matter will be fully discussed, and, if possible, a date arranged for a public hearing.

At the Council meeting last night a communication was received from the health board, stating that its members were of the opinion that steps should be taken to secure a modern system of sewage disposal and asking co-operation in bringing it about. An additional letter from Andrew Kenney was read, in which he ventured to name Monday night as the time for a joint meeting. The suggestion was accepted by Mayor Smalley and he addressed the councilmen to that effect.

Speaking further, the Mayor said the sewer question is one that must be taken up actively, as even the preliminary work would cover a long period. There are lots of people, he asserted, who are seeking relief from the present unsanitary and antiquated method and he promised his hearty support to whatever movement was planned.

A WAY TO OPEN STREET

Mayor Smalley Suggests that Watchung Ave. Property Owners do It Themselves.

AVOIDING RED TAPE

Borough Council Accepts Allen Place and Makes Marshal Appointments.

In the course of regular business at last night's meeting of the borough Council, Mayor Smalley announced that he had suggested a new plan to interested property owners for the opening of Watchung avenue from its present terminus to the foot of the mountain.

If the ordinance covering such matters, he said, was strictly followed out, much red tape would have to be gone through and a great deal of expense would be incurred in appointing commissioners to assess damages and care for other details. On the other hand, if the owners most directly concerned would get together, open the street, and then petition the Council to accept it, the improvement could be reached in a short time and at less cost. The Mayor stated that he had presented the facts in this way, but as yet he had received no word as to what was to be done. He asked that the petition for the opening, presented last month, be laid over pending the property owners' action, and this was done by vote.

On a resolution offered by Councilman McGee the borough clerk was authorized to borrow $500 for current expenses if it was found necessary. The financial report showed that there is a balance of but $8.28 in the treasury and there is a possibility that some bills might have to be met.

In response to petitions, Allen place was accepted as an improved street and four lights were ordered placed on DeLacy avenue. Peter Dooley, who was recently appointed a regular marshal, tendered his resignation as lieutenant of No. 2 Hose Company, and it was accepted. The police force was increased by the appointment of Herman Klinsman as marshal to do special duty.

Permits were granted William H. Kirch to build a barn for Levy Brothers at 41 Duer street, and an auto house for William Jeffery at 95 Duer street. Councilman Lee reported that $317.71 had been expended in street work during the month and the police committee reported collecting $55 in fines.

CITIZEN WAS SCARED BY A PHANTOM SHOT.

William Boyd Has an Experience on Berckman Street.

William Boyd, of Richmond street, came into police headquarters last night and told Chief Kiely that somebody had fired a shot at him on Berckman street. He didn't know why he should be marked for assassination, but he was sure he heard a shot and that it was aimed at him. He was sober and the chief sent an officer back to Berckman street with him.

Boyd said the shot came as he was going by the old Aluminum Plate and Press Company works. Higgins, the officer, called out the night watchman at the works and asked him about it. The watchman hadn't heard anything like a shot. Boyd told the cop the shot came from inside the works, and broke a window. No broken pane could be discovered. When Higgins made his report the chief decided Boyd's shot came from a phantom firearm.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

J. V. E. Field told a Press reporter yesterday that the sale of his farm in the township, which recently passed into the hands of a New York man, along with the farm of his father, adjoining, did not mean his departure from this neighborhood. "As the old colored brother observed," said the smiling farmer-politician, "I am going to stay right in this vicinity." Joe has in mind the purchase of some likely farm, and the resumption of agricultural activity, tinctured, as hitherto, with the delights of electioneering. This is certainly good news for the men folks of Middlesex, because Joe is a valued member of the glad-hand fraternity hereabouts.

The election of officers in Defender Fire Company resulted as follows, most of the old incumbents being continued in office: President, J. Newton Apgar; vice president, F. W. Vail; secretary, C. H. Runyon; foreman, Joseph Maier; first assistant, William Dealaman; second assistant, James Vail; doorkeeper, Walter Brokaw.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

HIDDEN DANGERS.
Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Plainfield Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.
Danger Signal No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.
Danger Signal No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the coming of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Plainfield proof:
Oliver H. Voorhees, job printer, living at 21 Stone street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was suffering from kidney weakness for a long time, due, probably, to my being compelled to be on my feet so much of the time. On arising in the morning, I would find myself very weak, and suffering from severe pain in the back and sides, accompanied with headache. The kidney secretions were of bad odor, and the desire to pass them was too frequent. I could not seem to find either a doctor to cure me, or a medicine that would help me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's pharmacy. Before I took three boxes I was relieved of my aches and pains, and my kidneys were well again."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THE ANCIENT BRITISH CHURCH.

First in a series of Lenten Lectures

By Rev. Dr. John H. Egar, Late Professor of Church History in Nashotah Theological Seminary.

In Holy Cross church Thursday afternoon the Rev. Dr. Egar, of Rockview avenue, late rector of Zion church, Rome, N. Y., and formerly professor of Church History in Nashotah Theological Seminary, began a series of talks which will be continued on Thursday afternoons during Lent on the history of the Church in England from the earliest times. The first was upon the ancient British Church, of Christianity in England before the coming of the Anglo-Saxons.

He said in brief: "The Roman conquest of Great Britain was the beginning of authentic written history of the British Isles; before that history is picked out of scanty notices and made by inference from ancient monuments, or the analysis of traditionary legends. The Church History of what we now call England goes back to the same time, which was the earliest age of Christianity. By the year 47 A. D. the Roman General Aulus Plantius had made good the Roman occupation of the southern portion of Britain, and by the year 81 Agricola had built his great wall from the Firth to the Clyde, showing that all up to that line was in subjection to the Romans. About midway between these two dates there is mention in the New Testament of a lady who is believed to have been a British Christian. St. Paul, in his second Epistle to Timothy, written from Rome, says: "Eubulus and Pudeus and Linus and Claudia greet thee." The evidence that this Claudia was of British birth is this: Martial, the poet, has several epigrams from which we learn that a Roman officer named Pudeus married a British lady whom he calls Claudia Rufina. One of his epigrams is translated as follows:

"From Britons was Rufina Claudia born?
The fair barbarian how do arts adorn!
When Roman charms a Grecian soul commend
Athens and Rome may for the dame contend."

Now an inscribed stone from an ancient temple discovered in England some time ago states that Pudeus gave the site for the temple to King Tiberius Claudius Cogitubnus. This king had been accepted as an ally by Aulus Platius and given the emperor's name as a mark of honor. His daughter therefore would be called Claudia. Now the wife of Aulus Plautius was Pomponia Graccina, who belonged to the Roman family of the Rufini, and it is quite probable that she adopted Claudia and gave her her own family name—Rufina Claudia. But Pomponia Graccina was a Christian, and so Pudeus and Claudia became, and part of their house is still visible under the Church of Pudentiana at Rome, which some of you have doubtless seen. This being true, of course, this Pudeus and Claudia were the persons mentioned by St. Paul in the Epistle to Timothy.

At what time Christianity was introduced and churches formed in Britain itself is uncertain. It has been thought St. Paul preached there; but this is improbable. Others mentioned are Joseph of Arimathea, Aristobulu, etc. We may be sure that influential persons connected with Britain, like Pudeus and Claudia would be interested in sending Christianity there. There were many channels by which it could reach the island. Commerce was active, and there were Christians in the army.

In fact, the first Gentile convert was the Christian soldier Cornelius, and the Cornelii and the family of Pudeus were closely connected as discoveries in the Catacombs show. Records are scanty, as they generally are about the beginning of things, but it is evident that the Celtish inhabitants of Britain were civilized by the Romans, that the church was gradually extended there as in other countries, and that in the fourth century, when Constantine became emperor, there were flourishing churches throughout Britain. Three British bishop, Eborius of York, Restitutus of London, and Adelfius of Caerleon, as delegates from the three provinces of Britannia prima, Britannia secunda, and Flavia Caesariensii, attended a council of Arles in 313. British bishops were probably at the council in Nice in 325, certainly at that of Sardica in 347, and that of Rimicci in 351. It may safely be said that by the time of the Saxon invasion the whole of Roman Britain had been Christianized.

The connection of Britain with the Roman Empire brought in much more civilization and learning than we are apt to think, and the Church participated in all the movements of thought upon the continent. Monasticism became popular in the fourth and fifth centuries as the empire began to break up, and the monasteries did the same work that our schools and colleges do now. At the time of the Saxon invasion we find mention of monastic institutions in Wales, where the Saxons could not penetrate the mountains. From the west of Britain missionaries went forth. St. Ninian went into Scotland, where he built, much to the surprise of the natives, a stone church, which was called Candida Casa—the White House. St. Patrick went into Ireland, and founded the Irish Church at the beginning of the fifth century. From the Irish Church came back to Scotland, in the sixth century, St. Columba and his band, who settled in the Island of Iona, whence missionaries were sent who evangelized, in the seventh century, the northern part of England, after the Anglo-Saxons had made themselves at home there.

In the story of these times there is much that is legendary; but by patient study real history can be gained even from the legends. When the speaker was in Cologne, summer before last, he visited the church popularly called that of St. Ursula and the eleven thousand virgins. He asked the custodian, who was a very intelligent and gentlemanly man, what the clergy of that church thought was the true foundation of the legend. He told him that they had, of course, studied it thoroughly, and had come to the conclusion that St. Ursula was a real person, that she was a British princess who had been sent by her parents, with eleven companions, about the year 450, to be safe at Cologne from the Saxon invasion. At that time, as every student of history knows, Attila the Hun was making his invasion of Gaul. He destroyed and sacked Cologne and massacred all the inhabitants, St. Ursula and her companions included. The idea of eleven thousand virgins arose long after from the misreading of an entry in the Martyrology "Ursula and XI., M. V.," which means Ursula and eleven martyrs, virgins; but was interpreted as if the "M" meant thousands, instead of martyrs. The bones in the church, he said, were those of the cemetery in which all the victims of Attila's massacre had been buried. He showed the rude stone coffin in which the bones of St. Ursula had been found.

The lecture concluded with reading the account of the death of St. Columba, to show the beautiful Christian spirit of a saintly man.

BATCH OF SUITS FOR DAMAGE CLAIMS

ELIZABETH PEOPLE WHO WILL SEEK SATISFACTION IN THE COURT.

Patrick Tully, of Elizabeth, has sued the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company and the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey to recover $10,000 damages for alleged injuries received June 11,1905 by coming in contact with a live wire which had become loosened and hung dangling in the street. Tully at the time of the accident was employed as motorman on one of the cars of the Public Service Corporation. While attending to his duties he was struck in the face with the dangling wire and was thrown from the car. Since the accident he has been partially paralyzed, a direct result, it is said, of the shock he received.

Signe Swensden and her husband, Louis Swensden, also of Elizabeth, have brought suit for $5,000 damages against the Public Service Corporation for injuries received on November 23 last, resulting from the blowing out of a fuse on a car on a car which Mrs. Swensden was a passenger. The accident occurred on Jersey avenue, near Linden avenue. When the fuse blew out the other passengers on the car became frightened and rushed from the car, knocking down and trampling Mrs. Swensden, inflicting injuries of which she now complains.

Charles Mayer has sued Louis Klopfer to recover for injuries sustained by being bitten by two dogs belonging to Klopfer. The latter keeps a saloon on Bond street near Pine, Elizabeth. On the night of January 13 last, Mayer was in the saloon giving a phonograph exhibition, when Klopfer's two dogs, it is alleged, took exception to the music and pounced on Mayer biting him severely on the leg before they could be puled off. Mayer demands $3,000 damages.

Suit has also been begun against the Public Service Corporation by Miss Mary McIntyre and her father, Stephen McIntyre, of Garwood. The former sues for $10,000 damages and the later for $5,000. Miss McIntyre was, on the night of December 6 last, a passenger on a car from Rahway to Picton. Trouble arose in the car between the conductor and a young man regarding the paying of fare. A struggle followed, the shock being so great as, it is said, to completely unnerve the young woman, who is now declared to be a nervous wreck.

IN A FEW LINES.

During the open season of 1905 in New Hampshire 224 licenses were issued to non-resident hunters, netting the States $2,240. This is about twice the number sold in 1904.

The area devoted to corn in Kansas in 1905 was 6,779,755 acres, an increase over that of 1904 of 305,597 acres, or 4.7 per cent. The average yield to the acre for the entire State was 28 bushels.

An automatic fire alarm recently patented in England sounds an alarm in a hotel office twelve seconds after a fire starts in any of its rooms. The apparatus is simply an application of the fact that heat causes expansion, sufficient in this case to complete an electric circuit.

In homes where coal still reigns as king
The smoke and soot con't go a thing
But to wash day troubles add
And make the housewife wan and sad.

IN THE LAUNDRY

On wash day a coal range often seems totally depraved. It won't burn and the clothes won't boil. Finally when things are ready to hang out, it smokes and they have to be re-washed. No such troubles with a gas range! It burns when you light it. With one, washing is made easy. It is ready at the turn of the wrist. To-day and every day is gas range day. LOCAL OPTION AGITATION

All Over the State Tomorrow the Petitions Will Be Circulated.

WANT MORE SIGNERS

Measure Makes Gift of Liquor a Misdemeanor in Restricted District—Will Probably be Beaten.

All over the State of New Jersey tomorrow the friends of local option will seek to swell to mammoth proportions petitions for presentation to the Legislature favorable to the passage of the Miller House bill 18, which calls for a special election on the subject of local option whenever 30 per cent. of the people signed such a call.

The measure makes the gift in a man's house of liquor to a friend a misdemeanor in a restricted district where local option has been adopted by a vote of the people.

A careful poll of the House shows that when the bill comes to a vote, it will be badly beaten. The larger number of Assemblymen express themselves as skeptical whether there is any popular demand for such a local option law, even with the referendum clause in it.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Buck, of Cumberland county, of course, will vote for the measure, as may Mr. Scovel, of Camden, because of some local option feeling. There are no more than two votes, probably but one, in the Essex delegation and none in Hudson, nor in Mercer, nor in Passaic. Burlington will not vote for the measure, nor Gloucester, and these votes are enough to kill local option, 31 to 29.

But Atlantic, Bergen, Cape May, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Sussex and Warren delegations, or, at least a portion of them, will join to defeat the measure, thus swelling the negative vote to 40. Salem will add one more, and negative votes will come from Monmouth.

In fact, it is quite a possibility that 50 votes will be recorded against local option in the House.

In connection with the traffic in liquor, while the Local Option bill will fail, it is assured that the High License bill in the Senate will succeed. This latter bill is the one prepared by the bishops of the Roman Catholic and the Episcopal churches, with conservative clergy of the Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist churches.

The measure shuts up all side doors and back rooms in saloons, and raises license fees of $500 in all cities of over 10,000 population. A powerful influence with the legislators to turn down local option is the admission of the local option agitators that they would not turn away from the Republican party, if local option failed. They say that the threat to do so was made in the heat of argument.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Broadway theatre—Broadway and forty-first street. Elsie Janis in The Vanderbilt Cup. Evenings at 8:15. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Liberty theatre — Forty-second street, west of Broadway. The Redskin, a play of Indian life and character. Evenings at 8:15. Matinee Saturday at 2:15.

New York theatre—Broadway and Forty-four street. Last times of Roger Brothers in Ireland. Evenings at 8:15. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Popular prices always.

New Amsterdan theatre—Forty-second street. Fay Templeton in George M. Cohan's "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." A cyclone of humor and tuneful music. Evenings at 8:15. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

The biggest comedy hit of the year in New York is Fay Templeton in Geo. M. Cohan's music play, "45 Minutes from Broadway," at the New Amsterdam theatre, where she is now in her fourth week. Miss Templeton is undoubtedly the cleverest comedienne on the American stage. Her versatility was never more strongly tested than in this play, wherein she has serious and emotional as well as broad comedy situations. Her work is particularly pleasing to women. She is a women's comedienne, always refined in all that she does and never resorting to the slightest suggestion of coarseness to make her comic points. Victor Moore, who plays the opposite role, "Kid" Burns, has made a hit second only to that of the star.

One of the most prolific of fishes is the turbot. The number of eggs in five specimens examined by a scientist recently varied from over 5,000,000 to more than 10,000,000. The heaviest of these specimens weighed only twenty-one pounds, and the belief is expressed that large specimens are still more fertile.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, who has been visiting relatives at Somerville, has returned home.

Mrs. A. C. McCrea and son, of Central avenue, have returned from a visit with relatives at Carlisle, Pa.

Plainfield, N. J. March 3, 1906.

Behold John Moody, the self-crowned apostle of a proposed rejuvenated Democracy! Let all the clans of Thomas Jefferson praise his name, for verily he has made a great discovery. The Cranford apostle says, forsooth, that William Jennings Bryan, who twice received about 6,000,000 votes for the Presidency, and Grover Cleveland, who twice triumphed as a candidate for the most exalted office in the gift of the American people, are nothing more or less than "political corpses." These men who have swayed the multitudes and who today are honored at home and abroad, are dead bones. John Moody says so. Praised be the name of Mr. Moody!

Kearny, Harrison and East Newark occupy about the same relative position towards one another as Plainfield and North Plainfield and a movement is now underway in the three named places for consolidation into one government. It is to be hoped that the politicians over there will not allow factional politics to interfere with the proposition which on its face will inure to the benefit of the taxpayers in the three municipalities. That was the trouble over here, for it is not denied that the first step towards consolidation of this city and North Plainfield was defeated purely because of the animosities of rival Republican politicians.

A real estate broker in Bound Brook spoke the plain truth when he told the Board of Trade in that place the other night that people visiting Plainfield for a time become so enamored with the place that they either buy or make a long term lease for a home. Plainfield covers a big area and like an omnibus there is always room for more people. But why is it that visitors become so attracted to the city? Simply because taken all in all it is as beautiful appearing, as well regulated and has as many improvements as any suburban city in the East. In fact it cannot be denied that it offers advantages and attractions that are not to be found in 999 out of 1,000 places. If anyone doubts it, just invite him to spend a day here.

Every man interested in the welfare of the city and borough should make it a point to attend the meeting of the Plainfield Board of Trade on Wednesday night. On that occasion former Mayor William L. Saunders, one of the most public spirited citizens in the community, will speak on the present status of the consolidation bill. Time has not shaken the belief of the friends of this measure that the best interests of North Plainfield at least demand a union with Plainfield. Certain it is that the number of advocates of such a proposition has materially increased since the vote was taken on the scheme of annexing that borough to Union county. From what can be learned there is no intention of reviving the annexation matter. What is desired now is a consolidation of the two municipalities under one government.

Enjoying Life in the South.

County Registrar of Deeds and Mrs. F. H. Smith, of West Fourth street, are now at Daytona, Fla., and a letter received from Mr. Smith states that his health is very much improved. This week he and Mrs. Smith have been enjoying fishing and sailing on Edward White's motor boat. Next week they go to Palm Beach. They expect to return home the last of the month.

"Education and Democracy."

"Education and Democracy" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark University, before the Monday Afternoon Club at the Casino Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The old time favorite and the predecessor of nearly all the present day rural dramas, "The Old Homestead," is booked for Plainfield. It will appear here on Saturday afternoon and night, April 14.

The present month at the New Plainfield will close with a trio of the best attractions on the road. On the twenty-ninth "The Pit" will be presented, on the thirtieth, "The Clansman," and on the thirty-first, Haverly's big minstrel troupe, numbering eighty artists.

Charles T. Ellis, an actor well known to Music Hall patrons, died at his home in Brooklyn, Wednesday. He was familiarly known as "Caspar, the Yodler," the name of a play in which he starred for many seasons. In this he always rendered a song, "Sunshine Will Come Again," that was popular for years.

Because of his success with other local affairs, Manager Counihan is to have charge of the advertising end of the coming Muhlenberg Hospital carnival. He will bill it "like a circus" and is already mapping out his campaign. His advice to "follow the crowd" will not be confined to Plainfield but will catch the eyes of residents all the way from Raritan to Elizabeth.

Speaking of the expense incurred in moving theatrical companies, it cost the management of the Lillian Blauvelt troupe just $400 to move from Plainfield to Glens Falls, N. Y., the next stop. Because of the distance the jump could not be made by the regular trains and a special had to be engaged. Despite this, the scenery did not arrive in time to play a matinee and the management lost several hundred dollars according to the advance sale.

H. S. Five Shift.

The P. H. S. five will play Orange High School on March 16. The outcome of the contest is doubtful, because three of the home stars are out of the game on account of examinations. They are Smith, Collier and Doane. Line and Gavett will probably take their places.

Brass Band Getting Stronger.

Eighteen members of the newly organized brass band came out for practice last night at the Y. M. C. A., under Director Clauss. The practice was lively and good; prospects for the first concert are bright.

Miss Sadie Terry, of Rahway road, has returned home after a visit of a week with friends in Metuchen.

Heston, secretary of the board of trustees of the Atlantic City Free Public Library; response by the chairman; "The Art of Using a Library," Miss Louise Connolly, general supervisor of public school, Newark; "Library Guides," Miss Frances L. Rahbone, librarian, Free Public Library, East Orange; discussion on these two papers. At the close of this session an informal reception will be held at the Atlantic City Free Public Library by the board of trustees of the library. Mrs. Allen B. Y. E. C. Hovey, assistant secretary of the A. L. A., will be present and will announce the arrangements for the proposed conference of the A. L. A. at Narragansett Pier, June 29-July 13.

To the Officers and Members of Local Union No. 155, U. B. of C. and J. of A.

IN FAVOR OF UNION OF SEVERAL TOWNS

CITIZENS OF KEARNY, HARRISON AND EAST NEWARK WANT CONSOLIDATION.

Harrison, March 3.—The West Hudson County Board of Trade, at its regular meeting discussed the consolidation of Kearny, Harrison and East Newark, after the special committee, appointed by President Peter Hauck, Sr., composed of Mayor Edward Kenny, of East Newark, Alderman Clarence T. Van Derin and Joseph A. Riordan, reported on the matter. The report set forth incidently:

"We find by the last census Harrison had a population of 12,283, Kearny 13,601 and East Newark 2,828; that makes a combined population of 29,252, and the new city would be the eleventh municipality in the State."

The arguments in favor of consolidation are that it would lessen governmental expenses and would simplify the government; that it would end the inconvenience suffered by the people living in Harrison, north of the Erie Railroad, whose children are obliged to pass two adjacent schools to reach the Harrison school; that all the people would share in the privileges of the East Newark library; that the Harrison and East Newark people who send their children to the Kearny High School would be relieved of the payment of tuition fees; that the crooked boundary lines now existing would be abolished; that the towns are now built up so closely together that they are actually one, and should be one in law; that the water pipes would all be joined together and all dead ends would be abolished, and that the people of the three towns could better accomplish municipal ends by being united in one city.

SNAG AHEAD FOR OSTEOPATH BILL.

State Medical Board Says It Would Lower Academic Requirements.

Trenton, Mar. 3.—In connection with the bill introduced in the Legislature providing for the regulation of the practice of osteopathy and for a separate board of examiners for applicants who wish to practice as osteopaths, the adherents of the bill will have the opposition of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

In the annual report of that body for last year, which has just been published in pamphlet form, they take a decided stand against allowing osteopaths to practice as physicians.

Osteopathy is considered in relation to the bill introduced last year, but for which a substitute was later reported by the committee in the Senate, and was passed by that body only to die in the House.

100 Killed in Tornado.

New Orleans, March 3.—Latest advices from Meridian, Miss., report that more 100 lives were lost in the tornado that swept over the city and the surrounding country yesterday evening. The property loss will reach $1,000,000. Probably a score of the dead are whites. Many bodies were cremated in the flames that at through the wreckage in the path of the storm.

Scene in "A Crown of Thorns," at New Plainfield Theatre This Afternoon and Evening.

There has never been staged a play dealing with the story of life that has the beauty, the pathos and the power of reaching the heart as that possessed by "A Crown of Thorns," the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. When considering the names in that powerful aggregation of talent presenting this play, the theatregoing public will be convinced that the production is of very superior merit. The characters are so important and unique in idea that any but the most experienced actors would ruin them.

Miss Florence Hamilton, who appears at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night, stands at the crowning point of her dramatic career. As the "Senator's Wife" she finds the most successful role she has ever attempted. It calls for her unequalled emotional powers as well as a portrayal of brilliant comedy, such as none of her former successes demanded. That she accomplishes all and more than is required of her is exemplified by the unanimous praise from all sides. Her display of the latest Parisian gown (which, by the way, has always been Miss Hamilton's greatest hobby) gives her the trademark of "the best dressed woman on the American stage."

"More to Be Pitied than Scorned," the play by that popular playwright, Charles E. Blaney, is the offering at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. It is a picturesque musical melodrama of life on the stage with scenes laid in and around a theatre. The play is so well written and told in such a masterly manner that those who see it once will find it so interesting as to cause a lasting impression and a desire to see it again. No expense has been spared in mounting this production and it is complete in every detail, a wonder in stagecraft.

A play that deals with real life and present incidents which actually occur, possesses a keen interest and commends itself to theatregoers is Max H. Meyers' mammoth scenic production, "From Rags to Riches," a melodrama dealing with life as it is the thoroughfare of Greater New York, is booked to appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night. The old saying, "Truth is stronger than fiction," is fully borne out in the presentation of this play. A strong company has been engaged to give a careful and painstaking presentation of each character and the production is fully equipped with all special scenery and mechanical effects to properly present the play.

Scene in "From Rags to Riches," at New Plainfield Theatre Next Wednesday Night.

Pierce Kingsley's great American play, "Deserted at the Altar," will hold the boards at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday. It has received more praise from the press and public than any similar attraction on the road today. It has never suffered by comparison with "Way Down East," "The Old Homestead" or "Shore Acres," or any other pastoral play ever produced. There is no wronged woman in it and its plot is quite out of the ordinary rut, sparkling with clean effervescent comedy, strong dramatic scenes and keen sensation. The motor car's race with a bicycle is the best stage effect ever seen, and, as a leading Detroit paper remarks, "It has the chariot race in Ben Hur looking like a free-for-all at a county fair. It is a piece of stagecraft worthy the approval of any modern audience. You just want to get up and yell as the girl makes her dash after the fast fleeing motor car."

ADMINISTRATOR SUES RANKIN COMPANY.

Asks $40,000 for the Deaths of Two Men Killed by Gas in Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, March 3.—For the killing by gas on December 9, 1905, of Andrew Chaplap and Paul Kryzlock at the plant of the William H. Rankin Company, Elizabethport, a suit for $40,000 damages was started Wednesday in the Supreme Court at Trenton by J. J. Stamler, a lawyer, of this city. Kryzlock leaves a widow and five children living in Austria, while Chaplap leaves, also in that country, a widow and four children.

The men were overcome by gas a few minutes after they entered a still which they had been ordered to clean. In trying to rescue them four other workmen were overpowered by the deadly fumes, and two of them, Robert Dowling, an expert machinist, and Mahlon Potts, nearly lost their lives, and spent some days in the hospital before they recovered. The suit, which will be tried at the May term of the Union County Court, is brought by Samuel Koestler, who Surrogate Parrot appointed as administrator for the families of the men.

LITERARY.

One generation does not make a man like Togo. And also one generation does not make the fellows who went into the terrible gulf of death in Manchuria and on the eastern seas. The Japanese culture and atmosphere made them thus. I pray to God that they will remain so, as they are. Already there's a whisper of degeneration and sophistication in Japan of today. Togo is the best model of the Satsuma province, whence Marquis Oyama, Admiral Kamimura and others hailed out. There in that province plain living and high thinking; and, above all, devotion to the country, and emperor, almost reaches a religion.—From "Togo at Close Range," by Yone Noguchi, in National Magazine for March.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.
Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.
If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

SLANG AND HOW TO USE IT PROPERLY.

Just as there is poetry and poetry, there is slang and slang. In fact, all things in this world are not just alike, though they may be called by the same name.

Some slang is extremely tart and clever, and some is decidedly inelegant. The way women utter these little flipbits of English language has a lot to do with it. Take the bold woman of bold talk, it isn't what she says, but the way she says it.

Then there is the bright woman with her eyes full of wit and her tongue ready for a jolly retort and heart waiting for a good laugh; she may indulge in a tiny bit of slang, that is all right. But if you don't know how to use these expressions of the moment, stick to clear, clean, plain English. It is safer.

Lack of balance is a besetting sin of most individuals. They don't strike the settled point, they sway this way or that. Such should avoid slang, for they lack a descretion which after all is a most valuable and necessary character quality.

For everything there is a use and everything that is worth while is subject to abuse. Let us, for instance, consider beautifying. Limited to reasonable methods, healthy ideas, mental loveliness, cleanliness and matters of the sort, are ennobling.

They make women live better lives. They set the brain to working intelligently. They broaden and stir us out of ruts and old beaten ways that are cobwebby with monotony.

But what about the abuse of these ideas. It is when women take to painting their faces like Indians, ready for a war dance; when they waddle along with a kangaroo skip hop; when thye do their hair in pompadours seven stories high, and when they wear soubrette hats and look like utter idiots. This is beautifying abuse, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The same way with other habits and ambitions in life.

"Ha," says Mrs. Woman, "I have a fine idea. Now watch me work it to death." And she does. There are others who cultivate the same idea moderately and are reasonably benefited.

To say that a woman should never use a word of slang would be to make uninteresting prudes of most of us. There is a certain joy in keeping in step with the band in knowing what sort of rattle-tattle the world is talking, but one can tag along without becoming common or unladylike in using slang expressions.

CHAPTER XV.

RETROSPECTIVE.

Once upon a time there lived a soldier, a gentleman born, a courtier, a man of fine senses, of high integrity, of tenderness, of courage; he possessed a splendid physical beauty, besides estates and a comfortable revenue, or rather, he presided over one. Above all this, he was the father of a girl who worshiped him, and not without reason. What mysterious causes should set to work to ruin this man, to thrust him from light into darkness? What stepped him to attempt to betray his country, even in times of peace, to dishonor his name, a name his honesty had placed high on the rolls of glory? What defense can he offer? Well, I shall undertake to defend him; let yours be the verdict.

Enforced idleness make a criminal of a poor man; it urges the man of means to travel. Having seen his native land, it was only natural that my defendant should desire to see foreign countries. So, accompanied by his child, he went abroad, visited the famous capitals, and was the guest of honor at his country's embassies. It was a delightful period. Both were as happy as fate ever allows a human being to be. The father had received his honorable discharge, and till recently had held a responsible position in the war department. His knowledge had proved of no small value to the government, for he was a born strategist, and his hobby was the coast defenses. He never beheld a plan that he did not reproduce it on the back of an envelope, on any handy scrap of paper, and then pore over it through the night. He had committed to memory the smallest details, the ammunition supplies of each fort, the number of guns, the garrison, the pregnable and impregnable sides. He knew the resource of each, too, that is to say, how quickly aid could be secured, the nearest transportation routes, what forage might be had. He had even submitted plans for a siege gun.

One day, in the course of their travels, the father and daughter stopped at Monte Carlo. Who hasn't heard of that city of fever? Who that has seen it can easily forget its gay harbor, its beautiful walks, its crowds, its music, its hotels, its white temple of fortune. Now, my defendant had hitherto ignored the principality of Monaco. The tales of terror which had reached his ears did not prepossess him in its favor. But his daughter had friends there, and she wanted to see them. There would be dances on the private yacht, and dinners, and teas, and fireworks. On the third night of his arrival he was joined by the owner of the yacht, a millionaire banker whose son was doing the honors as host. I believe that there was a musicale on board that night, and as the banker was not particularly fond of this sort of entertainment, he inveigled his soldier friend to accompany him on a sight-seeing trip. At midnight they entered the temple of fortune. At first the soldier demurred; but the banker told him that he hadn't seen Monte Carlo unless he saw the wheel go around. So, laughing, they entered the halls.

The banker played a while, won and lost, lost and won. The soldier put his hand in his pocket and drew forth a five-franc piece. He placed it on a number. The angel in the pitch robes is always lying in wait for man to make his first bad step; so she urged fortune to let this man win. It is an unwritten law, high up on Olympus, that the gods must give to the gods, only the prayers of the mortals go unanswered.

So my defendant won. He laughed like a boy who had played marbles for "keeps" and had taken away his opponent's agates. His mind was perfectly innocent of any wrong-doing. That night he won 1,000 francs. His real first bad step was in hiding the escapade from his daughter. The following night he won again. Then he dallied about the flame till one night the lust of his forebears shone forth from his eyes. The venom of the serpent spread, the ember grew into a flame. His daughter, legitimately enjoying herself with the young people, knew nothing nor dreamed. Indeed, he never entered the temple till after he had kissed her good night.

HE LOST.

He lost. He lost twice, thrice, in succession. One morning he woke up to the fact that he was several thousan dollars on the wrong side of the book. If the money had been his own, he would have stopped, and gone his way, cured. But it was money which he held in trust. He must replace it. The angel in the pitch robes stood at his side; she even laid a hand on his shoulder and urged him to win back what he had lost. Then indeed he could laugh, go his way, and gamble no more. This was excellent advice. That winter he lost something like $15,000. Then began the progress of decline. The following summer his losses were even greater than before. He began to mortgage the estates, for his authority over his daughter's property was absolute. He dabbled in stocks; a sudden fall in gold, and he realized that his daughter was nearly penniless. Ah, had he been alone, had the money been his, he would have faced poverty with all the courage of a brave man. But the girl, the girl! She must never know, she must never want for those luxuries to which she was accustomed. For her sake he must make one more effort. He must win, must, must! He raised more money on the property. He became irritable, nervous, to which were added sudden bursts of tenderness which the girl could not very well understand.

The summer preceding the action of this tale saw them at Dieppe. At one time he had recovered something between $60,000 and $70,000 of his losses. Ah, had he stopped then, confessed to his daughter, all would have gone well. But, no; he must win the entire sum. He lost, lost, lost. The crash came in August. But a corner of the vast Virginia estate was left, and this did not amount to $20,000. Five francs carelessly tossed upon a roulette table had ruined and dishonored him. The angel of the pitch robes had fairly enveloped him now. The thought that he had gambled uselessly his daughter's legacy, the legacy which her mother had left confidingly in his care, filled his soul with the bitterness of gall. And she continued the merry round of happiness, purchasing expensive garments, jewelry, furs, the little things which women love; gave dinners and teas and dances, considered herself an heiress, and thought the world a very pleasant place to live in. Every laugh from her was a thorn to him, the light of happiness in her eyes was a reproach, for he knew that she was dancing toward the precipice which he had digged for her.

Struggling futilely among these nettles of despair, he took the final step. His ruin became definitive.

One starlit night he met a distinguished young diplomat, rich and handsome. He played some, but to pass away the time rather than to coquet with fortune. He was lucky. The man who plays for the mere fun of it is generally lucky. He asks no favors from fortune, he does not pay any attention to her, and woman-like, she is piqued. He won heavily this night; my soldier lost correspondingly heavily. The diplomat pressed a loan upon his new-found friend, who, with his usual luck, lost it.

The diplomat was presented to the daughter. They owned to mutual acquaintance in Paris and Washington. The three attended the concert. The girl returned to the hotel bubbling with happiness and the echoes of enchanting melodies, for she was an accomplished musician. She retired and left the two men to their coffee and cigars. The conversation took several turns, and at length stopped at diplomacy.

"It has always puzzled me," said the soldier, "how Russia finds out all she does."

"That is easily explained. Russia has the wisdom of the serpent. Here is a man who possesses a secret which Russia must have. They study him. If he is gallant, one day he meets a fascinating woman; if he is greedy, he turns to find a bowl of gold at his elbow; if he seeks power, Russia points out the shortest road."

"But her knowledge of foreign army and naval strength?"

"Money does all that. Russia possesses an accurate knowledge of every fort, ship and gun England boasts of; France, Germany, and Japan. We have never taken it into our heads to investigate America. Till recently your country as a foe to Russian interests had dropped below the horizon. And how Russia finds that she must proceed to do what she had done to all other countries; that is, duplicate her rival's fortification plans, her total military and naval strength; and so forth, and so on. The United States is not an enemy, but there are possibilities of her becoming so. Some day she must wrest Cuba from Spain, and then she may become a recognized quantity in the Pacific."

"The Pacific?"

"Even so. Having taken Cuba, the United States, to protect her western coast, will be forced to occupy the Philippines; and having taken that archipelago, she becomes a menace to Russian teritorial expansion in the far east. I do not always speak so frankly. But I wish you to see the necessity of knowing all about your coast defenses."

So far the American had only gambled.

"It can not be done!"—spiritedly.

"It can and will be done," smiling. "Despite the watchfulness of your officials, despite your secret service, despite all obstacles, Russia will quietly gain the required information. She possesses a key to every lock."

"And what might this key be?"—with tolerant irony.

"Gold."

"But if the United States found out what Russia was doing, there might be war."

"Nothing of the kind. Russia would simply deny all knowledge. The man whom she selected to do the work would be discredited, banished, perhaps sent to Siberia, to rot in the mines. No, there would be no war. Russia would weigh all these possibilities in selecting her arm. She would choose a man of high intellect, rich, well-known in social circles, a linguist, a man acquainted with all histories and all phases of life, a diplomat, perhaps young and pleasing. You will say, why does he accept so base a task? When a Russian noble takes the oath in the presence of his czar, he becomes simply an arm; he no longer thinks, his master thinks for him. He only acts. So long as he offers his services without remuneration, his honor remains untouched, unsullied. A paid spy is the basest of all creatures."

"Count, take care that I do not warn my country of Russia's purpose. You are telling me very strange things." The American eyed his companion sharply.

"Warn the United States? I tell you, it will not matter. All Russia would need would be a dissatisfied clerk. What could he not do with half a million francs?" The diplomat blew a cloud of smoke through his nostrils and filliped the end of his cigarette.

"A hundred thousand dollars?"

The diplomat glanced amusedly at his American friend. "I suppose that sounds small enough to you rich Americans. But to a clerk it reads wealth."

The American was silent. A terrible thought flashed through his brain, a thought that he repulsed almost immediately.

"Of course, I am only speculating; nothing has been done as yet."

"Then something is going to be done?" asked the American, clearing his voice.

"One day or another. If we can not find the clerk, we shall look higher. We should consider a million francs well invested. America is rapidly becoming a great power. But let us drop the subject and turn to something more agreeable to us both. Your daughter is charming. I honestly confess to you that I have not met her equal in any country. Pardon my presumption, but may I ask if she is engaged to be married?"

"Not to my knowledge,"—vastly surprised and at the same time pleased.

"Are you averse to foreign alliances?" The diplomat dipped the end of his fresh-lighted cigar into his coffee.

"My dear count, I am not averse to foreign alliances, but I rather suspect that my daughter is. This aversion might be overcome, however."

What a vista was opened to this wretched father! If only she might marry riches, how easily he might confess what he had done, how easily all this despair and terror might be dispersed! And here was a man who was known in the great world, rich, young and handsome.

The other gazed dreamily at the ceiling; from there his gaze traveled about the coffee-room, with its gathering of coffee-drinkers, and at length came back to his vis-a-vis.

"You will return to Washington?" he asked.

"I shall live there for the winter; that is, I expect to."

"Doubtless we shall see each other this winter, then,"—and the count threw away his cigar, bade his companion good night, and went to his room

Pleased With District Scheme.

It is only natural that the motives actuating the Union County Republican Executive Committee in declaring for a return to the district system of electing assemblymen should be a subject of much speculation and it is difficult to assign a reason for that declaration. No doubt, however, a majority of the voters of the county feel that it is a step in the right direction and liable to prove instrumental in giving us a higher grade of representatives, and from that view point will accept the declaration with satisfaction and pleasure. —Summit Record.

Mrs. Frank Jones, of the borough, is detained at home by a slight illness.

Mrs. Springer, of Newark, has been visiting her father, Samuel Dreier, of West Front street.

Mrs. Swackhamer, of Summit avenue, who has been visiting relatives at Whitehouse, has returned home.

J. E. Townsend, of East Sixth street, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

FERDINAND MEYER TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

Has Broken Probation Parole and Will Probably Go to Reformatory.

Ferdinand Meyer, the young man who has been arrested six or seven times in the past year or so, for crimes varying from petty larcency and non-support to wholesale and protracted bicycle thievery, was arrested this morning for breaking his parole with the probation officer. Judge Vail placed his in the probation officer's charge four months ago, after having been convicted of stealing a number of wheels.

The police have watched him closely ever since, and Chief Kiely was not at all satisfied with his conduct. He wouldn't work, it is said, and did things of a character not consistent with a probationer's life. The chief laid the case before the probation officer, and action was decided upon. Capt. Winn, of the probation officer's staff, came to Plainfield this morning and took Meyer back to Elizabeth with him.

Meyer will probably be sent to the reformatory. Judge Vail will decide what is to be done with him.

SAY POSTAL IS FROM MISSING MAYOR BELCHER.

Friend Sure Signature Is by Man Who Left Paterson and Debts of $100,000 Behind.

A postal card bearing the signature of former Mayor William H. Belcher, who mysteriously disappeared from Paterson, after embezzling about $100,000, was received yesterday by William J. Barbour, a prominent lawyer of that place. Those who have seen the card and examined the signature say it is a genuine signature of the missing Mayor, or a very good imitation.

On the reverse side of the card is a good picture of the old Dey mansion, in the Preakness Valley, on the road leading to Pompton, N. J., which was the property of the former Mayor. The postmark showed the card had been mailed last Tuesday on the mail train of the Susquehanna Railroad, between Jersey City and Middletown, N. Y.

Likely to Be Real Rich Some Day.

Washington, March 3.—Lewis C. Beatty, a local poultry fancier, is in a fair way to become a millionaire. He has the happy faculty of making money at every move. An illustration: A few days ago Beatty was in Easton and learned that a resident of that city was anxious to purchase forty chickens of a particular breed. He offered a relative $2 for each fowl, but the relative would not sell to his kinsman at any price, owing to the fact that the owner of the chickens was suffering from a fancied injury from the other man. Mr. Beatty went to the home of the chicken owner and purchased the forty fowls at $1 a head. He then hunted up the other man and received $2 for each chicken. It only took the Washingtonian about half an hour to conclude the business and his net profit was $40.

P. S. C. Men Scare Householders.

The police are investigating the night schedule of work in the P. S. C. electric department. Complaints of prowlers about houses late at night have been received from several sections of the city, and the police have received information that leads them to believe the complaints grew out of night tests of wires by P. S. C. men. The matter will be looked after.

BISHOPS ISSUES ORDER

Episcopal Prelates Instruct Clergy to Preach In Favor of High License.

TO THE CONGREGATIONS

Rt. Rev. Drs. Scarborough and Lines Warn the Rectors That Liquor Interests Are Against the Bill.

Bishops Scarborough and Lines, of the Protestant Episcopal dioceses of New Jersey and Newark, have sent a copy of the following letter to each clergyman of their church in the State, with the request that it be read to the congregations tomorrow and that the various rectors preach on temperance and restrictive excise legislation to their people, and also to read to them the bill now before the Legislature, known as the "bishops' bill." The circular letter reads as follows:

"Dear Brother:

"We beg to call your attention and your earnest consideration to a bill now before our State Legislature, an amendment to the laws of our State, concerning the sale of intoxicating liquor. We were called in conference by Bishop McFaul and Bishop O'Connor, and with prominent representatives of various denominations, and this bill, now before the Legislature, is the result of our conference. The purpose of the bill is to remove from the saloon certain dangerous elements, which are a serious menace to the well being of the community. It provides for the removal of all screens and colored glass from the windows of saloons; it forbids side entrances, back rooms, etc.; it places responsibility upon the owner of the property as well as upon the holder of a license, and it increases the license fee to a minimum of $500 in cities of the first class.

"You will receive a copy of the bill, but these are, in brief, the chief points wherein it differs from the present laws. A bill, prohibiting the sale or giving of liquor to minors, which will surely have the approval of all right-minded people, has been also presented to the Legislature. The business in question is regarded as dangerous by all civilized States, and there is need of constant action we all know, in the way of restraint and restriction. The interest of all earnest citizens is desired, but we would urge you especially, as pastors and guardians of the moral welfare of the community, to do all in your power to stimulate a public sentiment in favor of the proposed legislation. The liquor interest is making every effort to defeat the bill, and we are earnestly desirous that our church take a definite and firm stand, at once, by the voice of her clergymen and the action of her people, on the right side of this contention between the friends and foes of good morals, law and order.

"We desire that you will read this our letter to your congregation, and we would further suggest that on the Sunday after receiving it, your present to your people the subject of temperance and restrictive legislation. It will be well also if every clergyman and layman in the State takes an early opportunity of urging, by letter or otherwise, his representative in the Legislature to aid in making the bill the law of the State, in the interest of the church, the home and the common good.

"JOHN SCARBOROUGH,
"Bishop of the diocese of New Jersey.
"EDWIN S. LINES,
"Bishop of the diocese of Newark."

Five Plainfield criminals began terms of imprisonment in the State prison today. John Galbraith, sentenced to three years; Peter Linzer, William Holland and William Ross, sentenced to two years, for maltreating young girls, and Lawrence Wallace, sentenced to three years, for breaking into Rapp's Hotel, Scotch Plains, were taken to Trenton from the county jail this morning by Sheriff Lawrence and a deputy. Galbraith is considerably over seventy years old, and faces the possibility of dying in prison.

John B. Brown Comfortable.

Notwithstanding that his injury is a serious one, John B. Brown, of Park avenue, who fell and dislocated his shoulder several days ago, is resting comfortably. His physician, Dr. G. W. Endicott, examined the injury today and thought he would be able to set the bones, but afterward decided to defer the operation until next week.

MAKE YOUR OWN GAS!

The Best and Safest Gas in the World for Lighting and Cooking.

Made on Your Own Premises at Half the Cost of Ordinary Gas or Electric Light.

Perfect light—all you want of it, when you want it, and made on your own premises. That's the proposition of the Siche Gas Company of Plainfield, N. J. This company own the only patents in the world that cover a process for producing a Dry, Clean, Pure, Bi-Carburet of Hydrogen Gas, that gives a soft white light of great illuminating power, free from smoke or smell, combustion perfect, burners always clean, no condensation in pipes, which can be run on top of the ground in the coldest climates. Will not discolor the most delicate decorations.

The Siche Gas Machine

has won its way to the top against all competition during five years of practical and extremely successful operation in Canada, where it has displaced all of the old-style Storage type of Acetylene machines, which caused so much distrust on account of the impurity of the gas made and the complicated, dangerous and cumbersome machinery used in generating the gas.

THE SICHE MACHINE is now introduced in the United States, where, owing to its extremely simple construction and absolute safety, its sweeping superiority will give it a preference over any of the Acetylene machines on the market.

The Siche Never Needs Repairs. It Generates the Gas Only When Required. It Stops Instantly the Last Light is Turned Off, and Has No Storage of Gas Left.

The Siche has only one moving part when in operation, and is so constructed that no chemical impurities are set up during the generation of gas. It can be cleaned and recharged while all lights are going with perfect safety.

For Summer Hotels, Club Houses and Residences.

If you are a Suburbanite, if you live in village, town or country, own or rent a summer residence, resort, hotel, factory or store, you are interested in the question of econoimcal and steady light. The Siche Gas Company will be pleased to send you illustrated booklet giving a simple and complete description of machine and chemical analysis of what Siche Gas is, prices of machines, how to install and cost of operation.

LOCAL OPTION SERVICES

Few Pastors Refer to Excise Measure Now Pending in the Legislature.

DR. SCHENCK'S WORDS

Rev. Dr. Chambliss Inclined to Favor Bishops' Bill As Being Most Feasible Solution of the Question.

The Protestant ministers of the city and borough, as a rule, made no extended reference yesterday to the local option bill now pending in the Legislature, in fact, a majority of them did not mention the matter, as the notice to do so was received too late to make any preparation for it.

Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, referred to the bill and urged his congregation to use its influence in securing its adoption.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, took up the bill two weeks ago, when resolutions were passed and forwarded to the Legislature urging the adoption of the bill.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, of Grace M. E. church, was one of those who received a notice late, and not having conferred with the other ministers regarding it, did not like to take the initiative at this time. He may speak on the subject later.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, did not refer to the bill, as action was taken concerning it a week ago by the Brotherhood of the church.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, declared himself in favor of the local option bill now pending in the Legislature. "If Somerset county, for instance, voted for local option," continued Dr. Schenck, "why shouldn't its wishes as expressed at the polls be heeded? If liquor must be sold, then I favor high license, as high as it can be made. I believe that the present local option bill is as good a bill of its kind as can be wished."

Dr. Schenck told his congregation to take fresh courage as the cause of temperance is slowly, but steadily gaining ground and some day will triumph.

Previous to his discourse at the First Baptist church yesterday morning, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, the pastor, referred to the Hutchinson bill, more popularly known as the "Bishops' bill," intended to better regulate the liquor traffic. and commented briefly on its many excellent features. These include the doing away with side rooms, screens and curtains, a heavy penalty for selling to minors and the high license feature. Such a law, he considered, would be a decided step in the right direction, if adopted. He argued for unanimous support and influence in favor of this measure, expressing the hope that it would be passed by the Legislature.

MASON'S MUSHROOM DINNER.

Anchor Lodge Members Have Merry Time at Pedefious.

Forty members of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., had a mushroom dinner at Pedefious' Hotel Saturday night. Every dish on the menu contained mushroom prepared in some way or another and the novelty of such a dinner proved enjoyable.

Worshipful Master William N. Runyon sat at the head of the long table and about the board were others who have held that exalted office. Short speeches were made by Mr. Runyon and a dozen others. After the dinner vocal and instrumental solos were furnished by members of the lodge.

Completing Baseball Schedule.

Manager Gavett, of the P. H. S. baseball team, is now completing his schedule for the season, which he expects will include games with Trenton High School, Rahway, two games; Somerville here, and possibly Cranford. Arrangements are being made to play a double header on April 221 at Orange in the morning and at Montclair in the afternoon. Pingry, for the first time in its history, has declined to play P. H. S. this season.

Mr. and Mrs. David Snediker, former residents of the borough, but now of Poughkeepsie, are spending a few weeks at Truell Inn.

TWO CONGREGATIONS HEAR BISHOP'S LETTER

IT WAS NOT READ AT GRACE AND ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCHES.

Bishop Scarborough's letter on the high license saloon bill was read from the pulpits of the Church of the Holy Cross, North Plainfield, and the Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, yesterday. The full text of the letter was given in Saturday's Daily Press.

The letter was read at Heavenly Rest in the morning and at Holy Cross in the evening. Rev. Mr. Warner, rector of Holy Cross, announced that in pursuance of the bishop's request he would preach on the bill next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Dupee, of Heavenly Rest, is expected to preach next Sunday, but may put the sermon off for a week.

The letter was not read at Grace church and St. Stephen's church. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace, said the letter came too late for him to arrange a place for it in the service. Mr. Stevenson was not in the pulpit, Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Montreal, preaching at both services. Rev. A. S. Peck, of St. Stephen's, was too ill to conduct services yesterday, and Rev. Dr. Miller, who took his place, had no copy of the letter.

COLBY AND MARTIN ATTACK PRUDENTIAL

IN SENATE AND HOUSE ARGUMENTS WILL BE MADE FOR A PROBE.

State Senator Everett Colby, of East Orange, and Assemblyman William P. Martin, of Newark, have taken steps to force an investigation of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, the Fidelity Trust Company and the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. These legislators have charge of bills in their respective houses looking toward this end. On Wednesday a battle will be opened before the joint committee appointed to listen to the arraignment of the insurance company with the object of making up a prima facie case which shall persuade the Legislature to enter into a serious inquiry, similar to that recently made in New York by the Armstrong committee.

It is broadly asserted by the members of the committee that the Prudential Life Insurance Company, the Fidelity Trust Company, the Public Service Corporation, which controls the surface electric roads all about Newark; the United Gas Improvement Association, of Philadelphia, and the Union National Bank, of Newark, are so bound up with one another, their officers and stockholders so closely identified and their interests so consolidated, as to render an investigation imperative and legislation desirable.

WEATHER NO DETRIMENT TO HOPE CHAPEL AFFAIR.

Oyster Supper Conducted by Ladies' Aid Society Meets With Success.

Though the weather was decidedly against the conducting of a social affair, success attended the oyster supper given by the Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel, Saturday night. The attendance was comparatively large and in all 125 persons partook of the splendid meal served. In addition a sale of home-made bread and cake was well patronized.

The latter feature was in charge of Mrs. Walter Bradford, Mrs. James Arden, Mrs. Samuel Cratsley and Mrs. Fred Wharton, while the supper was prepared and served by the following members of the society: Mrs. M. W. Clark, Mrs. J. B. Higgins, Mrs. Joseph Brown, Mrs. Eckert, Mrs. Thomas Hendry, Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. O. F. Pearson, Mrs. Vogel, Mrs. S. R. Struthers, Mrs. Charles Vincent, Mrs. George Wallace and Mrs. F. A. Weber.

During the evening music was furnished by members of the P. H. S. orchestra, in charge of S. B. Howe, Jr. The proceeds will be used in meeting church expenses.

Dr. Clark to Preach Here.

Rev. Dr. W. W. Clark, of New York, secretary of the Domestic Board of Missions of the Reformed church, will occupy the pulpit at Trinity Reformed church on Sunday morning, March 18, when the annual offering for domestic missions will be received.

Mr. Cadmus' Funeral.

The funeral of George H. Cadmus, father of Druggist Jasper Cadmus, of this city, who died at his home in Bayonne early Saturday morning, will be held at his late home tonight. The burial will be in the Moravian cemetery, Staten Island, tomorrow.

BASEBALL STOCK CLUB

Scheme to Float Shares at Five Dollars Each Suggested.

MEETING ON SATURDAY

Fans to Be Invited to Subscribe to Plan Which Insures Good Ball for Plainfield.

Local fandom is reminded of the meeting to be held at the Hotel Iroquois on Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock to discuss the advisability of forming a baseball association. The enthusiasm in the project is steadily increasing and there appears to be no doubt but that it will go through all right.

It is conservatively estimated that the expense for the season will be about $2,000, and the plan is to issue shares of stock at a par value of $5 each. Anyone interested will be invited to subscribe to one or as many shares as he likes. At the close of the season, if the venture has been a success, each stockholder will be refunded his money in full, the profits, if any, to be applied to next season and deposited in the treasury until that time.

If there should be a loss, each stockholder will receive his proportion according to the amount of stock held by him. For instance, if a person subscribes $5, and $2,000 is raised, and the season closes with a deficit of $1,000, he will receive $2.50.

Manager Daab believes that with the reduction in salaries, a shorter season, extending from May 1 until Labor Day, that the association can pull out whole and may be able to make a little money. Under such conditions he figures that there will be a saving of at least $1,500 over last season.

Notices for the meeting will be issued in a day of two and a full attendance is expected. Manager Daab will be present to lend his influence and give any assistance possible in forming the association. If it is thought advisable to organize, officers will be elected and steps taken at once to get affairs in shape for the season.

Mayor N. B. Smalley and City Judge Runyon, together with representatives from both Plainfield newspapers, have taken the initiative in the matter of calling the meeting, and it is hoped that there will be a large and hearty response so that it will be possible for Plainfield to enjoy a season of good baseball.

Fine Organ Recital.

The first of a series of Lenten recitals was given at the Holy Cross church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Mr. Lee, organist, assisted by Mr. Loder, baritone, of New York. The edifice was well filled with members and friends of the parish and all enjoyed the programme exceedingly. The principal numbers included "Fantasia and Fuge in C Minor," Bach, and "Andante," Merkel," by Mr. Lee; "It Is Enough," from Elijah, and "The Lord Is My Light," Allitson, by Mr. Loder. These recitals will be given every Saturday afternoon during Lent by Mr. Lee and attractive programmes will be presented.

Opera Netted $105.75.

The net proceeds from the amateur production of "The Pirates of Penzance," for the Day Nursery, the new charity recently started by the King's Daughters, amounts to $105.75 and a check for that sum has been sent to Mrs. Charles A. Reed, president of the City Union, King's Daughters. The organization appreciates the benefit it derives from the performance and feels that credit is due to former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, William Holmes, W. J. Counihan and all those who took part in the affair. The proceeds will be devotedt to meeting expenses incurred in starting the nursery.

Improvements at First Presbyterian.

The trustees of the First Presbyterian church have decided to re-wire the electric light system of the entire church, and to re-arrange the system. It is also proposed to remove the large electric chandelier in the centre of the church and adopt other means. There will also be several changes in the choir loft, the idea being to secure more light throughout the edifice.

Sewer Conference Postponed.

Because of the borough Board of Health's annual meeting, the joint session between it and the Council members to discuss the sewer project has been postponed from tonight until Thursday night.

Threw Stones and Swore.

George Curtis, a small boy, will be arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court Saturday morning, charged with throwing stones and swearing at Mrs. L. P. Schatel, 334 Jackson avenue. He was arrested on her husband's complaint.

CHAMPION HIGH LICENSE

REASONS FOR BILL

Father Bogan Congratulates Plainfield On Its Model Liquor Ordinance and Regulations—Both Priests Read Resolutions.

At high mass and at the services during the day in St. Mary's church yesterday, Rev. B. M. Bogan took occasion to address his parishioners on high license, which is being agitated by the Catholics and Episcopalians throughout the State.

Together with the other priests in the diocese, Father Bogan urged the reforms in the sale of liquor and its abuse, in preference to local option, which is being supported by the Protestant clergy. Plainfield, he asserted, is not to be included with conditions in other parts of the State, as it already has the high license and the traffic is better governed by the officials. He declared the people in this city were to be congratulated for this reason, but that the fact of possession should not allow them to be negligent and permit dealers to assume practices of a questionable nature.

Father Bogan read the set of resolutions drawn up by priests at a recent meeting in Newark, praying the Legislature to bring about certain reforms in the liquor traffic. They contain practically all the good features of the present laws and embody many new ones befitting present conditions. Among the latter are the abolition of side rooms, the removal of window screens, prohibiting minors from entering the place and specifying the license fee to be charged in towns, boroughs and cities. The priest declared they met with his bishop's approval and he appealed to the voters to use their influence in having them entered on the statute books.

Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, also read the resolutions and took occasion to speak on the high license question on similar lines.

The clergy of the Episcopal church will speak to their parishioners next Sunday on the merits of the high license bill.

ONLY ONE SERVICE AT CALVARY CHURCH

BAILEYITES PROTEST AGAINST SERMON BY SOUTHERN PREACHER.

Little snags interfered with the smooth current of worship at Calvary Baptist church yesterday. There was one service, under difficulties, and another one was nipped in the bud.

Rev. Alfonso La Chia, of Pee Dee, N. C., who was asked to preach by Deacons Robinson and Conway, head of the Morris faction, came to the church in the morning to take over the service. Rev. J. W. Mitchell, who claims to be in charge of the church still, as pastoral supply, made formal objection to Mr. La Chia's speaking from the pulpit. The North Carolina minister spoke from in front of the platform. He said he didn't want to mix up in the trouble, and made no objection to Mr. Mitchell's order.

In the evening, Mr. Mitchell dismissed the congregation a few minutes after it assembled, with the announcement that there would be no service. The people filed out quietly.

Deacon Mansfield Robinson, who is supposed to take charge of the church money, was put out last night to discover that the morning collection had disappeared. Deacon Conway says representatives of the other faction carried it off.

The aspect of the legal battle over the pastorate remains the same as on Saturday, excepting for an addition to the armament of the Morrisites. Former Senator Charles A. Reed has been retained to assist Clarence L. Murphy in fighting the case.

Will Consider Right to Insignia.

At the next meeting of the Boys' Athletic Association of the P. H. S. applications will be considered from those who are entitled for the school insignia by reason of attainments in basketball and on the track.

Mr. Moody's Denial.

John Moody, of Cranford, denies that he called Cleveland and Bryan "political corpses." He says he was misquoted by reporters who wrote up the Democratic League speech.

—To close out a new consignment of Hartley's imported orange marmalade, Neuman Brothers have set a special price of 16 cents a jar. The offer holds good only until Wednesday afternoon.

RELIGION IS EMOTIONAL

Rev. Dr. Symonds Begins a Special Sermon Series.

THE TWO ESSENTIALS

Dependence and Adoration True Religion—A Sermon on Christian Unity by Dr. Symonds in the Morning.

Rev. Dr. Herbert Symonds, of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, Canada, delivered the first of his series of addresses on "Religion" at Grace P. E. church last night. His subject was "What Is Religion?"

After a brief introductory to the series, in which he outlined the course to be followed in the presentation of the different sides of the general subject, which will include the historical aspect, Dr. Symonds took up the immediate subject. Religion, he held, was the combination of dependence and adoration. Man felt his own limitations and his impulse for adoring and serving the higher power. It could not be one without the other. A sense of weakness, of limitation, alone would not necessarily lead to adoration; it most be complemented by an object worthy of being adored; an object commanding and compelling adoration.

That religion was external in its source, something that came to man from the outside, as his clothes, his education did, Dr. Symonds denied very strongly. Religion, he held, was innate in man; it was not an addition to humanity, but part of its essential being. It was a thing of the emotions, not of the mind. Dr. Symonds said he had the Englishman's dislike and distrust of the emotional in religion, but he could not disguise nor overlook the fact that the source of religion was entirely in the emotions. It was not intellectual, and could not be demonstrated intellectually. There was no answer for the scientists and agnostics who demanded intellectual proof of its claims. It came from the heart, and to the heart it made its appeal.

Dr. Symonds will continue his addresses tonight at 8 o'clock and every night this week, with the exception of Thursday, when he will interrupt the series to deliver his lecture on the religion of the poetry of Tennyson and Browning, which was first announced for Wednesday night. Dr. Symonds will give daily Bible talks at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Dr. Symonds preached at Grace church in the morning, as well as at night, yesterday. His topic at the early service was "Principles of Christian Unity." The subject, he said, was a practical one, and in the air. Progress was being made by the unionists, particularly in Canada. The essential principles of Christian unity were liberty and love. Liberty alone was a disintegrating principle; it might be compared to centrifugal force in nature. Counteracted by love, the social virtue, it was checked; love restrained the destructive tendencies. With liberty and love dominant, Christian unity was assured; the two principles were really the essentials of civilization as it was known today. Dr. Symonds showed how his arguments were in accordance with the teachings of Scripture.

Talk on Reformatory Treatment.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church will hold its next meeting in the church parlors on Tuesday evening, March 6, at 8 o'clock. An address will be given by Rev. Charles L. Cooder, chaplain of the Rahway Reformatory. His subject will be: "Reformatory Treatment of Criminals." Delegates from the club who attended the conference at Newark on Charities and Corrections will report at this meeting.

Symonds' Lecture Date Changed.

On account of the prayer meetings in the other churches on that night, the lecture on the religion in the poetry of Tennyson and Browning, by Rev. Dr. Symonds, will not be given on Wednesday night, as announced. The lecture will be given the night following. Dr. Symonds' address on religion, in the series begun last night, will be given at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, instead of at night.

An Easter Choir.

Arthur L. Titsworth, organist and choirmaster at Trinity Reformed church, is selecting a large chorus choir of well-trained voices for the Easter Sunday morning service, when the Lenten cantata, "The Story of Calvary," will be given. As soon as the requisite number of voices is obtained rehearsals for the cantata will begin.

Another Chimney Fire.

Hose Company No. 3 was called out yesterday afternoon for a chimney fire at West Third street and Monroe avenue. Two extinguishers were required to put it out.

CLASS FOR AUTOISTS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

CLARENCE BROKAW WILL GIVE A SERIES OF TWELVE LESSONS.

A class for the instruction of automobilists will be started at the Y. M. C. A. on March 15. It will be under the charge of Clarence Brokaw, a former Plainfielder, head of the automobile school of the West Side Branch of the Y. M. C. A., New York, the largest school of its kind in the country.

The class is designed for owners and prospective owners. Twelve lessons will comprise the course. They will be given weekly, on Thursday nights. Mr. Brokaw's lessons will be demonstrated by the aid of automobiles from the garages of Morris Brothers and F. L. C. Martin.

Mr. Brokaw is an expert in the field of chauffeur instruction. The school at the head of which he is ranks as the best, as well as the biggest, in the world. Among its 400 or more pupils there are a number who have come from abroad for the sole purpose of instruction under Mr. Brokaw. The school is located in a big garage on West Sixty-first street.

COMMUNION SERVICES AT LOCAL CHURCHES

UNUSUALLY LARGE NUMBER OF NEW MEMBERS ADDED.

Communion services were held in a number of the local churches yesterday morning, and in nearly every case new members were received. At Trinity Reformed church, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor, received twenty new members, eleven by letter and nine on confession. Of those received on confession, four were from the Junior department, two from G. L. Van Emburgh's Bible class and one from W. F. Oliver's Bible class, all of which was very gratifying to pastor and people. There were 319 persons who took communion at this service.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, received five new members, three by letter and two on confession, and Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, received five new members by letter.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, received six new members on confession, five by letter and two were baptized. At the First M. E. church, Rev. A. C. McCrea received eight new members by letter and two on confession.

At the Monroe Avenue M. E. church there was an unusually large number of communicants, and Rev. George Mooney, pastor, received Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eichlin, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cox, Mr. and Mrs. William Hinton, Miss Margaret, by letter. J. Stephen Higham was received on confession and Miss Ruth Martin on probation. Marie Eloise Brower and Dorothy Marguerite Brower, infants, were baptized, as were also these adults: Mrs. Sally Brower, Miss Carrie Brower, Miss Sadie Brower, Miss Mary Matthews, Mrs. Charles Smith and Chauncey Lant.

SERMONS IN THE ORANGES.

Few Decently Conducted Saloons There, Says One Clergyman.

In St. John's Roman Catholic church, Orange, yesterday, the Rev. M. J. McDonald urged support for the pending excise bills. He said saloons legally conducted were as legitimate as the grocery or drug business. He asked the help of the better class of saloon keepers in stopping low dives.

"I could count the respectable saloons in West Orange on the fingers of one hand," said the priest, "and would not have to go over both hands twice to number decently conducted places in Orange. If money defeats legislation this year the question will be agitated again next autumn."

The Rev. Robert G. MacGregor, in the St. Cloud Presbyterian church, West Orange, last night said:

"I do not believe in prohibition. It curtails individual liberty. But local liberty is ahead of individual liberty, and I favor local option. The question should be submitted to the general public in the small municipalities. The present laws are the poorest thing we could have."

Morally Strong Men Wanted.

"Wanted a Man" was the subject of a strong address by Rev. Elliot Field, of East Orange, at the Y. M. C. A. meeting yesterday afternoon. The speaker said that the kind of men needed at the present time are men of high moral ideals who have the strength of their convictions, and not those who glory in their physical strength. George H. Isaac, of this city, rendered a solo, W. C. Leek led the congregational singing, Albert B. Beers had charge of the meeting.

TROUBLE FOR AUTOISTS

Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen Preparing to Introduce a New Bill.

HOSTILE TO TOURISTS

Reckless Drivers, Using Roads for Record Runs, to Blame for Legislative Opposition.

New Jersey automobilists are looking forward with anxiety to another automobile fight which, it is expected, will begin at Trenton tomorrow night. The demonstration made by the motor car owners of New Jersey before the Legislature two weeks ago, when a hearing was held on the Frelinghuysen bill, carried so much weight that the result was to a large extent a victory for the automobilists. Senator Frelinghuysen, realizing that his original bill was in danger of radical changes, has prepared a new bill somewhat more moderate in tone than the former one. One of its greatest changes is in respect to the licensing of cars. Instead of adhering to the methods of the former bill, which authorized a tax according to horse power, the new bill will fix a tax or annual license of $3 on every machine under thirty horse power, with an additional $1 for the chauffeur, while for cars exceeding thirty horse power the license will be $5, with $2 extra for the chauffeur. The speed regulations, limiting the rate to a mile in seven minutes in town or village districts, will probably not be altered.

The Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey, which has taken a fairly active part in combating the Frelinghuysen bill, is making plans to attack the provisions in the proposed new bill that are still objectionable. Both sides are in earnest, but the credit for the greater activity rests with the anti-autoists, drawn largely from the farming community.

The grievances complained of by the farmers are to a large extent grievances of the careful, law-abiding automobilists as well. Hence, among moter users themselves there is a division. Speed laws, courtesies of the road, and other legal requirements have been violated in New Jersey with boldness. New Jersey roads have been frequently used for record runs from New York to Philadelphia, while the road from Camden to Atlantic City is constantly being used as an automobile race track.

The reckless automobilists have brought down not only upon themselves but upon the considerate drivers the wrath of the natives in the rural districts, and this fact is contributing to the difficulty of the fight. The law abiding automobilist recognizes the fact that he is in danger from these reckless record makers.

"The Frelinghuysen bill contains none of the friendliness extended toward automobilists, as in the case of the laws of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and other States. In these States it is stipulated that if the owner has complied with the registration requirements in his own State, he need not be compelled to pay an additional registration fee simlpy because he happens to be touring in a neighboring State. The bill also requires every driver of a motor car to be a licensed chauffeur. An owner may not drive his own car unless he has passed the same examination required from a professional chauffeur. Even a woman cannot drive an electric runabout unless she holds a State certificate showing she is a duly licensed chauffeur. Owners driving tehir own cars are of all motorists the most careful drivers, and if an ignorant owners takes up his car with his family and meets with an accident the consequences are usually detrimental to him alone. The very element of personal safety forces an owner to understand his machine and drive carefully."

According to the present bill, if an automobilist should be so unfortunate as to be arrested and not have his license in his pocket, any county justice has the power to send h im to jail until the license is produced, or a satisfactory reason adduced for its absence. The severe penalties that the bill permits local justices to mete out to offending motorists, even if they evade the la win its slightest detail, are considered too sweeping in character. Several of these heavy penalties for light offenses will be eliminated in the new bill, and in this way Senator Frelinghuysen expects to gain more support from those automobilists who believe that a reasonable law should be enacted to prevent the roads of New Jersey from being used as speed tracks.

Small Trial Begins Today.

The trial of George Small for the murder of Miss Florence Allinson will begin at Mount Holly today. There will be forty-six witnesses for the State, and the case will probably take two days.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Axienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Axienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Florence Hamilton's annual tour brings her to the New Plainfield theatre tonight in "The Senator's Wife." This play is conceded to be her greatest success as it gives her unequaled opportunities to demonstrate her remarkable versatility, as both an emotional actress and comedienne. "The Senator's Wife" is a three act comedy drama dealing with life in Washington during the social season.

One of Chas. E. Blaney's latest scenic melodramatic novelties which is to be the offering at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, is said to be a wonderful production of interest and action. Mr. Blaney has thrown much life into the piece, "More to be Pitied Than Scorned," and it should prove a great favorite with New Plainfield patrons, being a melodrama of exceptional merit.

There is human heart interest in every line of "From Rags to Riches," a stirring melodrama of New York life, written by Charles A. Taylor, and produced by Max. H. Meyers. This sterling attraction is announced for appearance at the New Plainfield theatre Wednesday night. The scenic embellishments are said to be extraordinary, and an adequate company is promised.

In "Deserted at the Altar," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday, we are taken by the author, Mr. Kingsley, first to the home of an Adirondack Mountain guide and introduced to the leading characters in the midst of the most charming surroundings. The Adirondacks in their most beautiful garb, the trees in their autumnal coloring, and the mountain peaks in the distance. Here the pretty daughter of the guide becomes anamored with one of their summer boarders and eventually run away to New York to be married to him. But here trouble begins and in a most realistic church scene, before the very altar, the bride is deserted by her lover through the trickery of their enemies. Then follows an exciting race between an automobile, in which the bride is being carried off, and a bicycle in hot pursuit. Next we are taken to a counterfeiters' den, where the hero has been held a prisoner and we are shown a thrilling rescue by Secret Service men. In the final act we visit again the mountain home, where the daughter and her sweetheart are finally reunited, with her parents, and the guilty all brought to justice.

That delightful musical comedy, "The Tenderfoot," with a big company headed by Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White, is to be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre March 15. Mr. Figman was the best Burgomaster who ever played the title role in that delightful musical comedy, and it will be interesting to see what he will do with the role of Professor Pettibone in "The Tenderfoot." Mr. Figman was said by the Chicago critics to be a better Professor Pettibone than Mr. Carle, and Chicago has ever been loud in praises of the man who is now starring in "The Mayor of Tokio." The company will number nearly seventy people.

Miss Edith Young, of Orange, has returned home after a visit with her cousin, Miss Mary L. VanEps, of East Fifth street.

Mrs. Irving Bininger, of East Fifth street, who has been visiting her former home in Lynchburg, Va., has returned to Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dalrymple, who have been stopping for the past three months with Mrs. G. S. Whitlock, of West Front street, have returned to their home in Morristown.

Mrs. G. S. Whitlock, of West Front street, was called to Orange, yesterday, on account of the serious illness of her brother, B. Frank Johnson, who is suffering from pneumonia.

PLUMBERS' STRIKE ENDED.

The Disturbance in Elizabeth Industrial Circles Ended.

Elizabeth, March 3.—The plumbers and tinsmiths' lockout in Elizabeth is ended. Some of the 150 men returned to work yesterday, but most of them will start in next Monday. An agreement was reached Thursday night between the plumbers' union and master plumbers' association by which the union ordered back to work the men they called out at the J. H. Faulks Company's plant, while the master plumbers take back all the journeymen plumbers and tinners they locked out.

Each side will appoint a grievance committee to which hereafter any trouble that may arise between the men and the bosses will be referred for arbitration and settlement independent of the Union County Building Trades Council. The master plumbers' association in consideration of this arrangements has withdraw its ultimatum demanding the journeymen plumbers to sever their connections with the Trades Council.

Famous New York Restaurant Closes.

New York, Mar. 5.—The old-time restaurant founded by John O'Neill, at Sixth avenue and Twenty-second street, has been closed for good. It was one of the best known oyster and chop houses in the city and the founder made a great fortune there. John O'Neill came to New York from Ireland forty years ago. His clean-cut appearance and good habits quickly made him a favorite with his employers, Ellsworth Brothers, dealers in oysters. They started young O'Neill in business at Sixth avenue and Twenty-second street, and the restaurant was a great money maker from the start, being patronized by many of the best known and wealthiest citizens. O'Neill died about five years ago, leaving a fortune of $700,000 or more. The restaurant was bought from the O'Neill estate by former employes, but the venture was not a success.

Want Municipal Water Plant.

Elizabeth, Mar. 3.—A petition signed by H. A. DeRaismes and others has been presented to Council by Mr. Richters, of the Tenth ward, by request, asking the City Council to again take up the question of the municipal ownership of a water plant. It was suggested in the petition that this matter be taken up at this time while the Legislature was considering a bill for the municipal ownership of an electric lighting plant, for the two, working in harmony with each other, would, according to the petition, save the city much in water rents and electric light bills. The petition has been referred to the finance committee.

Deny Board's Jurisdiction.

Elizabeth, Mar. 3.—The Jersey Central, having appealed to the State Board for Equalization of Taxes against the action of the State Board of Assessors in assessing property of the company along the line of the Sound Shore Branch in Elizabeth, the city aldermen at their session Friday night passed a resolution that, in its judgment, the State Board of Equalization of Taxes has no jurisdiction in the matter, and the city attorney was instructed to protect its interests and see that the taxes on this second class property as assessed be paid.

Says He Stole "Hubby's" Trousers.

Hackensack, March 5. — Julius Oliver, of Closter, N. J., was committed in the Hackensack court yesterday on a charge of burglary. Mrs. George W. Walton testified that she awoke from sleep to see a burglar busy at her bureau. She screamed and got a glance at the strange man as he turned around, grabbed her husband's trousers and disappeared. In the trousers was a gold watch and considerable money. "I am sure that is the man I saw in my bedroom," said Mrs. Walton, as she pointed as Oliver.

Plainfield, N. J., March 5, 1906.

A visit of sprinkling carts to the business section of the city would have been appreciated today. Clouds of dust from the streets are not welcomed by the average storekeeper or shopper. No fault of Mr. Wilson this time, however.

Just what good reason there would be for a change in the method of selecting the membership of a school board is not quite plain, but that is the purpose of a bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Everard Tucker. In place of allowing the taxpayers to elect, the Mayor will be empowered to appoint the membership under the provisions of the bill, which is likely to become a law. As a rule, the average Mayor is not the best judge of those qualified to serve on such a board, and it should be conceded that it is much better to continue the democratic form of trusting the people to pick out men for the position. If the Mayor of a city will permit politics to work itself into another department, it is quite probable that he would do the same in the Board of Education. Better let well enough alone.

The high license bill, which in all likelihood will become a law during the present session of the Legislature, contains the best features of the Wert's act, and in addition some that will further and better restrict the sale of liquor. The bill will be passed because the majority of the legislators, it is said, do not believe that any scheme for the complete prohibition of the liquor traffic has ever worked satisfactorily. Taking this view of the matter, they will do the next best thing, and that is to place such restrictions and regulations about the saloon business as will eradicate many of its evils. As outlined by Bishop McFaul:

"That no license shall be granted, except upon the joint application of the owner of said premises and the person seeking such license, and except upon payment by the applicant or licensee, of a license fee as hereinafter mentioned; that is to say, in all townships, towns, boroughs or cities having by the census last preceding the granting of such license a population of not more than three thousand, a license fee or not more than one hundred dollars; in all townships, towns, boroughs or cities having by census a population exceeding three thousand and not exceeding ten thousand, a license fee of not less than one hundred and fifty dollars; and in all townships, towns, boroughs or cities having ten thousand, a license fee of not less than five hundred dollars.

"No intoxicating liquor shall be given or sold to any minor, or apprentice, contrary to law, or shall sell, or furnish, any of the liquors aforesaid, to any person known in the neighborhood to be of confirmed intemperate habits, or who is visibly under the influence of intoxicating liquors, or shall keep a disorderly house, or shall harbor drunken persons, vagrants, idle and vicious persons, thieves, gamblers, prostitutes or other disorderly persons, or shall suffer gambling or unlawful games of chance or other unlawful acts to be done or carried on in his tavern, beer shop, liquor saloon, or other premises, or shall permit any boy or girl under twenty-one years of age to lounge in or frequent the same.

"Intoxicants shall not be disposed of if not in an inn, or tavern, or a restaurant where the business of furnishing meals to the public for compensation is regularly carried on—in any place except in a room upon the ground floor, or basement, of a building, on a public street, the entire interior of which room shall be visible from the street and shall have entrance only from the street, and shall not be connected with any other room."

Miss Margaret Cramer, of Park avenue, has returned from a visit with friends at Sewaren.

The Union Bible Class taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns will meet in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. All are invited.

The Men's Club of the First Baptist church will hold its next meeting on Monday night, March 12. An interesting programme is being arranged.

Thickstun will conduct the devotional exercises, subject, "The Widow of Nain." Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen will tell about "The Nile Country," and Mrs. George A. Francis will discuss current events.

During the past ten years, the Boys' Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church has given about $900 to the support of missions, a fair proportion of which has been the voluntary offering of its members, from their own pocket-money, no dues being required. Last year the band numbered six, this year it has fifteen very active members.

These subjects are announced for the next five weeks by the Young People's Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church: March 9, "Christian Fellowship," leader, Dr. Hedges; March 16, meeting for prayer, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of New York, will speak; March 23, social and entertainment; March 30, "Choosing His Helpers," leader, W. D. Murray; April 6, "Teaching by Parables," leader, W. D. Murray.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church has elected these officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. I. C. Pierson; vice presidents, Mrs. W. E. Honeyman and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore; secretary, Miss Mary Ketcham; treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Myers; secretary of literature, Mrs. Henry R. Halloway; young people's secretary, Miss Halloway. During the past year there was received $1,384 and this entire amount has been expended for mission work.

Gaston's Appointment Confirmed.

The nomination of John G. Gaston as postmaster at Somerville has been confirmed by the U. S. Senate. A readjustment of the affairs of that office by the department at Washington makes a cut in the clerical force. Hugh F. Cary, the last man appointed, is to lose his job. Assistant Postmaster A. A. Reger will be reduced in the ranks to the position of senior substitute. The bondsmen of former Postmaster Cooper are Joshua and William Stryker, grocers of Somerville. Cooper's hearing is set for Wednesday before Commissioner Bigelow in Newark.

Morristown for "Bishops'" Bill.

All the Catholics of Morristown were urged at the services yesterday to use their influence with Morris county's representatives in the New Jersey Legislature to secure the passage of the "Bishops'" bill, and Father Dolan and Father Clufford spoke at length on the benefits to the derived from its enactment. He said it put the responsibility for the lawful use of a license on the owners of the premises as well as on the holder of the license.

Seventeen Children in 24 Years.

Trenton, March 5—The stork visited the home of Stephen Woreb, a Pole, of this city, for the fifteenth time Friday, and when he left the family had been increased to the extent of two boys and a girl. Fifteen of the seventeen children born to Mr. and Mrs. Woreb in the last twenty-four years are living, and the latest acquisitions are doing nicely. They were named Theodore, Nicholas and Alice, in honor of the President's family.

Governor's Mother Improved.

Millville, March 5.—Governor Stokes, who rushed through official business at Trenton on Friday to hurry to his mother's bedside in this city, who was reported to be seriously ill, found her much improved. The danger of pneumonia was passed, Dr. Ware said.

Mrs. Margaret Grimes Buried.

WANT TROLLEY EXPRESS.

Farming and Railroad Interests to Clash at Trenton.

Trenton, March 5.—Farming and railroad interests will clash at the State House this afternoon, when the Railroads and Canals Committee of the Senate, Senator Edward W. Lee, chairman, gives a hearing on the bill introduced by Senator Wakelee, of Passaic county, to amend an act of 1896 so as to permit trolley lines to carry freight and express matter.

The State Board of Africulture, the State Horticultural Society and kindred organizations of farmers have been endeavoring to secure such legislation since the enactment of the obnoxious law of 1896, but have been successfully resisted by the steam railroads. This year, however, they are making a more determined effort than ever before.

New Churches Unite.

In every church in Newark yesterday the pastors called attention to the Miller and Bishops' bills, now before the Legislature, for the better regulation of the liquor traffic in the State. The nature of the bills was explained. The members of the congregations were urged to send postals, letters or telegrams to their respective representatives at Trenton, urging them to do all in their power to have the bills made laws.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Another School Bill.

Assemblyman Tucker, of Union county, has apparently withdrawn or abandoned the school bill he originally introduced before the Legislature. The first was a compulsory measure and applied only to cities of the second class, having a population of 50,000 and upward; the later bill applies to all cities in this State that have not already adopted section 39 of the general school law, which provides for the election of a board of nine members only.

The newer bill is said to have been drawn with the aid and concurrence of State Superintendent Baxter, Assistant Superintendent Betts, Superintendent Chancellor, of Paterson, and a number of other educators, and to have also been revised by Governor Stokes. It seems to be intended to create a more uniform system of securing boards of education than now exist in this State. It provides that the Mayor shall, within sixty days after the passage of the proposed act, appoint eight persons to be members of the Board of Education, not more than four of whom shall belong to the same political party. Two shall serve till January 1, 1907, two till 1908, and so on; but their successors shall be appointed for terms of four years. The strange part of the Tucker bill is the provision for a referendum at the next general election after the Mayor has appointed the new board.

As the bill now stands, it seems as if one provision nullifies the other, but this may be corrected when it comes up for a second reading. It is a compulsory bill, and as such will be likely to meet with opposition, particularly in cities which have, by referendum, refused to provide an appointive board. There is this much at least in favor of the Tucker bill. It provides for a small Board of Education in the place of the large, unwieldly boards now working to disadvantage in some cities. It would, for example, reduce the Newark board from thirty to eight, the Elizabeth board from twelve to eight, and so on throughout the State, in all cities now having more than eight wards and electing one or more members from each ward.

That there is a strong and growing sentiment in favor of smaller, less cumbersome boards, there is no room for doubt; even in the city of Newark, which in 1904 defeated the proposition to elect nine members at large instead of one from each of the fifteen wards. It is contended, and with reason, that better work is done and better results are accomplished. The Tucker bill virtually abolishes two of the methods provided by the present State school law and leaves but one, the appointive method, yet it seems to meet with general favor and may become a law.—Newark Evening News.

THE AMERICAN PRESS.

Not As Good As English Journalism, Hall Caine.

"How does the American press compare with that of England?" asked a reporter when Hall Caine, who went to New York to rehearse his "Prodigal Son," reached home, says the London Mail. The Manxman replied quickly:

"Not very favorable. The timeliness, the promptness, the power of 'being on the nail' are almost as conspicuous in the best American journals as in your own papers. But there is neither the simplicity of form nor the breadth of interest which our best English papers show. Consistency is not a cardinal journalistic virtue, and perhaps need not be. It may be as true of a journal as of humanity that consistency is a leading characteristic of weak minds, but the self-contradiction of the American newspaper, even of the best kind, from day to day, without shame or any attempt to 'save the face,' is an amazing and bewildering fact to the English observer."

"Has the personal tone of American newspapers improved?"

"Decidedly. I was pleased to find that a man's trousers, coat, necktie, not to speak of his hair and his eyes, are less than formerly considered a proper subject for public comment. Then there is distinctly more sincerity of criticism and less indulgence in personal ridicule and abuse.

"Do not let me conclude," added Hall Caine, "without saying that I should be sorry if any criticisms of mine on America or the Americans conveyed an unfavorable impression. Nowhere is the Englishman so much at home outside his own country as when he travels in the United States; nowhere so sure of an immediate and hearty welcome; nowhere so certain to find aims and institutions that have all his sympathy and that command all his heart, and nowhere does he meet with men and women more able and earnest—more brotherly and sisterly."

Progressive Euchre Party.

Miss Helen A. Fulton, of Grant avenue, gave a progressive euchre party on Thursday evening in honor of her birthday. The first prize was won by Mrs. Edward Goselin, and the booby prize was won by Miss Margaret Burke. The evening was also spent in dancing and singing. Miss Fulton received many pretty presents, it being her birthday.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

John Drew, the popular actor seen here a short time ago in "DeLancey," rejoices in the middle name of Jones.

"The Little Duchess," in which Miss Anna Held achieved much of her present popularity, is coming to this city on April 7.

Plainfielders with musical abilities interested in the formation of a permanent amateur opera organization will hold a meeting tonight. Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk and Judge Runyon are interested in the plan.

W. F. Dunn, who gives a lecture in the New Plainfield Thursday night on "How Russia Lost," was correspondent for Collier's Weekly during the Russo-Jap War. He was frequently in the thickest of the fights and several times barely escaped with is life.

The next big musical show to be presented to local patrons will be Richards Carle's "The Tenderfoot," which comes on March 15. Manager Counihan also hopes to get in a short time George Ade's greatest success, "The Sultan of Sulu," which ran for an entire season at Wallack's theatre, New York.

Miss Jeanette Stohlmann, who plays the part of "Eva" with Al. W. Martin's big "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, is said to be the cleverest child actress who has ever essayed this well known character. The production will be at the New Plainfield a week from today for a matinee and night performance.

George M. Cohan, the author-actor, is having the time of his life at present throwing verbal "hot shot" at several New York magazine men who asserted that he adopted the name of Cohan to attract Hebrew patronage. The "Yankee Doodle" comedian asserts that his father, grandfather, great-grandfather and all before him were good Irish stock and that they never went by any other name than Cohan not Cohen and that is the only reason he has for having it.

Will Continue Quartette Choir.

The question of music at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church for the coming year has been under discussion by a joint meeting of the trustees and Session, and it is the unanimous opinion that a quartette choir be continued. This proposition has one difficulty, as set forth, and that is that in the neighborhood of New York fine singers command more money than the suburban churches can afford. Owing to the resignation of the tenor and soprano new voices will have to be secured.

Annual Church Meeting.

The annual business meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church will be held on Wednesday night, March 21, at which time two deacons will be elected to succeed Deacons T. I. Runyon and D. M. Runyon, whose terms expire; also a church clerk and a treasurer of the benevolent funds. Reports from the various church committees and societies will be heard and such other business transacted as may properly come before the meeting.

WHY MR. M'KINLEY WAS A FREE MASON.

War Time Experience Led the Martyr President to Join the Lodge at Winchester.

A dinner in the Sovereign Grand and Grand Consistories of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite was given at the Savoy Thursday night by consistories of the metropolitan district. Incidentally, it was the ninty-ninth anniversary of the establishment of the Supreme Council of the United States.

Gen. Horatio C. King gave some reminiscences of the Civil War and told how President McKinley came to join the order.

"It was during the campaign in the Shenandoah Valley," he said. "McKinley, then a captain, and myself, his ranking officer at that time, were walking through a hospital tent in which were a number of Confederate wounded. The captain seemed surprised to see the surgeon in charge of the ward talking to some of the Confederates as if he had known them all his life. He shook hands with them all, giving here and there small sums of money, until his supply was exhausted. McKinley asked the surgeon if he knew the men.

"No," he replied.

"Well, do you ever expect to get the money back?" McKinley asked.

"I presume some of them will return it when they can," said the doctor.

"Why did you give it to them, anyway?"

"They were Masons," said the doctor. The play impressed McKinley so that he immediately joined the lodge at Winchester, made famous by "Sheridan's Ride." After the war he took his dimit to Canton Lodge.

Frank T. Watson, grand commander in chief of the State, gave a brief history of the order in the State and its early days in this country. Andrew J. Provost, sovereign grand commander, responded to "The Grand Man of the Rite."—New York Sun.

RAN AWAY NINE YEARS AGO; NOW COMING HOME.

Hoboken Youth Had Been Lured West by Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight.

Hoboken, March 5.—After an absence of nine years in the West, Anton Ziep, twenty-two years old, will return to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ziep, of 818 Willow street, this city, next week. It was while he was a school boy here in March, 1897, that he disappeared and from that time until this week no word of his whereabouts was received by relatives or friends.

It was last Monday when the young man's letter, dated Belt, Mont., arrived at his parents' home. In the letter he asked forgiveness for his act and for the anxiety caused his parents, and wanted to know if they would be willing to receive him on a visit.

The letter brought much joy to the Ziep home and a telegram to come home was sent to him. The young man will leave for the East Monday morning.

Ever since his absence the young man's mother left the light burning in the boy's room, with the full knowledge, she said, that God would send him home once again. She says that daily during all these years she prayed for his return.

In the letter to his mother Ziep explained that a burning desire to see the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight in Nevada, in 1897, led him to run away. In Carson City he secured a position with a real estate firm and two years ago went to Montana. "I am not rich, but am doing well," he wrote.

HE BEAT A HORSE TILL ANIMAL DIED.

Shocking Cruelty of One of Three Unidentified Men in Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, Mar. 5.—One of three unidentified men brutally beat a horse to death about 8:30 o'clock Thursday night in Cherry street, this city. The man and his companions were riding in a wagon drawn by the animal, and from their actions were apparently under the influence of liquor. The horse balked after passing over the Cherry street bridge that spans the Jersey Central, and then one of the men began to belabor the animal with a club.

The horse refused to go, and this further enraged the man, who then beat the poor beast more furiously than ever and kept up a volley of curses.

A well known resident of Elizabeth and his wife happened to pass the scene at the time on their way home. They were shocked at the cruel spectacle and the horrible language the horse beater was using.

They hurried away from the spot, and as they were leaving heard the animal give a loud groan and then fall.

The animal's dead body was lying in Cherry street this morning. A reporter informed Chief of Police Tenney of the incident. The chief said he would do all in his power to ascertain the identity of those implicated in the outrage and have them punished. Detectives are now working on the case.

Miss Ethel Walsh, of Brooklyn, is spending several days with her aunt, Mrs. William N. Tier, of East Front street.

KEEP YOUR HEAD UNCOVERED.
The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propogates Dandruff Germs.
There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet if the scalps of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

SOME TIMELY HINTS.

Newspapers spread flat under a mattress give a great deal of warmth.

Prune juice, on dry cereals makes a nice change from cream.

Cold baked potatoes, sliced thin-then put in a baking dish, with salt, pepper, butter and milk, make a better scallop than raw potatoes.

Apple pie is delicious with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

A good ish for luncheon or supper is a baked potato with one end removed and enough of the inside to permit a soft-boiled egg that has had its shell taken off, dropped in. Season with salt, pepper and butter and serve hot.

A small hole in china can be perfectly mended with plaster of paris. Mix very thin with water and drop into the hole. Let it harden before using.

When eggs are scare, the place of custard in a cake may be taken by a thin cornstarch flavored with jelly.

If your gas burns unevenly, low at one side and with a long flame at the other, you may be sure there is dust in the tip. Run a piece of thin cardboard through it and you will be repaid.

Give the dining room a good airing every day, winter as well as summer. Germs are in dust everywhere, but in the dining room they get into the food and thence into our bodies. The dining room above all rooms, must be kept clean and well aired. Ventilate the halls. The stale odor of cooking which too often greets one coming in out of the fresh air, savors of a third-rate boarding house.

Don't look sloppy while doing your work. Eschew wrappers, kimonos, half-worn or ragged shirt waists and old cloth dresses that hold odors. Even at this season there is nothing son neat and sensible as perfectly plain shirt waist suits of gingham, or skirts and waists attached as in a nurse's costume. A plain white collar and tie give a good finish, and one is ready to go to the door or meet strangers with no apology necessary.

Steamed Brown Bread.

Put two cups of ryemeal and one cup of cornmeal in a bowl. Turn in two cups of sour milk, one-half cup of molasses, one level teaspoon of soda dissolved in a tablespoon of cold water and a pinch of salt. Steam in a mold three hours.

Old-Time Hop Yeast.

Steep one handful of hops in four quarts of boiling water for a half hour. Pare and boil six large potatoes, then mash them and mix with two cups of flour, one cup of sugar, one-half cup of salt, and strain the hop tea over, after straining it. When cool add one cup of yeast or one yeast cake dissolved in water. Let the yeast work until frothy, then put away in stone jugs or bottles and cork tightly.

French Rolls.

Rub two-thirds cup of butter into two quarts of flour, add two cups of milk, three rounding tablespoons of sugar and one-half yeast cake dissolved in the milk. Add one beaten egg, cover and let rise. When light roll out half an inch thick, cut in squares, spread with butter and fold over; let rise and bake.

Cocoa Icing.

Mix one level teaspoon of cocoa with one cup of powdered sugar. Add a tablespoon of lemon juice and then one tablespoon of boiling water. This should form a paste or icing that will settle smooth when poured on the cake. Have the cake hot when this icing is to be used.

Plain Puffy Omelet.

Beat the yolks of six eggs until they grow thick; then beat the whites until stiff. Melt a level tablespoon of butter in an omelet or frying pan. Add to the yolks a saltspoon of pepper, half a level teaspoon of salt and one-half cup of milk. Turn into the pan when the butter is very hot, then spread the beaten whites over the top. Cook slowly, and when almost done set in the oven for a minute to dry off the top, then slip a broad knife under one side and fold over and turn on to a warm platter.

Pressed Beef.

Chop or grind three pounds of lean meat fine, add two eggs beaten, one-half cup of milk, four rolled crackers, one-half cup of melted butter, one level tablespoon of salt and one level teaspoon of white pepper. Mix well and pack in bread tin. Bake two hours covered and when cold serve in thin slices.

Watermelon Cake.

Make a white cake, using any favorite recipe. Bake it in two layers. Leave one white, and tint the other pink with color paste. Have the pink layer at least twice the depth of the white layer. Sustana raisins or cleaned currants may be added to the pink layer, to simulate the melon seeds. Put the layers together with a very little white icing. Cover the top with an icing tinted green.

Fortune Hunter Finds Husband.

New Brunswick, March 5.—Miss Margaret James, a niece of Duke A. Morrison, who went to Great Britain to claim a fortune, has found a husband as well. The news reached here yesterday that she has become the wife of John McMunn, of Sligo, West Ireland. The ceremony was performed in an Episcopal church there and Miss Louisa R. Morrison, of this city, was bridesmaid.

"The Man on the Box"

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Copyright, 1894, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

How adroitly he had sown the seed! At that period he had no positive idea upon what kind of ground he had cast it. But he took that chance which all far-sighted men take, and then waited. There was little he had not learned about this handsome American with the beautiful daughter. How he had learned will always remain dark to me. My own opinion is that he had been studying him during his tenure of office in Washington, and, with that patience which is making Russia so formidable, waited for this opportunity.

I shall give the Russian all the justice of impartiality. When he saw the girl, he rather shrank from the affair. But he had gone too far, he had promised too much; to withdraw now meant his own defeat, his government's anger, his political oblivion. And there was a zest in this life of his. He could no more resist the call of intrigue than a gambler can resist the croupier's "Make your game, gentlemen!" I believe that he loved the girl the moment he set eyes upon her. Her beauty and bearing distinguished her from the other women he had met, and her personality was so engaging that her conquest of him was complete and spontaneous. How to win this girl and at the same time ruin her father was an embarrassing problem. The plan which finally came to him he repelled again and again, but at length he surrendered. To get the parent in his power and then to coerce the girl in case she refused him! To my knowledge this affair was the first dishonorable act of a very honorable man. But love makes fools and rogues of us all.

When the American returned to the world, his cigar was out and his coffee was stale and cold.

"A million francs!" he murmured. "Two hundred thousand!"

The seed had fallen on fruitful ground.

CHAPTER XVI.

THE PREVIOUS AFFAIR.

Mrs. Chadwick had completed her toilet and now stood smiling in a most friendly fashion at the reflection in the long oval mirror. She addressed this reflection in melodious tones.

"Madam, you are really handsome: and let no false modesty whisper in your ear that you are not. Few women in Washington have such clear skin, such firm flesh, such color. Thirty-eight? It is nothing. It is but the half-way post: one has left youth behind, but one has not reached old age. Time must be very tolerant, for he has given you a careful selection. There were no years of storm and poverty, of violent passions; and if I have truly loved, it has been you, only you. You are too wise and worldly to love any one but yourself. And yet, once you stood on the precipice of dark eyes, pale skin, and melancholy wrinkles. And even now, if he were to speak . . . Enough! Enough of this folly. I have something to accomplish to-night." She glided from the boudoir into the small but luxurious drawing-room which had often been graced by the most notable men and women in the country.

Karloff threw aside the book of poems by De Banville, rose, and went forward to meet her.

"Madam,"—bending and brushing her hand with his lips, "Madam, you grow handsomer every day. If I were 40, now, I should fear for your single blessedness."

"Or, if I were two-and-twenty, instead of eight-and-thirty,"—beginning to draw on her long white gloves. There was a challenge in her smile.

"Well, yes; if you were two-and-twenty."

"There was a time not long ago," she said, drawing his gaze as a magnet draws a needle, "when the disparity in years was of no matter."

The count laughed. "That was three years ago; and if my memory serves me, you smiled."

"Perhaps I was first to smile; that is all."

"I observe a mental reservation,"—owlishly.

"I will put it plainly, then. I preferred to smile over your protestations rather than see you laugh over the possibility and the folly of my loving you."

"Then it was possible?"—with interest.

"Everything is possible . . . and often absurd."

"How do you know that I was not truly in love with you?"—narrowing his eyes."

"It is not explanatory; it can be given only one name—instinct, which in women and animals is more fully developed than in man. Besides, at that time you had not learned all about Colonel Annesley, whose guests we are to be this evening. Whoever would have imagined a Karloff accepting the hospitalities of an Annesley? Count hath not thy rose a canker?"

"Madam!" Karloff was frowning.

"Count, you look like a paladin when you scowl; but scowling never induces anything but wrinkles. That is why we women frown so seldom. We smile. But let us return to your query. Supposing I had accepted your declarations seriously: supposing you had offered me marriage in that burst of gratitude: supposing I had committed the folly of becoming a countess, what a position I should be in to-day!"

"I do not understand,"—perplexedly.

"No?"—shrugging. She held forth a gloved arm. "Have you forgotten how gallantly you used to button my gloves?"

"A thousand pardons! My mind was occupied with the mystery of your long supposition." He took the arm gracefully, and proceeded to slip the pearl buttons through their holes. (Have you ever buttoned the gloves of a handsome woman? I have. And there is a subtile thrill about the proceeding which I can not quite define. Perhaps it is the nearness of physical beauty; perhaps it is the delicate scent of flowers; perhaps it is the touch of the cool, firm flesh; perhaps it is just romance.) The gaze which she bent upon his dark head was emotional; yet there was not the slightest tremor of arm or fingers. It is possible that she desired him to observe the steadiness of her nerves. "What did you mean?" he asked.

"What did I mean?"—vaguely. Her thought had been elsewhere.

"By that supposition."

"Oh, I mean that my position, had I married you, would have been rather anomalous to-day." She extended the other arm. "You are in love."

"In love?" He looked up quickly.

"Decidedly; and I had always doubted your capacity for that sentiment."

"And pray tell me, with whom I am in love?"

"Come, Count, you and I know each other too well to waste time in beating about the bushes. I do not blame you for loving her; only, I say, it must not be."

"Must not be?" The count's voice rose a key.

"Yes, must not be. You must give them up—the idea and the girl. What! You, who contrive her father's dishonor, would aspire to the daughter's hand? It is not equable. Love her honorably, or not at all. The course you are following is base and wholly unworthy of you."

He dropped the arm abruptly and strode across the room, stopping by a window. He did not wish to see her face at that particular instant. Some men would have demanded indignantly to know how she had learned these things; not so the count.

"There is time to retrieve. Go to the colonel frankly, pay his debts out of your own pockets, then tell the girl that you love her. Before you tell her, her father will have acquainted her with his sin and your generosity. She will marry you out of gratitude."

Karloff spun on his heels. His expression was wholly new. His eyes were burning; he stretched and crumpled his gloves.

"Yes, you are right, you are right! I have been trying to convince myself that I was a machine where the father was concerned and wholly a man in regard to the girl. You have put it before me in a bold manner. Good God, yes! I find that I am wholly a man. How smoothly all this would have gone to the end had she not crossed my path! I am base, I, who have always considered myself an honorable man. And now it is too late, too late!"

No Other Magazine Like It.

Probably the most attractive pictures that have been published of Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, nee Alice Roosevelt, are those which appeared in the March number of the Burr McIntosh Monthly, now on all news stands. Among the many superb reproductions of celebrated people are those of Archbishop Farley, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, Mme. Calve, Olga Nethersole, Blanche Bates, Grace George, Signor Dippel, grand opera singer, and Jan Kubelik, the famous violinist. In the department of People of Note are fine photographs of Mrs. Humphrey Ward, novelist; Dr. Osler, the late Dr. Harper, of the University of Chicago, and the late Marshall Field, probably the most successful merchant of the century. The scens in this issue are very largely of the Old World: Turkey, England, France, Switzerland, Algeria, Germany and Japan. The color work is especially striking and altogether the issue will appeal to all lovers of fine pictures. Burr Publishing Company, New York.

Anti-Graft Counsel Quits.

Atlantic City, Mar. 5.—On top of positive declaration that he hadn't resigned and did not intend to resign, C. L. Goldenburg, counsel of anti-graft society, has tendered his resignation. Mr. Goldenberg refused to state reasons that inspired his action, and members of the league were equally reticent. The resignation was accepted and upon the decision of the league whether or not to elect counsel to succeed him, will depend the continuance of the war of councilmanic scalps.

STAGE CANNON WAS FIRED TOO SOON.

Actress Bound to It Was Slightly Hurt Owing to Thoughtlessness of Lovesick Man.

Because a cannon, from the mouth of which the bound heroine is torn at the critical moment, was discharged Thursday night a second too soon at the Opera House in Paterson, Miss Marguerite Fields, who played the heroine, was hit by a charge of wadding and powder. Her hair, which was hanging down her back, was badly singed. The mishap is attributed to the preoccupation of the man who fires the cannon. He was married yesterday, and it is supposed his mind was not on the business in hand.

The play was "Shannon of the Sixth," in one act of which the Sepoys tie the heroine to the mouth of a field piece, ignite the fuse and flee. The hero, Kirk Brown, rushes on and tears the heroine from the gun just as it is discharged. Then the curtain comes down to shivery music.

The gun used is a dummy piece, with a false barrel concealed in the bore. An ounce and a half of black powder is rammed home. The charge is exploded by a hand battery in the wings.

Part of Miss Fields' clothing caught fire. Kirk Brown quickly smothered the flames.

The audience was not aware that anything unusual had happened and applauded vigorously as the curtain fell.

The man who set off the cannon is William Tennyson, who plays the part of "Umbolla." He married Thursday Miss Pansy Leroy, of the "Gay New York" Company, now playing at Paterson. When Miss Fields learned who had fired the gun she said that under the circumstances she freely forgave him.

"It's a case where carelessness can be excused," she said.

ONLY $1 FOR SERVICES IS ALL THEY ASK.

Elizabeth Councilmen Refuse to Accept More Than This—As to Recreation Dock.

The members of the City Council at Elizabeth have adopted a resolution refusing to accept more than $1 a year for their services, and they have passed a resolution which will be forwarded to Trenton, to the Committee on Municipal Corporations, condemning the bill which is now before it for consideration. There is a so-called conscience fund in the city treasury amounting, perhaps, to several hundred dollars, all of which is back councilmen's pay. Many of the members have even refused to accept the $1 a year to which they are legally entitled.

A vote was taken on a resolution offered by Councilman Sauer, of the Ninth ward, who sought to secure an expression of opinion regarding the bill now in the State Legislature appropriating a certain sum of money for the purpose of erecting a recreation pier in Elizabeth. Only one man, Henry A. Rath, councilman from the Twelfth ward, voted against the bill. It is proposed to construct a recreation pier and public dock in Elizabeth at a cost of $75,000, which will project into the Staten Island Sound about 200 feet. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to Senator Ackerman, the Senate and to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

The deed for this property, known heretofore as the Meek estate, was purchased on February 13 for $20,000.

Jailed for Stealing Baked Beans.

Belleville, March 5—William Coggens, of this town, who disappeared last Saturday, has been located in Philadelphia, through information furnished by Edward Peltzer, who went away with him. Peltzer is back home, but his companion is locked up in the Quaker City for the theft of a can of baked beans. The two lads became hungry and Coggens stole the beans.

Couldn't Bear the Cent.

Pitman Grove, March 5.—When Harry Jenkins moved to California some weeks ago he left a bill of one cent owing to David Downs, who serves the morning papers. Downs received this penny by mail, with a letter stating that this bill worried the writer considerably. Downs has sent Jenkins a receipt and will frame the penny.

DEMAND CHANGE IN DEATH ROAD BRANCH.

Lackawanna to Be Forced to Lay Double Tracks on Passaic and Delaware Division.

A petition was sent along the line of the Passaic and Delaware branch of the Lackawanna Railroad yesterday as a result of the head-on collission of Saturday evening near Lyons, in which one man was killed and another so badly injured that he will probably die. The petition is addressed to the Railroad Commissioners of New Jersey, asking them to compel the Lackawanna to lay a double track road in place of the single track between Summit and Bernardsville. The loss of seven lives during the past year is blamed on the single track system.

It was said yesterday that H. Lewis, station agent at Stirling, received orders to hold up the westbound mail train in time to have prevented its collision with the eastbound "wildcat" engine. Lewis said that the orders came after the mail had passed Stirling. It was also said that the engineer of the "wildcat," George Hopkins, had been ordered to take a switch west of Lyons and wait for the mail to pass; that he forgot that the mail was fifteen minutes earlier on Saturday than on other days and took a chance of beating it. The "wildcat" was making about five miles an hour and the mail fifteen when they came together.

Peter Halstead, of Lyons, who may die, was the only passenger out of nearly twenty injured. He was riding in the baggage car. His right leg is broken in three places, his back is scalded, as are both his face and neck.

Hopkins, engineer of the "wildcat," has a broken kneecap; Lyman Benjamin, fireman of the mail, is scalded, and Will Blazier, baggageman, has a big cut in his head. R. D. Jones, fireman on the "wildcat," was killed instantly.

NEWARK PASTORS URGE PARISHIONERS.

In accordance with the recently issued letters of Bishop John J. O'Connor and Bishop Edwin S. Lines, of the Roman Catholic and Episcopal dioceses of Newark, respectively, the pastors of all their churches in and around Newark, yesterday devoted more or less time at the morning services to a brief presentation of the "Bishops' bills." Pastors of all other Protestant churches also referred to the proposed legislation, as they, too, are interested in the movement.

Many of the clergymen merely spoke of the various provisions of the bill, pointing out that it is intended to increase the license fee, to prohibit the sale of liquor to minors and to abolish saloon side and back rooms and the window and door screens and to make the saloon business as open and clean as possible.

Other clergymen went further and urged their parishioners to lend personal assistance to the fight, and to write or send petitions to their Assembly and Senatorial representatives and urge them to vote for the bill.

SCORES ELIZABETH'S BOARD OF EXCISE.

In a vigorous sermon yesterday morning the Rev. Dean Gessner, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, Elizabeth, flayed the local Board of Excise and referred to its members as "grafters." He said the Board was "rotten to the core" and that reform in Elizabeth was needed more than in any city in the State. He read the "Bishops' bill" on local option and commented at length on the liquor evil in Elizabeth.

"There are more saloons in this city," he said, "than in any other city of its size in the State, if not in the country. Why is it? Simply because our Board of Excise is no good. It is rotten to the core. Take for instance its members. How can you expect better conditions when some of our leading lawyers and our Councilmen are stockholders in breweries."

The pastors of practically every other church in Elizabeth also dwelt at length on the need of legislation to curb saloon evils.

Sachs-Bulkley Suit Settled.

Y. M. C. A. IS STILL IN THE WINNING GAME.

Atlantic Boat Club Defeated in Deciding Contest.

By one hard won point, Y. M. C. A. defeated the Atlantic Boat Club five in the deciding game of the series, at the local gymnasium Saturday night. The crowd that stayed away on account of the rain missed one of the liveliest contests of the season. The score was 18 to 17.

The game was as close as the score indicates. The outcome was in doubt up to the last minute of play, both teams playing swiftly and doggedly. Both fives played teamy ball, and some pretty passing figured in the scoring. Leary and Scull made a great showing.

The lineup:

Y. M. C. A.	Atlantic Boat Club.
Utzinger	Haselman
Thompson	Binderwald
forwards.
Scull	Shortemple
center.
Leary	Hanke
guards.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson announced to the pupils of the High Schools this morning that the morning exercises would be the last held at the old school and that at 12:40 o'clock this afternoon possession of the new High School would be taken. The regular work will begin tomorrow morning at the usual hour. The entire equipment of the new school, with the exception of the basement, is complete, and that will be ready in another week. Dr. Maxson said that he hoped that the success attained in the old building would be continued in the new one and he spoke words of encouragement to all.

First of Pedler Influx.

Guiseppe Guinn, of Bound Brook, was arrested this morning by Detective McCarthy for pedling without a license. Guinn said he thought he was in Dunellen. Judge Runyon gave him a $3 fine to fasten Plainfield bounds in his mind. Chief Kiely said Guinn was the first of the annual spring influx of foreign peddlers. The cops have been instructed to watch for and arrest all it is possible to spot. It usually takes a month to turn the stream from this neighborhood.

Soldiers Will Re-enlist.

Those who will not re-enlist will be Sergeant Asa F. Randolph, Private William B. Mosher, permanently, and Private Nelson R. Peterson, temporarily. Other important business will be considered at the meeting.

Funeral of David Erikson.

The funeral of David Erikson, who was killed at Garwood Wednesday night, was held at his late home on West Third street yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by the pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, in the presence of a large gathering of friends. Interment was made at Hillside, the pall bears being three members of the Carpenters' Union and three members of the local Swedish Society.

Harry Taylor Out of Hospital.

Harry Taylor, of Somerset street, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital suffering with appendicitis and hiccoughs, has been discharged and is again at his desk in the gas department of the Public Service Corporation. To all appearances he has been fully restored to health and despite his trying experience gained seven pounds while at the institution.

Tiedmann's Condition the Same.

Henry Tiedmann, of Cottage place, who was found helpless at his home last week, remains about the same. The man had a paralytic stroke and was not found for several days afterward. He is now at the hospital under treatment. He recovered consciousness as soon as taken to the institution.

Unfounded Report.

Investigation of the report that the P. S. C. men were frightening householders by night tests of wires, leading to burglar scares, has disclosed the fact that it is unfounded. W. C. Cansebrook, head of the P. S. C. office, said this morning that none of his men had prowled about houses.

Mrs. Conover's Funeral.

Funeral services over the body of Mrs. Susan Conover were held at her late home on Jackson avenue, this morning. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich and Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss were the officiating clergymen. Interment was at Hillside.

SNAP SHOTS.

William H. Gardner, a farmer, residing in Union township, near Clinton, has a number of relics which he prizes very highly. The relics have been stored in the attic for many years, but a recent surprise party tendered Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, among whom were many old people, brought the old-time implements to light. Among those present was Mrs. Christian Crunf, seventy-seven years old, who, in her younger days, was an expert with the spinning wheel, and when the old relic of Mr. Gardner's was brought from the attic she gave an exhibition of spinning, much to the amusement of the younger generation present, who had never seen flax spun into thread. Miss Anna Van Syckle, who teaches the village school, surprised every one by the manner in which she handled the spinner. Among the relics of Revolutionary days, Mr. Gardner exhibited an army saddlebag, which was part of the outfit of his great-grandfather, Major Theodore Gardner, who served under General Washington at the battle of Freehold, Monmouth county, June 28, 1778. He also has two flintlock pistols, which belonged to an ancestor of Mrs. Gardner, and which have been carefully preserved all these years, and which were used during the Revolutionary War.

CHINESE NEWSPAPERS.

Although it is notorious that the Chinese preceded us in the invention of gunpowder, it is somewhat astonishing to learn that Pekin is the home of the oldest newspaper in the world; yet this statement is made in a recent issue of the North American Review by no less an authority than Mr. Archibald R. Colquhoun, author of "Greater America" (Harpers) and of other books dealing with Far Eastern questions. If anything could surprise us more than this assertion, it is the fact that "in China there are actually no press laws in existence today," which, as the author observes, is "in curious contrast to the state of affairs in more than one Western country." Even progressive Japan is less liberal than China as regards freedom of the press, and in the former country the publication of matter deemed seditious can be punished by fines and imprisonment. "Indeed, till lately," says Mr. Colquhoun, "imprisonment was so common that most papers employed a 'prison editor,' or official scapegoat, whose business it was to undergo these terms. The real editor was treated merely as a 'contributor,' and thus escaped the arm of the law." It would seem, however, that journalism in Japan and China, in spite of its dangers, is even less profitable than elsewhere, for we are told that the Japanese pressman rarely receives more than £100 a year, while his Chinese brother gets a still smaller stipend. The serious purport of Mr. Colquhoun's informius paper is that through the press and literature of China much may be done towards giving her a "true perspective."

Funeral of Mrs. Jennings.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Augusta Jennings was held at her late home on Somerset street, this morning, with a gathering of relatives and friends in attendance. Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiated, and interment was made at Hillside cemetery.

COPY OF FRANKLIN'S PENNSYLVANNIA GAZETTE

ISSUE DATED 1718 IN POSSESSION OF A PLAINFIELDER.

A copy of the Pennsylvania Gazette, the paper edited and published by Benjamin Franklin, for August 18, 1748, is in the possession of J. M. McNaughteon, of Sandford avenue. The paper is in an excellent state of preservation, protected from the ravages of air and time by tight-fitting glass plates. A glass sheet backs the frame, as well as fronts it, so that all four of the small pages on which the paper is printed may be seen.

Most of the columns in the paper are given over to advertisements, but they are such quaint-seeming advertisements that they make more interesting reading than the letters from London and New York that comprise the great proportion of the news in the Gazette.

Several of the advertisements are for the apprehension of runaway servants. Thirty shillings reward is offered for the return of one of them. Servants were bound out in those days, and it was a criminal offense for them to leave before their time had expired. Times have changed since then.

Two letters from London, one containing the King's speech to Parliament, and "despatches" from Antwerp, Liege, Paris and other old-world places—some of them with news of war campaigns you studied in your school history—are on the first page. The news didn't move so fast in those days as it does now, the letters from abroad in this issue of August 18 are dated the May before.

Advertisements of sales of all sorts are scattered through the columns. Captain Joseph Redmond, of Front street, near Society Hill, advertises for sale "A parcel of very useful and fashionable household furniture of most sorts, with a parcel of plate, and a serviceable Negro man." Serviceable Negro men brought a good price in those days.

Mr. McNaughton naturally prizes his copy of the Gazette very highly. The recent celebration of Franklin's bi-centennial gives it additional interest as a curio.

DIDN'T SCARE NURSE.

Supposed Burglar Was Only a Man with a Jag.

Trenton, March 5.—Cool, calm and collected, and arrayed in a befrilled and beruffled "nightie," Miss Nellie Bergen, a nurse in Mercer Hospital, stood guard over a man "under the influence" in the backyard of a neighbor's house this morning until a policeman came and hustled the man off to the police station.

Miss Bergen was awakened by cries of "Murder!" and "Police!" coming from a woman hanging out of the second story window of a house across the way from the hospital.

Miss Bergen, who is athletic and courageous, seized a revolver and ran across the street.

"There's a burglar in the back yard," cried the woman in the window.

"Stay where you are and I'll get him," replied the plucky nurse. She ran to the rear of the house and pointed her revolver at a man who was trying to get into a rear door.

At sight of the white robed figure the man sank on the porch, and there the policeman found him, shivering and mumbling something about ghosts.

At the police station he said he had taken too many mixed drinks, got the house mixed and thought that he was trying to find the keyhole in the door of his own domicile.

MAY BE A MURDER.

Paterson Italian Dies Under Suspicious Circumstances.

Paterson, March 5.—The authorities of this city are investigating the death of Carmino Carrafello, an Italian, who is supposed to have been murdered some time during yesterday in a house in Straight street. Gastano Defeo, also an Italian, was arreste dat an early hour this morning on suspicion of being concerned in the death of Carrafello.

The case was first reported to County Physician McBride by an undertaker, who asked for a permit for the removal of the body of a man who had died of heart disease. When County Physician McBride saw the body it was fully dressed, and he ordered the undertaker to remove the clothing. A wound in the abdomen was disclosed.

The county physician reported the case to the police and an investigation was begun. It was learned that Carrafello boarded with Defeo, in the Straight street house, and as the latter did not give a clear account of the death of Carrafello he was arrested and locked up at police headquarters.

Deuel Still Sits.

Justice Joseph M. Deule, against whom removal charges are pending, took his seat today on the bench in Special Sessions. The Justice said that he saw no reason why he should not take his seat on the bench.

TWO MEN SHOT.

Quarrel Between Orange Italians May Result Fatally.

Orange, March 5.—Two men were shot, one of them fatally, it is thought, in a street fight in Cone street, Orange, last night. The men who were shot are William P. Costa, of 215 Essex avenue, and Louis Ruina, of 14 Hurlburt street. They are in the Orange Memorial Hospital. Their assailant, Arsenio Aromando, of Gray street, is at large. The police have sent out a general alarm for him. He has an aunt, Angela Aromando, who lives in the rear tenement at 113 Mott street, New York.

The quarrel is supposed to have been over money matters. Aromando, according to the story the police have, gave Ruina some money to purchase a coat for him. Ruina, so the story goes, did not get the coat and when the two met last night trouble ensued. Costa interfered and suffered the usual fate of the peacemaker. Ruina has a wound in the abdomen which the doctors think will kill him and a wound through both legs. Costa has a wound in the abdomen which is less severe.

A Mother's Association for Plainfield has recently been planned, the object being to afford help in learning the best conditions for the development of children and to increase the intelligent interest of Plainfield mothers in the Sunday-schools. Murray, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, is one of those interested in the movement.

To Ask Mercy.

A sudden halt came today in the trial of Bertha Claiche, who is accused of the murder of Emil Gendron. When the criminal branch of the New York Supreme Court was opened Justice Davis adjourned it until 2 o'clock. WEDDING SUIT IS STOLEN

Now Robert Guttridge Wants Tailor to Make Good.

PLETHORA OF LAWYERS

Three Counsellors Engaged For Defendant—None of Them Appeared In Court When Case Was Called.

Justice Hand adjourned the case of Robert Guttridge against Joseph Kamosko, in tort, yesterday afternoon. The court wanted a week to figure out who held the brief for the defense.

Guttridge brought suit against Kamosko three weeks ago, for the value of a suit of clothes that disappeared while in Kamosko's possession. Kamosko is a tailor, and Guttridge turned the clothes over to him for complete and especial cleaning, pressing and retouching. Guttridge was particular about the suit because he intended to get married in it. The day before the wedding, when he called at the tailor's place for the wedding garments, Kamosko told him that burglars had been in his place the night before. One of the first things they packed up, Kamosko intimated, was Guttridge's nuptial suit.

Guttridge was openly skeptical of the burglary story. He had doubts, although he couldn't prove them. It was his conviction, however, that a man who was careless enough to lose another man's wedding suit on the eve of the wedding, and force him, the other man, to get married in his prosaic, workday clothes, ought to have something done to him. So he brought suit in Justice Hand's court, through Lawyer L. A. Clement.

A day or two later Kamosko hired Lawyer John P. Owens to defend him. Lawyers, like lions, warn one another before they pounce, and Mr. Owens wrote Mr. Clement that he had been retained.

Two days later Mr. Clement came to Mr. Owens with a puzzled expression and a letter. The letter was from Codington & Swackhamer, and informed Mr. Clement, that, as Kamosko's lawyers, they intended to ask for a jury trial in the case. Mr. Clement wanted to know how Codington & Swackhamer got in the case; so did Mr. Owens, and he went to Codington & Swackhamer's office to find out.

"We were retained by Mrs. Kamosko," said Codington & Swackhamer. "As long as you were retained by the husband," they continued generously, "you go on and try the case. We will just keep a general watch."

Two bore days passed, and Lawyer Clement again approached Lawyer Owens with a letter. The expression of perplexity on his face this time was so deep it almost disguised him. The letter was a notice from Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who informed Mr. Clement, that, as Kamosko's lawyer, he intended to ask for a jury trial.

Mr. Owens went out on the trail of Mr. Hetfield very rapidly.

"I'm the Kamosko lawyer," said Mr. Hetfield, when Mr. Owens made the Missouri declaration. "Mrs. McCready, for whom Mrs. Kamosko works, retained me."

Mrs. Robert H. McCready, of Ravine road, was the woman Mr. Hetfield referred to. Mrs. Kamosko has worked for her a long time, and she thinks highly of the wedded handmaiden. When she heard that Mrs. Kamosko's husband was threatened with lawing, she decided that the way to show her regard for Mrs. Kamosko was to hire a lawyer.

Yesterday afternoon the case was set for trial. When Justice Hand called the case, Lawyer Clement and his client stood up. They were the only ones present. Of the four lawyers gathered about the defendant not one appeared.

"Too many cooks," sighed the court. "I guess I'll adjourn this case a week to give them a chance to decide which lawyer will cook this case." Lawyer Clement had no objection, and the case went over.

LOCAL OPTION DEAD.

By the overwhelming vote of 39 to 14, the house at Trenton early this morning killed local option in the present Legislature after a hot debate, in which but one man, Mr. Buck, of Cumberland, made a stand for the measure. The action on the bill was not expected and came up through the Essex men trying to make things on liquor legislation more comfortable for them.

Appropriation for Speaker.

The Board of Education at its meeting last night appropriated $50 to recompense Albert Lyndon Blair, who made the principal address at the dedication of the Plainfield High School.

SCHOOL BOARD MAKES RETIRING JANITOR A GIFT

GRANTS S. R. HOPE FULL PAY UNTIL JUNE 1.

Stephen R. Hope, for twenty years the janitor of the Bryant School building, and next to the oldest in point of service locally, tendered his resignation to the Board of Education at the meeting last night. It stated that he had already retired, having relinquished his duties at the first of the month, and gave failing health as the cause for his action. The board accepted the resignation and in appreciation of the faithful discharge of his duties voted his salary in full until June 1. Jesse M. Scull, who has been acting as Mr. Hope's assistant since the Wadsworth School was closed, was appointed to succeed him.

The retiring janitor has always been stationed at the Bryant School, and was regarded as one of the most conscientious in the employ of the city. The oldest janitor in service is Thomas Clarkson, who has had charge of the Stillman School for twenty-five years and the Franklin School for twenty years.

HOSPITAL TO CARE FOR CONTAGIOUS CASES

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE WHEN RESOLUTION IS INTRODUCED IN COUNCIL.

Through Councilman Herbert Buxton a resolution was introduced in the Common Council last night looking towards the establishment of a contagious disease ward at Muhlenberg Hospital, where the poor of this city, so afflicted, could receive treatment. After he had read his resolution, Councilman Mellick, as a member of the board of governors of the institution, informed Mr. Buxton that just such a thing is in contemplation at Muhlenberg and that the board had been working on it for some time. At present half the necessary fund is at hand and Mr. Mellick said that the contagious ward would be in existence before many months. Notwithstanding that everything called for in the resolution was then before the city fathers, Mr. Buxton did not withdraw his motion. The city fathers let it pass without debate. Mr. Buxton also asked that a copy be sent to the Board of Health, which was ordered done.

This is the resolution:

"Resolved, That the city clerk advise the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital that it is the sense of the Common Council that it should prepare for and arrange a ward to be known as a contagious disease ward for the care of contagious diseases, other than small-pox, where persons with contagious disease, who are not able to employ trained nurses and otherwise care for the disease, can be cared for."

SETTLE FIGHT BY ABOLISHING OFFICE

BY VOTE OF 6 TO 4 POSITION OF 2ND ASST. CHIEF IS DONE AWAY WITH.

The opposition to Councilman Mellick's plan to abolish the office of second assistant engineer of the fire department did not show material strength at the March meeting of the Common Council last night, and after a recess to consider the matter an ordinance was introduced by the chairman of the fire committee and adopted on first and second readings. The only votes against it were those cast by Councilmen Buxton, Montgomery, Frank Randolph and Tolles. Voting in support of the ordinance were Councilmen Ginna, Gloak, Hibbard, Mellick, C. C. Randolph and Tyler. The only change in this vote occurred when a motion was made by Mr. Mellick to engross and advertise the ordinance, Mr. Montgomery answering "aye."

A member of the body stated after the meeting that there were two petitions—one signed by fourteen callmen favoring John Cose for the position, and the other containing twelve names of callmen opposing his appointment. The second petition was prepared in a little more than two hours, while it is said that it required nearly two weeks to get the first one ready for presentation.

At the next meeting of the Common Council the ordinance will be adopted on final reading and soon afterward the office will be abolished.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case, of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of this place, will take up their residence here again, having leased a house on Madison avenue.

HACK ORDINANCE DELAY

Mr. Montgomery's Amendments Held Up Through Mr. Tyler's Efforts.

BACK TO COMMITTEE

Councilmen Buxton and Montgomery Oppose Mr. Tyler's Argument to Have the Matter Go Over for a Month.

Councilman F. L. Montgomery, chairman of the license committee, who at the adjourned February meeting of the Common Council presented certain amendments to the ordinance regulating the cabmen's business in this city, attempted to secure the adoption of the ordinance on first and second readings last night. He failed in his purpose and on the motion of Mr. Tyler it was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

This action resulted only after considerable sparring between the chairman of the license committee and Mr. Tyler. The latter was not quite sure that all of the provisions of the ordinance as amended were understood, and he wanted to be absolutely sure that the cabmen would agree to abide strictly by the ordinance if their requests were granted. He thought there could be no haste in the matter as the present ordinance has been in force for twenty-four years and a month's delay could not make much difference.

Mr. Montgomery said that he had talked with the cabmen about the changes and did not think that any greater assurance could be secured from them as to a strict observance of the amended ordinance. He was prepared to vote in favor of it now. He thought possibly Mr. Tyler objected to the omission of the clause which provided that the lamps on cabs shall be lighted one hour after sunset until one hour before sunrise, but he added the committee thought of compelling all carriages, private and public to observe this feature, and then decided that it might prove a hardship and left it out.

Mr. Montgomery continued by saying that it was the desire to give the cabmen what they asked and then make them live up to it, and inasmuch as they have promised to do so, he thought it no more than fair that the amendment should be passed.

Mr. Tyler still urged that the committee have an opportunity to fully consider the amendments and despite Mr. Buxton's statement confirming Mr. Montgomery's remarks, Mr. Tyler moved that the ordinance be referred back to the committee. Councilmen Ginpa, Gloak, Hibbard, Mellick, C. C. Randolph and Frank Randolph voted in favor of the motion and Councilmen Buxton and Montgomery voted against it.

The proposed amendments to the cabmen's ordinance have been published several times are familiar to most people. It provides for the display of licensed numbers on the lamps of the cabs, the wearing of a button in the left lapel of the driver's coat, bearing the licensed number where it can be plainly seen, and the placing of a folder containing the rates in the pocket of the cab inside, where a passenger can see it easily. It also fixes the rates, that is, twenty-five cents shall be charged within the city limits and fifty cents for two or three passengers to the one address. Outside of the limits fifty cents shall be charged and twenty-five cents for each additional passenger. It further defines the number of feet from a curb at the North Avenue Station and other public places where cabmen may solicit trade.

PLAINFIELD OPPOSES TUCKER'S MEASURE

ACKERMAN TO SPEAK

Corporation Counsel, Representing Board, Communicates With the State Senator.

Acting for the Board of Education, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh has set to work to help defeat the school bill introduced by Assemblyman Everard Tucker in the Legislature. Sound reasons why the measure should not be passed by the lawmakers have been framed in the shape of a letter addressed by the corporation counsel to Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, who will be heard on the floor of the Senate when the bill comes up from the Lower House.

The Tucker bill, which is opposed likewise by Newark and other cities, provides for radical change in the method of selecting school boards. Should it become a law, the Mayor and not the people, would have the say as to who should constitute the membership of that important body. Naturally the local Board of Education opposes such a change and it is presumed to be backed by the people of the city.

At present the Plainfield Board of Education is working under the school law of 1903, but the method of electing and the terms of the members are governed by the special charter granted the board years ago. Should Assemblyman Tucker's bill pass, the powers under the charter would be of no avail, for Plainfield would have to abide by the general law. Under the present law the board is allowed to work under the charter, but can change the method of choosing its membership by a vote of the people at a special election.

The bill introduced by Mr. Tucker follows:

"An Act to amend an act entitled 'An act to establish a thorough and efficient system of free public schools, and to provide for the maintenance, support and management thereof,' approved October nineteenth, one thousand nine hundred and three.

"1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

"1. Amend section thirty-eight of said act so that it shall read as follows:

"38. P. H. S. HOURS CHANGED

Daily Session Will Hereafter Be From 8:30 a. m. Until 1:30 p. m.

A TRIAL AT FIRST

Board of Education Transacts Other Business in New Building Amid Difficulties.

Wearing overcoats because of the chilly atmosphere and submitting to interruptions from sputtering steam cocks and banging pipes, the members of the city Board of Education held their first meeting in the new Plainfield High School last night. The evidence of newness about everything was not relieved by the heating apparatus. The trouble was due to the engineer's unfamiliarity with things and was overcome today.

Through Superintendent Maxson, one of the most important matters brought up was the question of changing the hours of study at the new building. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to make the daily session extend from 8:30 in the morning until 1:30 in the afternoon, with a half hour's recess at 11 o'clock. Since the two sessions a day plan was abolished about ten years ago, the hours for school have been from 8:20 until 1:00, with a fifteen minute recess. In making the present change it was strictly stipulated that it should be in the nature of an experiment and that if it was found unsatisfactory, a return to the present rule should be made.

Dr. Maxson stated that the pupils have understood for some time that a change was contemplated as soon as moving was over and so far as he knew there were no objections. Secretary Woodhull vouchsafed the information, however, that a petition was being circulated against it and that many of the pupils did not desire the proposed schedule. It was also brought out that lunches would have to be sold in the basement of the building and that this would add an expense of about $20 a year to the teachers. They do not advocate the change but Dr. Maxson declared that something should be done as the single stretch is too much of a tax on the pupils and that the half hour recess with lunch would overcome the tediousness of study. The discussion brought out other points for and against the plan and led to the vote that the new schedule be an experiment.

Another discussion was brought about through the request of physicians of the city interested in combatting tuberculosis asking for the use of the High School auditorium on March 20 in giving a lecture on the subject. It was stated by one of the members that there were prospects of numerous petitions of this sort and that something should be done to apply to all cases. It was decided to grant the physicians what they asked as the lecture will be an educational matter and that they be charged $10 to cover the light, heat and janitor expense. After that it can be told better whether the board would be under expense or not in making the rate permanent, limiting the rentals to lectures or gatherings from which the promoters derive no revenue.

The board received a communication from Mrs. I. Renwick Glen, of Madison avenue, expressing her wish to present the new school with six volumes of Appleton's Encyclopoedia of Biography in memory of her husband. The offer was accepted and a vote of thanks was extended the donor. Dr. Maxson was empowered to make the teachers' appointments for the coming year. A bid of $150 for equipping the laboratories and lecture room of the new school with water and gas connections and sinks, submitted by D. J. Galbraith, was accepted.

Bethel Chapel's Fair.

The annual fair under the auspices of Bethel chapel will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, March 21, 22 and 23, and an attractive programme of entertainment will be presented each night. Many articles of rare taste and value will be on sale. Wednesday night the children will hold their exercises under the management of Mrs. Abram Brown. Thursday evening the young people will present a drama entitled "Our Busy Day," and on Friday night there will be a musical by the Plainfield orchestra. Mrs. Abram Brown is president of the society of women which is arranging the affair.

MR. GAVETT'S SALARY IS RAISED TO $2,700

COMMON COUNCIL APPROPRIATELY RECOGNIZES VALUABLE SERVICES.

In recognition of his faithful services and his recognized ability the Common Council last night increased Andrew J. Gavett's salary as street commissioner from $1,200 to $1,500 and as city engineer from $1,000 to $1,200. The action was taken in accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Ginna, which also provided that the salaries of all other officials remain the same as last year.

For a long time each succeeding Common Council has recognized the fact that Mr. Gavett was not receiving sufficient salary for the positions he occupies, and on several occasions there have been efforts made to increase it. Owing to the objection made by Mr. Gavett no action was taken until this time.

Mr. Gavett was not present at the meeting when his salary was increased and he did not learn of it until afterwards. The increase came in the nature of a great surprise to him.

ONCE MORE SCHANZ ASKS FOR A LICENSE

THIS TIME HE ASKS COUNCIL TO LET HIM OPEN A SALOON ON NORTH AVE.

Still hopeful of securing a liquor license, Charles Schanz again presented an application at the March meeting of the Common Council last night. This time he applied for a license for 126-128 North avenue, the property now occupied by Lawrence Paoli. The application was presented through Chairman F. L. Montgomery, of the license committee, and after it was read he moved that when the Common Council adjourned it be to meet on Monday night, March 26, to take action on it.

Mr. Tyler wanted to know whether it was absolutely necessary that another meeting should be held so soon for the purpose stated. He said that the members had so much to demand their time and attention that it seemed unnecessary to meet again within a week, when the next regular session in April would answer every purpose.

Mr. Montgomery said that his only object in asking for an adjourned meeting was that he thought it was the custom. Otherwise he saw no reason for another meeting this month. It was finally decided to let the matter lay over for a month.

The property for which Mr. Schanz asks a license is owned by Assessor Charles H. Hand, who also owns the property on Watchung avenue near the trolley stand, where Mr. Schanz desired to open a saloon last month.

While no expressions of opinion were given on the subject last night it is generally believed that the majority of the members do not view with favor the new location chosen by Mr. Schanz.

HOGAN RESCUED HIS CORN FROM NERVY NATS

THEY WERE FILLING THEIR POCKETS WITH WHAT WAGON WOULDN'T HOLD.

While John Hogan, night laborer on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was sleeping Sunday afternoon, two men came to the house with a horse. They said they were from New Brunswick and wanted to sell the horse to Hogan.

"We'll wait for Mr. Hogan," they said, and put the horse in Hogan's barn. Then they fed the horse from Hogan's crib, while Mrs. Hogan looked on in amazement. She would have stood for that, but when the men loaded corn on the wagon, and started to fill their pockets with what the wagon wouldn't hold, she decided that Hogan ought to know about it. When Hogan heard of it he went downstairs, two steps at a time. He fell on the horsedealers like a load of Lehigh rails, and the visitors from New Brunswick kicked holes in the roadway keeping ahead of Hogan.

"I may not be a scholar," said Mr. Hogan as he heaved his corn back in the crib, "but I can count twenty-three for them as need the lesson."

FORM OPERA COMPANY

Former Mayor C. J. Fisk is Chosen Head of Amateur Organization.

TO PRESENT "PATIENCE"

Membership to be Limited to Sixty—Rehearsals to Begin at Once.

There was a hearty response to the call for a meeting at the Casino last night for the purpose of forming a permanent opera company from among those who recently presented "The Pirates of Penzance." The plan was to limit the membership to sixty, and fifty-five signified their intention last night to join the organization.

These officers were elected: President, Charles J. Fisk; vice-president, William N. Runyon; secretary and treasurer, Clifford S. Braider; musical director, William Holmes. They will get together at once and draft bylaws to govern the organization and report at a meeting to be held at the Casino on Monday night.

The success of the recent performance was commented upon and Mr. Holmes expressed the opinion that with a permanent company of well trained voices future productions could be given with even more gratifying success. It was decided to present the opera "Patience" early in May and the rehearsals will be started at once. This will undoubtedly be given at the Casino, in fact, it is the idea to give all future performances there. In this way it will be possible to repeat an opera at very little more expense than for one production, and the receipts would be materially increased.

All who were present last night were enthusiastic about the new organization and are sure to work hard for the success of it. Another important matter decided upon was that in the future no production will be given for any particular charity. It will be given for the benefit of the company, and afterward if it is the wish that a contribution be made to some charitable object it will be done by a vote of the members. It is believed that better results will be obtained in this way.

WOMEN'S EXCHANGE FREE FROM DEBT

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE AT ANNUAL MEETING OF ORGANIZATION TODAY.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Exchange for Women's Work was largely attended at the parish house of Grace church this morning. The announcement by Mrs. O. T. Waring, the president, that the organization is absolutely free from debt was received with much satisfaction.

There were reports from the various committees, showing progress. Mrs. T. W. T. Maxwell, the secretary, gave an extended and excellent report on the operation of the exchange. A statement by Mrs. William Stillman, treasurer, showed the finances to be in good condition.

These officers were chosen for the coming year: President, Mrs. O. T. Waring; first vice-president, Miss Elizabeth Cock; second vice-president, Mrs. S. D. Lounsbery; recording secretary, Mrs. T. W. T. Maxwell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Howard Tracy; treasurer, Mrs. William H. Stillman.

Mrs. Howard Tracy stated that she had received a number of letters from consignors expressing their appreciation for the opportunity offered by the exchange to sell goods made by them. In many instances persons earn their livelihood through this medium.

Bills By Ackerman.

Senator Ackerman introduced the following bills in the upper house of the Legislature last night: Providing for the appointment by the chancellor of a proctor, at an annual salary of $5,000, who may intervene during proceedings for divorce and object to a decree. Providing for the appointment practice in State courts of any counsellor of another State who has been resident in New Jersey for ten years, and who had fifteen years' previous practice.

Contract Suit Adjourned.

The contract suit of Howard Van Sickle against Robert Tompkins, in Justice Mosher's court, which was to have been heard today, has been adjourned for a week. It will be tried by a jury.

Congregationalists' Conference.

At the conference of Congregational churches held today in Asbury Park, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of this city, had a place on the programme.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." Rev. C. S. Kemble, of the Park church, Elizabeth, will give readings from the works of Eugene Field at the Methodist Episcopal church Thursday night. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Hackettstown Collegiate Institute.

An entertainment under the auspices of the Junior Y. P. S. C. E. will be held at the Presbyterian church March 16. The programme will be a "novelty" one. A noteworthy time is promised.

The Board of Education will meet tonight. A definite answer to the proposition to send Dunellen High School pupils to Plainfield will probably be received from the Board of that city.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The new cars being run on the main line are a great improvement over the old style with the motor boxes on each end of the car. The new style gives twice the amount of space on the rear end than the other cars do, a thing which is appreciated by not only smokers, but by women who in the past have been obliged to push and crowd through a crowd of smokers in order to get on and off a car.

The monthly dance of the Suburban Club, which was to have been held Thursday night of this week, has been postponed until after Lent, the entertainment committee having decided that the club would hold no social functions until after Easter.

The Bucket and Engine Co. members are preparing to entertain a large crowd at the company's dance and social tomorrow night in their headquarters.

The warm rain of Saturday broke the ice up pretty well on the ponds and practically put an end to the possibility of any more skating this winter.

Harry Wade has been detained at home for several days suffering from a badly swollen face, caused by an ulcerated tooth.

Mrs. Addie Smalley, who has been quite ill for a week with quinsy sore throat, is improving.

Frank Rapp has returned from a visit with out of town friends.

FOUND CHILDREN STARVING.

Their Mother in Jail and Their Father Neglectful of Them.

The Bayonne police yesterday found three children of Mrs. Mary Marovic, who was last week sent to jail for disorderly conduct, chilled and starving in their squalid home, 219 East Twenty-second street. Their clothing was scarcely sufficient to cover their bodies, and they had had nothing to eat for a week except the little their poor neighbors were able to spare.

When the children—Andrew, William and Stephen, aged eleven, nine and five years, respectively—were taken to police headquarters they ate ravenously. It was said the father of the unfortunate children takes no interest in their welfare. Recorder Lazarus gave the children to Miss Frances Day, agent of the State Children's Guardian Society.

An Exploded Theory.

"Everybody, you know, eats his peck of dirt before he dies." "That was the ancient estimate. You're a hundred years behind the times. In these days of dairy farms, sausage factories, pie bakeries, railway lunch counters, glue jellies, and fruit canneries, everybody eats his peck of dirt once a month."—Chicago Tribune.

Trading Stamp Co. Fails.

The doors of the Merchants' Trading Stamp Company's office, at 294 Newark avenue, Jersey City, were closed yesterday, to the disappointment of many women who have been collecting its stamps. Vice-Chancellor Stevenson, in Chancery Chambers, said he would appoint Eugene Leake receiver, subject to a further hearing, if the creditors desired.

Ensign Wade Home with His Bride.

Hackettstown, March 6.—Ensign Charles T. Wade, U. S. N., and bride returned to the home of his parents, former Mayor and Mrs. Charles W. Wade, in Washington street, a few days ago, for a brief visit. Tomorrow they leave for New York, and the following day he will report at Washington, D. C., for examination to the post of lieutenant.

HEARD IN RAHWAY PULPIT.

Rev. Mr. Merrit Tells of Rumored Political Deaths for Enforcing Law.

Rahway, March 6.—Rev. N. A. Merritt, Jr., in his sermon to his congregation in the First Baptist church Sunday night, touched on the liquor traffic bills before the Legislature. He said, in part:

"If Rahway wishes to emerge from its past apparent apathy, now is the time. Present reforms are contemplated, without abolishing drink. Many feel that it is a man's right to drink if he so wishes. I am not prepared to say that a man cannot take a drink of liquor if he wants it. No body of men in a democratic country has a right to dictate to a body of citizens on that point. We have a right to say that a few men whose interest is financial shall not say what we shall or shall not do. But we cry out against men ruling our city and State for ruin. I do not say we are to stand for abolition, but we are entitled to certain laws, and the observance of them that shall protect our homes.

"A sentiment of reform, it is felt, is needed in political life. Have we a Mayor and city officers that are not afraid to stand for right? For several Sundays we have been making history on the basis of law and order. We will stand no longer to live in a state of anarchy—the breaking of the law. A man, be he preacher or tramp, who obeys not the law, is an Anarchist. It is not freedom to break the law, but it is the work of an Anarchist.

"No effort has been made—great outcry to the contrary notwithstanding—to enforce the law in favor of any class of people, but only to enforce the laws as they are. I stand with them. The question is: Are we going to stand by the people in this enforcement?

"There are rumors afloat that an effort is being made to stop the enforcement of law by forcing our Mayor Furber and others out of office. If this were not so serious it would be ludicrous. It is too serious for that. But their efforts in that respect are absolutely futile.

"I wish they might succeed in putting out these officials, as they wish, for if they did it would force such an issue that every man who did not want to be branded as an Anarchist would stand up for the law and its enforcement."

TO BLOCK AUTO SPEEDERS.

High Walks Over Morris County Turnpike Proposed.

It was proposed to the Borough Council of Chatham last night that to prevent speeding of automobiles along the Morris County Turnpike high walks be laid at frequent intervals across the road. The walks would not be so high as to annoy carriages, but would effectually stop scorching of autos through the town.

The turnpike is the direct route from Newark to Morristown and Lake Hopatcong. Many automobilists are in the habit of speeding all the way from Newark to Morristown.

Opposition was manifested to the new proposition by some who prefer marshals and a tidy sum in fines and costs.

Spoke Too Soon.

A middle-aged woman and her little son, a lad of six or seven years, got on the car, and as soon as they were seated the woman took a half-dollar out of her pocket, and handed it to the youngster to pay the fare with. The boy held the coin in his small, fat hand, and examined it closely and solemnly. The conductor appeared for the fares, and the youngster gave him the half-dollar with owlish solemnity. The money was pocketed, and forty cents in change was put in the small, extended hand. As soon as he got this change, the boy laughed, wriggled in his seat, and shouted, gleefully: "Oh, ma, he's taken the bad half-dollar!"—Argonaut.

Change a Success.

The effect of changing the hour for Sunday School at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church from 2:30 o'clock to the noon hour on Sunday has been an agreeable surprise to all. The attendance on the first Sunday after the change was made was large rthan it had been for many weeks. Even the primary department had as many children as usual, 109, of whom twenty-five were little ones in the Beginners' Department, and more of the older pupils attended. Besides, nearly forty men and women remained as visitors.

Arrested As a Deserter.

Morristown, Mar. 6.—Alvah Voorhees, of Stanhope, who pleaded guilty to the larceny of a box of cartridges from a freight car of the Lackawanna Railroad at Port Morris, when arraigned before Judge Alfred Elmer Mills in the Morris County Court for sentence, yesterday, was set free under a suspension of sentence. Deputy United States Marshal Stewart at once arrested Voorhees on a charge of desertion from the United States Army.

Old Elizabeth Citizen Dead.

Elizabeth, Mar. 6.—Captain James B. Ogden, eighty-two years old, one of Elizabeth's oldest inhabitants, died Sunday night from pneumonia. He was born in Elizabeth, and for half a century carried on a wholesale oyster business at Elizabethport. He leaves a widow, one daughter and one son.

Miss Hoyt, of Binghamton, N. Y., is visiting her friend, Mrs. Frederic Harrington, of Rockview avenue.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

No play produced in recent years has met with such popular favor and success as Charles E. Blaney's scenic melodrama, "More to Be Pitied Than Scorned," the attraction at hte New Plainfield theatre tonight. In dealing with the characters of the story the author has properly portrayed each one as he has found them during his lengthy career as a producer of plays, as the play itself deals with a story of church and stage, and Mr. Blaney has had ample opportunity of doing this, coming in contact with countless numbers of theatrical people.

A stupendous presentation of Max H. Meyers' great sensational melodrama, "From Rags to Riches," will be offered for approval of the patrons of the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. The play, which is the greatest work of Charles A Taylor, presents a thrilling story of a New York boy, Ned Nimble, who after many adventures and adverses finally rises from squalid poverty to well deserved wealth. The scenic effects are said to be gorgeous and elaborately and truthfully portray the locale of the story. The magnificent view of the city from the roof of the famous Waldorf-Astoria; the Chinese quarters of the Bowery; the great white lane around Long Acre Square, are faithfully presented. Besides being of a sensational character, "From Rags to Riches" has many pathetic scenes which touch the heart strings and cause the tears to rise unbidden, but the play also abounds in bright and breezy comedy which serves to counteract the more somore portions of the drama. Max H. Meyers engaged an admirable supporting company for his present tour.

Pierce Kingsley's great American play, "Deserted at the Altar," will appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. This play has had a long and successful career, being in its third season on the road, and it has been endorsed by the press and public in every large city in the United States and Canada. This year it is stronger and better than ever. Richard R. Fisher, manager for Mr. Kingsley, has fitted out the production in a most elaborate manner. The automobile and bicycle race is a strong feature, and one of the most sensational scenes ever produced. The story is taken from life and is told in a powerful way, and so simply that any child can follow it. The humor is clean, there being over 200 laughs in 120 minutes.

There is an open air spirit about the breezy Western operatic comedy success, "The Tenderfoot," which makes it especially interesting to those who know the life it portrays. It is really a clever burlesque of life on the frontier, and the characters are typical, there being introduced the popular gambler, Mexicans and senoritas, Texas Rangers and vacqueros, cowgirls and Indians, and the inevitable Tenderfoot. Oscar L, Figman and Ruth White are the stars of this production, which is under the direction of W. P. Cullen, who made a big revival of "The Burgomaster" two years ago. It will be at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday night, March 15.

JERSEY BOYS TO TAKE ANNAPOLIS EXAMINATION.

Senator Dryden Names J. M. Whitehead for Midshipman Appointment.

Washington, March 6.—Senator Dryden has designated for appointment as midshipmen to the Naval Academy at Annapolis one principal and two alternates, who are to take their examination at that institution next June. The fortunate young men who thus stand a good chance of some day becoming rear-admirals—at least, one of the three stands such a chance—are: Principal, James Murray Whitehead, of Trenton, who is a nephew of Quartermaster-General C. Edward Murray; first alternate, Harold D. Sampson, who is the second son of the late Rear-Admiral Sampson, and a brother of the young man just reappointed to the same academy by President Roosevelt; second alternate, Robert Lincoln Gray, of Summit, who is a brother of the private secretary to Governor Stokes.

Colonel Carson, of New Brunswick, collector of the port at Perth Amboy; William H. Miers, of Trenton; Frank R. Sharp, of Irvington, and William R. Conrad, of Burlington, have just returned to their homes after a visit of two days at the capital. These men are prominent members of the Junior Order of American Mechanics, and they have been here to interest other members of the order in the movement to establish an independent organization in the States of New Jersey, New York, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia. They represent about 125,000 members of the order, who, about four years ago, entered upon a split in the organization that has never been healed. The New Jersey men now propose to submit their proposition to the different States councils, and try and arrange for a complete separate organization.

Jersey Merchant Dies Suddenly.

Bridgeton, March 6.—Timothy Campbell, seventy years old, one of South Jersey's leading commission merchants, died yesterday morning at his home in this city from a paralytic stroke. Mr. Campbell was born at Newport, this county, and had lived in Cumberland county all his life. He leaves a widow and a daughter.

"THUGS' VICTIM" ARRESTED.

Baker Who Alleged Robbery Charged With Embezzlement.

Millville, Mar. 6.—Frederick Roedel, the baker, who says he was attacked in his stable, gagged and forced to open his safe by two masked men, who robbed him of $3,400, last Monday, has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement and taken before Mayor George W. Payne. Roedel waived a hearing and was held by the magistrate under $3,000 bonds.

The charge was preferred by Lemuel M. Hess, from whom Roedel purchased the brick plant which was destroyed by fire on December 20 last. Hess, it is said, discovered the money of which Roedel says the robbers relieved him, deposited in a Philadelphia bank. Detectives have been hard at work on the case for the last week in search of clews to the robbers.

Mr. and Mrs. William de la Roche Anderson, who have been visiting Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olyphant, in New York, have returned to their home near Plainfield.

Plainfield, N. J., March 6, 1906.

It would be hard to discover what reason there was for Councilman Buxton pressing his resolution last night after Councilman Mellick, as a member of the hospital's board of governors, had explained to him fully just what the resolution called for.

It is a trying position to be between your friends and your duty and that is where Councilman Gloak stood last night when action was taken on the ordinance to abolish the office of second assistant chief of the fire department. Mr. Gloak proved faithful to his trust.

There is only one fault to find with the Common Council in increasing Mr. Gavett's salary—it didn't make it big enough. Without a single exception, he is the hardest-working, most painstaking and obliging official in the city. The many miles of excellent roads, which invariably incite favorable comment, are his handiwork, and a good share of the success of the sewage system may be attributed to him. One of the first things that attract people here are its finely macadamized and well-kept streets. The man who has charge of that work is one man in a thousand, but though his services have already been appreciated, no substantial recognition of them was taken until last night.

PATERSON'S POLICE CHIEF STARTS REFORM CRUSADE.

Gambling Places Raided and Politicians Caught—Sunday Law to Be Enforced.

John Bimson, Paterson's new chief of police, has started to reform the city. He has declared that saloons must close on Sundays and that side rooms to saloons for women must be abolished.

Sunday he ordered raids on two poker rooms within 100 feet of police headquarters, and thirty-five "sports," most of them prominent in political affairs, were taken. The rooms have been in operation for years, and Chief Bimson's raid on them caused a sensation.

The chief said that he had directed the raid because of complaints of mothers and wives against Louis Brown's "stuss" game, next to a "high class" gambling place run by Max Dempwolf and Richard Bame, the two places raided.

Each of the men arrested was taken to police headquarters, where, under fictitious names, they were fined $5 each by Recorder Noonberg Dempwolf, Bame and Brown were held in $1,000 each on charges of keeping a disorderly house.

NO ARGUMENT ON THE CALVARY CHURCH RULE.

Hearing in the Chancery Court Laid Over for a Week.

The hearing on the rule to show cause why Rev. P. T. Morris and five trustees of Calvary Baptist church should not be restrained from keeping Rev. G. W. Bailey out of the pastorate, which was to have been answered before Vice-Chancellor Emery in Newark this morning, has been laid over for a week by agreement between counsel.

Deacon Spencer Conway, head of the Morris faction, had something to say this morning about the disappearance of the collection Sunday morning.

"Scipio Whindleton — Deacon Whindleton—got that money," declared Deacon Conway. "Yessur, Whindleton took that money, and the old man who have been treasurer ever since the church begin, don't know where it is at. These things should not to be. It's wrong, and the sooner they is stopped and this schismatism is breached over the better for that church and the congregation of the Lord."

Miss Cornelia Sampson, of East Fifth street, has returned from a short stay at Atlantic City.

CITY AS AN OFFENDER

Board of Health Tells Common Council That Dwellings Must Be Made Sanitary.

FOR FIRE PROTECTION

More Hydrants Asked for—Sewer Contractor's Forfeit Money As Posted Is Returned.

Following up its work of abolishing unsanitary dwellings, the Board of Health communicated with the Common Council last evening in reference to the property located at 209 Plainfield avenue, owned by the city, by provision of the Martin act. The complaint of Health Officer L. R. Thurlow was presented and the city was asked to make such improvements in the property as will render it sanitary for habitation. On Mr. Mellick's motion the matter was referred to the committee on public affairs.

The belated letter from John J. Goff, withdrawing his application, was presented by Chairman F. L. Montgomery of the license committee. He stated that it was received too late to present at the last meeting, but he thought that in justice to Mr. Goff's lawyer, W. L. Wilson, some action should be taken regarding it. The letter was filed.

H. J. Runyon and other residents of Rahway road again called the attention of the Common Council to a request for two fire hydrants on Rahway road between Woodland avenue and the city limits. The matter was referred to the fire committee, as was also a petition from J. S. Fuller and others for a hydrant on Union street, between Union street and Stelle avenue. Another petition from the same parties requested that an electric light be located on Union street between Arlington and Stelle avenue. It was referred to the light committee.

In response to a request from M. Honan & Sons, sewer contractors, the sum of $115.40, held at the City National Bank for over six years, to meet any claims that might be presented against the firm following the completion of work here, was ordered returned on a motion by Mr. Gloak.

It was stated that the fire insurance policy protecting city property at Dunellen and Rock avenues had been renewed and the communication was filed. Building Inspector Doane reported that eleven permits had been granted during the past month.

In accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Ginna, and upon the advice of Corporation Counsel Marsh, the sum of $17.70, assessed in error on property at 1424 West Fourth street, owned by the Home Real Estate Company, was ordered returned.

In reply to a communication from the clerk of Fanwood township, complaining of the condition of Terrill road leading into the city, Mr. Gloak stated that the matter would be attended to soon. Mr. Gloak also reported on the complaint of Thomas Morcom, superintendent of the Plainfield Avenue cemetery, who objected to the practice of billposters in allowing paper to blow about the streets and into the ceemtery. Mr. Gloak said that Chief of Police Kiely had been instructed to look after the matter and he added that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt an ordinance covering such nuisances.

Mr. Gloak offered a resolution fixing Thursday night, March 22, when bids will be received for furnishing crushed stone, crosswalks and culverts for the coming year. The resolution was adopted.

In accordance with resolutions offered by Mr. Mellick one two-way hydrant was ordered placed on Randolph road opposite the hospital and another two-way hydrant on Randolph road at Woodland avenue. This action was taken at the request of the Board of Governors of the hospital and the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club.

Another resolution by Mr. Mellick provided for the appointment of T. O. Doane as building inspector at a yearly salary of $500. The appointment, which is for one year, was confirmed.

Mr. Gloak offered an ordinance, which was adopted on first and second readings, and ordered advertised, providing for the opening and acceptance of a portion of Denmark road, between Berkeley avenue and a point near David Hand's property.

SPITE HOUSE NEAR CHURCH.

Dealer in Junk Advertises for Italian and Negro Families.

Yonkers, N. Y., March 6.—Persons living near St. Andrew's Memorial church are much excited over the erection of a spite house by James Callahan, a dealer in junk, within fifty feet of the church and in the centre of a colony of expensive houses. The house contains twenty-four apartments, and Callahan has advertised for Italian and negro families to fill it. He says he will decorate it with advertisements.

Callahan kept a junk shop in the district and his neighbors complained to the Board of Health, and finally bought the property at an exorbitant price. He then built the spite house on ground occupied by his own home. The neighbors are preparing to build a high fence around the property.

Carnival Drawing Card.

Through the efforts of former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, a novel production will be one of the features of the Hospital Carnival in June provided it is passed upon favorably by Major Maze Edwards, who has been authorized to witness a private rehearsal of the performance tomorrow night. The dancing dolls are controlled by Mr. Simon Levy, an old college friend of Judge Runyon, who first suggested the scheme to Mr. Fisk. Mr. Levy has traveled all over the world with his show during the last few years and is now living in New York.

PROBLEMS IN EDUCATION

Dr. Hall, President of Clark University, on "Education and Democracy."

AS TO INDIVIDUALITY

Lecturer at Monday Afternoon Club Refers to Things That Retard Educational Work.

A large gathering of members of the Monday Afternoon Club and their friends at the Casino yesterday afternoon were addressed by Dr. Stanley Hall, president of Clark University, of Worcester, Mass., on the subject, "Education and Democracy." It was more in the form of a lecture on "individuality" and proved one of the most interesting in the series being conducted by the club.

At the beginning of his remarks Dr. Hall dwelt on matters pertaining to the present day educational system and specified several problems that are retarding progress in this direction. The limited terms of teachers, many of whom serve but four years, he ascribed as one, the large foreign element in schools and the low salaries of teachers he mentioned as others. Referring to the latter, Dr. Hall said that in three States the minimum amount paid is $300, an amount that is easily earned by young women in stores and offices who were not forced to spend years in schools and colleges fitting themselves for the places.

Touching directly on individuality, Dr. Hall asserted that the tendency of the present age is to be original, or the getting away from forms. This is to be verified every day, he said, in noting how people adopt anything new in dress or are quick to organize clubs with unconventional purposes in view, the coming of new words and the seeking of odd phrases and names. He held society responsible for making henchmen of its followers, as it prefers to accept custom rather than create for itself.

"Individuality," he continued, "is the result of revolting from the conventional order of things, and it was never more apparent than it is now. The world is turning a new corner and it exhibits a constant tendency to do things. It realizes that the will is bigger than the intellect; that the artist is better than the scholar. We have a least awakened to the fact that we are two-thirds will and feeling and one-third intellect; hence we long for any little touch of genius and for the people who dothings their own way."

According to Dr. Hall's way of thinking, the tendency of today, as observed in the schools, to cultivate the aptitudes of children, would find its full expression in the next generation of teachers, who would study the natural bent of the students. This he held to be the aim of the education that educates.

Dr. Hall was accompanied to the city by his wife, who was Miss Fannie Smith and a former resident, who lived on West Front street. Both she and Dr. Hall spent part of yesterday and today renewing old acquaintances.

YALE CLUB DINNER.

Executive Committee Fixes April 21 As the Date at the Casino.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Plainfield Yale Club at the home of President T. M. Day, Jr., of Carlton avenue, last night, preliminary plans were made for a dinner as authorized at the recent annual gathering. It will be held on April 21 at the Casino and an attempt will be made to have it surpass in social features anything the organization has yet conducted. The toastmaster and list of speakers will be announced later. The former will be a member of the club and the latter will include men well known in the collegiate world.

The membership list of the club was revised and it was shown that there are now ninety-four in good standing. All are taking an active interest in the affairs of the organization and it is constantly gaining in stability and influence.

KEELY GETS CONTRACT

Street Sprinkling Job Again Awarded to Him For Coming Year.

COSTS THE CITY MORE

Extension of Time Will Result In Additional Expense of $1,000 —Mr. Tyler Tries to Delay Award.

Following a good deal of discussion, the contract for street sprinkling during the coming season was given to John E. Keely by the Common Council last night, his bid being $667 per month. The consideration is to be paid monthly. The contract calls for sixteen horses and drivers, together with all equipment excepting the sprinkling carts, which are owned by the city. The contract begins April 1 and ends October 1. Mr. Keely agrees to sprinkle the streets free of charge at any time during March and November and December when in the judgment of Street Commissioner Gavett it is needed.

The expense for doing the work this year will be about $1,000 more than last year, because the sprinkling will be started a month earlier and extended a little later in the fall, covering a period altogether of seven months. The contract price of $667 does not include the cost of water.

Mr. Tyler advised that more time be taken to consider the matter. He said that the street committee had not gone over the contract thoroughly, and i nview of he large expenditure of money believed that careful consideration should be given the subject.

Mr. Gloak referred to the trouble of last year, when the merchants complained about the dust, and he urged starting the work at once if necessary. Mr. Mellick impressed upon Mr. Tyler that the sprinkling would be started six weeks earlier than last year, and this, he thought, was an advantage. Mr. Ginna said that at the meeting of the street committee it was agreed that the proposition was a good one to accept, and Mr. Tolles thought that there was very little difference in cost as to whether the work was started April 1 or May 1, and he favored the contract as offered.

When the vote was taken all the members except Mr. Tyler voted to award the contract to Mr. Keely, and the Third ward member voted in the negative.

On Mr. Gloak's motion, the Mayor and city clerk were authorized to execute the contract and arrange with Armstrong Mulford and C. H. Hand, Mr. Keely's bondsmen, for the filing of the bonds.

At the request of Mr. Tyler, Street Commissioner Gavett explained the terms of the contract, which, he said, were almost identical with those of last year, excepting that the time for sprinkling had been extended.

EXEMPT FIREMEN NOMINATE OFFICERS.

Organization Will Take Part in Parade at Elizabeth.

Officers were nominated and other business considered at the meeting of the Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association, last night, and it was decided to accept the invitation to join in a firemen's parade at Elizabeth in October. The association will secure new uniforms and will exhibit the silver hose carriage in the parade. D. W. Littell, as an official of the State Exempt Firemen's Association, presented a report of the progress of that association.

These officers were nominated, the election to be held in April: President, V. W. Nash, Sr.; vice president, George Ball; secretary, G. Thorn; treasurer, Eugene M. Laing; financial secretary, George W. Clark; trustees, Eugene M. Laing, W. A. Woodruff, J. O. Cranston, D. W. Littell, Joseph A. Hubbard.

J. O. Cranston, George Studer and George Ball were nominated as delegates to the Firemen's Relief convention to be held at Nutley in May.

Wreck Victim Recovering.

The possibility that he may eventually recover the use of his legs and be able to walk again, has brought great joy to Fred Kanen, of Watchung avenue, who was one of those seriously injured in the Westfield wreck on the New Jersey Central in January, 1903. Greatly to his surprise and that of his parents, he showed last night his power to move his toes, showing that there is a gradual return of strength to his legs. At the time of the accident young Kanen received a serious injury to his spine and it was thought that he would always be helpless. These indications of recovery have given the lad renewed hope that he will again be able to walk.

Twenty Days for McGuirk

Joseph McGuirk, of Elm place, was arrested last night on his wife's complaint, for drunkenness and disorder. McGuirk left his home Sunday declaring his unalterable intention to tay away. He came back yesterday and kicked up a fuss that scared his small daughter into running to Officer Overbaugh for protection. Judge Runyon fined him $10 or twenty days. He didn't have the ten.

Divorced 10 Years, Seeks Divorce.

Conversation between Lawyers Addison Ely, of Rutherford, and Clarence Kecey, of Jersey City, revealed the fact that C. H. Casta, of 1021 Avenue D, Bayonne, who is seeking a divorce from his wife, was divorced by her ten years ago. She brought suit at Rutherford, alleging desertion and that her husband compelled her to "tend bar." She was a singer in church choirs. Recently Casta sued for a divorce on the ground of desertion, and a decree has been recommended.

Peter Egenolf Injured.

While attempting to pacify his spirited team of horses which was frightened by a passing train at Elizabeth, this morning, Peter Egenolf, one of the best known citizens of that city, was thrown down and kicked in the leg by one of the animals. He suffered a compound fracture of the bone near the ankle and the legiments of the leg were badly torn.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Annotated list of new books recently added to the Library, part 1. Part 2 will follow next week.

Addison, J. de W.—Art of the National Gallery: a critical survey of the schools and painters as represented in the British collection.

"Follows as far as possible the arrangement of the National Gallery in which the various schools appear in their historic order. Gives a floor plan of the gallery and about fifty of the most celebrated pictures produced in duogravure from photographs." Publishers' weekly.

Asakawa, Kanichi.—Early institutional life of Japan

"Next to Mr. Chamberlain's translation of the 'Kojiki' this volume is first in importance of works in English upon the period of which it treats." American historical review, Oct. '05.

Bacon, E. M.—Hudson river from ocean to source: historical, legendary, picturesque.

"No stream in America is so rich in legends and historic associations as the Hudson. From ocean to source every mile of it is crowned with reminders of early explorers, of the Indian wars, of the struggle of the colonies, and of the quaint, peaceful village existence along its banks in the eary days of the Republic."

Bashore, H. B.—Sanitation of a country house.

"The suggestions that he offers to the prospective builder of a country house are eminently practical, based on a scientific study of rural conditions." Country calendar, Sept. '05.

Belding, A. G.—Commercial correspondence.

Contents—The parts of a letter, The wording of a letter, Folding and addressing letters, letters ordering goods, Remittances and inclosures, etc.

Bie, Oscar.—History of the pianoforte and pianoforte players.

"An exceedingly interesting history of the origin and development of the modern piano from the days of Queen Elizabeth down to the latest product of our best piano makers." N. Y. Saturday Rev. Dec. 16, '99.

Coman, Katharine. — Industrial history of the United States.

"It supplements in a highly interesting way the ordinary narrative text-book, and will prove a valuable adjunct in the teaching of the subject." Dial, Dec. 1, '05.

Commons, J. R.—Trade unionism and labor problems.

"The chapters are reprints of articles contributed by scientific and practical investigators to the economic journals and reviews. Each selection has been chosen with a view to bringing out a single phase of the subject and to give a concrete case illustrating that phase."

Devinne, T. L.—Modern methods of book composition.

"There is nothing else just like it, and it has been highly commended by every expert and critic who has seen it. Mr. DeVinne is everywhere recognized as the highest authority on the subject about which he writes."

Dow, J. W.—American renaissance: a review of domestic architecture.

"We now have a handsome volume recording both pictorially and textually the most distinguished examples of the various styles of domestic architecture belonging to the best period." Studio, July 1904.

Elson, Arthur.—Orchestral instruments and their use: giving a description of each instrument now employed by civilized nations, a brief accounts of its history . . and an explanation of its value and functions in modern orchestra.

Hart, Albert Bushnell, ed.—Actual government as applied under American conditions.

"The latest and in some respects the most valuable contribution to the recent output of high-class text-book literature on American government." Annals of Amer. Academy, Jan. 1904.

James, G. Wharton.—In and out of the old missions of California.

"An interesting and adequate treatment of a fascinating theme." Dial, Dec. 16, 1905.

". . .Perhaps the distinctive feature of the volume is its treatment of mission architecture and interior decoration. A careful survey of the mural decorations of the missions is followed by a pictorial account of the crosses, candlesticks, and other silver and brass ware, and of the various figures of the saints found at the missions. The illustrations are reproduced from photographs made expressly for this book."

James Henry—English hours, illustrated by Joseph Pennell.

"Mr. James is like his simple original self in this charming book." Critic, Dec. '05.

Jordan, D. S., and Kellogg, V. L. —Animal life: a first book of zoology.

"Its simple elementary treatment, excellent illustrations, and the piquancy of new facts gathered from the Pacific shores, make it a most attractive volume, which should play a good part in awaking interest in zoology." American naturalist, January 1901.

Leonard, W. S.—Machine-shop tools and methods.

"The book as a whole is undoubtedly the best one on machine shop practice that has yet appeared." W. W. Bird in Engineering News, Nov. 16, '05.

Long, W. J.—Northern trails; stories of animal life in the far north.

"There is a charm about Mr. Long's book that few writers for children attain." Academy, Dec. 9, 1905.

Lounsberry, Alice.—Southern wild flowers and trees.

"Practically an extension of work already begun. Her former work dealt mainly with trees, shrubs and flora of northern America. . . Clearly indexed and finely illustrated." Outlook, Nov. 10, '01.

LITERARY NOTES.

THE SHOW WINDOW.

Don't neglect the upper part of the window.

Don't stick to one style of trimming. Branch out.

Don't skimp on elbow grease in cleaning the glass.

Don't wait till a trim is fly specked before changing it.

Don't overlook the utility of a certain number of fixtures.

Don't be afraid to try something new in the way of a display.

Don't fill a sunny window with goods that the sun will discolor.

Don't let the window stand too long. A week is about the limit.

Don't be afraid to spend a little money on the trim. It will come back.

Don't fail to call the local newspaper's attention to each nice trim that you make.

Don't prolong the trimming unnecessarily. A quick change will impress the public more.

Don't copy. But you can elaborate or change someone else's ideas without being open to the criticism of copying.—Exchange.

Say He Forged an Order.

Toms River, March 6.—William T. McKaig, of Island Heights, was arrested Saturday night and taken before Judge A. C. Martin, here, on the charge of forging the name of James H. Bogert, Mayor of the Island Heights borough, to an order for 100 sacks of cement. Bogert is said to have given McKaig an order for fifteen barrels of cement, but the order presented was twenty-five barrels, or 100 sacks. His brother, Charles McKaig, went his bail. Some years ago, it is said, McKaig pleaded guilty to the charge of forging an improvement certificate of Island Heights borough for $500. He was then clerk of the borough, and forged the name of the Mayor, Howard D. Van Sant.

Drops Dead in Restaurant.

Jersey City, March 6.—"I guess I'll take a steak," said an elderly man to a younger man as they sat at a table in a restaurant at 95 Montgomery street, this city, Saturday, and when the steaks were served the aged man dropped dead. His companion fled, but forgot to take his overcoat with him, and the police took charge of the garment. The body was sent to Hughes' morgue. The victim was about sixty years old, had a gray mustache and was slightly bald. There were no papers on him leading to identification. Death was ascribed to heart disease.

Major Franklin C. Woolman Dead.

Burlington, March 6.—Major Franklin C. Woolman, forty-eight years old, a lawyer, and once prominent State National Guardsman, died at his home here yesterday, after several weeks' illness from a throat disease. Major Woolman was a descendant of one of the oldest families of Burlington county, was a graduate of Princeton University, member of the New York and New Jersey Bar Association, and represented Camden county for three years in the State Assembly. He was also one of the West Jersey Proprietors, the body that has survived Colonial days.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

A TIME LIMIT ON AN ENGAGEMENT.

In our sentimental age it is impossible to return to the good old custom that prevailed when a man who asked permission to visit your daughter was asked to file a declaration that he meant business and was going to begin active operations right away.

Nevertheless every thoughful person knows that there ought to be a time limit on engagements, and that it is a wise parent who calls for a breakaway when there is no immediate prospect of the wedding.

Nothing else is so trying on a girl as a long engagement.

It bunches all the other woes and worries of her sex, without any of their ameliorations.

She is a grass widow without alimoney, a wife without a billpayer, a maiden with no further opportunities of conquest.

She has made a compact with fate, in which she has signed, sealed and delivered herself over without getting anything in return for it but a piecrust promise from a man, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

American society, so far as men are concerned, is run too much on the opendoor policy, anyway. We need a little more home protection.

Any man with a decent coat and half-way decent manner can get an entree into any house he chooses.

This has produced a class of social freebooters—men whose attentions are without intention, and who simply use the parlors of their female acquaintances as a kind of free club, where they are electric-fanned and cool-drinked in summer and steam-heated in winter, and entertained at all times without money and without price.

A long engagement is suicide of happiness for a girl, and any one is justified in keeping her from committing that particular form of harikari if possible.

Deep Custard Pie.

In old times a deep custard pie was the treat offered to company invited to tea, and it was entirely innocent of a meringue. But it was rich and satisfying. To make such a pie put four cups of milk and a shaving of the yellow part of a lemon rind in a double boiler and heat. Mix a level tablespoon of flour in a little cold milk and cook two minutes. Now pour the thickened milk over four eggs beaten with one-half cup of sugar. Pour into a deep plate lined with rich paste; grate a little nutmeg over and omit the lemon rind if it is not liked. Bake in a moderate oven until the custard is firm in the centre. Have the heat strong on the floor of the oven in order to have the crust cook before it soaks.

White Ginger Cake.

Cream one-half cup of butter, add slowly one cup of fine granulated sugar and beat, then add three eggs beaten light. Add one-half cup of cream, a level teaspoon of cinnamon, a level tablespoon of ginger and two cups of flour. Beat smooth. Dissolve one-half level teaspoon of soda in two teaspoons of vinegar, stir at once into the cake and bake three-quarters of an hour.

Fish Chowder.

Put wo layers of thin slices of salt pork in a kettle and fry until crisp. Take out half. On the pork remaining in the kettle make a layer of fresh cod or haddock cut in slices, then a layer of pared and sliced potatoes, on that a layer of sliced onions, making this not quite as thick as the other, and on the onion lay a row of split crackers. Season all with salt and pepper as put in, then repeat the layers in the same order, putting the pork that was reserved on the crackers and following the same order as at first. Cover with boiling water, lay a plate on to cover closely and cook slowly one hour. About ten minutes before the chowder is done pour in two cups of milk and finish cooking.

Accident Victim's Funeral.

Newton, March 6.—The funeral services of John Haggerty, the young son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Haggerty, who was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun at his home in Sussex borough on Friday, were held at the house Sunday, Rev. E. A. Hamilton officiating. The attendance was large, as the boy was popular in the place and grief over the occurrence is general. The child was an only one of Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty, and both parents are deeply affected, the mother particularly being reported in a serious condition.

Britain Denounced in Massmeeting.

Jersey City, March 6.—In celebration of the 128th anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet, the Wolfe Tone Club, Clan-Na-Gael, held a massmeeting Sunday night in the Academy of Music, this city. James A. Hammil and John T. Keating, a director of the national board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, made speeches. Resolutions denouncing Great Britain were adopted.

Saved By Newspapers.

A cousin of Governor Pennypacker has come to the conclusion that the State of Pennsylvania was saved by the newspapers. As the governor himself gained some notoriety as a press censor, he may not share the enthusiasm of his relative, but there can be no doubt about the truth of the conclusion.—Chicago Record-Herald.

"The Man on the Box"

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Author of "The Grey Cloak," "The Puppet Crown."

Copyright, 1894, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"Too late? What do you mean? Have you dared to ask her to be your wife?" Had Karloff held her arm at this moment, he would have comprehended many things.

"No, no! My word has gone forth to my government; there is a wall behind me, and I can not go back. To stop means worse than death. My property will be confiscated and my name obliterated, my body rot slowly in the frozen north. Oh, I know my country; one does not gain her gratitude by failure. I must have those plans, and nowhere could I obtain such perfect ones."

"Then you will give her up?" There was a broken note.

The count smiled. To her it was a smile scarce less than a snarl.

"Give her up? Yes, as a mother gives up her child, as a lioness her cub. She has refused me, but nevertheless she shall be my wife. Oh, I am well-versed in human nature. She loves her father and I know what sacrifices she would make to save his honor. To-night!—" But his lips suddenly closed.

"Well, to-night? Why do you not go on?" Mrs. Chadwick was pale. Her gloved hands were clenched. A spasm of some sort seemed to hold her in its shaking grasp.

"Nothing, nothing! In heaven's name, why have you stirred me so?" he cried.

"Supposing, after all, I loved you?"

He retreated. "Madam, your suppositions are becoming intolerable and impossible."

"Nothing is impossible. Supposing I loved you as violently and passionately as you love this girl?"

"Madam,"—hastily and with gentleness, "do not say anything which may cause me to blush for you; say nothing you may regret to-morrow."

"I am a woman of circumspection. My suppositions are merely argumentative. Do you realize, Count, that I could force you to marry me?"

Karloff's astonishment could not be equaled. "Force me to marry you?"

"Is the thought so distasteful, then?"

"You are mad to-night."

"Not so. In whatever manner you have succeeded in this country, your debt of gratitude is owing to me. I do not recall this fact as a reproach; I make the statement to bear me on in what I have to submit to your discerning intelligence. I doubt if there is another woman, here or abroad, who knows you so well as I. Your personal honor is beyond impeachment but Russia is making vast efforts to speckle it. She will succeed. Yes, I could force you to marry me. With a word I could tumble your house of cards. I am a worldly woman and not without wit and address. I possess every one of your letters, most of all have I treasured the extravagant ones. To some you have signed your name. If you have kept mine, you will observe that my given name might mean any one of a thousand women who are named 'Grace.' Shall you marry me? Shall I tumble your house of cards? I could go to Col. Annesley and say to him that if he delivers these plans to you, I shall denounce him to the secret service officers. I might cause his utter financial ruin, but his name would descend to his daughter untarnished."

"You would not dare!" the count interrupted.

"What? And you know me so well? I have not given you my word to reveal nothing. You confided in my rare quality of silence; you confided in me because you had proved me. Man is not infallible, even when he is named Karloff." She lifted from a vase her flowers, from which she shook the water. "Laws have been passed or annulled; laws have died at the executive desk. Who told you that this was to be, or that, long before it came to pass? In all the successful intrigues of Russia in this country, whom have you to thank? Me. Ordinarily a woman does not do these things as a pastime. There must be some strong motive behind. You asked me why I have stirred you so. Perhaps it is because I am neither two-and-twenty nor you two-score. It is these little barbs that remain in a woman's heart. Well, I do not love you well enough to marry you, but I love you too well to permit you to marry Miss Annesley."

"IT IS WAR, THEN?"

"That has the sound of war. I did love you that night,"—not without a certain nobility.

"How easily you say 'that night!' Surely there was wisdom in that smile of mine. And I nearly tumbled into the pit! I must have looked exceedingly well . . . that night!"—drily.

"You are very bitter to-night. Had you taken me at my word, I never should have looked at Miss Annesley. And had I ceased to love you, not even you would have known it."

"Is it possible?"—ironically.

"It is. I have too much pride to permit a woman to see that I have made a mistake."

"Then you consider in the present instance that you have not made a mistake? You are frank."

"At least I have not made a mistake which I can not rectify. Madam, let us not be enemies. As you say, I owe you too much. What is it you desire?"—with forced amiability.

"Deprive Col. Annesley of his honor, that, as you say, is inevitable; but I love that girl as I would a child of my own, and I will not see her caught in a net of this sort, or wedded to a man whose government robs him of his manhood and individuality."

"Do not forget that I hold my country first and foremost."—proudly.

"Love has no country, nor laws, nor galling chains of incertitude. Love is magnificent only in that it gives all without question. You love this girl with reservations. You shall not have her. You shall not have even me, who loves you after a fashion, for I could never look upon you as a husband; in my eyes you would always be an accomplice."

"It is war, then?"—curtly.

"War? Oh, no; we merely sever our diplomatic relations," she purred.

"Madam, listen to me. I shall make one more attempt to win this girl honorably. For you are right; love to be love must be magnificent. If she accepts me, for her sake I will become an outcast, a man without a country. If she refuses me, I shall go on to the end. Speak to the colonel, madam; it is too late. Like myself, he has gone too far. Why did you open the way for me as you did? I should have been satisfied with a discontented clerk. You threw this girl across my path, indirectly, it is true; but nevertheless the fault is yours."

"I recognize it. At that time I did not realize how much you were to me."

"You are a strange woman. I do not understand you."

"Incompatibility. Come, the carriage is waiting. Let us be gone."

"You have spoilt the evening for me," said the count, as he threw her cloak across her shoulders.

"On the contrary, I have added a peculiar zest. No, let us go and appear before the world, and smile, and laugh, and eat, and gossip. Let the heart throb with a dull pain, if it will; the mask is ours to do with as we may."

They were, in my opinion, two very unusual persons.

WHY SOME GIRLS ARE NOT MARRIED

STANDARDS OF LIFE HAVE RISEN AND YOUNG PEOPLE WAIT FOR A INCOME.

I am one of a family of two girls and one boy, and my parents are both wealthy, in particular my father, says "A Rich Man's Daughter" in the London Mail. A man proposed to me six months ago, and with the consent of my parents we became engaged. My fiance and I are anxious to marry soon, and so the other day my fiance approached my father upon the subject of settlements, and met with the response that beyond a pittance of £75 per annum—my pin money, that is to say—which my father proposes to continue to allow me, he will make no monetary settlement upon me, nor permit my mother to do so.

My father told my fiance that upon his death I should be a rich woman, but that until that event I should have from him only what he had said. Upon learning this my fiance told my father in so many words that such an arrangement was not good enough for him. My father was aghast. He did not understand the point of vie wtaken by my fiance in the least, and despite the pains with which he tried to put the situation from his standpoint before my father, my father remained so hurt and vexed that he ended the interview stormily, and refused to listen to a renewal of the subject.

After making a futile attempt to open up the subject with my father, who speedily suppressed any discussion with the remark that it was not my business to talk about matters I could not understand, I went to my mother and threshed out the subject with her As it happened, during our conversation an aunt of mine, who is a thorough woman of the world and my father's sister, made her appearance. Her views and those of my mother are diametrically opposed, and I think it will be found interesting if I note down here both sides of the very vexed question.

My mother argues, I daresay, in exactly the vein that has been laid down for her by my father, against my sweetheart's course of action. She says she does not see why her daughter should not begin life as she did—that is to say, as the wife of a man with his way to make in the world, and with a very small income at the outset of his career.

The conduct of my fiance in asking for money with me, my mother stigmatized as unworthy of him. She said that had she not known and admired him, she would have set him down as a fortune hunter and nothing more. She added that she thought my father was very generous to allow me my pin money after my marriage.

At this point my aunt, who had been listening attentively to what we were saying, asked if she might express her views upon the subject. She said that she quite understood the position taken by my fiance. He is a young doctor who means to do very well in his profession. He is clever, and feels that he has a great future before him, but, argued my aunt, if he marries, and it is generally considered a good plan for a young doctor to marry, and settle down as a general practitioner, he may, and probably will, make a fairly good income, but never anything very great, because of the hampering conditions of poverty stricken matrimony.

It is not unnatural, therefore, that he should wish his wife to have a sufficient dowry to enable him to rise above the petty trials of working for her bread and butter, and instead devote himself heart and soul to the amassing of knowledge in the particular branch of surgery that he means to make his own.

Proceeding with the setting forth of her ideas, my aunt pointed out to my mother that the position of affairs is very much changed since the time she and my father were married. House rents have considerably risen and rates and taxes have followed suit. The professional man must inhabit a good house in a good neighborhood, particularly if he is to be a wealthy doctor, for only there can he expect good fees, and his wife must play her part in the scheme of affairs by dressing well and entertaining well.

My aunt is very strongly of opinion that one reason why young men of this generation do not marry until they are well over thirty is that they can not face life on small incomes with the equanimity their fathers did. It is generally supposed that extravagance, selfishness and a desire for luxury prevent early marriages, but she says that she thinks this is not at all the case, but that ambition is quenched by early marriages unless there is plenty of money to make the husband's mind easy upon the score of his wife and children's comfort and happiness.

Make marriage a business affair, said my aunt boldly, and you will face the matter in the proper spirit.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Don't fail to attend the meeting of baseball fans at the Hotel Iroquois Saturday night. Every fan who is interested in having good baseball here this summer should be at the meeting and help the thing along. An attractive proposition will be presented, one that will appeal to every one as fair and reasonable and on this basis it is hoped to form an association.

Within the next week a number of the representatives of the baseball clubs comprising the Lackawanna Baseball League will hold a meeting to set the league machinery in motion for another season. In the meantime the managers are scurrying about in search of new players and of former ones. The retention of many men on last season's teams made impossible the $65 salary limit placed upon clubs and in consequence the managers are compelled in many instances to seek fresh material. So far Dover is the only town to announce its full team. Most of the other managers are waiting until they have contracts safely signed before making statements. It is not yet definitely known whether Irvington, which has been invited to enter the circuit, will decide to put a team in the league. If this town does not enter there will be an awkward gap to be filled. Orange will be represented in the league as formerly.

The New York Press of Sunday devotes a good part of a page to pictures and a story of "Wee Willie" Keeler, who is so well-known to local fans. He is described as the "Kingpin of the Highlanders," whose motto is "Hit 'Em Where They Ain't." Keeler, who got his real start in baseball here, playing with the Crescents in 1890-91, is considerad today the most scientific batter in the baseball world, so says Clark Griffith. He is just as clever today in placing the ball outside the reach of fielders as he was years ago, and that used to be his trick when playing here. According to the opinion of those competent to judge, that regarded from all points of view, batting, fielding and base running, it is doubtful if there is in baseball a more valuable man to a team than William Keeler. Peculiar characteristics of his playing is that he is a southpaw, uses a very small bat and invariably hits the ball, while in fielding he is rated as one of the fastest, time and again catching what appears to be almost impossible fly balls. Keeler first began playing in Brooklyn on the Acmes. From there he came to Plainfield. In 1891 he went to Binghamton and a year later signed with the Giants. He remained there but a short time when he was injured and was finally sent to Brooklyn. He then served five years with the Baltimore team, under the management of "Ned" Hanlon. He remained in Brooklyn until 1903, when he signed with the New York Americans, where he has been ever since. The coming season promises to be one of his best in the game.

HURRYING SMALL TO THE GALLOWS.

Self-Confessed Murderer of Miss Allinson Is on Trial—His Confession Admitted.

Mt. Holly, March 6—George Small, colored, who has confessed that he and not Rufus Johnson, colored, strangled Miss Florence Allinson in a barn at Moorestown on January 18 last, was placed on trial here yesterday. Johnson was convicted recently of the crime, largely on his ow nconfession, which he afterward denied.

Justice Hendrickson presided at the trial. The Court House was crowded and many persons could not gain admission. The negro was taken from the jail into court by a back way to avoid the crowds.

The general impression that the trial would be a mere form was changed when Thomas L. Gaskill, the prisoner's counsel, gave evidence of an intention to make a very stubborn fight to save Small's neck.

A jury was quickly drawn, and Prosecutor Atkinson opened his case by laying before them all the facts that the State expects to prove to show that it was Small's hand that tied the rope which strangled Miss Allinson and held the club which felled her. He said he would show Small's movements on the day of the crime, produce witnesses who saw him with Johnson at the scene of the murder and would produce the bloody clothing worn by him that day, concluding with the presentation of the confession of February 21, in which Small had voluntarily admitted his guilt of the murder.

Many of the witnesses repeated the testimony they gave in Johnson's trial. The only changes in the testimony of any of these witnesses was in that of the physicians, who testified that not only had Miss Allinson been murdered but that another serious crime had been perpetrated in the commission of the murder.

Mrs. Eastlake, Miss Allinson's sister, was in tears as she went upon the witness stand and identified the watch and clothing worn by the murdered woman. She faltered and in trembling voice said: "Yes, that is my sister's watch; my brother gave it to her when she was twenty-one years old."

The fight on the admission of Small's confession was very spirited. Counsellor Gaskill showed that Detective Lore, in the presence of witnesses, had promised Small that John Dugan would give $500 to hire a lawyer and clear Small of the crime if he would admit the truth and confess to the murder of the unfortunate woman. Lore also said that he had promised Small to give $100 in addition to Dugan's money to help him get clear. The defence argued that by this promise Small was induced to make his confession; that it was not voluntary and should be excluded as evidence.

Prosecutor Atkinson contended that any defect in the confession was cured when he formally warned Small of his rights at the time the confession was reduced to writing, and that with these warnings if Small confessed it must be entirely legal as evidence against him in this trial for his life.

Justice Hendrickson, after a long discussion of the law, admitted the confession and it was read to the jury.

TOWNSHIP CITIZENS WANT ROAD IMPROVED

ASSOCIATION FORMED TO ATTAIN THE DESIRED END.

The citizens of North Plainfield and Warren townships assembled last night at Pedeflous' Hotel for the purpose of organizing an association whose main object is to improve the Warrenville road. The name of the association is to be "The Washington Valley Road Improvement Association," John C. Cooper, president; Arthur D. Stout, vice-president; Hubert P. Phillips, secretary, and W. de la R. Anderson, treasurer. The purpose of this association is to bring before the notice of the county Board of Freeholders the necessity of converting the present miserable road into a seventy-five foot macadam boulevard. Many good speakers attended this meeting last night and it was agreed that the great trouble between the farmer and the automobilist is that the roads are not adequate to accommodate both. The majority of the property owners on this important highway between the point of the Notch and Warrenville were present and gave their consent freely to allow the county as much ground as they would require to make this highway a credit to the county.

A committee was appointed for the purpose of circulating the petition and putting same in shape for presentation; also to arrange for a series of mass meeting which will be held at some convenient point along the line. This committee consists of Francis E. Bodin, W. Howard Toms and Hubert P. Phillips.

Mount Holly, March 6.—Edmund Braddock, while visiting one of his cranberry bogs at Buzby's Mills, on which lives one of his men, Frank Durand, was threatened by the latter with a double barrelled shotgun. Mr. Braddock stood behind his horse while he tried to reason with Durand, who declared that Braddock had tried to kill him by setting poison all about the place.

Constable Peak and two other men, who later went after Durand with a warrant, found him chopping down trees. With axe in hand Durand defied them and he was captured only after a desperate struggle. An examination of his mental condition will be made.

HEALTH BOARD ELECTS

Borough Organization Now Headed By Joseph O. Osgood, Succeeding Andrew Love, Sr.

YEARLY REPORTS READ

Scale of License Fees Fixed Benefitting Ice Men—Garbage Collectors Make Explanations.

The Borough Board of Health received reports and acted upon several important matters at the annual meeting last night. Joseph O. Osgood was made president to succeed Andrew Love, Sr., whose term expired the first of the year; Dr. A. H. Dundon was re-elected secretary and treasurer and registrar of vital statistics and Frank Dencklau was retained as inspector.

In his report, Secretary Dundon reviewed the work of the year and pointed out several needed improvements to be brought about in time to come. It was stated that on the whole the general health conditions had been good. From September 15, 1905, to February 15, 1906, there had been reported twenty-six births, ten marriages and ninteenth deaths as against thirty-four births, twelve marriages and twenty-three deaths for the same period of time preceding. Dr. Dundon also stated that there is a balance in the board's treasury of $1,720.92, with practically no outstanding bills.

Aaron Reed and T. M. Ingraham, two garbage collectors whose licenses were revoked recently because they failed to appear before the board when cited to explain why their vehicles were not kept in better condition, attended the meeting to tell their side. The explanation they gave was satisfactory and the board informed them that the licenses would be returned if they would abide by the rules imposed upon the other collectors.

A new scale of license fees was fixed as follows: For the collection of garbage, $10; collecting of offal, $5; milk dealers, $1; ice companies, $2. Heretofore the ice men have been charged $2 for each wagon operated, but under the new rate any number of vehicles can be used for the one fee.

Inspector Dencklau's report was also received and read. It detailed his work in connection with the abolishment of nuisances and treatment of contagious diseases.

NEW SCHOOL OPENED FOR THE CLASS WORK.

Address by C. F. Abbott at Special Exercises This Morning.

The new High School was formally opened for the work of the classes this morning. Special exericses marked the first assembly in chapel.

The dedication ode by Van Wyck Brooks was sung and addresses were made by C. F. Abbott, of the School Board, and H. M. Maxson, the superintendent. In introducing Mr. Maxson, Principal Travell described him as the most ardent worker for the new school.

Mr. Abbott said he considered it a high honor to be the board member to speak this morning. He dwelt in detail on the work put in by the board, Superintendent Maxson and Principal Travell in making the school an actuality. If the pupils desired to have a monogram cut on the front of the building, to show theri appreciation for the school to the board, he suggested the single letter "P," to stand for preparation, perseverance and patience of the board.

REFORM WORK IMPEDED

Rahway Reformatory Chaplain Says Legislators are Prejudiced Against Institution.

AN ASSURED SUCCESS

Lecturer Declares Drink Is Responsible for Downfall of Eighty Per Cent. of the Criminals.

Some conception of the work done by the Rahway Reformatory, and of the hardships and impediments suffered by those who carry it on, was given to the members of the Men's Club of the Congregational church by a talk on the institution by Rev. Charles L. Cooder, its chaplain, last night. Informal and discussive in tone, the address was marked by a degree of interest even higher than that which naturally centers about the subject of criminology.

Mr. Cooder dwelt at some length on the difficulties besetting the management of the reformatory. For one thing, there is a serious lack of room; 200 of the 400 inmates must sleep in the corridor outside the cells. The Legislature does not appear to be ready to enlarge the structure, and Mr. Cooder laid the reluctance to political prejudice. The southern end of the State and Mercer county hoped to get the reformatory when it was planned, and the legislators from those counties are not very enthusiastic over its advancement. Mr. Cooder said a campaign against this indifference, through the medium of talks in churches, was to be carried on.

Of the 400 inmates, about 100 are "trusties"—men who are allowed to do pretty much as they please. The trusties are on the last stretch toward parole and freedom. They are trusted absolutely. Men wearing the neat pink-striped uniform of the trusty are common sights on Rahway's streets, driving reformatory carts or doing reformatory errands. They repay the trust by standing as a barrier between the moody, unruly, vicious inmates of the lower type, who are always on the verge of rebellion. Outbreaks are frequently planned by the desperate class, and it is the trusties who hold the mass of prisoners in check.

Mr. Cooder gave the ratio of religious denominations in the first 500 inmates registered. The Roman Catholics numbered 177; Methodists, 116; Baptists, 63; Presbyterian, 51; Episcopalians, 40; Lutheran, 30; Hebrews, 15; no religion, 6; Reformed, 5; Russian Catholics, 2; Unitarians, 1.

"Why, there doesn't seem to be any Congregationalists," said Mr. Cooder, looking up suddenly, and the club broke into applause.

"Maybe the Congregationalists are concealed under 'no religion,'" suggested one of the members humorously.

Mr. Cooder explained that the unreligious six were mostly Russian Anarchists.

"How do the Russian Anarchists turn out?" queried Alexander Millar.

"One of them turned out a while ago and we haven't been able to get him back yet," answered Mr. Cooder drily. "He has been up around here," he continued when the laughter subsided. "Dutch Ides—you have heard of him. Ides is not his real name; he is a thorough-going Russian Anarchist."

Mr. Cooder said the reformatory idea was undeniably successful. Eighty per cent. of the inmates went out and stayed out, cured of criminal habits. The reformatory management advised all departing trusties to conceal nothing of their past.

"We advise them to tell all," said Mr. Cooder, "and those who follow the advice come to no grief. All those sent back to us so far have been men who changed their names and tried to conceal their past."

Speaking on this line, Mr. Cooder declared that society had a great responsibility in deciding its attitude toward the reformatory graduate. How society received him, what it did for him and to him, make or unmake him.

A number of uniforms were shown. Among them was a light red one, in which recaptured fugitives are dressed.

Refreshments were served after the lecture. In the course of a talk with a group of members during supper, Mr. Cooder declared that between seventy-five and eighty per cent. of the men sent to Rahway owed their downfall directly to drink.

GIFT IN APPRECIATION OF MASON'S SACRIFICES

WILSON FREDERICK TO MAKE A PRESENT TO ANCHOR LODGE FRIDAY NIGHT.

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., will have a gala time Friday night and all members of the craft have received invitations to attend the communication. Grand Master Workman Wakefield and other grand officers of the State will be in attendance.

The chief feature of the communication will be some presentations. One in particular will be a gift to be made to the lodge by Wilson Frederick, of Dunellen, in recognition of the sacrifices made by his brethren three years ago to save his life. Mr. Frederick was one of the victims of the Westfield wreck, he having been frightfully scalded in that disaster. Members of Anchor Lodge and others furnished the cuticle necessary for skin grafting operations on three-quarters of his body, whereby his life was saved.

What gift Mr. Frederick intends to make to the lodge is not known but he has informed Worshipful Master W. N. Runyon that he has something to present as a remembrance of the lodge's noble work when he was apparently dying.

All surviving charter members have received special invitations to attend the communication. After the addresses, refreshments will be served.

GOWNS FOR PHYSICIANS IN CONTAGIOUS CASES

PRECAUTION GENERALLY FOLLOWED, BUT HEALTH BOARD ISSUES REQUEST.

Health Officer Leon Thurlow has been instructed by the Board of Health to call the attention of all physicians to the necessity of their wearing gowns when attending patients afflicted with contagious diseases. The object is to prevent the germs being carried to others. This action is in line with many other precautions adopted by the Board to stay the spreading of contagion.

According to the health officer, as a rule physicians in Plainfield already comply with this requirement, but there are a few who possibly have been a little lax in the matter. The gown is taken by the physician to the house of the patient when he is called in on attendance. It is kept there and when the doctor's services are ended the gown is disinfected together with other things in the house.

The Board's action was taken at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon. Mr. Thurlow will communicate with all doctors in the city and borough respecting the matter within a few days.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY ENJOYS PROSPERITY.

First M. E. Organization Makes Excellent Reports.

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church in Vincent chapel, yesterday afternoon. The reports were gratifying, showing the receipts during the year to be $379 and the disbursements $262.58. With the six new members received yesterday, the society has a total membership of fifty, of which twenty-one are life members. All of the reports show the society to have had one of the most prosperous years in its history.

These officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. E. Clark, Jr.; first vice president, Mrs. George H. Whitney; second vice president, Mrs. E. A. Edgar; third vice president, Mrs. George Rittenhouse; treasurer, Mrs. James W. Jackson; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Hervey Doane; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Nelson A. Miller; Reading Circle secretary, Mrs. John McNaughton; mite box secretary, Mrs. Samuel Bingaman.

After the business, there was a social hour and tea was served, while the members recounted their success of the year in mission work.

New Style Cars.

The Public Service Corporation has decided to use a new style of car on the main line during the summer. One side of the car will be of the closed type and the other open. This arrangement with the single-end motor style will make it possible to handle large crowds better and will be an advantage in rainy weather.

Robert Goldsack, one of the mailing clerks at the postoffice, is detained at home by illness.

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

Health Board Issues Circular For Consumptives and Those Living With Them.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Dread Disease, It Says, Chiefly Caused by Spitting—Preventable and Curable—General Information.

A circular setting forth in detail valuable hints for consumptives and those living with them has been issued by the Board of Health. It will be distributed among all known to be afflicted with the disease and in order to carry out the plan physicians will be asked to supply Health Officer Thurlow with the names of patients suffering with the contagion.

It is stated first and foremost that consumption is a preventable and curable disease and that it is chiefly caused by the filthy habit of spitting.

The circular follows:

"Consumption is a disease of the lungs which is taken from others, and is not caused by colds, although a cold makes it easier to take the disease. It is caused by the Bacillus of Tuberculosis, a particular form of germ. This germ grows in the lungs of the consumptive patient in enormous numbers and the material (called sputum or spit) coughed up by the patient contains a great many of them. When this sputum is allowed to dry, it may become powdered and be blown about in the air. Any person breathing this air may take the germs into his lungs and after a time become consumptive.

"Consumption can frequently be cured if its nature is recognized early and if proper means are taken for its treatment. In a great many cases it is not a fatal disease.

"It is not dangerous to live with a consumptive if the matter coughed up by him be promptly destroyed. This matter should not be spit upon the floor, carpet, stove, wall or sidewalk, but always in a cup kept for that purpose. The cup should contain carbolic acid in a five per cent. water solution (six teaspoons full in a pint of water). This solution kills the germs. The cup should be emptied into the water closet at least twice a day and carefully washed with boiling water. If paper or pasteboard cups are used, the cup with its contents, should be burned and a new one substituted. The paper or pasteboard cup is the better plan. Handkerchiefs used by the patient should, each day, be boiled by themselves in water for half an hour and then washed. It is far better, however, to use worthless cloths and burn them instead of boiling and washing. When away from home, if paper or pasteboard cups are not used, the patient should spit into handkerchiefs or cloths. These should not be carried loose in the pocket but in a tobacco pouch or other waterproof receptacle. On returning home, the handkerchiefs should be boiled or the cloths burned; and the pouch carefully washed with carbolic acid and water.

"Great care should be taken by the patient to prevent the hands, face and clothing from becoming soiled with sputum. The lips are particularly apt to become smeared with the sputum, and the hands, also, when handkerchiefs are used. Both face and hands should be frequently washed with hot water and soap. The kissing of consumptive patients is very dangerous, especially to children. Male patients should not wear beard or mustache but should be clean shaven.

"When coughing, sneezing, etc., a fine spray is thrown off by the patient from the mouth, so that the consumptive should always hold a piece of cloth or handkerchief before the mouth during these acts.

"A consumptive should have his own bed and if possible, his own room. The room should be light, airy, and as large as possible. Carpets, curtains and upholstery should not be used. If already in use, they should be removed and disinfected. A window should always be open day and night.

"The patient should keep out of doors the greater part of the day; if warmly wrapped, it is a good plan to sleep on some protected part of the porch during the resting hours.

"The patient should have nourishing food, especially an abundance of good, pure milk and eggs. He should have plenty of fresh air and light and occupation suited to the general character of the disease. The patient should avoid swallowing the sputum and should abstain from excesses of all kinds, alcoholic, etc.

"The patient's clothing, night robes, sheets, pillow slips, etc., may be disinfected and rendered harmless by boiling in water for half an hour.

TO RID STATE OF PEST

Board of Health Approves Expenditure of $350,000 to Kill the Mosquito.

PASSES RESOLUTION

Skeeter Thrives in One-third of State and Affects Three-fourths of the Population.

Plainfield's Board of Health has set itself on record as favoring such expense on the part of the State as will effectually rid New Jersey of the mosquito. A resolution to that effect was adopted at a meeting of the Board yesterday, and copies will be sent to Governor Stokes and the Legislature.

It is estimated that $350,000 will be required for the purpose. According to the Board the mosquito affects one-third of the State's area and three-fourths of its population.

The resolution as signed by all the members of the Board follows.

"Whereas, It has been indisputably established by scientific observation that the great bulk of the mosquitoes which breed in standing water on salt marshes migrate long distances, even exceeding twenty miles, and effect over one-third of the State; and

"Whereas, Said salt marsh mosquitoes are a nuisance, a menace to health, a factor adversely affecting the value of lands, and a source of great annoyance to laborers working out of doors; and

"Whereas, It has been undisputably established by scientific observation that the great bulk of mosquitoes which breed in standing fresh water travel short distances, and habitually enter houses, thereby making a nuisance, a menace to health and a factor for depressing the value of lands; and

"Whereas, It has been estimated that the cost of draining or filling the salt marsh areas within the State is comparatively insignificant, and that the sum of $350,000 is ample to abolish practically all such breeding places in the State of New Jersey; and

"Whereas, It has been established that the portions of the coast of New Jersey where the mosquito breeding places are most numerous have the smallest number of inhabitants; therefore it is

"Resolved, That the financial aid of the State is necessary to affect the abolishment of these breeding places; and it is further

"Resolved, That we hereby urge the Honorable Governor of the State and Honorable Senators and the Honorable Representatives to pass such laws and appropriate such sums of money as will most quickly and most effectually remove the nuisance which affects more than three-fourths of the whole State's population; and be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Senator and Representative of this district and to both local papers."

ENDORSE COLORED MAN FOR FEDERAL JOB

CITY COMMITTEE WANTS JESSE LAWSON APPOINTED RECORDER.

There was a small attendance of members at the meeting of the Republican City Executive Committee, last night, and in consequence little business was considered. The committee in giving its endorsement of Jesse Lawson, formerly of Plainfield, for the positon of Recorder in Washington, now held by a colored man from North Carolina, wrote to Senators and Congressmen urging their support in this matter.

Last night replies were received from these Senators and Congressmen acknowledging the endorsement and promising to do all in their power to secure for Mr. Lawson the appointment. It is understood that President Roosevelt is quite favorable to Mr. Lawson, having heard of his efficient work in the Pension Department, where he has been for many years.

The committee also endorsed Elias H. Bird for re-appointment as postmaster and this has been forwarded to Washington. It was reported that the list of additional members of the committee is not yet complete, but will probably be presented at the next meeting for action. In the absence of President Charles J. Fisk, Mayor James F. Buckle presided at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunbar, of Craig place, will entertain the whist club of which they are members, at their home Friday evening.

TUCKER BILL IS ALL BAD

Corporation Counsel Marsh Contends It is Unconstitutional and Harmful.

HIS LEGAL OBJECTIONS

Passage of Bill Would Be Detrimental to Plainfield—Senator Ackerman Asked to Oppose It.

The legal objections to and bad features of the bi-partisan school board bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Tucker, of Elizabeth, which would seriously affect the local schools as told exclusively in The Daily Press, are summoned up in the following communication of Corporation Counsel Marsh to Senator Ackerman. Mr. Marsh acted on behalf of the Plainfield Board of Education.

Mr. Marsh' brief against the bill follows:

"On behalf of the Board of Education of the city of Plainfield, I desire to present the following objections to Assembly bill No. 209:

"It is plainly unconstitutional. Section 38 of the school law of 1903, which the bill proposes to amend, now applies to all cities in the State. The proposed amendment will make it apply to some of them only. The basis of exclusion is not population, or, indeed, any natural characteristic. The cities excluded are those cities which have heretofore done something, viz.: accepted the provisions of another section of the act, and thereby established appointive boards of none members. The bill therefore provides for bi-partisan boards of eight members in some cities, and leaves other cities with boards of nine members, who may be all of one political party or otherwise.

"The bill proposes to make its provisions mandatory in some cities and to provide that in the other cities it shall not be mandatory, but shall be operative only after the qualified voters vote to accept it. The test whether the bill will apply to any given city is whether prior to the passage of the bill, that city has or has not voted to accept the provisions of Section 39 of the original act. Such cities as shall have then already voted to accept the provisions of Section 39 are excluded from the provisions of the bill unless they voluntarily thereafter vote to accept the provisions of the bill. This privilege is limited to cities so conditioned at the date of the approval of the act, and other cities cannot in any manner acquire such a privilege. The language of the bill in this connection is:

"'The provisions of Section 1 of this act shall not apply to any school district which has heretofore accepted the provisions of Section 39,' etc. This is plainly in violation of Article IV, Section 7, Part II, of the Constitution of the State. State vs. Nealon 62 Atl. 182; Tetrault vs. Orange 26 Vr. 99; Murphy vs. Long Branch 61 Atl. 593; DeHart vs. Atlantic City 34 Vr. 223.

"The bill had its origin in the same political consideration which led to the adoption of the Police Commission bill, P. L. 1905, p. 155, which the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional in the case first above cited.

"The bill would destroy the symmetry of the system of government of public schools which was established at the special session of the Legislature in 1903, after years of the most mature consideration and painstaking efforts of experienced educators and eminent counsel, and which system is now working admirably and to the satisfaction of all who are not influenced by political considerations.

"Many of the alleged benefits to be conferred by the bill are illusory. For example, it is not true that the bill 'establishes uniformity in the method of selecting and in the number of members of the Boards of Education in the different municipalities of the State,' if the bill becomes a law and is held to be constitutional. Some cities will have eight members, and others nine. Some cities will have bi-partisan boards, and others will not have them. In some cities the terms of office will be three years, and in others the terms will be four years. In some, a vacancy in the board is required to be filled by a member of the same political party as his predecessor; and in other cities the best man may be chosen, regardless of political considerations.

"The bill will not divorce politics from the control and management of our public school system, but will introduce politics into the public school system. Now, Boards of Education are as free from political consideration as the cuorts themselves. As well require a bi-partisan Supreme Court or Court of Chancery as a bi-partisan Board of Education.

"None of the alleged benefits would enure to Plainfield, for here it is conceded that politics has never affected any public school question, and the personnel of the Boards of

M'ALL AUXILIARY'S PROSPEROUS YEAR

MRS. FREDERICK G. MEAD IS RELECTED PRESIDENT.

Interesting reports of the past year's work and election of officers comprised the business transacted at the annual meeting of the McAll Auxiliary at the Public Library this morning. In the absence of Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead, president, the chair was occupied by Mrs. Isaac L. Miller.

The reports showed the finances to be in excellent condition, there being a slight advance in the contributions over those of the previous year. The receipts for the year were over $1,000 from a membership of nearly 325. The local auxiliary supports entirely the McAll work at Limoges, France, and helpful letters were received and read from those in charge of the work there, affording much encouragement for greater effort on the part of the local members.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead; vice-president, Mrs. Lawrence Myers; secretary, Mrs. Augustus V. Heely; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray Foster. These representatives from the churches were also chosen: Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, Mrs. J. S. Zelie; Grace, Mrs. Frank O. Herring; Congregational, Mrs. William B. Wadsworth; Trinity Reformed, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck; First Baptist, Mrs. Walter M. McGee; First Presbyterian, Miss Addie Dietrich.

CEREMONY PERFORMED IN PRESENCE OF MANY GUESTS.

In the presence of a large gathering of guests, Miss C. Maude Uhler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G Uhler, of Grove street, and Frank E. Faulks, of South Plainfield, were married at 7 o'clock last night. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home by Rev. James Bulkley Faulks, D. D., of Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, uncle of the groom. The parlor and other rooms were very prettily decorated.

Miss Uhler's gown was of white silk mulle, trimmed with Duchess lace. She wore a bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried white roses. The maid of honor was Miss Bessie K. Neimeyer, of Easton, Pa., a cousin of the bride, who wore white Paris muslin with pink trimmings. Miss L. Rita Meeker, of this city, and Miss Emma C. Faulks, of South Plainfield, were bridesmaids. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom was attended by Harry G. Uhler, Jr., the bride's brother, as best man, and the ushers were William A. Reynolds, of this city; Harry Manning, of South Plainfield, and Earl C. Meyer, of Newark. The party assembled while the Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Hazel Meyer, of Newark.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held, during which both Mr. and Mrs. Faulks were showered with congratulations. They left later in the evening on a wedding trip and on returning will make their home at South Plainfield. The guests present were from Elizabeth, Newark, New York, Newton, Phillipsburg, Madison, South Plainfield, New Market, Oakland, Cal., Easton and Reading, Pa., and this city.

This week Mr. Lee will be assisted by Mrs. William L. Saunders, soprano, and a carefully selected programme has been arranged.

The programme for Saturday will be as follows:

THEIR REQUEST GRANTED

City School Board Will Permit Dunellen Students to Enter Local High School.

ON ONE STIPULATION

Plan Will Be Continued Only So Long As Seating Accommodations Prove Adequate.

With the stipulation that the plan be continued only so long as it does not interfere with the city students, the local Board of Education has granted the request of the Dunellen authorities to permit its grammar school graduates to enter the Plainfield High School at regular tuition rates.

The request was made by President Wilson Frederick, of the Dunellen board, which decided that it could not possibly provide the high school education demanded by the State law. Plainfield has all the facilities and being within easy access a system of co-operation was decided upon. The action of the Dunellen board, in arriving at this conclusion, was indorsed by the citizens and negotiations weer at once commenced. Superintendent Maxson carefully studied the question from all sides, and on his recommendation the city authorities voted in the affirmative. Dr. Maxson's report in detail was as follows:

"The question of admitting to our High School pupils from out of town is chiefly one of seating accommodations. If they can be admitted without in any way depriving Plainfield children of opportunities it will be an advantage to our own pupils to admit out-of-town pupils. In many ways a large High School is of much more advantage to a city than a small one. With the large school there is a larger number of teachers, so we can offer the public a much larger number of subjects to choose from and the chief subjects will have several divisions or classes, so that it will be possible to fit each pupil's needs more easily and exactly. In the small school some subjects have to be omitted because not enough pupils desire them to make it wise to form a class. If only two or three pupils wish trigonometry, for instance, it is expensive to form a class, but if twenty-five wish it, it is just as cheap to teach trigonometry as any other subject, and if they are not put into trigonometry some other subject must be given to them.

"The outside pupils that we have received hitherto have been so distributed between the four classes that they have not required the appointment of an additional teacher, and their tuition money is nearly all gain; but the addition of twenty-five at a time might require an added teacher. Even in this case, however, their tuition money would more than meet this additional expense. (It would cost just as much for heating and ventilating, etc., without the additional pupils as it does with them.)

"Looking at the matter in a general way, I feel that while we are under no legal obligation to aid the children of our less fortunate neighbors just beyond the city limits, we are under moral obligation to aid them all we can without materially increasing the burden of our own city. The opportunities our own High School offers are far greater than any that Dunellen can ever offer, and by admitting their pupils to our school we shall confer a great boon upon their boys and girls without any increase in our expenses. The State is making a general effort to give every child within its borders an opportunity to secure a high school education and in many cases the only way to secure this is by sum such plan as this now proposed by Dunellen. By acceding to their request we do our part in aiding the State Board to carry out its plans for the good of the whole State.

"As to accommodations, after considering the matter with the High School principal, I am prepared to say that at present I think we can receive them without unduly crowding our own pupils."

The Dunellen Board of Education, at its March meeting, last night, received a communication from Dr. Maxson, telling of the Plainfield Board's action. It was formally accepted and plans will be made at once for the transfer of the pupils, Dunellen paying the required tuition fees.

Gardener Gets Right Dose.

Cortland B. Gardner, of Elizabeth, who was convicted over a year ago on an indictment of keeping a disorderly house, and who has since been able to delay the sentence of the court through appeals, was arraigned this morning and sentenced to three years in State prison and to pay a fine of $1,000. His case was particularly aggravating to the court, especially when he was ordered to appear and failed to do so.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." To Be a Duchess?

Chicago, March 7.—Chicago society accepts the rumor that Mrs. Potter Palmer's coming marriage to the Duke, Marquis and Earl of Athole. One of the Chicago newspapers today says: "If Mrs. Potter Palmer is going to marry the Duke of Athole; if Mr. Potter Palmer, Jr., is really going over for his mother's wedding; if the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Honore Palmer for Europe really is significant of a shopping festival in Paris, at which Mrs. Honore will assist her mother-in-law in the selection of a trousseau, then the famous arbiter, sponsor and chief ornament of Chicago society will soon be wearing a title which in length, at least, will equal, if not exceed, that of any other American heroine of an European marriage."

Society Women Gamble.

The Rev. H. E. Fosdick, of the First Baptist church of Montclair, said in his sermon Sunday night that gambling was very prevalent in Montclair, and he had been reliably informed that one society woman had confessed that she would not be able to dress as she did but for her bridge whist winnings. Within a short time, Mr. Fosdick said, a young woman well known in society had publicly bewailed the fact that she had won only $1.50 that afternoon. He told also of a woman who recently made three calls on a Sunday afternoon. In two homes she found games of bridge whist in progress, and in the third a game of roulette.

State's Most Remarkable
FURNITURE SHOW.

WE could not exaggerate the importance of this Furniture Store to the people of this section if we tried. We cannot say too much in its favor. The best store that we know of could not be overrated. But, with all this, there are many, even among those who visit the store frequently, who do not begin to comprehend the vastness of this collection of Furniture.

When you get the figures accurately in your mind you will wonder why anyone should find it necessary to go a step beyond this store to buy anything in the furniture line.

The variety of styles here is simply bewildering—that is the only fault anyone could find—there are too many kinds, if anything. Every possible taste is catered to and every purse accommodated without degenerating into the field of trash.

Where on earth will you find such immense assortments to choose from.

200 styles of Parlor Suites,	100 styles of Office Chairs,
50 styles of Brass Beds,	50 styles of Hall Rockers,
75 styles of Iron Beds,	400 styles of Fancy Rockers,

The justly celebrated Waldorf-Astoria Hotel is pictured in Charles A. Taylor's new melodrama, "From Rags to Riches," which will be the offering at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. Included in the company are many well known metropolitan artists.

In "Deserted at the Altar," which appears at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, there is a most intense pathetic scene in the last act, which is by far the most powerful dramatic scene of modern times. There is not a dry eye in the house, and it is of such a nature that it appeals to the heart of everyone. At the end of the scene, before the people have a chance to dry their eyes, a character enters that has not been seen since the opening act. The entrance is so humorous that the audience just screams with laughter. Therefore tears and laughter mingle. It is a trick of the author, Pierce Kingsley, and very well and carefully executed.

Al. W. Martin's biggest, newest and latest revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Monday afternoon and night. From all reports Mr. Martin has greatly improved the play this season and it will live forever under his management. The piece he has rewritten, the scenery is all new, the electrical effects are the grandest ever seen in this play. The company is composed of fifty all white people. No street parade is given to tire out the people so they can't give a good performance. Mr. Martin takes pleasure in presenting his band and orchestra, which will give grand free open-air concerts afternoon and evening, which lovers of music should not fail to hear.

AL. W. MARTIN'S

The appearance of Blanche Walsh at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night in Clyde Fitch's greatest success, "The Woman in the Case," cannot help but awaken a lively interest. This is Miss Walsh's first essay with an essentially modern play since she appeared years ago in Bronson Howard's "Aristocracy," which first brought her fame as a forceful actress. Since that time she has been identified with radically contrasted plays, from the fervid dramas of Sardou to the grim, sordid, realistic Russian school of Tolstoy and Jacob Gordin. At first thought it would seem that Clyde Fitch was hardly the writer to equip Blanche Walsh with a play that would yield opportunities for her far-famed emotional power. But it must not be forgotten that Miss Walsh is the first actress of this type for whom he has been commissioned to write. The great popular triumph won by "The Woman in the Case," however, shows that he only lacked opportunity to demonstrate his ability in this branch of dramatic art.

The seat sale for W. P. Cullen's big production of "The Tenderfoot," with Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White as the stars, is now open. There are many delightful features in "The Tenderfoot," it being not only one of the prettiest of operatic comedies musically, but having a book that is really funny. There are many opportunities in the role of Professor Pettibone for a comedian, and Figman is said by the Chicago critics, where the piece has just finished a run, to be better than Richard Carle in the part. Ruth White in the character of Marion, the dashing Western girl, whose martial troubles form the theme of the piece, is said to be excellent. The remainder of the cast is strong.

White Lead Poisons Family.

Cooking an evening meal with barrel staves from a paint barrel nearly cost the lives of Mrs. James Burrows, her daughter, Bessie, and three sons, John, Thomas and William, at Long Branch yesterday. A crack between the firepot and oven allowed white lead to melt from the staves and fall in the meat pan. The family were poisoned and were found unconscious. They were revived with difficulty.

Hotel Men Oppose "Bishops' Bills."

Atlantic City, March 7.—A conference of liquor license holders here yesterday decided to oppose vigorously the "Bishops' bills" at Trenton, as they declared they would affect every resort on the coast adversely. They will take a big delegation to Trenton to fight the measures, and say they have enlisted on their side Senator Lee and Assemblyman Elvins, of this county.

FORMER MILLSTONE MAN LEAVES LARGE ESTATE

ONE FOURTH OF IT PLACED AT BISHOP SCARBOROUGH'S DISPOSAL.

Edward Baker, who owned and lived on the Frelinghuysen farm at Millstone about twenty-five years ago, and who several years ago went to King's Norton, Worcester, England, where he died on November 19 last, left an estate valued at $283,620. After making various family bequests, he left all moneys on deposit account with the Metropolitan Bank of England and Wales, for such purposes in connection with the Church of England as his son, the Rev. E. Morgan Baker, in his sole discretion shall decide, requesting him, however, to give effect to any unfulfilled promises of subscriptions or donations for such purposes.

Of his remaining estate he left one-fourth to Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, for the purpose of the Church in this diocese. The total amount available ultimately on the falling-in of the various annuities under Mr. Baker's will for charitable purposes is about $200,000.

When Mr. Baker resided at Millstone he was known to be very wealthy and lived in retirement. He was a man of leisure and spent his time in his extensive library. It has been nearly twenty-five years ago since he left Millstone.

SUIT SETTLED.

Bernhardt Co. and J. N. Ramsey End Their Litigation.

The case of the Conover Bernhardt Company, of this city, against John N. Ramsey, of Warren township, which was tried in the Somerset County Circuit Courts last May, has been settled. Suit was originally brought to recover a phonograph sold by an agent of the company to the defendant, as the company claimed without authority.

At the trial the jury returned a verdict for the defendant, as it was proven that the person making the sale was a general agent of the company. Subsequently a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be granted was argued and denied.

Improvements to Cedar Brook.

Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett the course of Cedar brook, from Prospect avenue to Richmond street, is being deepened and widened and otherwise constructed so as to more easily carry off the water in heavy rains. The sharp corners are being removed and in other respects the brook is being greatly improved. Heretofore, during heavy rains the brook has not been deep or wide enough to prevent a great overflowing of adjacent property along the banks and it is for this purpose that improvements are now being made. In time the whole length of the brook will be improved, except where stone walls prevent.

FIGHTING THE 'SKEETERS

Borough Board of Health Doing All Possible to Kill Off the Pests.

THE CAUSES AND CURES

Relates the Origin of Most Complaints of Nuisances Maintained—150 Cases Investigated.

In his report to the borough Board of Health at the annual meeting, Monday night, Secretary Dundon made it known that he and his subordinates are making war on mosquitos. During the past summer, residents were forbidden to leave rain barrels uncovered and every suggestion as made by State Entomologist Smith was carefully followed out. In the warm season to come the secretary proposes to continue the work and the inspector will pay especial attention to the offending barrels and also stagnant water in the small pools about the borough.

Another feature of the report was the fact that most complaints to the board, relative to nuisances maintained, are the result of neighborly quarrels. Over 150 such "kicks" were registered in the past year and while justified, investigation revealed the fact that in many instances no one thought of complaining until adjoining residents had fallen out. The argument generally begins with the children, then passes on to the parents and if not settled the Board of Health gets called in by which ever side can get to the office first.

The secretary stated that the dysentery epidemic last summer was undoubtedly due to bad water and that as a result ten wells were condemned and city water installed, Harmony street being the first to be taken care of. The general health of the borough at the present time is very good and now that Inspector Dencklau is making periodical rounds it is hoped to keep yards and residences in a sanitary state. Especial attention is to be paid in the summer to Green and Stony brooks, which nearby residents generally consider a dumping place for anything they want to get rid of.

Figures from the inspector's report showed that in the year just ended, sixty-two nuisances had been abated and twenty-nine legal notices had been served. There were 106 cases of contagious disease that needed disinfection and from these eight deaths had resulted; two from typhoid fever, two from diphtheria, two from cerebro spinal meningitis and two from tuberculosis, the last named not quarantined.

MRS. TOLLA AGAIN IN SHADOW OF GALLOWS.

Court Desides Trial Tribunal Has No Power to Grant New Hearing.

Trenton, March 7.—The Supreme Court decided yesterday that the trial Judge in the Oyer and Terminer Court for Bergen County has not the jurdisdiction to grant a new trial in the case of Mrs. Antoinette Tolla, convicted of murder.

Jurisdiction is lacking because the application for a new trial was not made until after the term of the court at which the conviction was obtained.

The Tolla case will have to go to the Court of Pardons this week, as the reprieve expires next Monday.

Bazaar Netted Over $300.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon, of Prospect place, yesterday afternoon, and received reports concerning the bazaar and fair held in the church on February 22-23. It was stated that after all bills were paid the net proceeds were found to be over $300. This is very gratifying to the women who worked very hard for the success of the fair.

Rooms which have been occupied by consumptives should be thoroughly cleaned, scrubbed, painted and papered before they are again occupied. Carpets, rugs, bedding, etc., should be disinfected.

"If these directions are followed, but little danger will exist to the family and the patient will be in good circumstances for recovery.

"After removal of a patient from the house or room, disinfection should be performed at once by the Board of Health. The householder should notify the Board of Health of the removal of the patient within twenty-four hours."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

There are to be matinee and night performances of "The Tenderfoot," booked for next Thursday at the New Plainfield.

"That Girl Patsy" has been secured by Manager Counihan for the St. Patrick's Day offering at his playhouse. Now what do you think of that for the fitness of things.

"More to be Pitied Than Scorned," presented at the New Plainfield, last night, was a first class show of this kind. It has a good plot, generally a scarce article in a melodrama, and was capably handled by an efficient company.

George Hasty, who killed Abbott Davison, an actor well known to Plainfielders, was found guilty by a jury at Gaffney, S. C., yesterday. Mercy was recommended and he was remanded for sentence next week. Davison headed the "Nothing But Money" company and Hasty, who kept a hotel, insulted one of the women members of the troupe. He shot the actor when an apology was demanded of him.

From among a large number of applicants, Roland Edwards, son of Maze Edwards, has been selected to fill an important part in the cast of "Moonshine," the musical comedy in which Marie Chaill is starring. This is somewhat out of Mr. Edwards' usual line of work, but his versatility has proved itself and he has already "made good." "Moonshine" opened at the Liberty, New York, and was put on the road in its entirety. It is booked through the largest cities of the south and goes through territory where both Mr. Edwards and his father have many friends.

Milk License $2.

In yesterday's report of the borough Board of Health meeting it was stated in error that milk licenses were to be $1. It should have been $2.

"BISHOPS" BILLS ARE UNDER FIRE

STATE HOUSE CROWDED WITH OPPONENTS AND ADVOCATES OF HIGH-CLASS.

Trenton, March 7.—Armed with over 200,000 signatures of protest against the passage of what are known as the "Bishops'" high license bills, the representatives of the liquor interests throughout the State flocked to the State House yesterday to appear before the Senate Miscellaneous Business Committee and oppose favorable consideration for the bills.

The representatives of the liquor interests were not alone in their opposition to the measure. A big delegation of union labor men, representing the Essex County Trades Council and labor organizations of Hudson, Passaic and other North Jersey counties and headed by Henry J. Gottlob, of the State Federation of Labor, was on hand to protest against the bills.

"These bills would directly affect more than 25,000 union men in New Jersey engaged either in the brewing, liquor or cigar interests, and we will fight them to the finish," Mr. Gottlob said.

Still another opposing element was the German-Americans, who were represented by a large delegation from the German-American Alliance, and who bore petitions with over 40,000 signatures protesting against the passage of the bills. Ex-Mayor Lankering, of Hoboken, headed the German delegation.

The adversaries of the measures were not much ahead of the advocates of them in point of time. Shortly before the noon hour, Bishop McFaul, of the Catholic Diocese of Trenton; Bishop Scarborough and Bishop Lines, of the New Jersey Episcopal dioceses; Monsignor Sheppard, representing Bishop O'Connor, of Newark, and a host of Protestant ministers and Catholic priests made their appearance.

Eloquent arguments were made for the proposed legislation by Right Rev. Bishop Lines, Rev. Fathers Clifford, of Morristown, and O'Sullivan, of Jersey City; Counsellor Peter Backes, Rev. Hugh B. McCauley, of Trenton; W. H. Beach, Jersey City, and a number of others.

Former Senator Robert S. Hudspeth, representing the liquor interests of the State, pleaded for two hours against the measures, declaring the legislation proposed was unjust, unfair and would be unavailing to stamp out liquor evils.

The bills fix license fees at $500, compel saloon keepers at all times to keep their bars free to the public gaze, provide for the entrance to a saloon, and the elimination of the back room in which it is alleged many young girls are lured to ruin.

"AUNT MARTHA" JONES WITHOUT ANY HOME.

Old Slave Wants to Find Some Place to Shelter Herself.

"Aunt Martha" Jones has been given notice that she must vacate her home in East Sixth street, near Scott place, and she has no place to go. The house in which she lives is one of a number belonging to the Dunlap estate, and along with the rest will be completely renovated. The houses are now occupied by colored people, but the owners will not take any of the race as tenants when the improvements are made. That is why "Aunt Martha" won't have any home.

"Aunty" says she was born a slave in 1830 in Carrolton county, Md., and that her master was George Patterson, a brother of Madame Bonaparte, who was a sister-in-law of Napoleon Bonaparte. With her husband she got as far North as Plainfield by means of the "Underground railroad" in 1864. Her husband died two years later, and ever since then "aunty" worked hard for a living. She is now seventy-six years old. If there is anyone who can give her a home, "aunty" would like to hear of it.

"WILLIE" DEEGAN REFUSES OFFEER FROM NED HANLON

PREFERS DAAB AND SCOTCH PLAINS TO THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

"Willie" Deegan, the well known slab artists, who has pitched himself into the heart of local fandom, has refused an offer to join the National League and enter faster company. For several years past "Willie" has been with the Hobokens, and on Sundays has pitched against some of the strongest of the National as well as American League teams. His work has won the commendation of several of the managers of the larger clubs and overtures have been made to him which would put him in faster company, but "Willie" refused, as he had a position and was making nearly $1,500 a year playing Saturday and Sunday games.

Several months ago he gave up his position, married and settled down as a boniface, becoming the proprietor of the old Scotch Plains Inn. Ned Hanlon, formerly manager of the Brooklyn National League team, but this year guiding the Cincinnatis, began fishing for Deegan three weeks ago, and several days ago he asked him to sign a contract at a nice salary, with an added thousand to it if he made good. "Willie" thought the matter over and finally concluded that life with Manager Daab, together with happy domestic bliss, was much better than the life of the professional pitcher, so declined to change.

Education since 1849 has been continuously of as high a standard as could be found anywhere in this country. Its members are elected at large; the number of the board is five only; the term of office is one year longer than that proposed in the bill, viz., five years. The rule is to continue the most efficient men term after term.

"Pass the bill, and the danger of dead-locks becomes imminent. There will be four Republicans against four Democrats. A political party will regard the members of its political faith as its representatives chosen because of their political faith, and therefore in duty bound to represent that political party. The same is true of the opposite political party. Party leaders and party organs will seek to exert the power which they regard as legitimately theirs, and there will be a tie vote on such questions as the amount of tax to be assessed; whether to build a new school house; whom to engage as principal, and similar questions which require prompt decision under penalty of perhaps invalidating a tax levy, or losing an opportunity to purchase land, or to make a favorable contract. How will you prevent a tie vote in a board of eight, four to four?

"The experience of other States shows the unwisdom of attempting to govern by bi-partisan boards. The theory is illogical and unsound and the practice is worse.

"Nothing short of extreme necessity would warrant the passage of a bill that will deprive the city of Plainfield of the advantages of its present system of electing members of the Board of Education. No such necessity exists. Section 38 of the act as it stands contains a referendum clause, and any amendment that may be desired ought to contain a similar clause."

New Auto Bill.

A committee substitute to Senate Bill No. 52, Senator Frelinghuysen's automobile bill, was presented in the Legislature last night. This cuts out tourist certificates, cuts out the requirement that violations be entered on the certificates of motor certificates. It provides for an appeal from the decision of a justice of the peace and for trial de novo. There is no change in the fees, as provided in No. 52.

Clarence Van Sickle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Van Sickle, of East Third street, underwent an operation yesterday for the removal of his tonsils, which had been giving him considerable trouble.

Home Made

Have your cake, muffins, and tea biscuit home-made. They will be fresher, cleaner, more tasty and wholesome.

Royal Baking Powder helps the house wife to produce at home, quickly and economically, fine and tasty cake, the raised hot-biscuit, puddings, the frosted layer-cake, crisp cookies, crullers, crusts and muffins, with which the ready-made food found at the bake-shop or grocery does not compare.

Royal is the greatest of bake-day helps.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, innocculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

THE LATEST IN MILLINERY

Jet and sequin trimmings are shown in a variety of beautiful designs. Sequin hats to be used over a frame are very useful for evening hats and require very little trimming. These are exhibited by Keeling, Wiles & Co., and the model shown me had a low square crown, with a brim straight at the front and turned up at the back. Three small ostrich plumes were arranged inside the back brim to fall forward over the crown and a lace scarf tied in a large bow was fastened low on the outer side of the brim with the ends hanging down to the shoulders.

Satin dome crowns are shown and I have seen a very striking model in which one was used to good effect; this model had three curling brims of fine yedda bound with satin ribbon. The brims were cut open at the left side and in the opening four ostrich feathers were arranged, two upstanding and two curling under the brims. Pleated tulle rosettes decorated the bandeau at the left side and a small tulle ruching was placed round the base of the crown.

In ornaments, mother of pearl occupies the most prominent position; it is shown in a great variety of buckles, slides, pins, etc; jets are also shown. Steel and gun metal trimming and ornaments are used mostly for bonnets. Tinsel passementeries are shown in some very handsome patterns, embracing shells, leaves, etc., but all are very light and open with a gauze or spider-web effect. Tinsel and tuscan combined are also very good and are shown in floral designs worked on a fine gauze.

Ribbons are used very profusely on the early models and it looks as though they will go well through the season. Wide fine chene effects are shown and many patterns have gold threads worked in to form floral designs. Wide gauze metal ribbons in both silver and gold are shown, both in plain effects and with printed floral designs and a few are exhibited with small broche spots.

Long scarf of wide metal gauze printed with large floral designs are shown for the neck, but it is doubtful if they will be used in any quantity for that purpose.

In flowers, roses are still most prominent, and they are generally small or moderate blossoms. Rose buds or half-opened flowers are preferred and the small moss rose is very much favored; small clusters of these buds with foliage make good effects.

Pansies come next in favor and are shown in all the natural colors from pale mauve to deep purple. Pastille colors in violets, cowslips, hyacinths, forget-me-nots, anenomes, cacalas and lilacs are all good.

Small dainty clusters of lilies and moss roses with foliage, or mignonette and moss roses are selling well. Many other combinations are shown, but these two are about the best.

Foliage of all descriptions is in good demand, but the most favored has a slight frosting in pastille tones to blend with the colors of the flowers with which it is used. Floral toques and hats are again going very well, a most successful line shown by Keeling, Wiles & Co. being a sailor shape of poppy petals.—The Millinery Trade Review.

LIKES HER MIRROR.

Average Woman Spends 7,000 Hours Before Looking-Glass.

Assuredly the bump of curiosity must be marvelously well developed in the twentieth-century head, for word comes from France that a certain statistician, anxious to know just how much time the average woman spends before her mirror in the course of her life, has just figured out that from the age of 6 until 10 seven minutes a day are deemed a sufficient time to prink. From 10 to 15 years a quarter of an hour is given over to the fascinating business or pleasure, whichever the case may be, and from 20 on the mirror claims a good hour a day. At a certain age it begins to lose its interest. A woman past 60, he says, hardly cares whether she looks in the mirror—which statement is somewhat surprising when one takes note of the well groomed grandmothers on social parade over here. Taking her on the whole, this Frenchman reckons that woman spends 7,000 hours, or about ten months, before her looking-glass. But, says the New York Press, considering the attractive appearance which most of our women present, ten months spent in contemplating the reflection of their charms does not seem time wasted in the least.

GREAT NEWSPAPER ACHIEVEMENTS.

The Washington Times exposed the postoffice grafters six months before official action against them was begun.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch exposed the St. Louis Boodlers six months before Mr. Folk joined in the antigraft campaign which made him governor of Missouri.

The Philadelphia North American fought the Republican ring in Philadelphia for five years before the upheaval of last fall.

The New York World supplied most of the evidence that aroused public indignation against the insurance grafters.—Baltimore Evening Herald.

CHAPTER XVII.

DINNER IS SERVED.

"Ha!"

Monsieur Pierre, having uttered this ejaculation, stepped back and rested his fat hands on his fat hips. As he surveyed the impromptu butler, a shade of perplexity spread over his oily face. He smoothed his imperial and frowned. This groom certainly looked right, but there was something lacking in his make-up, that indefinable something which is always found in the true servant—servility. There was no humility here, no hypocritical meekness, no suavity; there was nothing smug or self-satisfied. In truth, there was something grimly earnest, which was not to be understood readily. Monsieur Pierre, having always busied himself with soups and curries and roasts and sauces, was not a profound analyst; yet his instinctive shrewdness at once told him that this fellow was no servant, nor could he ever be made into one. Though voluble enough in his kitchen, Monsieur Pierre lacked expression when confronted by any problem outside of it. Here was the result: on swallow-tail coat and trousers of green, the striped red vest, and the polished brass buttons; but the man inside was too much for him.

"Diable! You lule right. But no, I can not explain. Eet ees on zee tongue, but eet rayfuse. Ha! I haf eet! You lack vot zay call zee real. You make me t'in' uf zee sairvant on zee stage, somet'ing bettair off: eh?" This was as near as monsieur ever got to the truth of things.

During this speculative inventory, Warburton's face was gravely set; indeed, it pictured his exact feelings. He was grave. He even wanted Pierre's approval. He was about to pass through a very trying ordeal; he might not even pass through it. There was no deceiving his colonel's eyes, hang him! Whatever had induced fate to force this old Argus-eyed soldier upon the scene? He glanced into the kitchen mirror. He instantly saw the salient flaw in his dress. It was the cravat. Tie it as he would, it never approached the likeness of the conventional cravat of the waiter. It still remained a polished cravat, a worldly cravat, the cravat seen in ball-rooms, drawing-rooms, in the theater stalls and boxes, anywhere but in the servants' hall. Oh, for the ready-made cravat that hitched to the collar-button! And then there was that servant's low turned-down collar, glossy as celluloid. He felt as diffident in his bare throat as a debutante feels in her first decollette ball-gown, not very well covered up, as it were. And, heaven and earth, how appallingly large his hands had grown, how clumsy his feet! Would the colonel expose him? Would he keep silent? This remained to be found out; wherein lay the terror of suspense.

"Remembair," went on Monsieur Pierre, after a pause, feeling that he had a duty to fulfill and a responsibility to shift to other shoulders than his own, "remembair, eef you spill zee soup, I keel you. You carry zee tureen in, zen you deesh out zee soup, and sairve. Zee oystaires should be on zee table t'ree minutes before zee guests haf arrive. Now, can you make zee American cocktail?"

"I can,"—with a ghost of a smile.

"Make zee martini;. I know heem."

"But cocktails ought not be mixed before serving."

"I say, make zee one cocktail,"—coldly and skeptically. "I test heem."

Warburton made one. Monsieur sipped it slowly, making a wry face, for, true Gaul that he was, only two kinds of stimulants appealed to his palate, liqueurs and wines. He found it as good as any he had ever tasted.

"Ver' good,"—softening. "Zare ees zen, one t'ing zat all zee Americans can make, zee cocktail? I am educate'; I learn. Now leaf me till eight. Keep zee collect head,"—and Monsieur Pierre turned his attention to his partridges.

James went out of doors to get a breath of fresh air and to collect his thoughts, which were wool-gathering, whatever that may mean. They needed collecting, these thoughts of his, and labeling, for they were at all points of the compass, and he was at a loss upon which to draw for support. Here he was, in a devil of a fix, and no possible way of escaping except by absolutely bolting; and he vowed that he wouldn't bolt, not if he stood the chance of being exposed 50 times over. He had danced; he was going to pay the fiddler like a man. He had never ran away from anything, and he wasn't going to begin now.

At the worst, they could only laugh at him; but his secret would be his no longer. Ass that he had been! How to tell this girl that he loved her? How to appear to her as his natural self? What a chance he had wilfully thrown away! He might have been a guest to-night; he might have sat next to her, turned the pages of her music, and perhaps sighed love in her ear, all of which would have been very proper and conventional. Ah, if he only knew what was going on behind those Mediterranean eyes of hers, those heavenly sapphires. Had she any suspicion? No, it could not be possible; she had humiliated him too often, to suspect the imposture. Alackaday!

Had any one else applied the disreputable terms he applied to himself there would have been a battle royal. When he became out of breath, he reentered the house to have a final look at the table before the ordeal began.

Covers had been laid for 12; immaculate linen, beautiful silver, and sparkling cut-glass. He wondered how much the girl was worth, and thought of his own miserable $4,500 the year. True, his capital could at any time be converted into cash, some $75,000, but it would be no longer the goose with the golden egg. A great bowl of roses stood on a glass center-piece. As he leaned toward them to inhale their perfume he heard a sound. He turned.

She stood framed in a doorway, a picture such as artists conjure up to fit in sunlit corners of gloomy studios; beauty, youth, radiance, luster, happiness. To his ardent eyes she was supremely beautiful. How wildly his heart beat! This was the first time he had seen her in all her glory. His emotion was so strong that he did not observe that she was biting her nether lip.

"Is everything well, James?" she asked, meaning the possibilities of service and not the cardiac intranquility of the servant.

"Very well, Miss Annesley,"—with a sudden bold scrutiny.

Whatever it was she saw in his eyes it had the effect of making hers turn aside. He grew visibly nervous.

"You haven't the hands of a servant, James,"—quietly.

He started and knocked a fork to the floor.

"They are too clumsy," she went on maliciously.

"I am not a butler, Miss; I am a groom. I promise to do the very best I can." Wrath mingled with the shame on his face.

"A man who can do what you did this morning ought not to be afraid of a dinner-table."

"There is some difference between a dinner-table and a horse, Miss." He stooped to recover the fork while she touched her lips with her handkerchief. The situation was becoming unendurable. He knew that, for some reason, she was quietly laughing at him.

Never put back on the table a fork or piece of silver that has fallen to the floor," she advised. "Procure a clean one."

"Yes, Miss." Why in heaven's name didn't she go and leave him in peace?

"And be very careful not to spill a drop of the burgundy. It is '78, and a particular favorite of my father's."

Seventy-eight! As if he hadn't had many a bottle of that superb vintage during the past ten months! The glands in his teeth opened at the memory of that taste.

CURED TO STAY CURED.

How a Plainfield Citizen Found Complete Freedom From Kidney Troubles.

If you suffer from backache—
From urinary disorders—
From any disease of the kidneys,
Be cured to stay cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures.

Plainfield people testify.

Here's one case of it:

Mrs. Anna Holmes, of New Market, N. J., three or four miles from Plainfield, N. J., says: "Some years ago I gave a statement for publication, telling what Doan's Kidney Pills had done for me, and I am now glad to confirm what I said then. I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for sharp pains in my head and dull beating pains in my back and sides. When I attempted to rise quickly after sitting or lying for any length of time, sharp, acute pains would always follow. My kidneys seemed to be weakened in every way, and I became in such a condition that work was impossible. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills curing others of kidney and bladder troubles, so I procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They helped me from the first, and I continued to improve steadily. I am glad to repeat what I said in my former statement for my good opinion of this remedy has in no wise changed."

"WIFEY" ABUSED HIM AWFUL.

Put Poison in His Food and Red Pepper in His Eyes.

Israel Britton, a carpenter and builder, of New Brunswick, Monday recited a remarkable list of abuses which he says he has endured at the hands of his wife, Harriet, in answer to the woman's suit for separate maintenance, trial of which was begun before Vice-Chancellor Emery, in Newark.

Broken plates and soup dishes, a butcher knife, whiskey flasks and a blue enamelled teapot were some of the exhibits which Britton brought to court in a big valise and offered as evidence. Poison in his food, dishes broken over his head, his night's rest disturbed by dogs and chickens, which he averred his wife insisted on keeping in the bedroom, were a few of the experiences Britton said he had suffered during forty-two years of married life.

Britton withstood it all, he said, until his wife began to make faces at him at table, when there was company at the house. He asserted that his wife always cut his hair, but usually made a poor job of it, and frequently amused herself by throwing red pepper in his eyes or pouring hot tea on his head. Mrs. Britton alleged desertion.

NEW BRUNSWICK MAN IS SEEKING A WIFE.

He Wanted to Get Married February 18, But Jamesburg Widow Backed Out.

Julius Schneider, of Hassart street, New Brunswick, is looking for a wife. Mr. Schneider keeps a prosperous barber shop and lately took it into his head to get married. He became acquainted with a widow, of Jamesburg, and they agreed to get married, the date being set for February 18.

Mr. Schneider owns a house on Hassart street, and ordered the tenants out and furnished the rooms elegantly for his future wife. Finally the day arrived, and Mr. Schneider went to Jamesburg, where the event was to take place.

An hour before the wedding the bride-to-be informed him that she was already married. Explaining, she said she had married a doctor a week before. Mr. Schneider returned to this city, and is now looking for another woman.

Against Sunday Dancing.

Determined to put an end to dancing on Sunday and to make effective the promises several times made of reform, the Rev. J. Franklin Shindell, of the First Baptist church, Union Hill, and the Rev. F. C. Mooney, of the Union Place Methodist church, have organized a law and order league. They will devote their energies for the present chiefly to the suppression of dance halls where vaudeville performances are given on Sunday, but expect later to extend their energies to a general enforcement of the Sunday laws.

STATE GOLF DATES DEFINITELY FIXED

The annual championship tournament of the New Jersey State Golf Association will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 31, June 1 and 2, over the links of the Morris County Golf Club. These dates were selected at an executive committee meeting held at the office of Percy Jackson, president of the association, in New York Monday afternoon.

President Jackson appointed two committees yesterday. The handicap committee will be composed of Leighton Calkins, Plainfield Country Club, and Charles W. O'Connor, Essex County Country Club, and the tournament committee of H. H. Spies, Montclair Golf Club, and W. D. Vanderpool, Morris County Golf Club. The president acts on all committees, ex-officio.

It was voted at the meeting to purchase a new individual championship cup, subject to the same conditions as the old trophy recently awarded to the Montclair Golf Club. The original cup was twice won by Allan N. Kennaday, of Montclair, and last season by John M. Ward, so that it is now the permanent property of the Montclair Golf Club.

The same attractive prize list has been decided on for this year's championship. There will be gold medals for the winner and the runner-up in the first sixteen, and medals in the other divisions, while a banner will go to the club whose team returns low total in the team contest, played in conjunction with the qualifying round.

SENATOR ACKERMAN HAS LIBRARY BILL KILLED.

Bill No. 125 Withdraw Because Harmful to Plainfield.

Through the efforts of Senator Ackerman, an amendment to the State Library law, known as Senate Bill No. 125, and which was drafted to meet certain conditions in the southwestern part of New Jersey, has been withdrawn. It was found that is passed the bill would be a detriment to the Plainfield Public Library, which is now operating under the law of 1879, amended in 1886.

Not knowing that the bill had been withdrawn, the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library prepared a protest against the bill and intended sending it to Trenton, when word was received that it would not be presented.

City Park Landscape.

Common Council will be asked in the near future to arrange the landscape gardening of the City Park so that it will conform with that of the new High School grounds when they are put in condition. Dr. Maxson's idea is that there should be a walk through the centre line of the park from Eighth street to Ninth street to meet the walk from Ninth street to the main entrance of the building on that thoroughware. Some remarks were made on the subject by Superintendent Maxson at the Plainfield High School chapel exercises this morning.

NEW BRUNSWICK FIVE ROUTS PLAINFIELDERS

INTER-SCHOLASTICS BEATEN BY SCORE OF 78 TO 14.

The Plainfield Ex-Scholastic Basketball team was routed by the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. team at the latter place Saturday night. The locals, managed by Louis P. Hansen, next season's star pitcher of the Jersey Central baseball team, were buried under an avalanche of goals, the final score of the game being: New Brunswick Y. M. C. A., 78; Plainfield Ex-Scholastics, 14.

Phil Smith, the High School star, was the mainstay of the Plainfield team. Wyse played a fast game at forward for the home team, and Peterson, of the New Brunswicks, who played against Hansen, made a wonderful record for a guard, scoring 23 goals in thirty minutes of play, while Hansen, playing forward, only made two.

The score:

New Brunswick.		Plainfield.
Wyse	left forward.	Hansen
Clark	right forward.	Smith
Meyers	centre.	Jacot
Peterson	left guard.	Colmngworth
Everts	right guard.	Stutsman

Goals from the field—Peterson, 23; Wyse, 7; Clark, 4; Smith, 3; Hansen, 2; Meyers, 2; Everts. Goals from fouls—Peterson, 5; Smith, 3; Clark, Jacot. Referee, Atkinson; umpire, Peabody; scorer, Morris; timer, Levine.

SON'S DEATH CLOSELY FOLLOWED BY MOTHER'S

MRS. MARY WAKEFIELD HAD ALMOST REACHED THE CENTURY MARK.

Worn out with watching at the bedside of her son during his fatal illness, Mrs. Mary A. Wakefield, widow of John Wakefield, died at her home on Somerset place yesterday afternoon. She was one of the oldest residents of the borough, being within three years of the century mark, but despite her age insisted on caring for her son, Charles, who succumbed to a complication of troubles early last Thursday morning. In her weakened condition his death was a great blow, from which she did not rally.

Mrs. Wakefield was born in Ireland, but had resided in New Jersey eighty years. There are two sons surviving, John and Samuel Wakefield, both of whom live in the borough.

The funeral will be held at her late home Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and the interment will be at Evergreen cemetery, Elizabeth, where the son was buried last Saturday.

—Charles A. Dixon, who has been employed at the Pond Machine Tool Works for the past twelve years, has resigned his position to take a similar one with the John R. Williams Company, of Newark, and he will enter upon his new duties on Monday. Mr. Dixon will retain his residence here for the present.

The Ancient Order Hibernians will install its officers-elect on Monday night.

LIBRARY NEEDS $5,100 FOR YEAR'S EXPENSES

COMMON COUNCIL WILL BE ASKED TO PUT THAT AMOUNT IN ANNUAL BUDGET

In order to meet the running expenses of the institution for 1906, the Plainfield Public Library will need $5,100. That amount was agreed upon at the regular monthly meeting of the directors last night. The president was instructed to formally notify the Common Council that that amount is needed. It will be included in the city budget as usual.

The treasurer's report was read, and on motion of one of the members ordered to be placed on file. The report of the librarian, Miss Adams, was also read and likewise placed on file.

The members present at the meeting were former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, Col. Mason W. Tyler, J. Evarts Tracy, Dr. Leonard Waldo, William H. Larrabee, William M. Stillman and J. Herbert Case.

BRIDGE ACROSS NEWARK BAY.

Appropriation for One from Bayonne to Elizabeth Will Be Urged.

To further a plan to have a bridge built across Newark Bay from Elizabeth to Bayonne, a committee consisting of Hyman Lazarus, Henry Hinse and Walter H. Gay was appointed last night at a meeting of the Bayonne Board of Trade to obtain the co-operation of the Board of Freeholders of Hudson county in the project.

It is proposed to build the bridge parallel to the Central Railroad bridge. It would afford a short route for automobilists between New York and southern New Jersey and would mean the cutting off of Newark en route. Representative Van Winkle has introduced a bill in Congress to provide for the appropriation and a committee will go to the capital to urge its passage.

When the passage of a similar measure was sought two years ago it was defeated, it is said, through the opposition of Newark interests, which feared the business of that city would be injured.

DUNELLEN EDUCATORS ASK FOR MORE MONEY.

Appropriation of $4,600 Wanted to Run the Schools for Coming Year.

The fire escape placed on the Lincoln School building, Dunellen, by the W. T. Kirk Company, of Plainfield, was accepted at the March meeting of the Board of Education last night. The members went over the report of the district clerk, Theodore W. Day, approved it, and announced that it would be published at the usual time.

The board will ask for an appropriation of $4,600 this year, an increase of $600 over last year. The annual school meeting will be held Tuesday, March 20, at which time the terms of Thomas J. Todd, C. B. Mattis, Wilson Frederick and A. F. Todd, Jr., will expire. It is known that Mr. Frederick is not a candidate for re-election, he having now served as a member nine years.

Curfew Law for New Brunswick.

New Brunswick, March 7.—Prosecutor George Berdine appeared before the Board of Aldermen Monday night on behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in the interests of a curfew law for this city. He presented a model ordinance, which provides that between October and April girls under sixteen shall not loiter or stroll on the streets after 8 p. m., and between April and October not after 9 p. m. The ordinance also provides that a whistle be blown or bell rung fifteen minutes before the hour as a warning.

A Needless Alarm.

Burning rags caused a smoke at the tailor shop of August Wolf on Somerset street at 9:30 last night and led a passerby to believe that a fire was in progress. He turned in an alarm from box 141 and the borough department was on hand before the second round had finished, but there was nothing for the men to do. Wolf received some advice, however, as to how to dispose of rags in the future without making trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, of Elizabeth street, are the parents of a daughter, who came to their home Sunday.

The entered apprentice degree was conferred on two candidates at the communication of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., last night.

BOTTLED MILK SUPERIOR

Health Inspector Thurlow Finds it Purer Than Kind in Can.

RESULTS OF ANALYSES

Work of Health Department During February—Monthly Reports — Permits Granted.

That bottled milk is generally superior to milk in cans was the statement made by Health Officer Thurlow at the Board of Health meeting yesterday afternoon. He proved his assertion by submitting a detailed report of the result of his analyses during the month of February. In many cases the loose milk, as the kind sold from the can is called, was of very poor quality.

During the month Mr. Thurlow inspected forty-nine dairies and forty-eight samples of milk he procured on these visits were analyzed by him. One sample of watered milk was found. In addition to this he analyzed a great number of samples of loose milk taken from milkmen's carts, and the results opened the eyes of the health authorities. The number of bacteria in a given quantity far exceeded what was found in samples of bottled milk. In many cases the milk had been partially skimmed through carelessness in not stirring the milk thoroughly in the can.

Reports were read at the meeting showing the sanitary condition of the city, which has continued to be good. There were reported during February but six cases of scarlet fever and three cases of diphtheria. Four deaths from tuberculosis occurred during the month.

During the month there were reported six marriages, twenty-six births, three still births, twenty-nine deaths.

The following permits were granted: To collect garbage: Sylvester Cuff, T. M. Ingraham; to collect offal: Samuel Lederer & Son; to carry on business of scavenger: C. N. J. Land Improvement Co.; to sell milk: Chauncey F. Martin, J. S. Darby, W. G. Wright, (store), M. Sorenson, Edward Coughlan.

ADDS APPROVAL TO THE COUNCIL'S REQUEST.

Board of Health Wants Contagious Disease Ward at Hospital.

The Board of Health has endorsed the Common Council's action in requesting the governors of Muhlenberg Hospital to provide a ward for the treatment of contagious disease, other than small pox. The health authorities look upon such a ward as a necessity and want to see it established as speedily as possible.

Health Officer Thurlow was instructed at the board's meeting yesterday afternoon to communicate with the secretary of the hospital's board of governors at once and to urge that action be taken, citing the resolution unanimously passed by the city fathers on Monday night.

There appears to be no objection on the part of the hospital governors to provide a ward for the treatment of contagious cases, but there has been some delay over the plans. Councilman George P. Mellick, a member of the institution's board, stated Monday night that there was about half the required fund at hand and that the governors hoped to have a sufficient amount before many months to accomplish the purpose.

It is the city's plan to have Muhlenberg care for poor people afflicted with contagious disease, that is, to provide medical treatment for those who are totally unable to pay for necessary treatment. Small pox cases will be cared for as heretofore at the isolation hospital on Rock avenue.

Tendered a Birthday Surprise.

Jesse F. Boylon, of Regent street, was tendered a birthday surprise by a party of friends, last night. The evening was passed pleasantly in playing games and singing, while several piano selections by Miss Fanny Ayers were features. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock. The guests present included friends from New Brunswick, Oak Tree, New Dover, Potters, Alton and this city. Mr. Boylon received a number of appropriate presents.

Child Killed by Lad of Eight.

Edward Girard, of Adam street, West New York, five years old, was shot accidentally and instantly killed by Clarence Knight, eight years old, of Seventh street, yesterday. Older boys had left a loaded rifle lying on a piazza. Knight was handling it, when it was discharged and a bullet struck Girard in the temple.

SUGGESTS USE OF CITY'S SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM

J. O. Osgood, Chief Engineer of Jersey Central, Gives Expert Opinion on Solution on Problem.

TO CONVERT MAYOR

Unfortunate Condition Due to Separation from Plainfield—Action Should Not Be Delayed, He Says.

Of two announced speakers for the meeting of the Board of Trade last night, one was Joseph O. Osgood, chief engineer for the New Jersey Central, who presented some interesting facts in regard to "A Sewage System for North Plainfield." Being a resident of the borough, Mr. Osgood has given the matter much personal attention and, as was afterward remarked by former Mayor Saunders, there is no man in the State better qualified to discuss it. He spoke as follows:

At first it hardly seems worth while to say anything more than has already been said as to the necessity of a sewerage system for North Plainfield. The need was apparent to a large part of the population many years ago when Plainfield built its first sewers, and many thought then that the borough would shortly join in the forward movement.

The years have passed by ,however, one after another, with only occasional mention of the subject by our borough fathers, until now, just as the city is planning the extension of its system to its farthest corners, there is a revival of interest in the matter in the borough, and we hear arguments for and against a sewerage system.

I have even heard it said recently by those who have made inquiry in the borough that the people are generally in favor of sewers, and sincerely hope that this is true.

It is certainly time that something was done, and a disgrace to the borough that we are still talking and have not yet taken the first step.

It is perfectly possible in a community where the house lots are a half-acre or so in extent, to entirely dispose of the house wastes by means of cesspools, burning, burying in the ground, etc., but it is not practicable to do this without much more care than the ordinary householder will devote to the subject.

Even on such large, roomy lots, the cesspool becomes at times a nuisance and the proper disposition of the sewage in the ground expensive and troublesome.

Where, however, the lots are reduced in size and the buildings crowded together, as in the more thickly settled parts of the borough, it is impracticable to keep down the bad odors and unwholesome conditions. The soil under and around the buildings becomes badly contaminated, the air of the dwellings impure and an invitation is offered to disease.

Forty years ago the more progressive communities of the size of ours, both at home and abroad, were trying many methods to dispose of their household and manufacturing wastes, with varying degrees of success, according to the process and the care exercised in conducting it.

An effort was made to dispose of the solid wastes in one way and sink water and liquids generally in another. Pails and earth closets were much in vogue and house to house collection was extensively tried.

After years of experimenting, however, most of the methods then tried have been abandoned and sewerage systems almost universally adopted in their place.

Sewers for large cities are of very early origin—witness the great sewers of Rome, London and Paris. These were large enough to carry the rainfall as well as the sewage and were therefore too expensive to be within the means of small communities.

The adoption of separate systems by which the waste products are carried by means of the domestic water supply through a series of small pipes, while the rainfall is conducted to the streams by surface drains or separate storm water sewers, has made it possible for even small communities to dispose of their sewage without great difficulty.

Generally speaking, the introduction of a copious water supply makes sewers necessary, where otherwise they might be longer omitted.

We should have begun to build sewers when the Plainfield Water Company extended its pipes to the borough.

Without sewers the borough seems

COLONIAL SOCIABLE AT WARREN CHAPEL

MEMBERS OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY DRESS IN COSTUMES AT THE AFFAIR.

The colonial sociable of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel, last night, was a complete success. It was well attended and the programme was very enjoyable and much enjoyed.

The feature was an illustrated lecture by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the pastor, on his recent trip to the South. He showed forty-one views on Georgia, Washington and Mt. Vernon. The discourse accompanying the slides was connected and entertaining.

"Local color" marked the affair, the members of the society all appearing in costume. There was a flag drill by twelve small members of the Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., arranged by Mrs. W. C. Smith.

Refreshments were served. All the members of the society acted as a committee of the whole in arranging the affair.

The proceeds will be applied to the new chapel building fund.

WANT MR. TORREY FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

SHERIFF LAWRENCE HAS WRIT TO BRING HIM INTO COURT.

D. M. Torrey, formerly of Woodland avenue, is the defendant in a suit for rent instituted by Alfred Cocks, of this city. The plaintiff secured judgment in the Supreme Court and subsequently the defendant was examined in supplementary proceedings before J. H. VanWinkle, Sr., Supreme Court Commissioner.

Chief Justice Gummere made an order on the report of the commissioner directing Mr. Torrey to pay $12 every month until the judgment, about $300, was fully satisfied. Mr. Torrey did not comply with the order, and in September Chief Justice Gummere issued another order requiring him to appear before the Supreme Court at the November term and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt.

Mr. Torrey's counsel, former Senator Paxton, of Hoboken, was successful in having the argument on the contempt motion postponed until the February term. At that time the court allowed a rule that the original order be made absolute and that Mr. Torrey be attached for contempt of court. The writ of attachment for his body is in the hands of Sheriff Lawrence.

Mr. Torrey's counsel declared that his client will stay on the New York side of the North river, where he will probably retain his residence in the future.

"BILL" SMITH STILL IN NEW MARKET RETREAT

WIFE SAID TO BE SETTLING TROUBLE AT CALDWELL.

"Mayor Bill" Smith, who fled from Caldwell to New Market last week, to escape arrest after a row with a barber, is still in retirement in his old home. Mrs. Smith joined him Saturday night and brought tidings from the seat of war. The barber is recovering and Mrs. Smith is said to be "fixing" the matter.

"Bill' has been giving his old neighbors something to talk about, as in the days of his residence at New Market. Two Dunellenites saved him from a daring run across the Central tracks one night last week, in the face of an onrushing express train. Bill was preparing to make the dash when the Dunellenites grasped him. He struggled to get away, but they held him fast. Bill's rescue was cited by the Board of Education as an argument for the improvement when the body asked the Dunellen Council to make the Central put a tunnel under the tracks at Washington avenue.

Iona Council's Social and Dance.

Iona Council, No. 14, D. of P., gave its annual social and dance in Coward's Hall last night, a large gathering being present. The early part of the evening was devoted to a programme of addresses and music, after which dancing was taken up, Miss Lydia Edgar furnishing the accompaniment. Refreshments were served shortly before midnight.

George Alexander has recovered from his recent severe illness.

IN HONOR OF FR. BOGAN

Bishop O'Connor, Senator James Smith, Jr. and Other Notables to Speak.

LOVING CUP FOR HIM

Plainfield Priest To Be Guest of Honor at Catholic Union Affair in Newark Friday Night.

Arrangments have been made by the rally committee of the Catholic Young Men's Diocesan Union for the reception to be tendered Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, rector of St. Mary's church, who recently resigned as spiritual director of the organization after sixteen years' service, as told exclusively in The Daily Press a week ago. The affair will take place in Institute Hall, 76 New street, Newark, Tuesday night, and it is expected that many members of the societies making up the union will attend. Father Bogan found it necessary to retire as director of the union because of increased parochial duties here.

At the rally Tuesday night Bishop O'Connor will speak, it is expected, and Rev. Lawrence C. M. Carroll, of St. Patrick's church, Jersey City, will make the presentation address in giving Father Bogan a silver loving cup, a gift from members of the union. Other speakers will be former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., former Assemblyman Hamill, of Hudson county, and Congressman Fitzgerald, of New York. Mayor Doremus, of Newark, Mayor Kenny, of East Newark, and former Mayor Ryan, of Elizabeth, have been invited.

There will be a musical and literary entertainment following the formal farewell and presentation. Thomas J. Smith, secretary of the union, and P. E. Flynn, chairman of the rally committee, have the affair in charge.

CHILDREN'S GUARDIAN WORK IS REPORTED

H. F. FOX SAYS MORE THAN HALF ITS CHARGES COME FROM HUDSON COUNTY

Of the 218 children committed to the care of the State Board of Children's Guardians, during the past year, more than half came from Hudson county, according to the report submitted to the Governor by President Hugh F. Fox, of this city. He believes that the small increase in the amount annually appropriated will meet present administrative needs, but does not allow for extra service in behalf of children who are the victims of cruelty.

Many improvements have been made by the boards of freeholders throughout the State for the care of dependent children, the report states, and tabulated figures are given showing how the little ones have been accommodated up to November last. Of 119 children placed in families to board, twenty-three were sent back to relatives able to care for them. There were only six deaths in almshouses, seven deaths in families and but three children succumbed in hospitals. Fifty-eight applications were made from Catholic families, and 128 from Protestant families for children under the board's care.

Of those committed throughout the State, the majority were of Irish birth, Americans and Germans following. The greater number of commitments embraced children between five and ten years of age. Six foundlings were committed from Trenton.

Dr. Robert Stewart, in charge of the medical and surgical work for the children, paid 328 visits to sufferers and vaccinated thirty-seven. Only three cases of diphtheria, two of scarlatina and one of spinal meningitis occurred during the year.

The report of Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, the treasurer, shows that $2,233.81 was expended last year for traveling expenses, while for stationery, telegrams and other incidentals $1,896.91 was paid out. The salary list called for $3,381.72 and the total of expenditures for the year reached $9,192.18. The State has contributed $9,000 toward meeting this outlay.

AFRICAN MISSIONS TOUR

Rev. Dr. Halsey Describes in Words and Pictures What He Saw In Africa.

EXISTING CONDITIONS

Polygamy One of the Worst Vices Among the Eighteen Tribes He Visited—Differences Caste.

An illustrated lecture of more than ordinary interest was given in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last night by Rev. Dr. Halsey, of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. The speaker described his tour among the missions in Africa, presenting in a vivid manner an idea of the extensive work being done there by Presbyterian as well as native missionaries. The large number of views he displayed portrayed conditions as they actually exist today.

Dr. Halsey showed pictures of many of the mission stations and the various points he visited. He said that in French Congo as soon as the boys are graduated from the mission schools they have no trouble getting government positions. The speaker referred to the class distinction in Africa and exhibited pictures of what is called the elite, or "four hundred," and then by way of contrast displayed a group of the poorer class. Although Dr. Halsey explained that the "elite" class was better dressed, the audience found very little difference.

In speaking of the work in the schools, Dr. Halsey declared that in the Spanish section the priests do not allow the natives to have schools, but the missionaries are able to get them to attend the mission schools, where they are taught to read and write and are brought under Christian influence.

The speaker said that the missionaries find it difficult to overcome the practice of polygamy, one of the worst vices in Africa. Polygamous people are not received as members into the missions, and it is very hard in many instances to get the followers of this practice to forsake it and accept Christianity. There are eighteen different tribes represented among those attending the mission schools, and he said that all exhibit a fair amount of intelligence and a desire to learn about Christ.

One of the most interesting features of the lecture was Dr. Halsey's description of a system of wireless telegraphy used by the natives. By the use of drums the inhabitants of one town are kept in frequent communication with those of another. On a clear day when weather conditions are favorable messages can be sent by this method a distance of twenty miles.

Another feature of the talk was the reference to the chief sport, that of wrestling, which, he claimed, was far more exciting than football. Dr. Halsey laid stress on the marked progress in telling about Christ among the natives of Africa and of their great sacrifice, especially in building chapels and churches at their own expense. It costs four dollars, he explained, to keep a boy or girl in school eight months of the year.

In conclusion, the speaker mentioned the fact that on Sunday the annual offering would be received for this work, and he urged all to give liberally.

THEATRE MEETINGS PLANNED BY Y. M. C. A

WILL BE HELD MARCH 20 AND APRIL. 1.

The Y. M. C. A. has planned two big meetings at the New Plainfield theatre, one for Sunday, March 25, and the other for Sunday, April 1. Robert Freeman, of Princeton, will speak at the first, and the Lotos Glee Club and Y. M. C. A. orchestra will be on the musical programme. The speaker at the second meeting will be Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, pastor of the North Reformed church, Newark, the biggest church of the denomination in the State metropolis.

The meetings are being planned under the direction of George H. Rittenhouse, chairman of the religious work committee. He is being assisted by various sub-committees, at the head of which are A. B. Beers, W. D. Murray, U. B. Crane, M. W. K. Helcker and C. F. Dayton.

Borough School Budget Fixed.

The borough Board of Education held a meeting last night to formally complete the year's budget in order to fix the amount to be voted for at the special election on March 20. The figures sumbitted by the committees at the last regular meeting were practically maintained, the total being a trifle over $19,000. The meeting adjourned until tonight, when the figures will again be gone over.

N. P. H. S. ALUMNI NEXT

Movement on Foot to Organize Graduates' Association In the Borough.

SIMILAR TO THE P. H. S.

Annual Dinner and Commencement Week Reception Included in the Plans—Idea of Otto Mueck, Jr.

Otto Mueck, Jr., a graduate of the Class of '05, North Plainfield High School, is at the head of a movement to organize a permanent alumni association, patterned to some extent after the association of the city High School. Its object will be to promote sociability among the graduates as well as to perpetuate the spirit of school days. Mr. Mueck, and others interested in the movement, will call a meeting in a few weeks to which an invitation will be extended to all graduates of the borough institution.

One of the prime objects of the new association will be to have an annual dinner and social gathering during Commencement week. It is also proposed by Mr. Mueck, that the association will in the future tender the customary reception and entertainment to the graduates on Commencement night, which is now conducted by the classes of the two preceding years. For instance; the expenses of the reception last year were borne by the classes of '03 and '04, and in the previous year by the classes of '02 and '03, a class dropping out each year.

According to Mr. Mueck's idea the organization will be a popular move and under the arrangement all of the old graduates will be afforded an opportunity to contribute their assistance in making borough commencement week one of the pleasant events of school life. Mr. Mueck has not decided on a date for the preliminary meeting, but expects to be able to do so within two weeks, as it is his wish to get the ball started rolling as quickly as possible.

He is at present obtaining a list of all the graduates and their present addresses and has in preparation a circular letter which he will circulate among them.

LAYMEN'S ASSOCIATION WILL MEET HERE

OVER 100 REPRESENTATIVES OF GRACE M. E. WILL DISCUSS CHURCH MATTERS

The last official board meeting for the conference year was held in Vincent chapel last night, when matters of a routine character were discussed. The most important action was the presentation of the financial budget of expenses for the coming year. This was passed upon and approved. While the various stated amounts are nearly the same as last year, there is a slight general increase.

The use of the First M. E. church was tendered to the laymen of the Elizabeth district, who desire to meet here on Tuesday night to discuss matters relative to the approaching Newark Conference, to be held in the West Side Avenue M. E. church, Jersey City, April 3. There will also be a presentation of matters of interest to the churches in the district. It is expected that there will be a representation of about 100 from the various churches.

Warning Police Bulletin.

The police issued a warning to householders today against a man who has been going about town with a photograph proposition. He offers twelve large photos for $6, asking $1 down. He claims to represent the American Art Studio, New York, with a branch on North avenue, and the police say they can find no trace of a branch. The man is described as five feet nine and one-half inches tall, pale-faced, with two front teeth capped with gold.

Undertaker Leases Store.

Samuel Stockton, who recently located in Plainfield, has leased the store and flat, No. 148 East Fifth street, and about April 1 will offer his services to the Plainfield public as undertaker and embalmer. Mr. Stockton comes from Lambertville, Hunterdon county, where he resided for many years and brings with him a number of testimonials as to his ability from the best people of his former town and county.

Work Started on Baptistry.

The work on the baptistry at Faith chapel was started this week by the contractor. The improvement will be completed within the coming two weeks, so that the ordinance of baptism can be observed on Sunday, March 18.

WILLIAM L. SAUNDERS' BRIEF FOR CONSOLIDATION

FAKE VOUCHER SENT TO A CITY FIREMEN

POLICE LOOKING FOR JOKER WHO SENT IT.

The police are searching for a joker who has access to the city vouchers. Their attention was called to him yesterday, when Fireman George Mehl, Jr., showed a voucher to Teller Crone, at the City National Bank, where City Treasurer Arnold pays the city bills, that had been sent to him in the mail.

The voucher was made out for $15 for "one year's service." It was correctly filled out, and lacked only Mehl's signature. It fooled Teller Crone until the fireman called his attention to it a second time. Mehl wanted to take the "joke" away with him, but Crone decided that it was better in the possession of the police.

Chief Kiely said this morning that whoever sent out the voucher had committed a criminal offense. It was a poor joke, anyway, the chief said, because if Mehl had lost it somebody might have had it cashed at a store. City vouchers are frequently cashed at stores, and there was nothing about the fake voucher to attract attention from a shopkeeper.

PLAINFIELDER LAID OUT PHILIPPINE ROAD

SGT. SCHOFIELD, HOME ON LEAVE AFTER INTERESTING EXPERIENCE.

First Sergeant J. C. Schofield, a native of this city, has returned home from the army for short visit to relatives here. He has just come back from the Philippines, after long service in the artillery.

Sergeant Schofield has won to the rank of master gunner, and is now on detached service of a technical nature. He will be in charge of the work of putting electrical firing devices on all the coast defense guns from New York to Boston. The sergeant has had a varied experience in the army. He has been in the infantry and put in two years at a training school at Fortress Monroe, to prepare for the work in which he is now engaged. Just before he left the Philippines he was in charge of a surveying party in Samar, and laid out a military road in the south of the island.

He will report for duty at Governor's Island, New York, this afternoon. His present term of enlistment will expire in eighteen months. He intends to re-enlist as a civil engineer if possible.

FACTORIES SEEKING TO LOCATE IN THIS CITY

BOARD OF TRADE RECEIVES COMMUNICATIONS FROM TWO CONCERNS.

In the regular order of business at last night's Board of Trade meeting the following were elected to membership: J. Herbert Case, E. V. Bartine, E. F. Feickert, George F. Brown, George T. Rogers and William G. Debele.

Communications were received from the Ward & Clark Company, of New York City, and the Atlas Roofing Company, of Ithaca, N. Y., both of which are seeking new factory sites and are desirous of locating in this vicinity. They explained what their business required and asked if the board or the city were willing to make any concessions to get them established. The Ward & Clark concern manufactures woolen goods and employs from fifty to one hundred hands. The Atlas Company makes a roofing material and employs about fifty hands. Both communications were received and will be answered by the secretary in collaboration with real estate men.

Another communication was received from a New York newspaper soliciting an advertisment of the city for a special real estate edition to be issued late this month. It was voted to secure the co-operation of real estate men in booming the city in this way, the board to pay half the expense.

An Orange Man in the Toils.

Charles Richards, claiming Orange as his home, was arrested by the borough police last night for drunkenness. He is being held for a hearing.

—Hartley's orange marmalade is strictly high grade. Neuman Brothers have received twenty-five cases and are having a special sale.

Former Mayor and Other North Plainfielders Present Arguments at the Board of Trade Meeting.

CONVERTS ALSO TALK

Not a Matter For Practical Politicians But For the People—How Borough Is Suffering—"Home Rule."

Consolidation of the city and borough received a vigorous boom at the Board of Trade meeting last night. A splendid address on the subject by former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, opened the way for a discussion that brought remarks from representative men of the two municipalities, and led to a resolution being passed that will bring the matter to the attention of the proper authorities. There was not a dissenting address at any time during the evening, and the speakers included Captain William C. Smith and William G. Debele, two boroughites who did a great deal to defeat annexation, but who are now in favor of the two places being one.

At the beginning of his talk, Mr. Saunders quoted a remark made to him several years ago by Dr. H. K. Carroll: "Every fair minded man ought to see these two places made one. I don't expect to in my time, because we cannot get the politicians with us."

"But now I think the politicians are with us," continued the speaker, "and I think the people realize more than they ever did before that North Plainfield and Plainfield should be united. Under Assembly bill No. 155, still in existence, it is possible for us to consolidate, and the question of changing county lines, over which the politicians get so greatly disturbed, could be taken care of later. It is not an unusual thing, however, to have a city in different counties, New York being an instance."

This subject with us is unique and without a parallel, because we are located on Green brook and in growing are following the line of Front street and the Central Railroad of New Jersey. This makes Plainfield and North Plainfield three times as long as they are broad, with the latter simply representing the overflow from the former. There is a barrier in the mountains to the borough's growth northward, naturally it continues side by side with the city and always will, thus practically being a part of it. We are not like Dunellen or the Oranges—a case of outlying districts. We tried to build stores in North Plainfield, but they did not prosper as we hoped and though both communities are better off than they were five years ago, we are still helping Plainfield.

"One of the strongest arguments for consolidation that I ever heard was put to me recently by a borough merchant. He said, 'My father was always opposed to a circus coming to town, when I was a boy, and I never could understand why. When I grew older he told me his prejudice was due to the fact that they came into a town and took a lot of money away without benefiting anybody but themselves. A study of the situation has convinced me that there is a circus in the borough every day and that money is being taken out of it to contribute to stores, but we are not getting anything for it.'

"I have no doubt that if we held an election now, Plainfield would vote to take us in. We are one in church, hospital, Sunday school and social affairs. The difficulty in the borough is purely sentiment and the belief that something is behind the movement; peculiarly enough existing in the sections that would be most benefited by the change.

Let us take, for example, the growth of the city and borough in the past five years. Plainfield in 1900 had a property valuation of $8,329,500; in 1905 its valuation was $10,192,000, a gain of twenty-two per cent. The borough in 1900 had a valuation of $2,302,225, and in 1905 $2,655,700, a gain of twelve per cent. In the five years the city gained about two to one over the borough. As to population, Plainfield had 15,377 in 1900 and 18,478 in 1905, a twenty per cent. increase. The borough in 1900 had 5,009 inhabitants, and in 1905 it had 5,616, a gain of twelve per cent. It is percentage that counts, and in this instance again the city beat the borough almost two to one.

"This must mean something to us in the borough. Some may think we ought to change the county line first,

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The old fashioned country dance, held last night by the members of Bucket and Engine Company in their rooms, was a most enjoyable affair; everybody was out for a good time and if they did not have it it was not the fault of the boys of Bucket and Engine Company. A color was lent to the affair by the presence of "Sam" Frazee, who discoursed sweet old fashioned jingle bells and balance corners, which sounded familiar to many and were fond recollections of bygone days. The proceeds of the dance will be turned into the hose fund. The committee in charge who arranged the pleasant affair was Chief William Jamison and his assistants, Harry Pangborn and Charles Eller. They were ably assisted by other members of the company. Everybody had a good time and the success of the first dance will lead to others in the near future.

Mrs. Jacob Shackleton, who was a passenger on car 1365 when it jumped the track at Leland avenue, Tuesday afternoon, was quite badly injured by being thrown against the seat ahead. Mrs. Shackleton at the time of the accident, while feeling the effects of the shock, did not know how badly she was injured until after she had arrived home, when the shock had began to wear off. During the night she gradually grew worse and yesterday morning two physicians were in attendance. During the day she improved somewhat and while her condition is not considered serious, unless later developments show internal injuries, still it will be some time before she recovers from the concussions and bruises received and is able to be around again.

Miss Nellie Little, of the corps of teachers of the public school, has resigned her position to take a much better one with the New York schools. Miss Little's resignation was received with regret by the Board of Education, as she was considered a mose efficient teacher, one who was popular with her associates and loved by her scholars. Miss Harriet Halloway, who has been acting as substitute teacher in the Plainfield schools, has been engaged to fill the vacancy. Miss Halloway comes well recommended and will no doubt prove to be a valuable member of the corps.

Police Captain in Cell.

Because he refused to do patrol duty and wore his full uniform contrary to the orders of the Mayor, Captain George Gleitsmann, of the West New York police force, was locked up in a cell at midnight Tuesday, and held until his brother-in-law, J. C. Gerlsch, had him released. He was charged with impersonating a policeman. Just before the Democrats went out of power last fall Sergeant Gleitsmann was made a captain and put at the head of the force. Mayor Darling had an ordinance passed reorganizing the force and doing away with the office of captain. Gleitsmann refused to do patrol duty, and was suspended.

MINISTER BLAMED MAYOR FOR SALOON VIOLATIONS.

Elizabeth Pastor Said City Doesn't Pay Enough Salary to Get Right Sort of Executive.

Elizabeth, March 8.—Under-salaried city officials was given as the cause for the alleged violation of the laws in this city in selling liquor on Sundays, Monday night, by the Rev. Dr. William Wallace Youngson, pastor of St. James' Methodist Episcopal church, one of the leading churches of the city. Dr. Youngson was the principal speaker at the fifth anniversary of Mack Council, No. 276, Junior Order United American Mechanics. His subject was "Immigration."

He said nothing on the local option measure, and his only reference to the saloon question was when he said, "If you were to pay a salary that would command the right man, you would get an executive who would see that the laws were enforced. You could then get a man who had the backbone to stand up and show that he was master of the situation and not afraid to do his duty."

Dr. Youngson also conteded that the school teachers of Elizabeth are underpaid, and he urged better salaries for the pedagogues as well as more pay for the Mayor. The Mayor at present receives $900 a year. He is a Republican and, although Mack Council is composed almost entirely of Republicans, it being named in honor of the late Mayor Mack, who was the Republican leader here at the time of his death. Dr. Youngson was loudly applauded and a vote of thanks tendered him for his wholesome advice.

Assemblyman Everard K. Tucker, past councilor, was chairman of the committee, and Lawyer Henry H. Drake presided.

"THERE IS ONLY ONE THING FOR YOU TO DO, SIR, GO!"

Scene in "Deserted at the Altar," at New Plainfield Theatre Saturday Matinee and Night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Deserted at the Altar" is not a trashy melodrama, but a clean, wholesome play that makes one feel better for having seen it. It has one very sensational scene, yet a most consistent and modern one, worthy of being called the acme of stagecraft. It is a startling race between a big motor car and a bicycle at the end of the third act. It fairly lifts the people out of their seats and is greeted with uproarous applause and cheers. It will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night.

TOPSY AND AUNT OPHELIA.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," at New Plainfield Theatre, Monday Matinee and Night.

Al. W. Martin's mammoth scenic and electrical spectacular revival of the great and everlasting celebrated masterpiece of Harriet Beecher Stowe, entitled "Uncle Tom's Cabin," will be given at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday afternoon and night. It is one of the grandest, most interesting and heart rending plays ever placed upon the stage, and it will live forever in the memory of the theatregoing public. Mr. Martin, the enterprising manager, has taken great pains in staging and producing the original version of Mrs. Stowe's beautiful story, every year trying to outdo the previous. The company this season numbers fifty white people, including a chorus of twenty who will fill out the many pictures of the play and introduce many old and new songs, dances and plantation "shines."

Few plays in recent years have created so much comment as Clyde Fitch's "The Woman in the Case," which for four months crowded the Herald Square theatre, New York, to its capacity, and which, after a brief summer vacation, returned to the Madison Square theatre in August, only to duplicate the impression made on its previous visit to New York. There is likely to be an unusual demand for seats when Miss Walsh presents her now famous play at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday evening. Like most of Mr. Fitch's contributions to the stage, "The Woman in the Case" is very much up to date. Briefly speaking, it tells the story of a loving, faithful wife who will not believe in the accusations against her husband, although they are supported by sufficient evidence to land him in prison. She not only believes him to be innocent, but proves himso. He is the victim of a woman's revenge, a woman of the type that have supplied the yellow journals with the biggest head lines in recent criminal cases.

Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Thrusday night in Richard Carle's and H. L. Heartz's great musical comedy success, "The Tenderfoot." This characteristic opera abounds in picturesque scenes, the Texas locale giving abundant opportunity for richness of coloring in the costuming of the Mexicans and senoritas, the rangers and cowboys and girls, and the seminary visitors. The music is swinging and tuneful, while the comedy is of a variety that has caused critics to call "The Tenderfoot" the funniest of all comic operas. Mr. Figman in the title role is said to be delightful, with his quaint humor and dancing. Miss White, one of the greatest prima donnas in the country, brings to the role of Marion a remarkably fine soprano voice and acting ability.

"The Tenderfoot," at New Plainfield Theatre Thursday evening, March 15.

An unusually interesting announcement is that Wilton Lackaye will appear at the New Plainfield theatre on March 30 in the great dramatic success of the past two seasons, "The Pit." He will come supported by the original company.

WATCHDOG WITH RABIES.

Physicians With Pistols Keep Terrier Under Observance in East Orange.

Miss Parmalee, of the Riding and Driving Club of Orange, had a narrow escape from serious hurt when she carried her pet terrier to Dr. A. W. Smith in East Orange for treatment.

Dr. Smith said the animal had rabies, and yesterday at noon the dog, which had been placed in a cage to await developments, chewed all the woodwork in the cage, bent two three-quarter inch iron bars and tried to reach the open where Dr. Smith and his assistant, Dr. Wheatcroft, awaited with revolvers his appearance. The animal, after several hours of agony, died just as it made its way to the outside of the cage.

This was one of the first cases where a mad dog has been kept chained up under care of a veterinary for observation. The only information obtained by the physicians was that dogs with rabies have dilation of the eyeballs and are unable after long suffering to close their jaws.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

With "Willie" Deegan a benedict, who will be the ladies' favorite this season?

Mister Mumford, have you ordered that pole yet. Get busy and "be present at the meeting" Saturday night.

"Lou" Wiltse is still undecided as to where he will play this season, not having signed a contract to return to York, Pa.

"Billy" Lauder, who captained the Plainfield team the early part of the 1904 season, is coaching the Columbia University nine.

Reports from the south indicate that Henry Mathewson, brother of "Matty," is a comer. McGraw believes that he is another find.

The meeting will be called to order by Mayor Newton B. Smalley. Anything that the mayor takes hold of is bound to be a success, even band concerts.

Joe Wall, who will be remembered by many fans, has signed a contract to manage a club in the west during the coming season. He will probably play a position as well.

"Rube" Oldring is in the South with the Philadelphia Athletics, and according to reports he is making good. Manager Connie Mack is trying him out at short stop.

Lines Groo, who became famous the early part of last season, will remove back to Westfield this month. Dark Rumor says he may attempt to rejuvenate the game again in that vicinity.

WANTED—A job by an expert fly chaser. Terms reasonable. Reference. C. Denman, Westfield. Send replies to George Mallen, care Johnson & Johnson, wholesale crockery dealers, New York city.

Subscribe for at least one share of stock in the new baseball association and thus help to maintain good sport here during the summer. The proposition outlined is well worth the support of every enthusiastic baseball man.

Our esteemed friend, John "Red" Waller, is also looking around for a job. He made a proposition to Manager Daab this week and wound up his plea over the telephone that "Jack" Merrity was the squarest umpire in the business.

W. L. Smalley, Jr., has some good ideas which he will present at the meeting. Tersely said, it is to get the merchants interested, impress them that a ball team is a good thing for Plainfield, and then get them to subscribe. It is a good one.

Health Inspector Addis, who is a crank of the 33d degree variety, reports that baseball fever germs are in the air. Every loyal crank should get the "microbe habit" and attend the pow-wow at the Iroquois Hotel Saturday night. It means much to Plainfield.

Baseball lingo will float through Manager Leary's domicle in pure unadulterated hunks on meetin' night. Safe bingos, juicy swats, diamond skinners and daisy cutters of last season will be thoroughly dissected. If you are a trifle rusty better bring along your dictionary.

"Jack" O'Neill has shunned an offer made a few weeks ago by Manager "Jack" Dunn, of the Providence Eastern League champions. "Jack" will be with Manager Daab another season and is already longing for the initial scrimmage which is billed to take place Saturday, April 1, in Brooklyn, between the Hobokens and Loughlin A. C.

Local admirers of Connie McGeehan, who became acquainted with the twirler two years ago when he pitched several games for St. Mary's, will regret to hear of his serious illness. He is at the present time a patient at a sanitarium in Hazelton, Penna. According to newspaper reports McGeehan's condition is of a serious nature, and if he does recover, he will not be able to play ball again. McGeehan is still on the reserve list of the Philadelphia Athletics. Last season he pitched for the Harrisburg team in the Tri-State League.

Shares for the new baseball association, now in prospect of formation, are rapidly being subscribed for by local fans. The request for shares is more general than anticipated and it now looks as though there will be no trouble in disposing of the requisite number of shares. A large number who find themselves unable to take many shares are subscribing for one and thus materially helping the work along. It is expected that there will be a very large attendance of fans at the meeting at the Hotel Iroquois Saturday night to meet Manager Daab and talk over baseball for the season.

It has always been the delight of a number of Westfielders to place the "cheap sport" stigma on Plainfield. "People in glass houses should not throw stones." A member of the Westfield baseball association made a rather bold statement last week when he declared, that if the "sports?" of that burg who purchased season books on the installment plan, and who haven't as yet settled up, would remit, there would be sufficient funds on hand to wipe out the indebtedness of last season, which amounted to about $800. This same sport declared that he was in favor of showing these individuals up by instituting suit against them in the civil court.

It is now up to the baseball fans to decide whether there shall be a first-class team here this season. It will depend upon their response in subscribing to shares of stock as to the feasibility of bringing Manager Daab and his aggregation of players to Plainfield. Notices for the meeting to be held at the Hotel Iroquois Saturday are now out and attached to each is a blank to be filled out signifying the number of shares the recipient is willing to purchase. Each share will be sold for $5 and one can subscribe for as many shares as he desires, the money to be paid when the plans of organization are fully determined upon.

Unless the plan to be presented Saturday night, or one similar to it, is adopted, there is little chance of having good baseball here during the summer, and it is believed that there is enough public spirit in the city to subscribe for the desired number of shares and thus put the game on a paying basis. Every subscriber has a chance of getting his money back in accordance with this plan, and the chances are very remote for him to lose more than half of the amount he subscribes, besides he will enjoy good baseball.

It will probably be impossible for the committee to see all the interested fans, and it is hoped that those who fail to get a notice will consider themselves invited to the meeting and join in the plans to effect an organization. The merchants consider a first class ball team a good advertisement for the town and they are showing much interest in the plans now proposed. Anyone desiring to subscribe and who cannot attend the meeting can communicate with any member of the committee—Mayor Newton B. Smalley, City Judge William N. Runyon, W. W. St. John or Walter C. Dobbins, and will receive blanks to be filled out.

With renewed activity at Somerville, where the West Ends are getting busy, there is excellent prospect for a revival of the old-time rivalry between these towns, and no doubt a series of games can be arranged which will arouse the enthusiasm of all the fans. Westfield is also a proposition to be considered, for it is quite likely that that town will have a team similar to that of last year, and with Westfield, Plainfield and Somerville contesting for supremacy on the diamond good sport would be assured.

In addition to these games other contests will be arranged with the All-Cubans and other first class clubs of equal strength. It will no doubt be possible to secure games with teams in the Lackawanna League, and as many of the players are well known these games would be full of interest. Upon the action taken Saturday night will largely if not wholly depend the question of the game here for the season, and every enthusiast is urged to be present or otherwise signify his intention of joining the association.

LICENSES FOR TROLLEY CARS.

Newark Inspector Trying to Force Them on Company.

Newark's license inspector did not carry out his original intention of stopping yesterday all trolley cars which were being operated by the Public Service Corporation without having a city license card displayed in each one. After consultation with the city's law department, it was decided to visit each car shed and attempt to put a license in each car. Failing in this, the license will be delivered to the officers of the trolley company.

If cars in which the car number does not correspond with the license number are operated after that police court proceedings will be begun against the company.

"A Society Circus" at the New York Hippodrome continues to be the amusement center of the world, its magnificence and grandeur attracting thousands at both daily performances. The excellence of the programme offered commends itself to every amusement seeker. The charming music interpreted by the greatest trained chorus ever assembled; the beautiful scenic effects and stage pictures; the gorgeous ballet in the dance, "The Song of the Flowers," and the indescribably wonderful aquatic tableau, "The Court of the Golden Fountains," are features that impress, delight and advertise themselves. In the circus proper are Woodward's trained seals, a marvelous act; the Bonhair-Gregory troupe of acrobats, world's champions; Mlle. Leris, the sensation of Paris; Ralph Johnstone, bicyclist extraordinary; Powers' herd of elephants, the Lecussons, and other artists appearing for the first time in this country. Matinees are given daily.

Rumor blows in that Charles Napoleon Fowler expects to go back to Congress when his term expires. What's to prevent him? Visitors are allowed in the galleries.

Counsel in a Chancery case proves that courts have upheld a man's right to beat his wife. However, there is nothing to prevent wifey from taking physical culture exercises on hubby's anatomy.

One of the best arguments in favor of the "Bishops' bill" is the way the rum-shop people are lined up against it. That petitions are circulated right here in Plainfield in protest of the passage of the measure shows the extent of the crusade against any law that would elevate the business. Of course, the saloon men don't want to do away with screens and side-rooms. That's where their profit comes from.

Senator Kean is getting to be almost as generous at the public expense as Congressman Fowler. During the last few weeks he has been sending to influential men in the State copies of a speech delivered thirteen years ago against the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people. Of course he did not deliver the speech; the honored and lamented George Frisbie Hoar was responsible for it. Neither did Mr. Kean pay postage on it or defray the cost of publication. The printing was charged up against Uncle Sam and the postage also, for the document is mailed under the government frank. But at any rate it is very kind of Mr. Kean, particularly so when one realizes that a bill is pending in the State Legislature providing for the selection of senators by popular suffrage. Therefore we say the "Sage of Ursino" is getting to be almost as liberal as the congressman-marblemaker, who caused to be distributed thousands of copies of a speech he delivered on his yet unpassed banking bill at a time when he was pleading for the votes of the people to renew his right to occasionally keep the dust off a seat in the lower house at Washington. The government had to stand the expense of printing and mailing, of course. "What fools we mortals be."

FOWLER'S BILL FOR CURRENT DEPOSITS

DETAILS OF HIS MEASURE FOR REFORMING METHOD OF BANKING MONEYS.

Representative Charles N. Fowler's bill providing "for the current deposit of public moneys," as introduced in Congress, retains a portion of the title, and all of the first section and most of the second section, of a bill introduced some time since by Mr. Fowler. It provides for amending Section 5,153 of the revised statutes by striking therefrom the words "except receipts from customs," so that the clause shall read as follows:

"All national banking associations designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury shall be depositories of public moneys, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary; and they may also be employed as financial agents of the government; and they shall perform all such reasonable duties as depositories of public moneys and financial agents of the government as may be required of them.

"Section 2—That whenever the public moneys in the United States Treasury exceed in amount $50,000,000, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to deposit with national banking associations all such moneys, without requiring special security therefor, as in his discretion may seem proper to prevent the absorption of money in the Treasury, always excepting the gold reserve held for the redemption of legal tender notes. Such deposits shall be equitably distributed throughout the United States by the Secretary of the Treasury, and shall be a first lien upon the assets of the banks receiving them; and such banks shall pay interest at the rate of two per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, upon the average balances thereof. The amount so deposited by the Secretary of the Treasury with any national banking association shall not exceed seventy-five per centum of the paid-up and unimpaired capital of such bank, and shall at all times be subject to the demands of the Secretary of the Treasury."

SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM

to me to have little future.

The outlying parts where the lots are large may still be attractive, but there can be no material growth in the business portion of the town where the lack of sewers already makes the conditions very unfavorable as compared with the same streets across the brook.

We need sewers—why do we not have them?

If we are as a community sufficiently awakened to their importance, it is only necessary for the Mayor and Council to secure competent professional assistance to survey the ground and report a plan with an estimate of cost, then submit to the people their recommendations as to the portions first to be built, and, the necessary authority secured, to make a substantial beginning this year.

We are unfortunate in this matter, as in some others, inasmuch as we are a separate community and not part of Plainfield, but perhaps the city will be good to us and let us pump our sewage, for a time at least, into her main sewer and take care of it for us at the disposal works.

If not, we can build ourselves a little disposal plant of our own and have it all to ourselves. Our worthy Mayor talks at times about joining with Dunellen and taking the sewage down to Bound Brook or some other distant point on the Raritan; but when he gets down to business I, for one, shall try to persuade him to look nearer home for a chance to dump the sewage rather than to further postpone action in the search for a tidewater outlet and a route for a trunk sewer.

These may be desirable things in themselves, but as any outlet short of Raritan Bay will necessitate disposal works similar to what would be needed here, the expense of the longer mains practically prohibits them in this case.

The Mayor and Council of the borough have arranged for tomorrow evening an informal discussion of this matter with the local Board of Health. Let us hope that something tangible will come of it.

Following the address, Mr. Osgood stated that since he had prepared the facts he had received a letter from the secretary of the State Board of Sewage Commissioners relative to emptying sewage in small streams and rivers. It asserted that it would be improper for North Plainfield to discharge crude sewage in either Green brook or the Raritan river, and suggested as the best way out of the difficulty to co-operate with Plainfield. The beds are adequate, the writer asserted, and in an engineering way there are no difficulties.

King's Daughters' Affairs.

The executive meeting of the City Union, King's Daughters, scheduled for this morning, was not held owing to the illness of two or three members and the fact that there was nothing of importance to consider. A report on the proceeds from "The Pirates of Penzance," for the Day Nursery, will be submitted later. Last week there were forty children cared for at the nursery.

but this will be a natural result after consolidation, and it will come without the animosity that some have feared. It is none of Somerville's business about us; this is a question of 'home rule.' The county line is only a convenient division for the separation of the official business of the two counties.

"Consolidation means a representation of people which cannot now be understood by the industries that want to come here. Plainfield would gain in this matter alone, as it would be listed with 25,000 population, whereas it is spoken of as having but 18,000. With consolidation, the two places could join in municipal improvements and in many ways benefit by each other's help.

"In concluding, I wish to make one remark concerning the appellation 'The Father of Consolidation.' There is no 'Father of Consolidation.' It was a spontaneous movement among the people, but if there is any credit to be placed it belongs to this Board of Trade. Eight years ago the question was taken up and discussed at a meeting at the conclusion of which a committee was appointed to bring the matter before the mayors and Common Councils. A resolution was passed that consolidation was desired and that a bill be drawn up and passed by the Legislature permitting the people to vote on both consolidation and annexation."

When Mr. Saunders concluded he was enthusiastically applauded and his address furnished suggestions to others as a basis for remarks. Among those who spoke was James E. Martine, who said:

"It is the merest farce to maintain two sets of government so near together. I believe the people are honestly in favor of consolidation. I believe it would advance the interests of both city and borough to put the proposition in its true light before the community. Back in 1873 I was a member of Common Council and introduced a resolution to unite the interests of city and township. We then asked a more intimate relation between Plainfield and North Plainfield. We asked to have the street numbering the same in both the city and borough because we then realized that the interests were identical. I believe that consolidation will soon be accomplished. I want to see the combination of city and borough and the municipal ownership of sewers, water and gas."

Speaking directly to Joseph O. Osgood, who had spoken earlier in the evening on the borough sewage question, Mr. Martine asked what the probable cost would be to install a pumping station to discharge borough sewage in the Plainfield mains. Mr. Osgood replied that the had no exact figures, but that the expense would perhaps be about $50,000, the lift being very slight.

William G. Debele, a former opponent of consolidation, said: "I'll admit that I was one of the kickers, but today I feel differently on the the question, and I believe there are others in the borough who have changed as I have. I think that if consolidation was brought before the people now it would be carried, also annexation."

An excellent suggestion was made by Andrew E. Kenney, who, when called on, said: "The time is ripe to begin the agitation again, but it ought to be done on a different plan than it was before. Eliminate the idea of politics and let those who were in favor of it before step back now and give a new element a chance. Let Captain Smith, William Debele, Lewis Barkalew and others head the movement, these men having opposed it before, now realize that it would be best after all."

Other remarks were made by Mr. Barkalew, Captain Smith, Charles A. Reed and W. R. Codington. At the end of the meeting the following resolution was offered by Mr. Saunders and carried: "Resolved, That it be the sense of this meeting that the two places be consolidated and that it be suggested to the governing bodies that the question be brought before the people."

Hurray for Bill!

MAY BEAT HIS WIFE IF IT IS NEEDFUL

COUNSEL FOR ACCUSED HUSBAND ASSERTS COURTS HAVE UPHELD RULE.

That wife beating, when resorted to discriminatingly, and when justified by the provocation, has been upheld by the State courts, was alleged in the Court of Chancery at Newark yesterday morning by Alan Strong, counsel for Isaiah Britton, of New Brunswick, who is being sued for separate maintenance by his wife on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Mr. Strong, in support of his contention, quoted from the decision in the case of Duvall vs. Duvall, where the court held that a husband has the right to chastise his wife if provoked to it, provided that the chastisement is not too severe nor in disproportion to the provocation. In that case, Mr. Strong said, the punishment inflicted was not allowed as giving ground for divorce.

"Is a man to be provoked beyond all limit by his wife and not allowed to retaliate?" asked Mr. Strong. "And if he does strike a light blow, under the stress of provocation, shall he be punished for it? There is no evidence that Britton struck his wife. She brings no corroboration of her allegations; not testimony of physicians that saw her injuries and she admits that she gained twenty pounds in a year, which would go to show that she did not suffer."

Mr. Strong wound up by saying that the evidence did not entitle Mrs. Britton to separate maintenance because her husband was willing to live with and support her.

Vice-Chancellor Emery later reserved decision.

Robert Adrain summed up for Mrs. Britton and said the testimony of several witnesses snowed that the husband and wife had quarreled more or less for twenty years. The weight of evidence showed Mr. Britton to be the aggressor, Mr. Adrain held, and he suggested that in view of all that had occurred, the couple could not live together happily, and it would be better for them to separate.

Mr. Adrain said it appeared that Mr. Britton would come into the house with muddy feet, which conduct was objected to by Mrs. Britton.

"Britton says his wife called him an 'old devil.' Well, perhaps she did, but was it any too strong language considering the provocation that her carpets were all dirtied up? I am not justifying her, only suggesting that the language of Mrs. Britton may not be disproportionate to the provocation. Britton says he had a right to come into his own house with muddy feet if he wished to. Well, I do not know what the law holds to be a man's right in such cases."

MOCK MARRIAGE MAY CAUSE MUCH TROUBLE.

Woman Who Impersonated Bride Wants Contract Fulfilled, but Joke Husband Doesn't.

Camden, March 8.—A mock marriage which was one of the features of a social party here last January 27 promises to become a source of trouble.

Rebecca Shindler, who posed as the bride, demands that the obligations be carried out. She is fifty years old. Robert Burrens, an ironworker, twenty-nine years old, who acted as bridegroom, is not inclined to accept the ceremony as legal. The man, who played at being a clergyman made out a certificate in regular form and signed it "Rev. B. G. D. Moore."

It appears that besides being promised a husband if she went through the ceremony as a joke the bride was promised a piano. She threatens to sue to enforce the carrying out of the compact.

The prosecutor has been consulted and says criminal proceedings may be started against some of those concerned.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

March 11: "A Christlike Life"—Mark x, 43-45; John xiii, 34; Phil. ii, 5-8; Col. iii, 12; I Pet. ii, 21-25; iii, 17, 18; Rev. iii, 21.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

What is the Christlike life?

Much has been talked and written about what Jesus would do if He was here and in our circumstances. Some of this has been good, more of it has been poor stuff, and not a little has been positively bad. Perhaps we may not be able to discover just what Jesus would do in any given circumstances, and if we did discover that it might not be at all what we should do, for His work and ours are not identical.

But it is of great benefit to us to study the Christ life and find the principles which underlie it and which are for guidance in our decisions and doings.

Some one has well said that the history of the world is the biography of great men. The inference is that we should study such lives to discover the course they pursued and then govern our lives accordingly. The greatest life ever lived was that of Jesus Christ. It was the soberest, sanest and altogether most manly life. It is the model which we are in all reasonableness to follow. What are its basal principles?

At the head stands the truth stated in Philippians, that though He was existing in the God form He did not count that a thing to be tightly held or grasped. There was a better thing than this to be accomplished. He took a new form. It was not that of angels. Nothing was to be gained in that. No form could be so high as the God form, which was His by eternal generation and right. But it was worth while to lay aside this Divine form for awhile and take the form of a servant instead of that of the Creator. He took the form of a man. He will show men what God intended man to be. He becomes the true man in all respects. He lives as they do. He enters life by birth and leaves by the common door of all the race. He works as the common son of Adam must labor. He earns his bread by sweat and toil. He, the Maker of all worlds, hungers and thirsts and is weary as the poorest man of the race. He knows our condition, for He has been all through it. He suffered and sorrowed, as we all must sorrow and suffer. He escaped none of the privations of the servant sphere of this world. He humbled Himself. And then the death. We would have thought He would have shrunk from that. But, though the horror of dissolution and all there is in death may well have been inexpressibly revolting to such a nature, there was no halting in the work He had set Himself. He became obedient to death, "even the death of the cross."

Write large in your list of the Christlike qualities which are to be worked into your own life humility and study humility in the light of the Christ life. Can you bear to be servant? Servant of men who are stupid, stubborn, vicious and who deride your goodness and contemn it?

But that is not the deepest secret in His life. He did act the servant's part as no man before or since has done. He did actually love those whom He served. He loved men, unlovely as they were and are. He loved them to the end. But that is not the greatest thing about Him.

He learned obedience by the things which He suffered, but the lesson of obedience to the Father's will is not the chief thing to note.

He was ever Son of the Father. He never lost conscious Sonship. He that had seen Him had seen the Father. He revealed the Fatherhood of God in His words and acts. The Spirit was His without measure.

Is it possible that we can in any measure follow Him in these things? Certainly in humility we are to walk as He walked. In oneness with God in spirit we can have the same abiding witness that we are well pleasing to our God in our own proper sphere. Till we all come to the perfect man, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ, this is ever the attainment set before us as our goal of striving.

The Power to Enjoy.

You may think in looking out upon the world that the great difference between people is that some have many things to enjoy and others very few. When you know them better you will find that a greater difference is that some have great power to enjoy and others very little.—Rhonda Williams.

What Love Is.

Love is not getting, but giving; not a wild dream of pleasure and a madness of desire. Oh, no; love is not that. It is goodness and honor and peace and pure living. Yes, love is that, and it is the best thing in the world and the thing that lives longest.—Henry Van Dyke.

Uncounterfeitable Grace.

Perseverance is the only Christian grace that cannot be counterfeited.

A Sunshine Song.

Would you make some saddened heart
Just a little lighter?
Would you make some burdened life
Just a little brighter?
Drop a word of hope and cheer;
Set the echoes ringing
With your notes of love and joy
As you go a-singing.

Would you smooth the rugged path
Down along life's highway?
Would you plant the rose of faith
In some lonely byway?
Just a deed of kindness done
Clears the path before us,
And the lilies of God's love
Bloom and blossom o'er us.

Just a little word of cheer
Lightens every duty;
Just a smile will often show
Faces wreathed in beauty.
Sprinkle sunshine as you go,
Comfort the distressing,
And your own reward will be Heaven's choicest blessing.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning March 11.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—James' picture of a perfect man; how can we realize it in ourselves?—Matt. v, 48; Jas. iii, 1-18.

The ideal set before the Christian in the Scriptures is that of perfection—entire separation to God and consecration to His will. In the sermon on the mount Christ places the perfection of God before us as the model toward which we are to strive. "Be ye perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." In this idea of perfection it is not suggested that it is possible for us to have perfect knowledge, to be perfectly free from sin or that we shall not need to contend against the evil that is within and without us, but that we should take the perfect attributes of God—His goodness, justice, wisdom and holiness—and make them the goal toward which we shall strive, depending upon Him to give us grace and strength to succeed. Nor is such an ideal impracticable. The higher our ideal the higher our attainment if we use all our powers of will to attain to it and seek the guidance and strength of God to help us.

Perfection must of course deal with all man's moral attributes, but the apostle James in his picture of the perfect man makes all to center around the one attribute of speech. He declares that "if any man offend not in word the same is a perfect man." But that he does not mean that perfect speech makes a perfect man he hastens to add "and able also to control the whole body." The perfect man must have perfection in thought, word and in deed, but speech is inspired by thought and is the forerunner of action. In general a man says what he thinks, and his words are a prophecy of what he will do. Therefore it is possible to estimate with some degree of certainty the standard of perfection which a man has reached by his words, for if we offend not in word we mirror in our words an inoffensive mind and give assurance of a life of perfection. And further on the apostle emphasizes the fact that speech is the result of an inward condition and that it results in proper outward behavior and that all proceed from divine and heavenly wisdom, "For the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy. And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace."

If we would attain to perfection as James portrays it, we must be especially guarded in our words. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon this fact, for of all things we are less apt to put a bridle upon our tongues. (1) The tongue is a little member of the body and seems, therefore, unworthy of especial attention. It is so easy to talk, and words seem so common and trifling that we do not weigh them carefully. But, though small, the tongue is most dangerous. A bit is a small thing, but it controls a horse. Ships are turned about by a very small helm. Therefore the tongue is not to be despised because of its insignificant size. Instead it requires the more careful guarding. (2) The tongue is hard to control. All who have tried to control it have found this to be true. But for this reason we are not to give it a free rein, but to put forth more strenuous efforts to control it. The unruly horse is not set free, but only held the tighter. And if man cannot control the tongue God can give him the power to do so.

The miseries of life caused by unruly tongues are past all description and all summing up. Mere thoughts injure no one. We can defend ourselves against the evil actions of men, but before unbridled, merciless, scandalous tongues humanity stands almost defenseless. Let us guard against this danger by cultivating a pure heart, which shall inspire kind words, which shall in turn inspire good works.

New York's Field Secretary.

Rev. William T. Edds, New York state field secretary, was a successful minister in the Congregational church before being called to this responsible position. He has been for many years an enthusiastic believer in Christian Endeavor and an active and aggressive worker along Endeavor lines. He brings to his new post a ripe experience that will fit him for the many exacting details of life in the field. He will devote much time to needy and neglected portions of the state and will do a great amount of pioneer service, forming new societies, instructing ministers and lay workers in the value and details of organization and in every possible way helping to pass on the blessings of the movement to those who do not now share them.

REV. WILLIAM T. EDDS.

Junior Note From Ireland.

If you were going to present your friend with a rose, would you select one already full blown? Would you not rather select one that is just opening out? And don't you think the Jesus is better pleased with a child's life, when unspotted by sin, than when the old man, whose life has been spent in sin, comes to pray for mercy.—J. McVitty, Clones.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.
Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.
The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

THE WIDOW'S RUSE

"Do you really believe in love?" asked the Widow.

The Colonel started. He had been wondering how he could find out the exact amount of her fortune before taking the plunge.

"Er—oh, yes," he said. "Certainly, certainly."

"How refreshing!" sighed the Widow.

"Love?" queried the Colonel, with a splendid show of tenderness.

"I meant how refreshing to find a man who believes in it, especially a man with so much experience in life."

"I have always believed in it," replied the Colonel, simply. His eyes became slightly misty; they were not strong.

"I wonder you never married," observed the Widow.

She was looking down. He used the opportunity to note the luxury of the room. Even if rumor had exaggerated, she must be worth at least—

"Because," he said, slowly, "I have waited to find the woman who realized my ideal."

The Widow shook her head. "I'm afraid you will remain a bachelor to the end of your days," she remarked.

Now he might do it. To be or not to be? Courage!

"But I have found her," he murmured, hoarsely.

"Really?" She was vastly fluttered. "How very interesting! May one ask"—

"It is yourself," protested the Colonel, pulling forward his chair a little that he might the more conveniently seize her hand. "Will you take me, Hester?"

"Ruth," corrected the Widow.

"I beg your pardon, Ruth. Will you—will you marry me?"

"Yes," whispered the Widow.

He dropped on to his knee with some difficulty, and brushed her cheek with his mustache. It tickled frightfully, but the Widow did not laugh.

"I will do by best to make you happy," promised the Colonel. "I ought to warn you, though, that I have very little beside my pension."

"True love is better than riches. We can afford to face poverty together."

"Ye-es," the Colonel agreed. "At any rate, it is a comfort to me to reflect that you need never fear privation."

The Widow sat up. "By the way," she observed, "I suppose you know that, in the event of my marrying again I lose all my money?"

The Colonel gasped. The expression on his face betrayed him.

"Thank you," said the Widow. "I invented that to test you. One has to be so careful, doesn't one?"—London Daily Mail.

STARTING FOR THE PLAY.

Grace, the cab is waiting.
We are deuced late.
You are never ready.
Jove! It's after eight.
Darn this beastly collar
(Buttenhole's immense).
Shines like celluloid—
Laundries have no sense.
Opera glasses? Have them.
Wear your heavy wrap.
Well, then, wear the other.
How those gloves do gap!
Fix them in the carriage.
Come, dear, never mind.
Don't stop. Stick a pin in.
There's no fault to find.
Yes, I kissed the mamy.
Glad! you do look nice!
What's that? O, your flowers?
They are on the ice.
Try to hurry, dearie.
Darn it. Pardon me.
You should hold your train up.
Yes, I have the key.
Jane will guard the silver.
Everything's all right.
O, Grace, you must hurry.
Yes, I fixed the light.
Leave the windows open—
It's not going to rain.
Everlasting fussing
Goes against the grain.
What? Your powder chamois?
O, you goosie, don't!
Put it in my pocket??????
No, my dear, I won't.
You look simply stunning.
What's up now? O, hang!
(At this point the hall door Closes with a bang.)

—What to Eat.

Honors Easy.

"This silver dollar," began the cashier of the restaurant, as he crutinized the coin.

"Is bad, eh?" interrupted the sour-looking patron.

"Well, it doesn't look very good."

"That so? Just bite it, and if it's anything like the dinner I had it'll taste even worse than it looks."—Ex.

Considerate.

Mrs. Nuritch Woodby—Now that we're fixed so swell we'll have ter have a reg'lar day ter be "at home."

Mr. Nuritch Woodby—All right. What's the matter with We'n'sd'y?

Mrs. Nuritch Woodby—O! no, Mrs. Van Astorbilt has that day an' I don't wanter interfere with her.—Philadelphia Press.

"The Man on the Box"

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Author of "The Grey Cloak," "The Puppet Crown."

Copyright, 1894, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"James, we have been in the habit of paying off the servants on this day of the month. Payday comes especially happy this time. It will put good feeling into all, and make the service vastly more expeditious."

She counted out four ten-dollar notes from a roll in her hand and signified him to approach. He took the money, coolly counted it, and put it in his vest pocket.

"Thank you, Miss."

I do not say she looked disappointed, but I assert that she was slightly disconcerted. She never knew the effort he had put forth to subdue the desire to tear the money into shreds, throw it at her feet and leave the house.

"When the gentlemen wish for cigars or cigarettes, you will find them in the usual place, the lower drawer in the sideboard." With a swish she was gone.

He took the money out and studied it. No, he wouldn't tear it up; rather he would put it among his keepsakes.

I shall leave Mr. Robert, or M'sieu Zhames, to recover his tranquillity, and describe to you the character and quality of the guests. There was the affable military attache of the British embassy, there was a celebrated American countess, a famous dramatist, and his musical wife, Warburton's late commanding colonel, Mrs. Chadwick, Count Karloff, one of the notable grand opera prima-donnas, who would not sing in opera till February, a cabinet officer and his wife, Col. Annesley and his daughter. You will note the cosmopolitan character of these distinguished persons. Perhaps in no other city in America could they be brought together at an informal dinner such as this one was. There was no question of precedence or any such nonsense. Everybody knew everybody else, with one exception Col. Raleigh was a comparative stranger. But he was a likeable old fellow, full of stories of the wild, free west, an excellent listener besides, who always stopped a goodly distance on the right side of what is known in polite circles as the bore's dead-line. Warburton held for him deep affection, martinet though he was, for he was singularly just and merciful.

They had either drunk the cocktail or had set it aside untouched, and had emptied the oyster shells, when the ordeal of the soup began. Very few of those seated gave any attention to my butler. The first thing he did was to drop the silver ladle. Only the girl saw this mishap. She laughed; and Raleigh believed that he had told his story in an exceptionally taking manner. My butler quietly procured another ladle, and proceeded coolly enough. I must confess, however, that his coolness was the result of a physical effort. The soup quivered and trembled outrageously, and more than once he felt the heat of the liquid on his thumb. This moment his face was pale, that moment it was red. But, as I remarked, few observed him. Why should they? Everybody had something to say to everybody else; and a butler was only a machine anyway. Yet, three persons occasionally looked in his direction: his late colonel, Mrs. Chadwick and the girl; each from a different angle of vision. There was a scowl on the colonel's face, puzzlement on Mrs. Chadwick's, and I don't know what the girl's represented, not having been there with my discerning eyes.

Once the American countess raised her lorgnette and murmured: "What a handsome butler!"

Karloff, who sat next to her, twisted his mustache and shrugged. He had seen handsome peasants before. They did not interest him. He glanced across the table at the girl, and was much annoyed that she, too, was gazing at the butler, who had successfully completed the distribution of the soup and who now stood with folded arms by the sideboard. (How I should have liked to see him!)

When the butler took away the soup-plates, Col. Raleigh turned to his host.

"George, where the deuce did you pick up that butler?"

Annesley looked vaguely across the table at his old comrade. He had been far away in thought. He had eaten nothing.

"What?" he asked.

"I asked you where the deuce you got that butler of yours."

"Oh, Betty found him somewhere. Our own butler is away on a vacation. I had not noticed him. Why?"

"Well, if he doesn't look like a cub lieutenant of mine, I was born without recollection of faces."

"An orderly of yours, a lieutenant, did you say?" asked Betty, with smoldering fires in her eyes.

"Yes."

"That is strange," she mused.

"Yes; very strange. He was a daredevil if there ever was one."

"Ah!"

"Yes; best bump of location in the regiment, and the steadiest nerve,"—dropping his voice.

The girl leaned on her lovely arms and observed him interestedly.

"A whole company got lost in a snowstorm. You know that on the prairie a snowstorm means that only a compass can tell you where you are; and there wasn't one in the troop—a bad piece of carelessness on the captain's part. Well, this cub said he'd find the way back, and the captain wisely let him take the boys in hand."

"Go on," said the girl.

"Interested, eh?"

"I am a soldier's daughter, and I love the recital of brave deeds."

"Well, he did it. Four hours later they were thawed out in the barracks kitchen. Another hour and not one of them would have lived to tell the tale. The whisky they poured into my cub—"

"Did he drink?" she interrupted.

"Drink? Why the next day he was going to lick the men who had poured the stuff down his throat. A toddy once in a while, that was all he ever took. And how he loved a fight! He had the tenacity of a bulldog; once he set his mind on getting something, he never let up till he got it."

The girl trifled thoughtfully with a rose.

"Was he ever in an Indian fight?" she asked, casually.

"Only scraps and the like. He went into the reservation alone one day and arrested a chief who had murdered a sheep-herder. It was a volunteer job, and nine men out of ten would never have left the reservation alive. He was certainly a cool hand."

"I dare say,"—smiling. She wanted to ask him if he had ever been hurt, this daredevil of a lieutenant, but she could not bring the question to her lips. "What did you say his name was?"—innocently.

"Warburton, Robert Warburton."

Here the butler came in with the birds. The girl's eyes followed him, hither and thither her lips hidden behind the rose.

Athletic Pastor Resigns.

Coming as a great surprise to his congregation, the Rev. M. Wayne Womer, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church, Belleville, has tendered his resignation to the official board to take effect at the end of the conference year. He will be asked to reconsider his action. Mr. Womer said desire to leave was not due to any dissatisfaction, but he thought when a minister worked hard he should be advanced to a larger field. During his pastorate the membership of the Wesley church has doubled. He was prominent last year on the football field and one of the best players in the Belleville baseball nine.

RAHWAY MAYOR DENIES THAT HE IS TO RESIGN

DECLARES HE WILL REMAIN IN OFFICE AND ENFORCE LAWS.

Rahway, March 8.—Rumors having been freely in circulation that Mayor James B. Furber was about to resign his office on request, he said yesterday: "You can say that I have not now, have not had, nor do I expect to have, any idea whatever of resigning. I am not now, nor have I ever been, a quitter. I am not here to seek to antagonize any one or any combination of people, but am here to enforce the laws as they are presented to the best of my ability.

"When I accepted the nomination for this office I did so on a platform in which were three planks. They are still there and on them I stand. The first was the retaining of Benjamin Hughes, a veteran of the war and a good Democrat, as street commissioner. That has been done. The second plank was the establishing of a filtration plant for Rahway. That will probably be accomplished soon, as there are prospects of a contract being signed within a few days. The third was the obtaining of a square deal from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and that we are standing for, and propose to push it to an issue.

"A certain element, whose antagonism has been aroused because of the intention of the Excise Board, the Common Council and myself to make them respect the laws, has attempted to make a little trouble for me, but thus far the trouble has been more for themselves than for myself, as I have lost no sleep over it, nor do I expect to do so. I am in receipt of anonymous and threatening letters every few days, but they are simply consigned to the waste basket.

"An attempt was made by some person with the head members of our concern to have me removed from my position as general manager here. They were simply treated with respect and their request denied. The laws as they stand must be enforced. If the laws are wrong have them changed. I wish to reiterate that I am here for the purpose of enforcing the laws, doing all I can for the advancement of Rahway's interest, and have no thoughts of resigning."

Mr. Furber, when asked as to the identity of the persons who sought to have him removed from the firm by which he was employed said that he was not in a position to be able to inquire who they were. He admitted, however, that he thought they were members of the saloon element, who sought his downfall owing to his vigor in enforcing the Sunday-closing law.

NO SIN TO MARRY GIRLS UNDER AGE.

Court Holds Pastor, Who Was Deceived by Bride About Age, Is Guiltless.

Judge Carrick, in the First District Court, Jersey City, gave yesterday a decision in favor of Rev. Arney S. Biddle, pastor of the Summit Avenue United Presbyterian church, in the suit brought against the minister by Michael Reuss, of Paterson, who claimed $300 damages, because, as he alleged, his daughter, Teresa, was only seventeen years old when Pastor Biddle married her to James Winters.

The testimony in the case was taken last week. Reuss and his wife testified that the girl was only one month over seventeen. Mrs. Mary Coe, one of the witnesses of the marriage, testified that the bride told her she was nineteen years old. Mrs. Coe said the girl's appearance indicated that she might be twenty.

Dr. Biddle testified that the girl told him she was over eighteen, and as he saw no reason to doubt her statement, he performed the ceremony.

In giving a decision in favor of Dr. Biddle, Judge Carrick said the pastor had exercised all the care the law demanded in such cases and could not be held responsible, even if the testimony of the girl's parents was admitted.

Narrow Escape for Hermis.

Bound Brook, March 8.—Hermis, the $67,000 horse owned by E. R. Thomas, who is being wintered on the Shields farm, at South Bound Brook, had a narrow escape from serious injury Monday night. His trainer, accompanied by Stewart Shields, son of Mr. Shields, drove the race horse, attached to a light racing cart, to this place. The heavy rains of Saturday night made the subway under the railroad tracks so full of water that it was impossible to drive through it, and the trainer used the east sidewalk. On returning later in the evening, Hermis shied at something in the freight yard and threw himself heavily on his side. The trainer and young Shields jumped from the cart, and after hard work got the animal on his feet. An examination showed the horse was not greatly injured, but it was a narrow escape from death.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager Bogert T. Conklin, of the West Ends, Somerville, announces that he has signed "Jimmie" Montross and George Allen as a battery for the coming season. It is also expected that another twirler will be signed to assist Montross. Galbraith, last year's slab artist, has not been heard from and will not be re-engaged. Last season's strong infield has been signed and a formidable outfield will be secured. The annual meeting of the association will be held on March 21, when officers will be elected and plans completed for the season.

Under the impression that semi-professional ball was not healthy enough to last another season, Thomas Keefe, the old St. Mary's pitcher, has been quietly sounding his friends on a proposition to reorganize the amateur league. The responses have not been hearty enough to encourage him to hope for a resurrection of the organization. Most of the fans shudder at the idea of going back to the guesswork style of game, where players in the field might be replaced by a good many young men in the bleachers without any appreciable loss of strength to the teams.

With $30,000 stacked up to his credit for work since June, 1902, Napoleon Lajoie will take up his first contract now for four years some time this month. The Blues' chieftain signed his first and only contract with Cleveland while hostilities were raging just four seasons ago. The date was June, 1902, and the time covered runs through the campaign of 1905. Larry is now in the prime of his ball playing life and he should have eight good seasons left in him yet. This means that he will draw down $60,000 before he sidesteps the game for good, more than any athlete has earned upon the baseball field, with the possible exception of John McGraw, who is to be reckoned with.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The women of Holy Cross church will hold a cake sale in the parish house Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

George C. Thomas, of Philadelphia, has presented $100,000 to the Board of Missions of the Episcopal church. It is Mr. Thomas' request that the donation shall be used as a permanent fund, known as the "Bessie Moorhead Thomas memorial fund," after his daughter, who died some years ago. The fund is placed at the disposal of the Board of Missions in New York, and will be used for foreign or home missionary work at the discretion of the board.

A well known evangelist is fond of telling how, at the close of one of his most stirring addresses, he approached a big, stolid-looking German in the congregation who had paid the closest attention to the discourse. Thinking that he had, perhaps, made some impression on the man, the evangelist said to him:

"Are you a Christian?"

"Nein—Sherman," was the reply.

"Oh, German? Well, would you not like to become a Christian and work for the Master?"

The man shook his head and said:

"Nein, I have youst got a shob to drive an ice-wagon."—Lippincott's Magazine.

RELEASE POSTMASTER ON $2,000 BAIL

COOPER MUST APPEAR TO ANSWER CHARGE ON APRIL 17.

George W. Cooper, former postmaster of Somerville, who was arrested by Deputy United States Marshall Stewart last Thursday, charged with having returned vouchers, during his term of office, for the salary of an assistant, Azariah M. Beekman, for larger amounts than the latter had received, waived examination before United States Commissioner Bigelow at Newark yesterday. He was held in $2,000 bail for his appearance before the United States District Court April 17. William S. Stryker and William H. Cawley, of Somerville, went on Cooper's bail bond.

Cooper was removed recently because of alleged irregularities in his accounts, and the investigation which followed led to his arrest.

FOR RADICAL CHANGE OF THE ELECTION LAW.

Senator Colby Introduces It, as Well as Bill Regulating Granting of Favors to Railroads.

Trenton, March 8.—If the bill, Senate No. 217, which Senator Colby introduced yesterday, is passed, it will radically amend Sections 6 and 16 of the election laws. Section 6 would be amended to read as follows:

"The members of every county, city or other municipality committee of each political party shall be hereafter elected at the primary elections and for the selections of party candidates to be voted for. It shall be the duty of the chairman of each of said committees to file thirty days before the primary election day with the clerk of the proper municipality a statement of the number of members of said committee to be elected."

The amendment of Section 16 is this:

"If a majority of delegates elected to any convention shall have had printed opposite to their names upon the official ballot the name of any person as their choice, that person shall be the candidate of his party for said office at the ensuing election."

It is further provided that if the convention does not nominate the person so named, he may go before a judge of the Circuit Court, who, upon affidavit, shall direct the clerk of the municipality to place such person upon the official ballot.

Another bill introduced by Senator Colby and which is No. 218, provides that no favor shall be granted to any steam railroad in the way of the right to lay tracks on any street or alley without first giving notice and holding a public hearing upon the application.

TO GET AFTER SALOON-KEEPERS

Rahway Residents May Circulate Petitions for License Revocations.

Rahway, March 8.—A petition will probably be made and circulated by the residents of this city to have the Board of Excise revoke the license of every saloon keeper who interferes in any way with the management of the city affairs. The saloon keepers are only asked, says a city official, to live up to their agreements and to what they signed before the licenses were granted.

The affair of attempting to force Mayor Furber from his position as manager of a manufacturing plant here has stirred the Excise Board.

—Mrs. George L. Van Emburgh, of East Second street, who is critically ill with gastritis, is reported as slightly improved today.

MUST NOT BEG FOR SUPPORT OF CHURCH

BISHOP SAYS MERCHANTS SHOULD NOT BE ASKED FOR CONTRIBUTIONS.

At a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary in Trinity chapel in Newark yesterday, Bishop Edwin S. Lines placed a ban on begging from department stores for church fairs and entertainments of the Church in his diocese.

Bishop Lines requested that those present carry the word that when getting up fairs or entertainments the women are not to go about asking contributions from the stores. He feels, he declared, that such a course is not in keeping with the dignity of the Episcopal Church, that the custom is being overdone and that it reflects on the name of the Church.

"What we cannot get fairly and properly from our own people," he said, "let us do without. If the need is so very great to get money for the support of your rector or for the maintenance of your church, I wish you would write to me and tell me about it. I want to stand between you and the merchants, if you will let me. In everything we do for the support of the Church I want to ask you to maintain its dignity and not use methods which may not be approved."

Reports were received by the meeting from al mission fields and a great deal of routine work was done.

RED HAIR KILLS BOY'S JAUNT TO SEASHORE.

Parents Telegraph of Auburn Locks and Police Nab Him in Trice.

Atlantic City, March 8.—When fourteen-year-old Benjamin Goodman, after being reprimanded by his parents, ran away from the home of his father, Councliman Goodman, 2418 North Broad street, Philadelphia, yesterday morning, with the intention of enjoying a few days of independent, uninterrupted pleasures at the seashore, he failed to take into consideration the fact that he had red hair.

One, to look at Benjamin, would wonder how the lad could be absent-minded on such a subject.

"Look out for a runaway boy who has red hair," said the message, which, upon the urgence of the lad's parents, the Philadelphia police sent out to all seaside resorts.

That message settled the wandering Benjamin's chances for his proposed outing. Special Officer Edwards had spotted him two seconds after he had alighted from the 11:05 train, and Benjamin's visions of pleasure vanished as the policemen led him to headquarters and telegraphed to his father, who came to this city this afternoon and took the runaway home with him.

Miss Grant's Musical.

The pupils of Miss F. May Grant gave a musical at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adelberg, of East Second street, Tuesday evening. Fifty or more were present and thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of their host and hostess. Those who took part were Miss Bessie Adelberg, Fannie Berkowitz, Aaron Hirsch, Leo Hirsch, Miss Mabel Perrine, Helen Poole, Valborg Steuer, Rebecca Myers, LeRoy Leland, James Vail, Miss Sadie Perrine, Adeline Lusardi, Ethel Vail and Nellie Creager, kindly assisted by Miss Mary Crennell and Miss Nellie E. Grant. Special mention is made of Miss Valborg Steuer, who played in a very proficient manner. During the evening songs were sung by their teacher, Miss F. May Grant, which were charmingly rendered.

MAXIMUM TAX BILL MEASURE THROUGH SENATE

ALSO PASSES ANTI-FREE BILL AND RECEIVES OTHER BILLS.

Trenton, March 8.—The Senate Tuesday night passed the Hillery maximum tax rate measure. Senator Colby voted negatively after a speech in which he embodied some of his taxation ideas.

Senator Jackson's measure abolishing fees in county offices passed the Senate last night without difficulty.

Several amendments were proposed to the Hillery limited franchise bill, but all were withdrawn or defeated.

Senator Colby withdrew his amendment concerning the matter of lineal feet consent.

Mr. Avis' amendment, drawn along the lines of his limited franchise measure, was lost. The bill passed second reading.

The Senate in executive session received these appointments from the Governor: Managers of Home for Feeble-Minded Women adnChildren at Vineland, Benjamin F. Lee, J. Cleary and George B. Thorn; Board of Geological Survey, George Tennant; Board of Managers of State Village of Epileptics, Herman P. Moosburger, Norman Fox, Harry A. Smith and Caroline B. Alexander.

MAY STOP LAW MILL THURSDAY, MARCH 29.

House Passes Resolution To Do This, But Martin Urges Month's Recess.

Trenton, March 8.—Final adjournment lifted its head in the House yesterday morning when at the opening of the session Leader Perkins introduced a concurrent resolution that the Legislature adjourn sine die on March 29. The resolution was carried by a vive voce vote and as soon as the result was announced Mr. Martin, of Essex, moved for a reconsideration of the vote by which it was passed, and on motion of Mr. Perkins the Martin motion was laid on the table.

Mr. Martin explained that his reason for having the adjournment resolution reconsidered was to have it amended providing that on March 29 the Legislature adjourn for a month. This he wanted so that when the Governor discovered errors in important bills left with him, when the Legislature adjourns these measures will not die, but can be amended by correcting the defects and become laws. Mr. Martin has consulted with the Governor and Leader Perkins on his idea and they both were favorable to it.

It is therefore probable that the Legislature will take a recess on March 29 for a month and then come together again. It is probable that those who hope the recess will give then another opportunity to have some favorite measure passed will be disappointed, as it is likely that provision will be made in the resolution that only bills in which the Governor has found defects or to which he has some objection will be considered.

WIRZ MONUMENT PROTEST.

Grand Army Post Expresses "Indignation at Proposed Effort."

Trenton, March 8.—Members of Aaron Wilkes Post, No. 23, G. A. R., of which Colonel Edward D. Fox, executive clerk to Governor Stokes, is the commander, has started a crusade of protest against the erection of a monument to the memory of Wirz, superintendent of the Andersonville Prison during the Civil War. The monument is proposed by the Daughters of the Confederacy.

The post has adopted resolutions expressing "Indignation at this proposed effort to deify brutality by the erection of a monument to the monster, who, through his devilish and inhumane actions, erected a monument of thirty thousand grinning skulls and moldering skeletons of Union soldiers that has been gazed upon for more than forty years in horror by a civilized world, and who for his inhuman murders was justly tried and hanged by an indignant government."

It requests all G. A. R. posts throughout the country to "join with us in our expression of detestation of such sentimental brutality."

Evans Denies Rough Usage.

Morristown, March 8.—Dr. Jacob H. Beatty, the former Mayor of Hackettstown, whose death in the State Hospital for the Insane, at Morris Plains, was charged to the ill treatment, it is asserted, he received there, was a county charge. Dr. Britton D. Evans, the medical director, when asked to say something about the autopsy, made by Hackettstown doctors on Beatty's body, said that Dr. Beatty during the two months he was in the hospital received kind and proper care. The body was taken to Hughson's Morgue in Morristown, presumably embalmed, and then sent to Hackettstown, where, said Dr. Evans, the doctors dissected it. I am not responsible for what happened, and the hospital authorities did their duty and gave Dr. Beatty good care and kind treatment while he was in their care.

Miss Ida Furman, of Craig place, is spending a few days at Atlantic City.

MRS. C. W. M'CUTCHEN READS PAPER ON "NILE"

AN ANNUAL MEETING OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon in the church lecture room, was largely attended and full of interest. The devotional service was led by Miss Mary J. Thickstun, the theme being "The Widow of Nain." Routine business and the election of officers followed.

These officers were chosen: President, Mrs. J. A. Chambliss; vice-presidents, Mrs. D. J. Yerkes, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Judson Bonnell; secretary, Mrs. B. J. Shive; treasurer, Miss Ida Yerkes. The board of managers consists of Mrs. David Boice, Mrs. I. Manning Runyon, Mrs. F. H. Biglow, Mrs. S. T. Wilson, Mrs. J. A. Powlison, Miss Jennie Whitney, Mrs. Robbins.

The paper of the day in the series of studies on Africa was a charming one on the Nile country by Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen. She spent the winter of 1904 on the Nile with her family on a dahbyah and was admirably fitted to present this paper. With an improvised map she described the Nile from its source to the delta where it enters the Mediterranean. Her personal recollections woven with bits of history, as she gave accounts of the gray illimitable desert, the Nile dam and cataracts, the green borders of the river yielding two or three crops each year, the characters and costumes of the Nubians, Sondanese, Abysinnians, Copts and Egyptians, the few glimpses of mission work and the peculiar government of Egypt, were full of fascinating interest and instruction.

The meeting closed with Current Events given by Mrs. George A. Francis.

USE GATLING GUN TO PASS HIGH LICENSE BILL.

Thus Did Newarker Write to Legislature in Behalf of Hutchinson Bill.

Trenton, March 8.—Just before the adjournment of the House Tuesday afternoon Clerk Parker read this "broadside from Newark," addressed under date of March 5 to the "Gentlemen of the Legislature of New Jersey," by J. W. Broderick, of 100 Orchard street, Newark. It reads:

"In the name of the Stars and Stripes and our fellow citizens, push through bill 136, even though you have to put it into a Gatling gun and fire it through. It must not be said by outside nations that ours is the rum-cursed land. Please push it through, and oblige."

The bill urged by Mr. Broderick is Senator Hutchinson's high license measure.

Kiss Causes Arrest.

Atlantic City, March 8.—George Baszane, a constable, was arraigned in the Recorder's Court yesterday, charged with disorderly conduct. It developed at the hearing that the charge covered an attempt to kiss Mrs. Robert Underwood, whose home he had a warrant to search. Baszane was denounced by the prosecuting attorney, who declared that he had knowledge that the constable had been guilty of "these practices before and unless they ended he would go behind the bars." The case was taken under consideration by the recorder.

NOT IN C. E. THE UNION

Crescent Avenue Church Society's Application For Membership Refused.

CHANGED ITS NAME

Hitch Over Pledge—Action Taken Regretfully — Vote Unanimous.

By an unanimous vote of the members, the application of the Young People's Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church for membership in the local union, Christian Endeavor, was refused at a meeting of the Congress held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church, last night. This matter has been under consideration by the Endeavorers for some time. It was brought up at every meeting of the Congress only to be laid on the table for future action. Last night's meeting was held chiefly to settle the question.

The Crescent Avenue church had a Christian Endeavor Society and disbanded it to form a Young People's Society, the Endeavor pledge being objectionable to many of the young people. Then application was made to join the Endeavor union, it being the opinion that greater things could be accomplished if all were united in this work.

The principal objection to receiving the Crescent Avenue church society into membership was the fact it does not have a pledge or similarly obligate itself as the Endeavorers do. According to the constitution of the Endeavor Society it would be a violation of one of the most important articles to accept a society of this kind and a majority of the Endeavorers voted to sustain the constitution, at the same time regretting that they were forced to take that action. The secretary was instructed to communicate the fact to the Crescent Avenue church society.

The question was thoroughly discussed from every point of view and it appeared to all that there was but one course to pursue. It is possible, however, that the matter may be brought up again later on, provided the Presbyterian society decides to conform to the Endeavorer's constitution.

Arrangements were made by the Congress for the mass meeting to be held in Trinity Reformed church on Thursday night, March 15. This will be in charge of the missionary committee of the Congress, of which A. H. VanArsdale is chairman. It was announced that Rev. H. J. Scudder, a returned missionary from India, had been secured to give an illustrated lecture on mission work in India. There will be other interesting features.

In the absence of Fred Lounsbury, Jr., president of the Congress, who is ill, the chair was occupied last night by Clarence LaRue. There was a gratifying attendance of Endeavorers from the various societies in the city.

James R. Joy, of Myrtle avenue, editor of the Christian Advocate, was another delegate.

STEAMSHIP COMPANIES PAY MRS. LA BOYTEAUX

SETTLEMENT OF HER CLAIM FOR DAMAGES EFFECTED.

Settlement of a claim for damages that had been delayed by litigation for considerably more than two years was effected this week between Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, of Fairview avenue, and the Old Dominion and the Prince steamship lines. The claim grew out of injuries sustained by Mrs. LaBoyteaux in a collision between vessels of the two lines in New York harbor on April 2, 1902.

Mrs. LaBoyteaux, on her way South aboard the Old Dominion liner Jefferson, with her husband, was seated in her stateroom when the Cecilian Prince, of the Prince line, backed into the Jefferson. The stateroom was wrecked by the collision and pieces of the smashed woodwork pinned Mrs. LaBoyteaux to the floor, injuring her severely. Through Lawyer C. M. Dolliver she began suit in the United States District Court, which held both lines responsible. The suit was carried to the United States Circuit Court, which confirmed the verdict. After various delays, Dr. P. J. Zeglio, for the Old Dominion line; Dr. F. W. Westcott, for the Prince line, and Dr. Tomlinson, for Mrs. LaBoyteaux, met and settled upon the damages to be paid. The checks have been received. The amount allowed has not been made public.

WANTS PAST HUMOROUS WORK OF PLAINFIELDER.

Harpers Make An Offer to Ernest Lambert's Widow.

Harper & Brothers, the New York publishers, have made an offer to Mrs. Wilhelmina Lambert, of East Fifth street, for an unpublished book by her husband, the late Ernest Lambert. The offer has not been accepted, but Mrs. Lambert is considering it.

The work is fiction, entitled "The Basilisk." Mr. Lambert was a journalist and writer of note. He was assistant managing editor of the New York Tribune, under Whitelaw Reid, and was a regular contributor to the Forum and the North American Review.

Must First Notify Residents.

Investigation by Chief Kiely into the reported late instrusions by P. S. meter inspectors has resulted in a statement in explanation by an official of the company. The official says that in order to make proper tests, voltage must be checked during high-load periods; that is, when the lights are in general use. It is necessary, therefore, that the inspections be made in the evening between the hours of 7 and 9. Chief Kiely has requested the P. S. C. officials to notify residents where voltage is about to be tested.

Friends' Conference.

A special committee of about twenty-five members, which is visiting all the Friends' meetings throughout the United States, is expected to assist in the conference, which will be for the advancement of the interests of the society.

SUPPORT THE "BISHOP'S BILL."

The "Bishops' Bill," as the high license measure now in the Legislature is known, is supported by the best men of New Jersey. It was framed by the two Catholic and the two Episcopal bishops, and meets with the hearty approval of hundreds of clergymen, irrespective of denomination. Should it become a law, the iniquitous "side room," which has been the cause of the downfall of hundreds of young women, will be abolished. Furthermore, the screens which hide the barroom from public gaze will be a thing of the past, and no persons under age will be allowed to loiter in a saloon. High license fees is one of the provisions of the bill. Naturally the rum-shop proprietors and the brewers are actively opposing the measure. If you want to help in the good work of doing away with many of the evils of the saloon, and at the same time defeat the brewers' efforts, cut this out and mail it to your representative at Trenton:

Ernest R. Ackerman,
Senator from Union County,
Plainfield, N. J.

Dear Sir:

As one of your constituents, I urgently request that you do everything in your power to secure the enactment of the "Bishops' Bill" now pending in the Legislature.

Respectfully yours,

REV. DR. EGAR'S LECTURE

He Tells the Story of the Conversion of the Anglo-Saxon.

AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

Second Lenten Series of Talks on "History of English Church" —Other Addresses to Follow.

Rev. Dr. John H. Egar's second lecture on the "History of the English Church" was delivered in the Church of the Holy Cross on yesterday afternoon. The subject was the conversion of the Anglos Saxons. "The ancient British church," he said, "remained, and remains to this day; but it was driven back into the mountains of Wales, and the western parts of the island, and took no part in Christianizing the English. A very powerful influence, however, as we shall see, came indirectly from that church.

"The Anglo Saxon invasion," he said, "commenced in force about the year 450, and continued until the whole eastern, southern and central portions of what had been the Roman dominion were occupied. The invaders, however, (and this is an important fact,) did not, as did the barbarians who settled in Gaul, Spain and Italy, come in contact with the Roman empire; for the legions had been withdrawn in 401, and the Roman portion of the population must have followed them. They established themselves, therefore, as purely Teutonic or Scandinavian tribes, with the customs, laws, usages, religion and government to which they had been accustomed in the lands of their forefathers.

"It must have been providential that these heathen tribes were permitted to develop themselves in their new home for a hundred and fifty years before Christianity touched them. For one thing it enabled them to adapt themselves to the country, to modify their customs to suit new conditions, and the lay the foundations of the English character. They became a people of the farm, the manor and the village. The Roman cities were deserted and went to ruin; the Roman civilization dropped out; the Celtic population were ruthlessly exterminated; and therefore, though the movement which brought Christianity to them amanated from Rome, the Christian institutions were modified to suit the environment, and the Church in England was from the first, as will be shown, both in name and in reality the Church of England.

"The mission of Augustine and his monks to England in 597 is given fully in Bede, including the well-known episode of St. Gregory the Great and the English boys in the Roman market place. But there is more in that event than appears in Bede. When Augustine landed, Ethelbert, the King of Kent, had had a Christian wife and a Christian bishop resident in his palace for twenty-four years, and it is not to be thought that he was as ignorant of the religion as the simple narrative of Bede would lead us to suppose. Ethelbert was in his way something of a statesman. He had extended the overlordship of Kent to the Humber, and he had done it without violence; and Gregory on his side was a man who kept his eye on all that was passing in the world in which he lived. There is evidence that Gregory was informed of Ethelbert's predisposition towards Christianity, and the meeting between Augustine and Ethelbert has all the appearance of a royal reception of expected guests, and a diplomatic introduction of them to his people. He proceeded with the caution of a wise ruler, and held back until he could bring his people with him. He gave the missionaries a residence in the City of Canterbury, which has ever since been the primatial see of the English Church, and in a short time the king and many of his people were baptized, and Augustine was consecrated by Virgilius of Arles the first bishop of the English nation.

"The subsequent history as given by Bede was rapidly reviewed, the relations of Augustine with the bishops of the British Church, the mission of Paulinus to accompany Ethelbert's daughter, Ethelburga, to Northumberland, and the conversion of her husband, King Edwin, his retirement after Edwin had been killed in battle, and the taking up the work, on the invitation of Oswald, by the monks of St. Columba's monastery at Iona, etc. From these centres the church spread out in all directions, sometimes driven back by a heathen king, but speedily recovering ground, so that by 80 years after the coming of Augustine the whole realm of England acknowledged the ecclesiastical jurisdiction of Theodore of Tarsus as Archbishop of Canterbury.

"I think it very important to re-

FIGHTING THE TUCKER BILL

School Superintendents Line Up Against Obnoxious School Measure.

ACKERMAN INTERESTED

Colby Says Bill Has Been So Amended That It Won't Apply to Newark—It Hits Plainfield.

Concerted movement on the part of school superintendents and other educators in all parts of the State has been started against the bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Everard Tucker, of Union county, providing for the appointment of boards of education by the Mayor. The measure was introduced to relieve a condition existing in Elizabeth, but it is generally admitted that it will seriously effect the standard of schools in almost every other municipality in the State.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Henry M. Maxson was one of the first to see the bad effects of such a law, and he lost no time in communicating with the other leading superintendents in New Jersey. In addition he laid the matter before the Plainfield Board of Education, which in turn enlisted Corporation Counsel Marsh's services. As already told in these columns, Mr. Marsh made a study of the bill and furnished Senator Ackerman with a brief attacking the constitutionality of such a measure.

Senator Ackerman told a representative of The Daily Press last night that while he disliked opposing a bill introduced by an Assemblyman from his own county, he most vigorously opposed its purpose and would do all in his power to defeat it should the bill reach the Senate. "I do not believe in robbing the people of their democratic rights To vest such a power in a Mayor would be to remove the schools from the direct control of the voters. Mr. Tucker could better relieve the condition complained of in Elizabeth by framing a bill providing for the election of school directors by the people at large. In Elizabeth they are elected by wards, and it is alleged that poor material comes from some of the wards. In this I do not agree altogether, for the people of a given ward are most likely to elect their best men to such office and as the standard of the ward is so is the standard of the school director and the standard of the schools themselves."

Senator Colby told a representative of The Daily Press last night that he would take no part in the fight against the bill, for it would not affect his constituents. He says the bill has been so amended that it will not apply to cities of the first class, such as Newark.

In all likelihood the measure will come up on third reading in the Assembly Monday night. If passed, it will be immdeiately sent over to the Senate. Meanwhile the fight goes on.

Its Greatness Is Its Simplicity.

A gas machine has recently been invented, which has no storage tank or gasometer, and which makes the gas only as it is used by the burners, and ceases to generate the moment the last light is turned off. This wonderful little machine is perfectly simple and safe, and furnishes a soft, brilliant and steady light, at half the cost of ordinary commercial gas. This machine is in daily use throughout Canada in public institutions, club houses, schools, hospitals, hotels and private residences. Has been tested, inspected, and passed by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The working of the machine can be seen at the factory of the Siche Gas Co., 149 East Fourth street, Plainfield. *

Robbed in Store.

FIRST STEP FOR SEWERS

North Plainfield Authorities Agree to Ask City to Help the Borough Out.

TO USE OUR PLANT

Committee Appointed to Go Over the Ground—Health Board and Council in Conference.

In a joint session between the borough Common Council and the Board of Health, last night, the question of a sewer system for North Plainfield was threshed out in a more vigorous manner than at any time in several years. It resulted in what might be construed as the first step toward actual work and is to be the predecessor of other conferences.

The most noticeable thing about the meeting was the fact that the Board of Health members wanted the Council to take the initiative in forcing an issue while the latter body was not disposed to go it entirely alone. The men who were present were Mayor Smalley, Messrs. McGee, Smith, Krewson, Van Arsdale and VanWinkle representing the Council and President Osgood, Secretary Dundon, Thomas Doud and Andrew E. Kenney for the Board of Health. While each member took some part in the discussion and there was more or less division of opinion the only definite action was the appointment of a committee consisting of Messrs. Van Arsdale, VanWinkle and Smith to confer with a competent engineer as to what course to pursue in preparing plans to present the people. They will report at another meeting to be held next Thursday night.

At the beginning of the conference and before the two bodies settled down to actual business, Frank Rowley, borough clerk, showed some maps and plans for a system that had been prepared by George Pearson, engineer for the Municipal Construction, in 1902. They gave an idea as to what is needed and aided in the discussion that followed. Mr. Rowley inquired if the borough could use the Plainfield beds if a system was built and was informed by the mayor that it was both possible and probable, this plan being kept in mind by all participating.

Andrew E. Kenney suggested that any action the Council should take should be immediate and let discussion come afterward. He asked for an expression of opinion and was answered by several of the Council, who declared the borough needed a sewer system and the quicker it was secured, of course, the better, but before any steps were taken, the question of disposal, the cost, etc., should be carefully gone into. In answer to a question from Councilman Smith as to whether or not the vote of the people was needed before anything was done, Clerk Rowley explained that a petition must first be circulated to gain the consent of the property owners.

Addressing the gathering direct, Mayor Smalley said it had been the sense of the Council for a long time that sewers were needed and should be installed, but that it was only recently that the Board of Health had recognized the fact officially. He asserted that while the borough fathers favored some plan they had been proceeding cautiously lest they might get something they didn't want and regret it afterward, for that reason, if nothing else, he advocated proceeding cautiously. In reply, Mr. Osgood insisted that action should be immediate as the conditions on Somerset street were such that they demanded a change from the present antiquated method of disposal.

"Employ some competent man," said he, "to go over the ground and report to the Council just what is needed and the best way to get it. The only way to begin the establishment of a sewer system is to begin it."

Thomas Doud, of the Health Board, suggested the appointment of a committee to consult with the Plainfield authorities as to whether or not they could connect with the city beds as he believed that to be the best solution. He had been informed, he said, that the plant could take care of both Plainfield and North Plainfield with a twenty-five per cent. increase and that the operation in this way would be cheaper to both.

Here Mr. Kenney asked bluntly if there was any objection on the part of the Council to a decision that "we are going to have sewers."

"Well," said Mayor Smalley, "supposing we have a vote of the Board and the Council."

Mr. Kenney backed down, however, and none of the other board members seemed to be willing that it should be put on record in this way.

Asked by Mr. Osgood as to why no steps had been taken before to secure a system, Mayor Smalley ex-

JUDGE W. N. RUNYON WITHDRAWS FRON POLITICS

Republican Organization Suffers Severely by the Loss of its Most Magnetic Leader.

SHABBY TREATMENT

Brightest Mind Among the Active Politicans Asked One Small Favor and Did Not Get It.

Although the action was expected for some time by his intimate friends, the announcement was not made until today by Judge William N. Runyon that he has retired from politics.

City Judge Wm. N. Runyon.

"I am out for good," is the way he expresses it. Conceded to be the brightest man and the most magnetic personage in the regular Republican organization, the extent of the loss can be easily imagined.

In speaking of his withdrawal from the councils of his party, Judge Runyon said: "I am out for good. During the time I have been at all active, I only asked for one favor and I did not get it. I felt that John Cose was entitled to succeed to the second assistant chiefship of the fire department. He had rendered good service to the party and was a hard worker. Besides he was well qualified for the office—that was generally admitted. I must say I was greatly disappointed at the way he was treated."

As to who was directly responsible for the defeat of Mr. Cose, the judge refused to say, but he intimated that some men high in the ranks did not do all they might have done to further the candidate's chances. Cose, he said, wanted to withdraw from the race, because it was hinted that he was going to be thrown down, but that he, Judge Runyon, stood firmly against such action. The organization man was advised by him to stick to the last. The predicted defeat came to him.

Judge Runyon's first appearance in politics was as a candidate for the Common Council, to which he was elected. Then he became city judge, but the salary was insignificant. Other men, less valuable to the party, have been getting the plums while the judge has worked untiringly. Three years ago, he led the bolt from the Union County Republican convention for the sake of the organization and it is generally conceded that he made the independent movement for recognition of Plainfield's right the success it was. The judge has one of the largest, if not the largest, personal following of any man in politics in the city.

Large Audience at Reform Hall.

A large audience witnessed the presentation of "The Passion Play" in moving pictures at Reform Hall, last night. They were given by the New York picture company in connection with the regular gospel meeting at which Charles H. Raybert and Eden Boice were the speakers. Next week "The Train Wreckers" will be given in pictures.

State Senator Everett Colby, of Essex county, was a guest at a dinner party given by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Hyde, at "Edgewood," last night.

NEW ORGANIST FOR HOLY CROSS CHURCH

H. RAYMOND LODER, OF ALA., ENGAGED BY THE VESTRY.

At the last meeting of the Vestry of the Church of the Holy Cross Charles C. Irby, sexton, who has been giving only part time to the parish, was elected permanent sexton, to give his entire and daily service to the church. His salary was doubled.

At the same meeting H. Raymond Loder was engaged as organist and choirmaster. Mr. Loder comes from St. John's church, Birmingham, Ala., very highly commended. The Vestry regret the loss of Acting Organist Lee, who is the asssitant organist of Trinity chapel, New York, and must return to his duties there during the absence of Mr. Lamond, regular organist, who is going abroad for several months.

The missionary apportionment of $284 for general missions, the treasurer reported had been paid in full.

The Woman's Guild of the church has $140 in hand toward building the kitchen addition. The fund is being rapidly increased. The addition will cost $700. Building will begin in the early spring.

The cake sales on Saturday mornings at 11:30 in the parish house of the church. These sales every Saturday until further notice.

FANWOOD COUNCIL FILLS SEVERAL VACANCIES.

Removal of Members From the Borough Makes Action Necessary.

Owing to the vacancies existing in the Fanwood Council by reason of the removal of W. E. Collins and L. J. Ellis, the former going to Westfield and the latter to Plainfield, the Mayor and Council met last night and appointed J. H. L. Todd and Charles R. Vincent to these offices. J. P. Stevens, another member, moved to Plainfield and his place will be filled at the next Council meeting.

The vacancy as assessor, caused by the death of William R. Stanbery, was filled by the appointment of Horace G. Young. The appointees will serve until the next election.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the to of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Here is one good thing to agitate and the town needs it badly, that is street sprinkling during the summer months. Automobiles have become so numerous during the past two years that life is made miserable for the rest of mankind by the clouds of dust which are raised by each passing auto. Other towns have had to fall in line and so will the 'Plains before the nuisance is abated.

It is about time for the spring crank to make his annual cry over poor sidewalks. The same man will attend the primary meeting and vote against the Township Committee's recommendation for $250 or $300 appropriation for repairs to sidewalks. Walking happens to be good enough about that time.

Township Committeeman Theodore Bruchmann has hit upon a good as well as economical way of repairing the sidewalks this spring. Mr. Bruchmann is offering to remove free of charge the waste ashes for the residents in town, and will use them to fill in the bad spots on the walks.

April 1 will see a scramble made for what few vacant houses there will be in the market. Too bad some one does not see the future in 'Plains property and build a few houses to meet the fast increasing demand.

Mrs. Frank Putnam, of East Second street, Plainfield, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. A. L. Frentz, of Westfield avenue.

The weekly prayer meeting tonight at the Baptist church will be in charge of Rev. T. Moore-Smith.

Mrs. William H. Lee has returned from a visit with out of town friends.

SNAP SHOTS.

A. E. Hoagland, the expressman, has discovered that he belongs to an hereditary institution. His notes on the history of the express business discloses the fact that in 1872 Peter Rickert, John Wierenga and Peter Hoagland were in the business. Today Rickert's two sons, Wierenga's two sons and Hoagland's son are in it. So are Summers & Sons, William Hand & Sons and Conover & Son.

Opening at Woodhull & Martin's.

The public is invited to attend the grand basement opening at Woodhull & Martin's store. Extensive improvements have been made and the basement is now open for inspection. You will find no end of the goods to attract your attention. Shoppers are also invited to participate in the many special offerings for tomorrow and a perusal of the firm's advertisement will acquaint you with them in detail. With the improvements made there is an additional floor space of 8,000 square feet and the carpet department will now be found on the main, floor easy of access. The housefurnishing goods are in the basement.

Will Extend Water Mains.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company will extend its mains and locate two additional hydrants, ordered by the Common Council, on Randolph road, near the hospital, and the new property of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club. It is expected that work will be started within a few days.

Lantern Evening.

The Plainfield Camera Club, now entering upon its twentieth season, will give a lantern slide evening on Thursday night, March 13, at the club rooms. At that time Rev. C. E. Herring will give an illustrated lecture on "Mexico." There will be a musical programme. Admission will be by card.

—The Delaware and Raritan canal will be opened for traffic tomorrow.

—A jury will be called in the case of Howard Van Syckle against Robert Tompkins, on contract, in Justice Mosher's court.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Edgar and Charles Belknap, of this city, are among those who have leased flats in Woodhull & Martin's new building on East Front street.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Captain Glenney, of Leal School's baseball team, has not yet fully determined upon his team for the season. A call for practice will be issued soon.

Show your interest in local baseball matters by attending the meeting tomorrow night and help to form an association which will insure first-class sport.

William A. Brady, the theatrical and baseball manager, has arranged with Schlichter and Strong to place a first-class baseball team at Manhattan Beach this summer.

If Manager Daab can be secured to place a team in the field this season fandom can rest assured that the aggregation will be a fast one and only the best attractions will be booked.

Every baseball fan is invited to attend the meeting at the Hotel Iroquois tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. It will be an open meeting and free and full discussion of plans is desired. Interest in the proposed organization is increasing and applications for shares of stock are received every day.

Captain Davis, of the P. H. S., will call out the candidate for the baseball team next week. Soon afterward the regular aggregation will be decided. The season will be opened here on Saturday, April 7, with Brooklyn High School, on Crescent Oval. This will be a good game to test the strength of the local school boys.

W. S. Munroe, who will be remembered as the clever shop stop on the Philadelphia Giants, and who is considered the peer of any colored man playing that position, says that he will be found with the Philadelphia Giants this season. He has been at Palm Beach during the past two months and is in the best of condition. As a coacher he has few equals.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

When Frank Vail, the former Plainfield boy, appears in "Deserted at the Altar" at the New Plainfield tomorrow afternoon and night, he will be greeted by many of his old friends. Several theatre parties have been arranged to give him a "send off."

The Alamo love song, the feature musical number in "The Tenderfoot," is one of the prettiest compositions that has been presented in years. It was whistled and sung in New York all last year and becomes popular wherever the comedy is seen.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is one of the few American plays that have been played continuously for half a century. It was first produced at Almany, N. Y., in 1852, and at times since then as many as thirty companies have been on the road at one time.

Maurice Mendham, the well-known Wall street banker, recently presented Geo. M. Cohan with a five thousand dollar statue of "Young George Washington." F. Romanelli, the famous sculptor, of Fancewa, Firenzo, Italy, considered this has masterwork. It is attracting thousands daily in the lobby of the Herald Square theatre, where Cohan is appearing in "George Washington, Jr."

Miss Blanche Walsh will close her fifth engagement in New York in "The Woman in the Case," Saturday night, making the twenty-fifth week it has been presented there. On Monday Miss Walsh will start on her western tour, appearing in Plainfield Tuesday. She will present the play here with the complete New York production and the original cast, which includes Dorothy Dorr, Frank Sheridan, William Rogers, Martin Alsop and Eleanor Carey.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The choir of the First Baptist church will be augmented by several extra voices in the rendition of its Easter music.

The vested choir of the First M. E. church is rehearsing an elaborate programme of music to be rendered on Easter Sunday.

The W. C. T. U. is planning to hold a parlor meeting soon. The programme will include talks by several members on the progress of the work.

The Young Friends' Association held its regular session at the Watchung avenue meeting house on Wednesday night. There was an informal programme, including the presentation of papers and discussion regarding young Friends.

The late Horace Cunningham, who resided in West Front street, has, by his will, left $500 to All Souls' church, of Park avenue. While a resident of this city he was a regular attendant of the Unitarian church. He died in Boston in February.

—The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will meet on Monday night in regular session. Several matters of special interest will be considered.

Blanche Walsh, in "The Woman in the Case," at New Plainfield Theatre Next Tuesday Evening.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Deserted at the Altar," an American play written by Pierce Kingsley, is in its third annual tour. It has met with the greatest success ever known for a play of the kind. It is not a trashy melodrama as the title would suggest to some, but a clean play of the pastoral order and in many respects stronger than "Way Down East," "The Old Homestead," and other plays of the same class. There is not an overdrawn line or situation in it and it is as pure as the dew from the mountains in which two of the acts are laid. It will be at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night.

Manager Counihan has a menu this season that contains many theatrical delicacies which will meet with the approbation of those fussy and critical. Perhaps the most palatable being Al. W. Martin's grand and newest revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is underlined for Monday afternoon and night. No doubt many who have witnessed minor productions of the play, and have been successfully buncoed by barnstorming aggregations, will be a trifle timid, having formed an idea that because once deceived it must be so always. That would be a poor answer to a question. Because you happened to be a lover of the canvas back until some incapable chef prepared the bird in an unwholesome manner, should you imagine that you would receive the same at Delmonico's? Theatrical managers and chefs might be classed under the same heading. They serve public fancy and palate, and must be careful scholars of the art if they choose to hold patrons.

AL. W. MARTIN'S

TOPSY
At New Plainfield Theatre Monday Afternoon and Evening.

Blanche Walsh, who is, without doubt, the greatest emotional and tragic actress on the American stage, will present Clyde Fitch's latest and most remarkable play, "The Woman in the Case," at the New Plainfield theatre on Tuesday evening. Mr. Fitch could not have selected a better title for the piece. History, both ancient and modern, is full of cases in which a woman is primarily concerned; in fact, it is not easy to imagine a case of more than ordinary importance in which a woman is not at the bottom. As a rule the name of the woman is not aired in public unless she has achieved some notoriety, and with such women the criminal courts have had much to do recently. Mrs. Maybrick, Mrs. Chadwick and Nan Patterson are three of the most famous of these, and, it is said that the great stir made by the case of the last named woman gave Clyde Fitch much of his inspiration for writing "The Woman in the Case."

"The Tenderfoot," that great operatic comedy of Western life, by Richard Carle, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Thursday afternoon and night. The stars of "The Tenderfoot" are Oscar L. Figman, and Ruth White, two players who have gained fame for their work in "The Burgomaster" and other big musical productions. Mr. Figman is said by the Chicago critics, where "The Tenderfoot" has just finished its third run, to be a revelation in the character of Professor Pettibone, and to have taken place as one of the greatest light opera comedians in the country. Miss White's fine soprano voice is heard to great advantage in the role of Marion. Other members of the big cast are Jethro Warner, Fred Nailey, J. F. Rooney, H. S. Burns, M. H. Baldwin, George Romain, Louise Brackett, Etta Lockhart, Frankie Warner, Mabel Lorena and Dolly Castle. The chorus is an extremely large one, the company numbering nearly seventy people.

Jane Mauldin Feigl, whose delightfully refreshing play of Western life, "Texas," will be remembered by all play-goers, is the author of a new piece entitled "The Girl Patsy." While the plot of the play has not been divulged Mrs. Feigl says she has switched from Texas to New York—from cow punchers to society folk. Incidentally this talented writer knows both subjects equally well. The production will be at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday, Mar. 17.

Plainfield, N. J., March 9, 1906.

Shame on the Newark Advertiser. That's all.

The withdrawal of Judge Runyon from the councils of the local Republican party is a serious blow to the organization's forces. With all due respect, it will be admitted that there is not another political leader in the city with the qualities he possesses. His magnetic personality drew to him probably the largest following of any member of the organization. He is a man all the way through, and should have fared better than he has been allowed to by the organization, to which his services have been well-nigh indispensable.

If you desire to see the saloon regulated as well as it can be under the conditions today, write your Senator to use his vote and voice in securing the passage of the "Bishops' bill," now pending in the Legislature. "Local option" was defeated because the Legislature did not believe that such a remedy would effectually meet the requirements. Good men all over the State favor the high license measure. Join forces with them by expressing your views to Senator Ackerman. Just fill out the blank printed on page one today and mail it to him.

Lectures by Dr. Symonds.

Rev. Dr. Herbert Symonds, of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, who is delivering a series of Lenten sermons on "Religion" at Grace P. E. church, gave a lecture on the religion in the poetry of Tennyson and Browning at Grace church parish house last night. The discourse was admirable and scholarly. A large audience, representative of the churches of the city, enjoyed it to the full. Dr. Symonds will complete his sermon series tonight with a talk on "The Future of Religion." He will return home tomorrow.

member," Dr. Egar proceeded, 'that this church from its beginning was known as 'the Church of England.' That was the name given to it by Gregory the Great himself. Just as soon as Augustine got fairly to work he consulted Gregory about various matters upon which he felt that he needed advice. I want to read you a few sentences from Gregory's reply. The first question was about the relation of a bishop with his clergy. Gregory writes: 'In regard that you, my brother, having been brought up under monastic rules, are not to live apart from your clergy in the English Church. * * You are to follow the course of life which our forefathers did in the primitve church, when none of them said anything that he possessed was his own, but all things were in common among them.' Another question, evidently suggested by the usage of Lutihard, Queen Bertha's chaplain, why there are differences in the liturgical uses of different churches, elicited from Gregory a reply which shows how superior he was to narrow prejudices in such things: 'You know, my brother, the custom of the Roman Church in which you remember you were brought up. But it pleases me that if you have found anything in the Roman or the Gallican or any other church which may be more acceptable to God, you carefully make choice of the same, and sedulously teach the Church of the English, which as yet is new in the faith, whatever you can gather from the several churches.'

"Another question was in regard to the consecration of bishops, and the reply of Gregory was: 'As for the Church of England, in which you are as yet the only bishop, you can no otherwise ordain a bishop than in the absence of other bishops, unless some bishops should come over from Gaul,' etc. I want you here to notice that this is the first time the term 'Church of England' makes its appearance in history, that it is within one year after the landing of Augustine, and that it is given by the man who sent him." A number of other extracts were read showing the continued use of the name until in the year 1215 it appears in the first article of Magna Charta, which begins, "That the Church of England be a free church, and keep its laws entire, and its liberties uninfringed."

The lecture concluded with an account of some particulars in which the English Church modified the general system of the continent to adapt itself to its environment.

Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight and receive several proposition for membership.

plained that the community had been divided over the question and that it had been deemed inadvisable to force the issue on the people. Mr. Osgood retorted that there was no need to wait as the laws gave them the privilege of condemning ground for beds, if that was all that was causing the delay, and declared that a system could be arranged and make the plant fit it. He wanted a committee appointed to go over the ground with an engineer, but the mayor said it should be realized that this was the first session and that any such step would be a little premature.

The question wsa discussed somewhat further in this way and ended in the appointment of the committee. Mayor Smalley said he was willing to join with them at any time and that he would also consult with Mayor Buckle as to the standing of Plainfield in the matter.

RUNS NINE MILES WITH WILDCAT CLAWING BREAST

Hunter Hugs Beast So Tight Its Attack Is Frustrated—Rescuers Shoot Animal.

Colorado Springs, Col.—Bareheaded, with hair disheveled, blood flowing from a wound in his face and a live wildcat held to his chest in close embrace, John Seigel, a ranchman, ran nine miles over a mountain trail before finding help.

Seigel was hunting grouse when his dog pointed game. Seigel advanced, expecting birds to flush, when a huge wildcat sprang at his throat. As the forepaws of the animal struck his chest, Seigel dropped his gun and hugged the beast with all his strength close to his chest. Seigel's stout hunting jacket and the tightness of his grip prevented the beast from biting or scratching him. After running and walking down the trail for nine miles in this predicament, he met two men, one of whom drew a revolver and shot the cat through the head, killing it instantly.

"I didn't dare to let go," Seigel said, "and I was afraid the wildcat wouldn't, so we held fast. The cat glared up fiercely at me with its yellow eyes, while its hot breath came into my face at every leap. Whenever the vicious beast made the slightest struggle, I hugged the tighter, fearing I might stumble and its deadly teeth be fixed in my throat."

EARTH GULPS DOWN A BOY

Ground Gives Way Beneath Him—One of His Rescuers Also Has Narrow Escape.

Pottsville, Pa.—Returning home with a pail of water in his hand, ten-year-old Robert Mahoney, of Broad Mountain, was swallowed up by the earth and for three hours lay at the bottom of a 68-foot mine breach waiting for help to arrive.

His rescue was as dramatic as his disappearance, as he again had a most remarkable escape from instant death, as did Richard Appleby, a neighbor, who was one of the number who brought him back to the surface.

The boy was terribly battered about the face and body. It is believed that he will recover, but if so, it will be a wonder. The Mahoney family secure their water from a tank near the railroad, and the boy was sent to secure a bucketful. He was returning over a frequently used path when the ground suddenly gave way beneath him, and where before the surface had been apparently solid a deep hole yawned.

How he escaped instant death cannot be imagined, but he was rendered unconscious for probably an hour. Then, recovering his senses, he began to call for help, and his cries were heard by several neighbors who had gone out to search for him.

A rope was secured and lowered into the breach, and this he tied about his waist. Giving a signal, he was hoisted to the top of the breach. As willing hands reached out to pull him to safety the rope parted.

Clutching at some shrubbery, he stayed his downward flight for a fraction of a second, which gave Richard Appleby time to reach out and grasp him by the coat.

The weight of the body slowly pulled Appleby to the brink of the chasm, and just as the horror-stricken spectators expected both to go down to their death, he finally grasped a bush, all the time retaining his hold on the boy. Both were caught and dragged from danger.

Odd Cause for Divorce.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—William Pettit would not change his underwear, according to the testimony of his wife, Bertha Ione Pettit, in a divorce court. Not only did he wear one suit from spring to fall without changing and without having the suit washed, but he went a long time without taking a bath. She declared that William added insult to injury by throwing his underclothing under the bed after he had worn the suit all summer. For these reasons Mrs. Pettit was granted a divorce.

College Girls Play Poker.

Cleveland, O.—Clad in little more than the garb provided by nature, and surrounding two large tables in a room in the dormitory, 14 students of a woman's college near here were discovered late one night recently playing the great American game of poker. A lecture and a threat should the offense be repeated sent the girls to their rooms. Matches were used for chips, each representing an investment of five cents.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

OFFICIAL.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, March 1, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present except Freeholders Jensen and Krouse—2.

The minutes of the previous meeting (reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The committee on Elizabeth drawbridge, owing to the absence of Chairman Jensen, reported progress through Freeholder Westphal, on motion heretofore referred to said committee.

By committee on Jefferson avenue bridge, Rahway, N. J.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 1, 1906.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J.:

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed on the Jefferson avenue bridge, over the raceway at Rahway, would respectfully report that, together with County Engineer Bauer, they carefully examined said bridge, and found it in a very dilapidated condition and unsafe for public travel.

Your committee would therefore recommend the construction of a new concrete arch bridge at the place mentioned, with 7 foot span, 60 feet wide, at a cost not to exceed $850.

Adolph H. Gruener, George B. Cladek, Charles S. Chandler, Committee.

Freeholder Robison moved that the report be received and recommendations adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Cady:

Resolved, That the rules of the board be amended by adding to section 24 the following: "A committee to be known as 'The commissioners of the sinking fund,' one of whom shall be the director of the board, and the other two shall be appointed by him, and not more than two of whom shall belong to the same political party."

Freeholder Cladek moved the adoption of the resolution, which was duly seconded. County Collector E. M. Wood, speaking in explanation of the resolution, said that the sinking fund, which was created to pay the new court house bonds when due, now amounted to $24,000, and under the sole control of the county collector; in a few years it would be much larger, and he did not think it should be left in the custody of any one county official, who would be compelled to give so large a bond as to be burdensome to said official. The resolution was then, on roll call, adopted by a unanimous vote.

By Freeholder Cady:

Resolved, That the commissioners of the sinking fund shall consist of three members, one of whom shall be the director of the board. They shall have control of the securities and money belonging to the sinking fund, shall invest the money in such securities only as are authorized by the laws of this State for savings banks to invest in. They shall keep the securities in a box in the safe deposit vault of the National State Bank, and any two of said commissioners, one of whom must be the director, or director pro tem, shall have access to such box.

The uninvested money belonging to said fund shall be deposited in the National State Bank in the name of "The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of Union County," and shall be withdrawn from said bank only upon the order of two of said commissioners, one of whom must be the director of the board or the director pro tem.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Cady:

Resolved, That the county collector be and he is hereby authorized to deliver to said Sinking Fund Commisioners, when appointed, twenty-four of the new court house bonds, in lieu of the eight thousand dollars appropriated for the last thre years for the sinking fund, to retire said county bonds at maturity.

Freeholder Swain moved the adoption of the resolution, which was duly seconded. County Collector Wood briefly explained that in May next there would be due to the John H. Parker Co., builders of the new court house, about $25,000, final payments, which had been withheld for one year, and he thought that the money to the credit of the sinking fund ($24,000) could not be better invested than by the purchase of said bonds, the proceeds of which would be necessary to meet final payments due th said John H. Parker Co.

The resolution was then adopted without dissent.

In compliance with the provisions of the foregoing resolutions as adopted the director then announced the appointment of "The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund" as follows, viz: Benjamin King, director ex-officio, and Freeholders John N. Cady and Geo. B. Cladek.

By Freeholder Gruener:

Resolved, That a committee of three (3) be appointed and authorized to examine the bridge over the raceway on Madison avenue, in Rahway, and report at a subsequent meeting of this board as to the advisability of repairing the same, or of building a new bridge, and the probable cost.

On motion of Freeholder Wahl the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Gruener, Kline and Wilbur.

By Freeholder Adams:

Resolved, That the township of Cranford be authorized to build crosswalks of stone over the county roads located in said township at such points as may be desired, said crosswalks to be built under the supervision of the county road inspector and the county road committee, and to be paid for by said township, and kept in good repair free of expense to the county.

Freeholder Cady moved the adoption of the resolution, which was duly seconded. Freeholder Adams briefly explained that the completion of a new railway passenger station at Cranford made it necessary to lay new crosswalks over the county road, and the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Wahl:

Resolved, That a committee of three (3) be appointed to inspect the bridge over the stream on Mountain avenue, near the Schultz place in New Providence borough, and to report to this board the advisability of placing a railing thereon, and the probable cost.

On motion of Freeholder Gruener the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Wahl, Swain and Meisel.

These Refrigerators are all first class, as good as those that will come in for this season's selling. The only difference is that the color and finish are not like the new boxes, and this, certainly, is no fault.

Enameled Ware

THE FAMOUS STRANSKY MAKE.

THESE ARE some of the pieces left from our recent big sale of slightly marred Stranksy Steel Enameled Ware. The hurts are not enough to impair the usefulness of the utensils in any way, but they are sufficient to prevent their sale as first quality. We do not anticipate having another opportunity to make an offering of this kind, so we would advise the thrifty to make hay while the sun shines. The selling begins Saturday morning and will continue Monday and Tuesday.

CONSOLIDATION BILL BEATEN.

Introduced of Plan to Unite Three Places Gets House to Defeat It.

Trenton, March 9.—Assemblyman Hildreth, of Cape May, at the session of the House Thursday afternoon, made the unusual request that a bill introduced by him be defeated when it came up on final passage, and in consequence the members had a little fun at his expense.

The bill provided for the consolidation of Anglesea, Wildwood and Holly Beach, in Cape May county, and much to the surprise of his colleagues Mr. Hildreth opposed the passage of his own bill. He had introduced it, he said, at the request of some of his constituents, and since doing so he had received remonstrances from the citizens of Wildwood, among them the two men who had done more than any one else to make that place the flourishing municipality it was. Under those circumstances he was obliged to ask his colleagues to vote against the measure.

When the roll was called, by a prearranged understanding most of the members voted in favor of the bill, and as the votes for its passage began to roll up Mr. Hildreth plainly showed that he took to heart the way his colleagues ignored his request. When the last name was called he hurried to the clerk's desk to change his vote for the purpose of reconsidering the vote, his face plainly showing the resentment he felt at the shabby treatment he was receiving. Before he had taken two steps the House rose as one man and clamored for permission to change its vote from no to aye. The look of astonishment mingled with pleasure which spread over his countenance moved the chamber to hearty laughter, amid which the Speaker announced the defeat of the bill by the vote of all present.

GREATER ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS

Pass Senator Brown's Bill Extending Borough's Territory.

Trenton, March 9.—Senator Brown's bill annexing a certain portion of the adjacent territory to the borough of Atlantic Highlands went through the House and Senate Thursday afternoon. Senator Brown spent good portion of the day in the Assembly chamber presenting the views of his side to various members, and Judge Foster, of the Monmouth County Common Pleas, also helped the measure along with his persuasive arguments. B. A. Andrews, who owns property in the territory to be annexed and opposes the Brown bill, was present in the chamber as the members recorded their votes in favor of the annexation, but was evidently unable to stem the tide which set in in favor of its passage.

Assemblyman Reed took charge of the bill when it came up and rushed it through under a suspension of the rules. He said that at least seventy per cent. of the residents of the district to be annexed and almost every one in the borough favored the passage of the bill. The former, he said, wanted to improve their sanitary condition by receiving the benefit of the borough's sewer system and wanted to avail themselves of its light and water plants.

No one said anything against the bill and it passed by the unanimous vote of those present.

SAY SHE FORGED A MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE.

Also Declared to Have Passed Off As Her Own Baby One Taken From Farm.

A woman who called herself Mrs. Jessie Plaut left last February 19 a four-months-old baby boy at the Day Nursery in Jersey City. She said her husband was in the hospital and that she was dependent upon her parents.

When she did not return in five days the police made an investigation and through Detective-Sergeant Van Horn it was ascertained that the woman had secured a baby from a farm and adopted it in an effort to make it appear to her friends that one Irvin Plaut was its father and hoping to win the affection of Mr. Plaut.

Plaut declared he had never married the woman. "Mrs. Plaut," so it is declared by the police, secured a copy of her sister Eliza's marriage certificate and erased her sister's first name and substituted her own, also writing in the name of Plaut.

"Mrs. Plaut" is in the county jail on a charge of abandoning her baby.

The Truth of It.

Miss Bluff—O! Jack Jones, he proposed to me once.

Miss Sharpe—That so? Why, I was talking to your old friend, Tom Browne, about you yesterday and he—

Miss Bluff—O! he proposed, too, did he tell you?

Miss Sharpe—Not exactly. He said he was proposed to, too.—Ex.

THE SPELLING BEE.

What is that you ask me, sonny?
Has a spelling bee got honey?
That it has, in truth.
Lots of it an' drippin' over
From the lips as red as clover
In the days of youth.

How we loved it, me and Mandy;
Sakes alive, but she was dandy!
Always knew just how.
And the words that they were givin'—
Double-pointed—land o' livin'!
Ain't no such words now.

Mandy spelled me down completely,
But I owned up mighty neatly
Failure to confess.
Sez I: "Dear, you spell like thunder
All the long words, but I wonder,
Love, can you spell, "Yes?'"

Then she spelt it sort o' slowly,
An' she bent her head down lowly,
Cryin' happy tears.
Reckon now you see it, sonny,
How a spelling bee has honey
Flowin' through the years.
—Woman's Home Companion for February.

THE LAND OF "PRETTY SOON."

I know of a land where the streets are paved
With the things we meant to achieve.
It is walled with the money we meant to have saved
And the pleasures for which we grieve.
The kind words unspoken, the promises broken,
And many a coveted boon
Are stowed away there in that land somewhere—
The land of "Pretty Soon."
There are uncut jewels of possible fame,
Lying about in the dust;
And many a noble and lofty aim
Covered with mold and rust.
And, oh, this place, while it seems so near,
Is further away than the moon!
Though our purpose of fair, yet we never get there—
The land of "Pretty Soon."
It is further at noon than it is at dawn,
Further at night than at noon;
Oh! let us beware of that land down there—
The land of "Pretty Soon."
—The King's Own.

HOW TO SUCCEED.

The late Baron Alphonse Rothschild, financier and philanthropist, just before his recent death at Paris, France, gave two million dollars for the erection of workingmen's homes.

He gave something "just as good" (or perhaps better) to the young men relying on "Self-help" in his formula "How to succeed." Here it is:

Shun liquor.
Dare to go forward.
Never be discouraged.
Be polite to everybody.
Employ your time well.
Never tell business lies.
Pay your debts promptly.
Be prompt in everything.
Bear all troubles patiently.
Do not reckon upon chances.
Make no useless acquaintances.
Be brave in the struggle of life.
Maintain your integrity as a sacred thing.
Never appear to be something more than you are.
Take time to consider; then decide positively.
Carefully examine into every detail of your business.

'Twould Seem So.

His Thought.

"Of course," remarked the schemer, "but maybe the police wouldn't do a thing but stop you."—Philadelphia Press.

Be independent of old age and failing powers of money making. Start a bank account and keep adding to it. If you will save steadily while your youth lasts you will not want when youth is gone. City National Bank, Front street, is the place to place your money.

It's a wise buyer that knows a bargain when he sees it. There are so many "special" sales conducted on some pretext or other that it is a hard matter to tell when they are a reality. Boehm, the West Front street dry goods man, has none of these extraordinary specials but he sells goods at a price that will compete with any of them all the year around. Drop in at any time and see for yourself.

Hudson River Open.

Navigation on the Hudson between New York City, Newburg and Poughkeepsie is opened after being closed only twenty-six days. This is sixty-six days less than last year, and marks one of the shortest winters on record, as reckoned by interrupted navigation. The river still has days of danger by floating ice, but at Dobbs Ferry and vicinity enthusiasts have sailed and used motor-boats during the netire winter.

Now you must go, the housewife cried
You have too long my patience tried
I'm tired of your dirty way
So I have ordered gas to-day.

No More Dirt.

Dirt, soot and ashes are inseparable from the use of a coal range. The woman who cooks with coal must expect to suffer these discomforts. She must clean up ashes, scour pans, sweep and dust continually. If you would be free from such annoyances use gas. A gas range is the solution of many home problems. It is ready when needed. It is clean. It requires no blacking. It makes no ashes. It wastes no fuel. It is the ideal range for cooking. We sell ranges from $9.50-$15.00. $2.00 down; $2.00 month.

Fishermen, Fined, to Appeal.

Newton, March 9.—David Fishpaugh, Lester Van Horn and Theodore Blackford, residents of Stillwater Township, in Sussex county, were placed on trial before Justice of the Peace I. L. Hallock here, Thursday, charged with having in their possession three pickerel less than the size required by law—twelve inches. The action was brought on the complaint of Jacob B. Hendershott, the local fish and game warden. As many of the inhabitants of the "Sprout Hill" section of Stillwater as could get away from work came to Newton and attended. A number of them came as witnesses. The defendants were represented by Robert T. Johnson, of Newton, and set up an absolute denial of the charges made by the complainant. Witnesses were sworn by the prosecution who testified to the taking of the fish by the thre defendants. Decision was reserved by the court until today, when judgment was rendered against the defendants and a penalty of $60 imposed. An appeal will be taken.

To Put Up Boundary Marker.

Newton, March 9.—After having ignored for some time the proposition, coming originally from Warren county, that Sussex join in the providing of a suitable boundary marker to replace that lost in the demolishing of the old Yellow Frame Church, some time ago, between the two counties, the Sussex county freeholders have finally decided to erect some sort of a monument, and a sum, not to exceed $100, has been appropriated for that purpose. Freeholders John A. Wintermute, Jr., George W. Slater and Philip R. Hardin, the members for Stillwater, Green and Fredon townships, constitute the committee to look after the matter.

Surprise Reception at Rahway.

Rahway, March 9.—A surprise party reception was tendered Major Benjamin King and family Thursday night by about fifty Clark township and local friends at his residence as a sort of send-off on the tree months' visit the major and his family are to start on next week. This will be his first visit to his mother in London in over thirty years. Music, dancing and supper were enjoyed. Mrs. King was assisted in receiving by Mrs. George C. Andelfinger. Miss Terhune and Miss Dolly Irwin played the piano, and Mrs. Seamer sang two solos. Miss Emma King and Miss Kittie Andelfinger served coffee.

Train Kills Unidentified Man.

Stanhope, March 9.—An unidentified man was killed by a freight train near Waterloo Thursday night. Engineer Daniel Pritz, of the freight train, says that the man was lying on the track when the engine struck him. Pritz says he saw the man on the track, but was unable to stop the train. The body, which was brought to the morgue here, is that of a man about forty-five years old, five feet ten inches in height, with a mustache and black hair mixed with gray. The man wore a black overcoat, soft hat and striped gray trousers and was apparently a mechanic. Acting Coroner James W. Campbell will hold an inquest.

To Consider Tolla Case.

Trenton, March 9. — Governor Stokes has issued a call for a special session of the Court of Pardons to be held this afternoon to consider the application for a commutation of sentence for Mrs. Antinette Tolla, under sentence to be hanged at Hackensack next Monday for the murder of Joseph Sonta. In view of the Supreme Court's decision holding that the Court of Oyer and Terminer is without jurisdiction to grant a new trial, action favorable to Mrs. Tolla is considered almost certain.

WOMAN IN MALE GARB.

Dons Trousers and Coat to Look for Work in Chicago, But Speeding Auto Betrays Her.

Chicago.—Attired in masculine garb, Augusta Helvey, a young married woman, sought work for four days in the downtown district, mingling with scores of rival male applicants and passing unobserved in the throngs on the main streets. She would have begun work as a male waiter in a downtown restaurant had not an observant policeman noted a characteristically feminine move and manner in the natty youth. The policeman took the "suspect" to the police station.

In the station the young woman at once admitted her disguise and declared she had assumed the garb solely in order to secure employment in which living wages could be obtained. In St. Louis, from which town she came, she said she had worked as a waitress and had been able to earn barely a scant living, while her clothing had been worn to shreds. Unable to replenish it, she had taken from a trunk a suit of clothing once worn by her husband and had determined that henceforth she would pass as a man and endeavor to earn the wages given the male worker.

A speeding automobile was the cause of the failure of Miss Helvey's plans. As it flashed by the corner of Clark and Van Buren streets Policeman Murphy leaned forward to catch the number. The woman, in coat and trousers, was in its path. She shrieked as she leaped aside into a mud puddle and made a motion as if to gather up her flowing skirts. Then this youth moved a hand to his hat as if to adjust it.

The patrolman waited no longer. He had missed the number of the auto, but he took the "boy" to the station. Later she was released on the promise to don skirts.

CHAPTER XVIII.

CAUGHT!

Karloff came around to music. The dramatist's wife should play Tosti's Ave Maria. Miss Annesley should play the obligato on the violin and the prima-donna should sing; but just at present the dramatist should tell them all about his new military play which was to be produced in December.

"Count, I beg to decline," laughed the dramatist. "I should hardly dare to tell my plot before two such military experts as we have here. I should be told to write the play all over again, and now it is too late."

Whenever Betty's glances fell on her father's face, the gladness in her own were somewhat dimmed. What was missing that loved face so care-worn, the mind so listless, the attitude so weary? But she was young; the springs of youth never flow long in one direction. The repartee, brilliant and keen, at the same time every sting with it, flashed up and down the table like so many fireflies on a wet lawn in July, and drew her irresistibly.

As the courses came and passed, so the conversation became less and less general; and by the time the ices were served the colonel had engaged his host, and the others divided into twos. Then coffee, liqueurs and cigars, when the ladies rose and trailed into the little Turkish room, where the "distinguished-looking butler" supplied them with the amber juice.

A dinner is a function where everybody talks and nobody eats. Some have eaten before they come, some wish they had, and others dare not eat for fear of losing some of the gossip.

After the liqueurs my butler concluded that his labor was done and he offered a short prayer of thankfulness and relief. Heavens, what mad, fantastic impulses had seized him while he was passing the soup. Supposing he had spilled the hot liquid down Karloff's back, or poured out a glass of burgundy for himself and drained it before them all, or slapped his late colonel on the back and asked him the state of his liver? It was maddening and he marvelled at his escape. There hadn't been a real mishap. The colonel had only scowled at him; he was safe. He passed secretly from the house and hung around the bow-window which let out on the low balcony. The window was open, and occasionally he could hear a voice from beyond the room, which was dark.

It was one of those nights, those mild November nights, to which the novelists of the old regime used to devote a whole page; the silvery pallor on the landscape, the moon-mists, the round, white, inevitable moon, the stirring breezes, the murmur of the few remaining leaves, and all that. But these busy days we have not the time to read nor the inclination to describe.

Suddenly upon the stillness of the night the splendor of a human voice broke forth; the prima-donna was trying her voice. A violin wailed a note. A hand ran up and down the keys of the piano. Warburton held his breath and waited. He had heard Tosti's Ave Maria many times, but he never will forget the manner in which it was sung that night. The songstress was care-free and among persons she knew and liked, and she put her soul into that magnificent and mysterious throat of hers. And throbbing all through the song was the vibrant, loving voice of the violin. And when the human tones died away and the instrument ceased to speak, Warburton felt himself swallowing rapidly. Then came Schumann's Traumerei on the strings, Handel's Largo, Grieg's Papillen, and a ballade by Chaminade. Then again sang the prima-donna; old folksy songs, sketches from the operas, grand and light, Faust, The Barber of Seville, La Fille de Madame Angot. In all his days Warburton had never heard such music. Doubtless he had—even better; only at this period he was in love. The imagination of love's young dream is the most stretchable thing I know of. Seriously, however, he was a very good judge of music, and I am convinced that what he heard was out of the ordinary.

But I must guide my story into the channel proper.

During the music Karloff and Colonel Annesley drifted into the latter's study. What passed between them I gather from bits recently dropped by Warburton.

"Good God, Karloff, what a net you have sprung about me!" said the colonel, despairingly.

"My dear Colonel, you have only to step out of it. It is the eleventh hour; it is not too late." But Karloff watched the colonel eagerly.

"How in God's name can I step out of it?"

"Simply reimburse me for that $20,000 I advanced to you in good faith, and nothing more need be said." The count's Slavonic eyes were half-lidded.

"To give you back that amount will leave me a beggar, an absolute beggar, without a roof to shelter me. I am too old for service, and besides, I am physically incapacitated. If you should force me, I could not meet my note save by selling the house my child was born in. Have you discounted it?"

"No. Why should I present it at the bank? It does not mature till next Monday, and I am in no need of money."

"What a wretch I am!"

Karloff raised his shoulders resignedly.

"My daughter."

"Or my ducats," whimsically quoted the count. "Come, Colonel: do not waste time in useless retrospect. He stumbles who looks back. I have been thinking of your daughter. I love her, deeply, eternally."

"You love her?"

"Yes. I love her because she appeals to all that is young and good in me; because she represents the highest type of womanhood. With her as my wife, why, I should be willing to renounce my country, and your indebtedness would be crossed out of existence with one stroke of the pen."

The colonel's haggard face grew light with sudden hopefulness.

"I have been," the count went on, studying the ash of his cigar, "till this night what the world and my own conscience consider an honorable man. I have never wronged a man or woman personally. What I have done on the order of duty does not agitate my conscience. I am simply a machine. The moral responsibility rests with the czar. When I saw your daughter, I deeply regretted that you were her father."

The colonel grew rigid in his chair.

"Do not misunderstand me. Before I saw her, you were but the key to what I desired; as her father the matter took on a personal side. I could not very conscientiously make love to your daughter and at the same time—" Karloff left the sentence incomplete.

"And Betty?"—in half a whisper.

"Has refused me."—quietly. "But I have not given her up; no, I have not given her up."

"What do you mean to do?"

Karloff got up and walked about the room. "Make her my wife,"—simply. He stooped and studied the titles of some of the books in the cases. He turned to find that the colonel had risen and was facing him with flaming eyes.

An After-Dinner Story.

THE INITIATION OF KINWEISER.

When young Kinweiser got his job as entry clerk in Burkman's notion house he made up his mind that by displaying unremitting zeal and industry he would please his employer. But, although he had done his best, had tried to familiarize himself with the stock, dusted the shelves, voluntarily remained after hours to finish work that might properly have been deferred until the next day—although he had done all these things and many others outside of his proped field of work, Burkman apparently had taken no notice of him. Not only that, but the order clerk, Williter, his superior, appeared to look upon him with disfavor. At least, he showed no signs of approval.

It hurt Kinweiser's feelings. He had always heard that bright, energetic young men were bound to be appreciated, and he had certainly been energetic. As for "brightness," Roder, who made the bills from the same "call" as he and then checked up with him after the "call back," had made three errors to his one. Roder was a smart youth, too—smart enough to try to make it appear that the mistakes had been Kinweiser's.

Kinweiser redoubled his efforts. still Williter maintained his gruff manner and Burkman passed and repassed the entry desk without seeming aware of the existence of the young man who worked there. Kinweiser was thoroughly disgusted. He felt the necessity of freeing his mind about it to some one, so he took Roder into his confidence.

Roder heard him to the end and then grinned.

"Smoke up!" he said. "You're a chump if you don't see what's the trouble."

"What is it?" asked Kinweiser.

"Williter's got it in for you."

"Why?" asked Kinweiser, wonderingly.

"Didn't you ever hear about the fellow that worked himself out of a job?" asked Roder, with his expansive grin. "That's where you are going to get left. You're trying to make yourself too useful. You know blamed near as much about the stock as Williter does. You called him down on the price of them coat springs the day before yesterday—and you've called me down once or twice."

"What if I did?" said Kinweiser. "We don't want mistakes made, do we?"

"That's all right," said Roder. "That's all right, that part of it, but the man who makes the mistakes ain't going to feel extra good about it. I don't care myself, but Williter doesn't want anybody round that's smarter than he is. He sees you starting out to make a record, and he thinks you stand a pretty good show of getting his job. He doesn't get here before the warehouse is unlocked in the morning and stay after 6 o'clock when there's a rush, and if he doesn't do it himself, he doesn't want nobody else to do it, and get shoved up over his head."

"Do you think that's it?" asked Kinweiser, doubtfully.

"You keep right on the way you are doing and see how long you'll be able to hold your job."

"I don't want to lose my job," said Kinweiser. "I had too much trouble getting it."

"Then slow down," advised Roder. "Quit when it's quitting time or a little before, and don't be in too much of a sweat to get down on time in the morning. Let the shelves alone. You're entry clerk, ain't you? Then you ain't nothing to do with the stock. And don't be afraid of making mistakes. If I was you I'd make a few. Williter would think all the more of you."

"Maybe you're right," said Kinweiser, thoughtfully.

He adopted the course that his associate had recommended, cautiously at first, but later, as he fancied he saw Williter relaxing, he went to extremes of shirking and made one or two blunders that he considered highly judicious.

"You're all right," grinned Roder.

Kinweiser took that view of it himself, so it was a distinct surprise to him when, at the end of his fifth week with the firm, Burkman called him into the office and told him that he would have not further use for his services.

The young man could only gasp with the shock.

"I'm sorry," said Burkman, rather moved with compassion at his distress. "Mr. Williter reported very favorably of you at first. He said you were quick and seemed to be trying to learn and taking an interest in the business. Still, he thought it might be a case of new broom, and the way you've dropped off in the last week or two shows that that was the correct assumption."

"It wasn't," declared Kinweiser. "I was interested and I meant to work hard, only—I—Ithought——"

"Well?"

"I thought I wasn't wanted to—that is, I was told——"

"Well?"

Kinweiser was silent. Perhaps Roder had meant well.

"What made you think you weren't wanted to?"

"Mr. Williter didn't act as if he was pleased with me."

"Do you mean that he didn't pat you on the back every time you did what you were hired to do? I tell you, young man, if you start out with the idea that you've got to have a lump of sugar every time you do your tricks you'll never amount to a row of pins. Good men aren't so scarce as you may think, and if you want to succeed you've got to hustle."

"If you would only give me another trial," pleaded Kinweiser.

"Well," said Burkman, "go back to your desk and we'll see."

"What's the trouble?" asked Roder maliciously, as Kinweiser climbed upon his stool.

"Nothing much," replied Kinweiser. "I made a fool of myself, but I'm getting wise already."—Chicago News.

TOMMY ATKINS.

The Highland Light Infantry, the only unkilted Scottish regiment in the British army, were specially granted the privilege of wearing trews as a reward for their great valor during the Peninsular war.

The Imperial Yeomantry, who may be looked upon as the cavalry of the volunteer force, do not wear swords, as do the cavalry of the regular army but are armed with rifle and bayonet and receive the same training as the mounted infantry of the regulars.

The King's Royal Rifle Corps (the old Sixtieth), one of the most famous regiments in the British army, was once known as "The Royal Americans," having been recruited almost entirely in New York and Philadelphia. The present Second Battalion is also of American origin, having been raised in North America in 1758.

Cuirasses are only worn nowadays in the cavalry regiments of the Household Brigade But they have not always worn them, for during the time of William III. they were discarded, and were not used again until after the battle of Waterloo. Their reintroduction into the Household Brigade cavalry regiments is due to George IV.

Perhaps the most curious name given to any of the regimental quicksteps is that of the "Kynegad Slashers," the march-past of the First Battalion Gloucestershire Regiment. This singular name has no connection with Kennegad, in Ireland, as is usually believed, but is reminiscent of much desperate fighting in the American War of Independence.

The old Thirty-third, the Duke of Wellington's West Riding Regiment, are nicknamed the Havercake lads, because it was once the custom with its recruiting sergeants to carry oatcakes aloft on the points of their swords. This was in 1814, and in a work published by G. Walker there is a plate illustrative of this peculiar custom. Up to 1853 the corps was known as the First Yorkshire West Riding.—London Tit-Bits.

NEWSPAPERS ARE A POWER IN SALOON FIGHT.

Oklahoma Press Can Defeat Licenses By Refusing to Print Notices.

Judge Irwin's recent decision at Guthrie, Okla., to the effect that no newspaper could be compelled to publish a notice of application for saloon license and that the publisher having the largest circulation could prevent the granting of licenses by refusing to publish such notices has been taken up by the temperance societies over the territory, with noticeable results.

The most positive stand on the matter has been taken by the publisher of the Hennessey Clipper, who not only refuses to publish saloon licenses, but also refuses to declare to the county commissioners the circulation of his paper. As the law requires the publication to be in the two papers having the largest circulation in the county, his refusal put the county commissioners in a dilemma, as for all they know his paper might be one of the two having the largest circulation. For refusing to obey the direction of the probate court to declare his circulation Editor Miller has been declared in contempt of court until the district court can settle the matter finally.

The members of the W. C. T. U. in Custer county have started a campaign to get the Waterford Democrat and the Thomas Tribune, the two papers of largest circulation, to refrain from publishing license notices. The result of the campaign is still in doubt, with the chances against the W. C. T. U.

Most of the newspaper men of Oklahoma, even those who are personally opposed to the liquor traffic, continue to publish liquor notices. Ex-Governor T. B. Ferguson, who declared himself strongly for prohibition in a recent letted to Rev. J. J. Thompson, had four liquor notices in a recent issue of his paper.—American Press.

ELECTROCUTION BILL HAS BEEN ADVANCED.

Senate Adopts Amendment for Selection of Isolated Place for Plant.

Trenton, March 9.—The Wakelee bill for the substitution of electrocution for hanging in capital cases was the subject of an hour's discussion at the morning session of the Senate yesterday. Senator Wakelee had offered an amendment providing that the electrocution should be held either at the State prison or such other place as the Board of Inspectors of State prison should determine. It also provided that either the head-keeper or some one designated by the latter should officiate at all such executions.

Senator Hutchinson offered as a substitute another amendment, providing that the executions should take place in some remote and isolated place, where a building for the purpose should be erected at a cost not to exceed $10,000. It also provided that in each case the sheriff of the county, instead of the head-keeper of State prison, should officiate. In support of his amendment Senator Hutchinson said it would be most unfair to locate the city of Trenton as the place for all executions.

He quoted from the report of the warden of Sing Sing Prison a plea for the location of a central station remote from the prison, where all executions should take place. Such affairs, he said, caused a most perturbing effect on the population of the prison and shou'd be prevented if possible.

The Senator also quoted from the remarks of Mrs. Ballington Booth to show what a disastrous effect the location of a place for the execution of condemned criminals in the Trenton or any other prison would have. In fact, the Senator said he personally wished to see capital punishment abolished entirely.

Senator Wakelee said the latter remark indicated clearly that the Mercer Senator was oposed to the bill as a whole and that his amendment was evidently designed simply to kill the bill. Mr. Wakelee also objected to the feature which charged the sheriffs of the several counties, instead of one responsible head, with the execution of the law.

Senator Minturn rallied to the support of the Mercer Senator with a sentimental plea against degrading the historic name of Trenton, which was so closely associated with the destinies of our nation by attaching there to the designation of "hang town."

In a graphic manner he depicted the battle of Trenton as the turning point in the American Revolution and said that he for one would never vote to add the appelation of "Hang town" to the city.

The Hutchinson amendment, providing for the selection of an isolated place, was adopted by a vote of nine to six.

The amendments to substitute the word sheriff for head-keeper was defeated, and the amendment appropriating $10,000 for the building to be erected was approved.

The vote indicated that the bill as amended would pass without material opposition.

CAPTAIN AND CREW SAVED AFTER FOUR DAYS' PERIL.

A February Gale Wrecked the Coasting Schooner Eliza J. Pendleton.

Captain Henry Dodge, of Portland, Me., and eight men, the crew of the schooner Eliza J. Pendleton, owned by Pendleton Brothers, New York, were put ashore at Elizabethport yesterday by the schooner Anna R. Bishop, and told of the suffering they underwent after being wrecked. The crew were rescued from the Pendleton 200 miles southeast of Fire Island on March 2, after being nearly four days without food or water.

The Pendleton was on her way from Georgetown, S. C., to Bridgeport, Conn., with a cargo of lumber when she was struck by a gale on February 27. For hours she withstood the blow, but late that day it seemd as if she had burst, so fast did the water pour into her.

Captain Dodge was struck by a wave, hurled against a piece of lumber on deck and severely injured. Toward evening on March 2 the Bishop sighted the Pendleton, then almost completely submerged. A boat was launched and manned by the steward, Howard Nelson, and two sailors, who rowed alongside at the risk of their lives.

Captain Dodge, suffering from his injury, had to be helped aboard. So had the negro cook and the mate, who had temporarily lost his mind from the privations he had endured. The vessel had been prevented from sinking by her cargo of lumber. When abandoned on March 2 she was still afloat.

Gen. Miles to Take Part.

Urbana, Ill., March 9—Lieut Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, will take part in the special features of Military and Decoration Day at the University of Illinois May 30. He will review the university cadet regiment and make an address before the student body on "The Training of the Citizen Soldier."

Miss Anthony Improved.

Rochester, March 9.—Susan B. Anthony, who has pneumonia, is said by her physicians to be considerably improved, with a fair chance of recovery.

WIFE'S CRUELTY IS DIVORCE CHARGE.

Man Declares Abuse Made Him Ill, and He Wants to Die in Peace.

Extreme cruelty was the reason alleged yesterday by Frederick E. Moore before Vice-Chancellor Stevenson, in the Jersey City Chancery Chamber, for a divorce from Mrs. Catherine E. Moore, of 709 Dodd street, West Hoboken. They were married in Scranton, Pa., May 23, 1884, and lived there happily for five years.

Then, Moore said, they moved to West Hoboken, and his wife became jealous. She accused him of having other wives, kicked him, spat on him, and in 1902 spent the money they had in a bank. She locked him out when he came home from lodge meetings, and tongue lashed him so fiercely his health at last in the fall of 1904 gave way under the strain. He had to go to St. Mary's Hospital, in Hoboken, and now is under treatment by a Dr. Rich, of Brooklyn. He looked thin, and testified in a weak voice. He is of medium height and compactly built.

Mrs. Moore is short, slight, black-eyed and thin-faced. Both wiped their eyes often with handkerchiefs while Moore testified. All he wanted, Moore said, was to be set free from this woman, so he might spend the remainder of his days in peace and recover his health. Their three children are dead.

James Mulcahy, a nurse in St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken, testified that when Moore was a patient there last spring, sick with dysentery and nervousness, Mrs. Moore called and said to Mulcahy, who informed her of Moore's condition:

"I don't care whether he is dead or not. He ain't sick. There's nothing the matter with him at all. Put him out."

Mrs. Moore denied the cruelty. Their troubles, she said, were over money matters. Her husband found fault with her use of money. She and her husband had "spats," she said, but she had never used physical violence.

Decision was reserved.

GALLOWS UP FOR TWO MURDERERS.

Important Evidence Discovered Against Small After He Was Convicted.

Mount Holly, March 9.—George Small and Rufus Johnson, who are to be hanged March 24 for the murder, last January 18, of Miss Florence Allinson at Moorestown, now are being guarded by the death watch which will remain over them until they are led out to be hanged.

The gallows already has been erected in an unused portion of the jail. It was set up for Johnson, but he and Small asserted Small was the real murderer and a respite was given Johnson so that Small could be convicted.

Mrs. Small was discharged from custody yesterday morning. Small sent her word not to grieve over him. He said he would be converted and would be ready to die when the time arrived. Small and his wife did not meet, but they may before the day of the execution.

An important piece of evidence was discovered last night, too late for use. It was a blood-stained shirt, the one Small wore when he was brought to the jail. When the death watch was searching Small's cell, after he had been sentenced, Constable Gaskill noticed that the covering of the chimney vent in it had been disturbed.

He extracted the covering and in the hole found parts of the shirt. Parts of it are missing and it is supposed they were burned. Small, it is now recalled, has used many matches since being arrested, and there are indications that he was tearing pieces from the shirt and burning it little by little. To have fired the whole shirt and left it to burn or smoulder in the opening would have caused an odor that would have been detected.

WON'T LET NEGRO LAND WHITE GIRL.

Immigration Officers Hold Up Wealthy Black Man and Pretty Actress.

Philadelphia, March 9.—Whether or not race prejudice entered into the detention of Miss Ivy St. Clair by the immigration authorities at this port, her negro sweetheart, Frank West, who is wealthy, believes it did.

Unles they decide to be married today, Miss St. Clair will be deported to Liverpool. Miss St. Clair was an actress in England. She is twenty-five years old and pretty. She became acquainted with West while he was visiting in England about five years ago.

"I love her bearly," said the negro, "and she loves me. On the way over the passengers made life miserable for us just because she was white and I am black, and we were planning to be married in Montreal. We don't fancy the idea of being bulldozed by the immigration officials.

"Miss St. Clair has lots of money, and I intend to spend every cent of my fortune, if necessary, to procure her release."

Miss St. Clair declined to make any statement.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Only by resorting to the frock coat of another member of the company, the serge coat of a stage carpenter and a pair of trousers borrowed from a scene shifter, was Edmund Breese enabled to appear in "The Lion and the Mouse" last night. Breese plays "Ready Money" Ryder. "The Lion and the Mouse" without Ryder would be like an engine without fuel; so there was consternation behind the scenes at the Lyceum theatre when it was learned that Breese's entire wardrobe was missing. The actor on Saturday night had sent all the clothes he uses in the play to be pressed, and when a messenger was sent to the tailor's shop last night the place was closed. It was time to ring up the curtain when the messenger returned Breese had to appear somehow. Breese, whose part is that of a millionaire, struggled into a suit worn in the first act by the Judge, built for a chest of 32 inches. Breese has a measurement of 40 inches without expansion. The next change of scene the luckless Breese appeared in a pair of blue serge trousers, added to an evening coat and waistcoat borrowed from the property man. In the final scene, where he and the Judge both have the stage, he was equipped with a suit loaned by a well dressed attache from the front of the house, who stood on the stage in great negligee until the agony was over. Corporation Counsel John J. Delaney's remark concerning "The Lion and the Mouse:" "The man who has seen 'The Lion and the Mouse' should thank God for a playwright who could concieve such a drama—the moral is magnificent."

LITERARY.

Of more than unusual interest are the old prehistoric "bird tracks" of the Connecticut Valley to either active sportsmen or students of natural history, and to give some of our sportsmen friends outside the "Valley" some idea what these signs of game, of what is called the "Triassic Period," are like, I have enclosed a photo or two. Just outside the city of Holyoke, Mass., between the Old Road and the New State Road to North Hampton, there is a patch about 50x100 feet which has been cleared of all surface earth by parties interested in geology, and which is now protected by the State. This patch is completely covered with well defined tracks, such as my photo shows, and most of which will measure 12 to 14 inches in the longest parts, and 8 to 10 inches wide, while in depth they are from 1 to 2½ inches.—J. E. McIlwain, in Recreation for March.

These are days of gold in the West as much as in '49. Bonanza surprises are reported almost daily from California, Nevada, Oregon and Alaska. Millionaires are making over night. Prospectors and pack-mule trains are trailing the mountains and deserts. It's the lure o' gold. The situation in California is well told in the Sunset Magazine for March. The leading article, "California's Treasure Beds," is by Charles G. Yale, a special agent of the United States Geological Survey, correspondent and associate editor of the New York Engineering and Mining Journal, and statistician of the United States Mint, and his writings are widely recognized as most thorough and conservative. Besides this article there is "California's Rivers of Buried Gold," by Carrie Stevens-Walter; "Social Life Among Western Miners," by A. Burrows; "Silver State Gold Surprises," by K. R. Casper; and "In Social Trinity," by Mary Edith Griswold. And a funny story by David Atkins: "How Noonan Lost His Fortune." The cover was designed by Maynard Dixon and is a typical miner. The departments are full of interesting news items.

MASS MEETING TO BEGIN CONSUMPTION CRUSADE

Dr. Farrand and Other Authorities on Tuberculosis to Address Plainfield People.

NOTABLE COMMITTEE

Plans Made For First Meeting at New High School Tuesday Night, March 20—Consumption's Ravages Here.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Clinical Society a campaign has been started here against tuberculosis. For the present, the nature of the work proposed, will be entirely along educational lines, and, as a first step toward this end, a public mass meeting will be held on Tuesday night, March 20. The meeting will take place in the new High School auditorium. Dr. Livingston Farrand, of New York, executive secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, will be the principal speaker. Others who will make addresses include Dr. J. H. Huddleston, of New York, who has been particularly prominent in the association's campaign, and Hugh F. Fox, of this city, secretary of the New Jersey State Charities Aid Association, which is lending its efforts to the crusade against consumption.

This gathering will be followed later by smaller district meetings. It is hoped in this way to reach all classes of people in Plainfield and to show them how consumptives may be cured by careful treatment and how to prevent others from contracting the disease.

The committee on tuberculosis of the Plainfield Clinical Society was enlarged to a general representative committee, which now consists of the following men and women, who have consented to give their support to this movement: Dr. B. vanD. Hedges, Dr. W. H. Murray, Dr. N. H. Probasco, Dr. T. S. Davis, Dr. F. C. Ard, Miss Emma L. Adams, Miss Margaret Holly, Miss Susan Hubbell, Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany, Mrs. Elliott T. Barrows, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, Rev. A. C. Nickerson, Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, Henry M. Maxson, C. J. Fisk, C. W. McCutchen, Alexander Gilbert, Hugh F. Fox, Henry C. Krebs, L. R. Thurlow.

The call to the people contains the following paragraphs:

"The object of this meeting is to instruct the people on the subject of tuberculosis, or consumption, and to show how the large number of deaths from this disease each year may be lessened. In Plainfield, for the last five years, twelve per cent. of all deaths have been due to consumption; there has been an average of three deaths every month. This means that unless some preventative steps are taken to check the progress of the disease, and the people educated to the needs of fighting it, that of the 24,094 persons in Plainfield and North Plainfield, nearly 3,000

FORMER PLAINFIELDER BEGAN HOBOKEN CRUSADE

REV. FATHER KELLY STIRRED OFFICIALS TO ACTION BY SERMON.

Rev. Father Charles J. Kelly, rector of Our Lady of Grace church, Hoboken, who is waging a warfare against saloons and vice in that city, is a native of Plainfield, having been born on West Fourth street about fifty years ago.

Father Kelly stirred the municipal authorities to action by preaching an impassioned sermon last Sunday in advocacy of the "Bishops' Bill" now before the Legislature. The clergyman's remarks were plain and to the point, and he condemned the side rooms of saloons of that city as the gateways of ruin to hundreds of young girls, and urged that the police take speedy action to remedy the conditions.

The effect of his sermon was magnetic. Within an hour after he preached it his words of denunciation of the traffic were on the tongue of almost every Hobokenite. City officials were stirred to action, with the result that startling revelations were made in the police court of that city yesterday following the arrest of a number of girls and men who were caught in the raids on the side rooms of saloons.

As a result of the startling disclosures Mayor Stell announced yesterday that he would revoke licenses of all saloonkeepers who had siderooms in their establishments.

Another result of the crusade is that Chief Hayes has issued an edict that all saloons must be closed tomorrow, consequently a dry Sunday is expected, the first of its kind ever experienced in the history of the city of beer and pretzels.

Good Attraction for Benefit.

Treasurer Sam Cunningham has secured Gus Hill's big comedy, "McFadden's Row of Flats," for his benefit on Thursday, April 5. Matinee and night performances will be given and Sam's popularity is sure to draw big houses each time.

SUPPORT THE "BISHOPS' BILL," NOW!

The "Bishops' Bill," as the high license measure now in the Legislature is known, is supported by the best men of New Jersey. It was framed by the two Catholic and the two Episcopal bishops, and meets with the hearty approval of hundreds of clergymen, irrespective of denomination. Should it become a law, the iniquitous "side room," which has been the cause of the downfall of hundreds of young women, will be abolished. Furthermore, the screens which hide the barroom from public gaze will be a thing of the past, and no persons under age will be allowed to loiter in a saloon. High license fees is one of the provisions of the bill. Naturally the saloon proprietors and the brewers are actively opposing the measure. If you want to help in the good work of doing away with many of the evils of the saloon, and at the same time defeat the brewers' efforts, cut this out and mail it to your representative at Trenton:

.....

Senator from ..... County,

Senate Chamber, Trenton, N. J.

Dear Sir:

As one of your constituents, I urgently request that you do everything in your power to secure the enactment of the "Bishops' Bill" now pending in the Legislature.

Respectfully yours,

(Name) .....

Plainfield, N. J.

NOTE—If you live in Plainfield, address letter to Ernest R. Ackerman, Senator from Union county; if in North Plainfield, Joseph T. Frelinghuysen, Senator from Somerset county.

FUTURE OF CHRISTIANITY

Dr. Symond's Vision of a Broader, More Spiritual Church.

ALTRUISM ITS KEYNOTE

Churchmen of the Days to Come Will Work For Their Fellow Men With Whole Hearts.

Closing his series of sermons on "Religion," begun last Sunday and continued nightly, Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, presented a glowing picture of the Christianity of the future at Grace P. E. church, last night. Complete tolerance and perfect spiritual brotherhood, Dr. Symonds believes, will mark the new conception of the faith.

In opening his sermon, Dr. Symonds pointed out that the idea of change was not inconsistent with a consistent view of Christianity. It was the old belief that pictured revealed religion as complete and unchanging. The conception of a growing church was in keeping with Christ's own teachings. He had likened the faith to a mustard seed, "the smallest of all seeds," which would grow until it surpassed "all the herbs." Only dead things, Dr. Symonds said, never changed; living things always changed. Nothing was to be so dreaded as standing still; nothing was so fatal as standing still.

The change in the Church would lead to a greater stress on life and less on profession. Religion was to become more spiritual and less formal; righteousness of thought was to be of less account than unselfishness; lust for money was to be accounted worse than staying away from church.

But while spirituality was to replace form and ritual more and more, it was not to be expected that all worship and doctrine was to go. There were those who thought so, but Dr. Symonds did not agree with them. The cessation of all worship was reactionary in its idea, and all reactions went too far.

Dogma was losing force, but it was not likely that it would disappear from Christianity. It had a permanent place in the faith. That place, however, was to sink lower. Men's loves were to count for more than their form of belief. Christ Himself had said, "By their fruits ye shall know them," and that was to be the keynote of the future religious life. The life was to be expressed in act and deed, not by words alone. The spirit of righteousness was to be translated into visible good.

The religion of the future would seek unceasingly to establish right relationship between man and man. It would never rest content with negative morality; it would battle for positive justice, positive mercy and positive purity. It would never be satisfied while men were forced to live under unsanitary conditions; while men were compelled to toil unceasingly, with no vocations that uplifted or enlightened them.

The prominent virtue of the new religion of the spirit was to be love. No man could be accorded true godliness who did not love his fellow-man; no man who loved his fellows would be called an athiest.

All divisions of Christianity were to be eradicated by the future religion. It would be recognized that varieties of worship might spring from a sameness of spirit. True liberty of worship would obtain throughout the new church catholic. Doctrine, creed and worship would remain, in changed form, but dogma, with its compulsion of assent, would be gone.

There was no telling, Dr. Symonds concluded, whether the church was old or young; whether it was closing its labors on earth or beginning them in earnest. But there was no reason to despair; those who longed for the spread of the true faith, founded on perfect spiritual life, had every reason for bright hopefulness.

Religious Interest Increased.

Twenty-five persons have expressed a desire to lead a Christian life, as a result of the evangelistic services that have been held Sunday evenings at the Park Avenue Baptist church. A remarkable interest was shown last Sunday night, when twenty-one persons took part in the after-meeting and three asked for prayers. The special services will be continued tomorrow night under the direction of Pastor A. E. Finn.

Carnival Site Selected.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the Muhlenberg Hospital carnival to be held May 19 to June 2, has decided to hold the affair along Tier's Lake. William Miller, who was directly in charge of last year's success, will again be in control.

ORGANIZATION IS SILENT

Mayor Refuses to Discuss Judge Runyon's Retirement From Politics.

MAC MURRAY GUARDED

City Clerk Says He Knows Nothing About Runyon's Decision—Action Approved by Friends.

The chief topic of conversation among both the organization and anti-administration Republicans since the exclusive announcement in The Daily Press yesterday that Judge William N. Runyon, disgusted at the treatment accorded him by administration friends, had quit politics, is the effect his action will have on local affairs. There seems to be general approval of the judge's decision, particularly among his personal friends. As a rule the organization men will not discuss the matter for publication.

City Clerk James T. MacMurray, one of the two recognized leaders of the organization, said today that he had no knowledge of Mr. Runyon's retirement excepting what he had seen in The Daily Press. "Politics is not worrying me. I think matters can be arranged all right." He also declared that he had done all he could in behalf of John Cose, whom it is alleged was thrown down as a candidate for second assistant chief of the fire department. He had asked his friends to support Cose and disclaimed being a party to any insincerity on the part of the organization.

Mayor James F. Buckle refused to talk when asked his opinion regarding Judge Runyon's position. Freeholder Samuel P. T. Wilbur expressed his thoughts in the single exclamation "Whew!" His expression was a typical one among the organization men. Col. Frank W. Randolph also declined to say anything beyond that the judge was a very valuable man to the party. Postmaster Bird said that he was not in politics and would not discuss any matter pertaining to it.

John W. Cose declared last night that Mr. Runyon was entirely justified in his action. When asked whether he would follow in his footsteps he replied "no."

Councilmen Gloak and Buxton both were somewhat reticent over the matter. Mr. Gloak said that he did not believe Runyon was warranted in assuming that the organization had given him a dirty deal.

BALL MEETING TONIGHT.

Every Enthusiast Invited to Attend Gathering at the Iroquois.

Fandom is again reminded of the baseball meeting to be held at the Hotel Iroquois at 7:30 o'clock tonight to form an association. Upon the result of this meeting will depend the action regarding the national game for Plainfield this summer. There is being manifested considerable interest on the part of the fans in the meeting, all apparently desiring that Manager Daab return here this year with his team. One sure way of making this possible is to attend the meeting and subscribe to the shares of stock.

Any one can take one or more shares of $5 each, and on the basis of the proposition to be presented each shareholder will stand a good chance of getting his money back. Everyone interested in the formation of the association is invited to the meeting whether he has received a printed circular or not, and take part in the discussion of the subject.

Against Schanz's Application.

Chairman Francis Montgomery and R. I. Tolles, of the councilmanic license committee, visited the property owners and tenants in the neighborhood of No. 128 North avenue, where Charles Schanz wants to open a saloon. They found a decided sentiment against the location of a retail liquor place there. Chances of being able to push the petition through the Common Council are said to be slight, for there is a decided opposition to increasing the number of saloons irrespective of the location chosen by the applicant.

Co. K. Meeting Tonight.

An important meeting of Co. K will be held in the armory tonight to take appropriate action on the death of Frank Stiglitz, a member of the organization.

—Rose Gedruc has sworn out a complaint of disorderly conduct against Mary Rymanowska, in the city court. The defendant will be arraigned next Saturday.

—Hartley's delicious marmalade has no equal in the market. Neuman Brothers are the local agents and are holding a special sale. Don't lose this opportunity to secure a supply.

YOUNG FORGER ARRESTED

Tailor Victimized By His 16-year-old Son.

GOT COSTLY LESSON

Boy Taught Father to Write His Name In English, Then Tried It Himself—Headed for Institution.

Samuel Berkowitz, sixteen years old, taught his father, L. Berkowitz, women's tailor, to write his name in English. Three weeks ago Samuel tried the signature himself on one of his father's checks. The signature looked good and Samuel took it to the First National Bank to see if it was as good as it looked. It looked as good to the teller as it did to Samuel, and the youth went to New York with $15 of his father's money.

Two days later, when the check came back from the bank, L. Berkowitz understood why Samuel hadn't been home for two days. Samuel had been giving his father and some other people a lot of trouble before, and Berkowitz decided that the check episode put the boy in the incorrigible class. He turned the matter over to the police and told them to let the law take its course.

Samuel sported in New York, according to the police, until a day or two ago, when his money gave out and the chill of panhandling in a real city drove him back to Plainfield. Detective McCarthy spotted him on the street this morning and Samuel's lark ended with a suddenness that took the starch out of him.

Chief Kiely turned the boy over to Capt. Winn, assistant probation officer, and the latter sent for Berkowitz pere. The latter's heart was still firmly set against the youthful forger, and he authorized Capt. Winn to go ahead with arrangements for sending Samuel to the Jamesburg Reformatory.

"Is there no Hebrew institution for such boys to which you can send him?" asked the probation officer. "It is only fair to warn you that Jamesburg is a prison in effect, and nothing else. He is too bright a boy to be loose until he has been trained correctly, but there are better places for such offenders than the boy's reformatory."

Capt. Winn's unfaltering picture of Jamesburg had its effect on Berkowitz. After a talk with Chief Kiely he left the court to arrange, if possible, to have Samuel placed in a Hebrew protectory in New York. Capt. Winn retained the forged check and other proofs against Samuel, and the boy will be arraigned before the Juvenile Court if he isn't placed in the protectory. Samuel was allowed to go in his father's custody.

MEMORIAL TO THOSE WHO HELPED SAVE HIS LIFE

PAINFULLY INJURED IN PECULIAR ACCIDENT

PLUNGING HORSE PINNED CHARLES F. DRAKE AGAINST AN UPRIGHT.

Charles F. Drake, of West Third street, for many years an employe of the Commercial Mills on South Second street, was painfully injured in a peculiar accident at the plant yesterday. He is now at his home with two broken ribs, a painfully bruised and wrenched arm and other hurts that will keep him in bed for several weeks.

Drake was about to lead a horse attached to a load of wood from a rear driveway at the mill when a motion made by Foster Sprague, another employe, caused the animal to plunge forward. The point of one of the shafts caught Drake in the chest and threw him against an upright with great force. It held him there for an instant and when the horse sheered off he drooped to the ground unconscious.

He was quickly picked up and taken to his home in a carriage, but it was two hours afterwards before he recovered his senses. He is now under the care of Drs. J. B. and Norman Probasco, and was reported by them today as resting easily.

AGAINST CITY PARK PROJECT THIS YEAR

PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE DOES NOT FAVOR PLAN AT PRESENT.

Several petitions referred from last year's Common Council by the committee on public affairs, was taken up at a meeting of the commitee last night. Most of the petitions were unimportant, but there was one regarding a proposed public park for the city, that was discussed informally at some length.

It was the opinion of the committee that it would be unwise and impractical to start to establish a city park this year and it is unlikely that this will be done. The committee considered various sites, including those suggested last year in the southeastern part of the city, but as the expense of such an improvement would be so great it was thought best not to bring the matter before the Common Council at present.

SPANISH WAR VETERAN DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Frank Stiglitz Succumbs to Fever Contracted While Doing Service in the Philippines.

Frank A. Stiglitz, a veteran of the Spanish War and a former member of Company K, died at his home on West Fifth street early this morning. His death was indirectly due to a fever contracted while in active service in the Philippines. He was discharged when it first took hold upon him and he returned to Plainfield, but afterward went to Mexico for treatment. From there he came home again but complications had followed and he lingered in a hopeless condition for several months.

Stiglitz was but twenty-five years old and was a foster brother to Andrew J. Stiglitz and Mrs. Frank Wyckoff. He leaves a wife and one child. The funeral will be held at Trinity Reformed church, of which he was a member, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be at Hillside.

An Emphatic Denial.

A proposition is now before the public, whereby they can save nearly half their gas and electric light bills, and yet have a superior light and plenty of it. The Siche system does this. It is absolutely safe, the pipes do not clog and the burners are always clean, despite recent statements to the contrary, made for the purpose of injuring the Siche business; only those who have used this system, for a number of years, know absolutely the truth of this statement. Such things have happened with interior lighting plants, and this is why the public question it, but Siche gas is dry, cold, pure and clean, before entering the service pipes, because the principle of generation and chemical process, (covered by the Siche patents), is entirely different from that of any other machine on the market. No traps are needed in the pipes used by the Siche system, as there is absolutely no condensation. Inspection invited, and full information given, at manufactory, 149 East Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J. All inquiries over the 'phone courteously answered, 'phone No. 771 Plainfield. ***

Frederick's Gift to Anchor Lodge Contains Names of Brethern Who Gave Cuticle For Skin-Grafting.

A MASONIC FUNCTION

Grand Lodge Officers In Assemblage of 300 Fraters—Present for Worshipful Master Runyon.

In recognition of the self-sacrifice made by members of the organization when he was apparently dying from burns received in the Jersey Central wreck at Westfield three years ago, Wilson Frederick, of Dunellen, presented Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., with an engrossed memorial last night. It bore the names of seventy Masons who had contributed pieces of cuticle from their arms to cover portions of his body scalded by steam and was encased in a handsome frame. Grand Master Benjamin F. Wakefield and staff, of Passaic, and 300 members of the order from all parts of the State, were in attendance, and afterward extended congratulations to the donor, just as they had done when he was first discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital, after passing through one of the most trying ordeals that has ever been the lot of human being.

Worshipful Master William N. Runyon was in charge of the ceremonies, which opened with the reception of Grand Master Wakefield and the following members of his staff: Deputy Grand Master Walter Chandler, of Elizabeth; District Deputy William D. Wolfskell, of Elizabeth; Grand Marshal Charles P Russ, of Elizabeth; Grand Organist Powell G. Fithian, of Newark. The five charter members of Anchor Lodge, Stephen D. Affleck, of New York; Dr. H. H. Lowerie, Russel Johnson, Samuel C. Peck and T. A. Rogers, of this city, and sixty Masons who had aided Frederick in his time of need, were also received, and in their presence he made the presentation. It was accomplished in a few words, during which he again expressed his appreciation in a manner that showed more than did the gift the sense of gladness that prompted him to do it. The memorial was accepted by Grand Master Wakefield in behalf of Anchor Lodge, who responded in a fitting manner.

Mr. Frederick's gift was followed by several others which came as a surprise to most of the fraters. One was the presentation of a large Bible to Anchor Lodge by Stephen D. Affleck to take the place of one he had given at its institution and which was destroyed in the Babcock fire four years ago. It was received by Worshipful Master Runyon, who in turn was made the recipient of a past master's jewel and apron, at present serving his second term. It was entirely unexpected but the judge proved equal to the occasion and responded to the good wishes of the brethren. The last gift was made by Craig A. Marsh to Grand Master Wakefield and was a teacher's Bible, the official and his wife both being interested in Sunday-school work at Passaic.

The formal programme was followed by a social session during which banjo selections were given by Fred Van Eps and solos by Judge Runyon and Elmer D. Cutting. The ceremonies terminated with a supper served in the banquet room.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair comprised Louis I. VanAlstyne, Peter A. Emmons and J. Stephen Higham.

The recovery of Wilson Frederick from the frightful injuries he received in the Westfield wreck represents the most marvelous skin grafting operation in the history of medicine. His case attracted the attention of physicians and surgeons the world over and has been the subject of numerous lectures and newspaper and magazine articles. Three-fourths of his body was denuded of skin and when he was pulled from beneath the wreckage not one in a hundred thought he could live. One after another of the physicians at Muhlenberg Hospital said that he was beyond aid but Dr. Albert Pittis believed there was a slight chance and immediately took steps to save his life.

The suffering man was placed upon an air bed and when the sloughs from the scalded surfaces ceased, Frederick was entirely raw and denuded of cuticle on one side of the face, one arm and both legs from the groins to the shoe tops. Under the circumstanes skin grafting, the forlorn hope, seemed impossible. But

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the to of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." HE WROTE OLD "NASSAU"

Karl a Langlotz Tells the Origin of Princeton's Famous Song.

WROTE MUSIC QUICKLY

A book has now been written about Princeton's famous song, "Old Nassau."

In a foreword Wilford S Conrow, Princeton, '01, the compiler of the volume, says: "Already fifty classes of the Princetonians have sung 'Old Nassau,' and for years this song has been held by them in a spirit of semi-sacred reverence as a cherished inheritance from former days. That it has had a large share in the development of the charm of the atmosphere and the admired spirit of Princeton is unquestioned." The idea of the book came to Mr. Conrow as the result of a call at the Trenton home of Karl A. Langlotz(the composer of the music for the song. The interest then aroused in the genesis of "Old Nassau" and in the lives of the men who gave it to Princeton resulted in a resolve "to put the facts regarding these subjects in a form dignified as befitting 'Old Nassau,' and permanent, that their record may be preserved in our Princeton world."

Mr. Peck, who wrote "Old Nassau" in February, 1859, in competition for a prize offered by the Nassau Literary Magazine. It was published as the prize song in the Lit of the following month. Mr. Langlotz at the time he wrote the music for "Old Nassau" was a teacher of German in the college. He says in his sketch: "During the winter and spring of the year 1859 some of the seniors and tutors used to meet with me in a little old house on William street, just east of the college grounds, where we would smoke and sing college songs over our glass of beer. When 'Old Nassau' was written we tried to sing it to the air of 'Auld Lang Syne,' but found this utterly unsuitable. Mr. W. C. Stitt, one of the company (probably then a tutor in the college, as he received his degree of M. A. the following commencement), suggested that I should write original music to the words. I agreed, thinking the proposal and my agreement would vanish like the smoke from our pipes. I took the words, however, promising to compose the music sometime—and then thought no more about it. But my memory was strengthened from day to day by Stitt, who requested it for 'tomorrow.' That day was long dawning. At last his determination brought me up to the mark. I was living in a house opposite the large entrance leading into the park of the late Judge Field, now owned by Professor Allan Marquand. There I was sitting on my front porch, smoking my peaceful pipe, when the energetic Stitt arrived on the scene, and asked me in an offhand way if I had anything particular to do that afternoon. I answered 'No.' Immediately he produced pencil and music paper, saying, 'Here is the "tomorrow" so long promised. Here is "Old Nassau." Now do as you promised, and put the music to it.' I did write the music then and there, with Stitt standing guard over me. When it was at last finished I handed it to him, thinking I would never hear of it again. * * * I have no recollection of hearing my music to 'Old Nassau' until long years afterward."

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF LEFT-OVER BILLS.

Are Those Signed by Governor After Adjournment Valid?

Newark, March 10.—Whether a bill is constitutional which has been approved by the Governor after adjournment of the Legislature is a question raised in the suit of Benjamin Morris against the city of Newark. The suit itself was decided yesterday by the Supreme Court in favor of the city, but the constitutional question was left for the higher court.

The law concerning which the constitutional point was raised is the act creating damage assessment commissioners and prescribing their powers. The local assessment commissioners awarded to Morris $32,000 for damages to his property at Cross and Broad streets by reason of a change in streets resulting from the elevation of the Lackawanna Railroad tracks. He was dissatisfied with the award and brought action in two forms. A writ of certiorari was applied for and granted and an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court regarding the sufficiency of the amount of the award.

Counsel for Morris contends that the act of March 24, 1892, was not put upon the statute books in compliance with Article V., section 7, of the Constitution of the State. This act passed the Legislature on March 10, was delivered to the Governor on the day following and was signed by him on March 24, within the thirty-day limit set by a statute then in existence, but since repealed.

It was on the question concerning the extent of the functions of the commissioners that the court decided the case in favor of the city.

Chambliss, pastor of the church, will give a twenty-minute "straight talk" to the men.

It was announced Thursday that the new St. Thomas' Episcopal church, which is to rise on the ashes of the one ruined by fire at Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street, New York, is to cost at least $1,000,000. This will rank it up with the splendid marble edifice of the Christian Scientists on Central Park West. The new St. Thomas' will be Gothic. Ten prominent architects have been engaged to make tentative plans, in competitionfi embodying merely suggestions as to the form and style. The competition will close in April and the church will be completed in two years. In an appeal to the congregation Pastor Stires says Christians were once poor and persecuted, but now are rich and influential and should have a house worthy of the Lord.

THIEVES BLOW SAFE.

Get a Hundred Dollars, Fut Fail at Another Place.

Camden, March 10.—Burglars entered early yesterday the real estate office of R. A. Rockhill, at Woodlynne, a few miles from this city, and stole $100 in money. Entrance to the building was effected by forcing a rear window. Inside, the thieves went direct to a rear room, in which was Rockhill's safe. They blew it with nitro-glycerine.

From the real estate office the thieves went to the office of the City Line Lumber Company, close by. When preparing to blow open the safe in this place the thieves were frightened away.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The Hobokens will play their first game on April 1 with the Loughlins, of Brooklyn, on Loughlin Oval, that city.

The O. N. T.'s, of Newark, will again be in the field this season, with the veteran Sam Lunn at the helm. This makes the twenty-third season for the team.

Harry Mathewson, brother of the famous Christy, will now occupy the limelight for some time to come. The cranks are anxious to see what he can do in a game.

Manager Daab will give Hogan, an outfielder of New York State League experience, a try for the outfield. Hogan is said to be a fast fielder and handy with the stick.

Charlie Handford, the hard hitting left fielder of the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team for several years, has signed to play with the Jersey Citys this season. Manager Murray secured his signature to a contract Monday of this week.

Doubt exists regarding the Hudson River League. For several seasons the game has been a losing proposition. The Paterson Club, of that league, will undoubtedly play independent ball. The Patersons will make a welcome addition to the independent ranks.

Manager Jack Dunn, of the Providence Eastern League champions, will give young Brogan a chance to work himself out in the practice season, and if he is fast enough he will probably sign him as utility player. Kid Brogan was brought out last season by Manager Daab. He covered second bag while Dalton was laid up with his spiked foot.

Jack O'Neil, the popular catcher of the Plainfield nine, has received several calls during the past winter from Eastern League magnates, but Jack will stick to his municipal job and semi-professional baseball. He generally manages to get some Eastern League experience every season by filling in for various clubs whose catchers become disabled.

Lou Wiltse may wear a Cincinnati uniform this season. Wiltse wants to play in the big league, and ever since he was transferred from Brooklyn to Baltimore the lanky twirler has been dissatisfied. As Ned Hanlon holds stock in both the Brooklyn and Baltimore clubs, Wiltse is hopeful that some deal can be made whereby Hanlon will take him to Porkopolis.

Mike Leonard, the veteran third baseman, and without doubt the fastest third cushion artist in the semi-professional ranks, reports that he hasn't aged any during the winter months, and will not need to hunt up a fountain of youth to get himself into shape. Mike has been playing with first class clubs for about fifteen years, and, like wine, he seems to improve with age, instead of deteriorating.

One of the strongest teams in the State this season will be the Somerville nine. The ball was started rolling last season and the club was about the only organization in New Jersey that quit business on the right side of the ledger. The association made about $300 and will be represented by a stronger aggregation this season. If plans at Plainfield go through a series will be arranged between the two towns.

Jack Burke, of Jersey City, and formerly of Westfield, who was a good catcher and played with the best semi-professional teams a few years ago, will, it is said, organize a team to travel on Saturdays and Sundays. Burke incapacitated himself while playing in Westfield three years ago where his right hand was badly split. After he recovered from this injury he maimed his throwing arm, from which he never fully recovered.

One of the rumors that have cropped out this season which local cranks will be interested to hear, is that the versatile short stop of the Plainfield team, Peter Kiernan, intends to take another plunge into the matrimonial sea. As Peter has been staying indoors most all winter, this report cannot be verified, but personal friends of the short stop declare with much confidence that he will lead a bride to the altar before cherry picking time.

Pete Lamar, Esq., of Dumont, Bergen county, who married and settled down last fall, is laying lines to become a gentleman farmer. It is said that he has been consulting the farming experts of his section as to the advisability of trying to raise peanuts on his two-acre plot at Dumont. He has been assured that peanuts can be raised just as successfully in this State as in Virginia if the proper care is accorded the vines. In view of this advice, Mr. Lamar says he will make the try.

Miss Helen Martin, of Hillside avenue, is visiting friends at Belden, Michigan.

Mrs. I. Newton Van Syckel, of Madison avenue, is spending several days at Atlantic City.

Stuart Freeman, president of the senior class of the Plainfield High School, who has been detained at home by illness, returned to his studies yesterday.

MOVING AGAINST THEATRE SIGNS.

Public School Teachers Find Cause for Criticism with Some Posters.

Newark school teachers are going to move in force against sensational theatrical posters. These proved the principal point of discussion at a meeting of the executive committee of the Essex County Teachers' Guild at the Free Public Library in that city Wednesday night.

Miss Elizabeth M. Stringer, president of the guild, a teacher in the Washington Street School, objected especially to two lithographs posted in the neighborhood of the school, one of which pictured a man teaching small boys how to pick pockets, and another scene in which a man supposed to have hypnotic power is lifting a woman up in the air and sparks are coming from her in all directions.

Miss Harriet E. Van Nest, a teacher in the Hamburg Place School, told of what she considered immoral posters near that building. The teachers said that these had a bad effect on the morals of the children, which all the good influences of the classroom could not counteract. They passed a resolution authorizing Miss Almeda M. Olds, a teacher in the Washington Street School, to write a letter to Arthur W. McDougall, secretary of the Newark Conference of Charities and Correction, asking that organization to take the matter up and urge the city authorities to take steps to do away with the evil.

The teachers also put themselves on record as being opposed to the passage of a bill now pending at Trenton, which provides for the killing of doves by sportsmen during certain seasons of the year. They also made arrangements for the celebration of Audubon Day, Wednesday, April 11. Next Wednesday afternoon at the library, Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, of Elizabeth, will address an open meeting of the teachers on her work as a probation officer.

Mrs. W. B. Wadsworth and daughter, Miss Wadsworth, of West Eighth street, are spending several weeks at Battle Creek, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Tugwell, of East Front street, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gee, of Third place, will sail for Europe in April.

ONLY ONE "BEST."

Plainfield People Give Credit Where Credit Is Due.

People of Plainfield who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by cures in Plainfield. Here's Plainfield testimony:

Andrew Mattis, carpenter, of 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I have been troubled for years with dull backache and pain in the back of my head, caused by kidney complaint. I was hurt severely some time ago by falling from a scaffold and the physicians thought my spine was injured. I think that fall injured my kidneys. As nothing else that I tried seemed to help my back or kidneys, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Randolph's pharmacy. I have now taken nearly three boxes, and find that the backache and headaches have disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GETS ANOTHER TRACT.

Highland Park Company Now Owns 700 Lots Near Netherwood Station.

Elston M. French has bought the tract of land on the southerly side of George street, above Leland avenue and extending to Raymond avenue, and has sold it to the Highland Park Realty Company, whose main tract of building lots is immediately adjoining. The realty company now owns over 700 lots near the Netherwood station, and great real estate activity has commenced in this section.

Many New York people as well as residents of Plainfield and vicinity are buying lots at Highland Park, and over twenty houses have been contracted for to be built this spring. Of this number about fifteen will be erected by recent purchasers of lots, while the company itself will build five or more up to date dwellings.

DIES FROM HIS WOUNDS.

Man Alleged to Have Done Shooting Is Still at Large.

Louis Ruina died yesterday in the Memorial Hospital, Orange, from pistol shot wounds inflicted last Sunday night by, it is charged, Arsenio Aromanio, of Bray street, that city. Aromanio fled after the shooting and has not been caught.

William T. Costa, who was shot while trying to rescue Ruina, is still in the hospital. Ruina indorsed Aromanio with a local tailor who does an instalment business. Aromanio is alleged to have failed to meet his instalments and Ruina was called on to make good. Sunday night the men met and quarrelled over the matter and Aromanio began to shoot.

Engines Destroy Sleep.

Residents of Dunellen near the Central Railroad roundhouse are complaining of the racket made by locomotives held on sidings with steam up in the small hours of the night. They say the engines blow off steam for long periods at a time, for no discoverable reason, making a racket that prevents sleep. One of the locomotives, it is said, hissed and rumbled for several hours steadily one night this week, and none of the people in houses within two blocks of the roundhouse got sleep enough to make a cat's nap. The borough Council will be asked to bring the matter to the attention of the railroad.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Pierce Kingsley's great American play, "Deserted at the Altar," is holding the boards at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. No elaborate resume of the play is required. Its best recommendation lies in the fact that this is its third season, and it will be many more seasons before its popularity wanes. It is a pure, clean American play by an American author, who knows how to feel the pulse of the people and a past master in stagecraft. In many respects this is stronger than any pastoral play ever written.

That Al. W. Martin's production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is considered an instructive teacher has been demonstarted by the number of holidays granted school children that they might attend the extra matinees which have been given in most of the large cities. The Martin revival is booked for matinee and night performances at the New Plainfield theatre Monday.

Those who have seen "The Woman in the Case," in which Blanche Walsh is to appear here next Tuesday night, seem to be of the opinion that the main source of Clyde Fitch's inspiration in writing the play was the Nan Patterson tragedy. Mr. Fitch claims that he mapped out the plot long before the Nan Patterson tragedy occurred, yet several features of the play are so identical as to lead many people to doubt it. The plot differs in that a man is accused by the woman in the case of having murdered the deceased, who is eventually proved to have committed suicide, but the portraiture of this particular woman is exactly one of the Nan Patterson type. Still this is not important. The main thing which interests the playgoing public is whether the play is an interesting entertainment. This query is emphatically enough answered by the fact that it has proved the most genuine dramatic success New York has had in many seasons, and that while it was put on at the Herald Square for only four weeks, it remained there for almost four months, and opened the season at the Madison Square theatre in August, duplicating, in spite of intense heat, its former New York success.

That delightful musical comedy success, "The Tenderfoot," will be the strong attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Thursday afternoon and night. Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White, who are pleasantly remembered for their fine work in "The Burgomaster," "The Explorers" and "The Storks," are the stars of "The Tenderfoot." Figman has brought to the role of Prof. Pettibone a humorous personality and the ability to make people laugh, and is said by the Chicago critics to be a revelation in the character. Miss White makes an admirable Marion. The company numbers nearly seventy people.

The newest play from the pen of Jane Mauldin Feigl, to be seen in this city next Saturday afternoon and night, is called "The Girl Patsy." This is reckoned Mrs. Feigl's most ambitious creation. It tells the story of certain characters of New York's Four Hundred in their summer retreats near the metropolis. The theme is treated in a novel manner, there is pathos as well as comedy, and an abundance of witty dialogue. This last named quality was a marked feature of Mrs. Feigl's delightful "Texas," which was one of last season's solid successes.

Dual Athletic Meet Probable.

It is thought that in the near future there will be a dual outdoor athletic meet between the boys of the Plainfield High and Leal's Schools. The private school boys refused to engage in an indoor meet owing to a lack of material, but the chances for an outdoor affair are more promising.

—John J. Praed, of West Fourth street, has sold his residence property to Arthur Hunting, and purchased the property at 944 West Sixth street now occupied by Emil Droll. He will remove about April 1.

Dr. Pittis is a militant surgeon. While the patient was carried through the first and often fatal period of shock by the administration of whiskey and champagne in large quantities, the doctor cast about busily for the needed cuticle. He consulted first with Louis I. VanAlstyne, then worshipful master of Anchor Lodge, to which both he and Frederick belong. Dr. Pittis told his fellow-Mason that there was no focus left for new skin to form on Frederick's burns and that their comrade's only chance for life lay in securing skin in large quantities from outside sources.

VanAlstyne at once called the matter to the attention of the lodge and there was exhibited a touching and altogether noble spirit of unselfish fraternity. As one man the members pledged themselves to submit to Dr. Pittis and when it became a question of selection the selected ones were actually nettled. No less generous a spirit was shown by the local sister Masonic lodge—Jerusalem—and the rivalry for sacrifice grew daily brisker. Seventy of the Masons bared their arms to have sections of cuticle removed and when the supply of men from this source was exhausted, employes of the United States Express Company all the way from New York to Wilkes-Barre on the New Jersey Central and from Bound Brook to Philadelphia on the Reading, asked to undergo the ordeal. Frederick, at the time of the accident, was chief clerk in the express company's office at New York and was held in high esteem by the men working for the same concern. They came many miles gladly to help him and when at last his body had received a new covering, exactly 172 men had contributed from twenty to thirty pieces of skin.

In all, Frederick was about a year at the hospital but has since fully recovered and resumed work, now being manager of the U. S. express business in this city. Outside of the scars the only effect he suffers is a limitation of the leg movements due to unavoidable antisection from scar tissues. To every one of the 172 men he feels grateful while he ascribes his marvelous escape from death to the indomitable will and skill of Dr. Pittis. The list of men included others than Masons who gave skin he has kept as follows:

The annual reports were presented, showing the society has had a good year's work, and there is much encouragement in the plans for the coming year. Following the transaction of business there was a social hour with refreshments.

will eventually die because of tuberculosis. This is more appalling when one realizes that consumption is a preventable disease and could be completely wiped off the face of the earth in a few decades, if the nature of the disease and the means of its prevention and care were properly understood. It was because of this fact that the committee felt warranted in starting this educational movement.

"The conditions in Plainfield are not worse than elsewhere; more people die of consumption in the United States than of any other disease. Other cities have started the work proposed in Plainfield and North Plainfield and we are in hopes that the public will realize the advantages that can be obtained from such meetings and that they will make it a point to attend them, taking such an interest that many lives may be saved."

Transferring Classes.

Several classes have been transferred from the Whittier School to the new High School, and hereafter the sessions will be held in the new building. Changes in the classes in the other schools are also in contemplation, which will mean a rearrangement of the schedule of hours.

No Evening Service at First Baptist.

At the First Baptist church tomorrow there will be no evening service. The pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, has been suffering during the week with an attack of lumbago, but he hopes to be able to preach at the morning service.

Another Lawyer in the Family.

Cleveland Runyon, of Newark, visited his brother, Counselor I. P. Runyon, this morning. Mr. Runyon, of Newark, received news that he had passed the bar examination yesterday. He has just passed his twenty-first birthday.

Who Has Steamer Chair to Loan?

The Plainfield Relief Association, 544 West Front street, makes an appeal for a steamer chair for a man suffering with tuberculosis and who is unable to lie down. The use of such a chair will be greatly appreciated.

Special Men's Club Service.

A special service will be held at Grace church tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Men's Club of the church. Rev. Louis Shreve Osborn, of Trinity church, Newark, will be the preacher.

NOT IN GOOD FAITH GOV. STOKES SAYS

WRITES TO MAYOR FAGAN ABOUT THE STATEMENT HE GOT AS TO TAX BILL.

Trenton, March 10.—Governor Stokes sent yesterday a letter to everybody who had complained, at Mayor Fagan's request, that the Hillery maximum tax rate law worked a hardship on individual taxpayers in that it is in the interest of railroads, forcing up individual assessments to conform to a tax rate of $1.70 in Hudson county. These complaints were written on postal cards to Mayor Fagan and then forwarded in bulk to Gov. Stokes. The letter follows:

"I have your favor requesting the repeal of the Hillery tax law. I also have a copy of the statement sent you urging you to send this request to me. If your opinion has been influenced by the statement in question it is only fair that you should be undeceived.

"It is hard to conceive that a statement so full of misrepresentations could be sent out in good faith.

"In this statement you are informed that the Hillery law is a railroad trick to lessen their taxes and increase yours. The truth is that the law was conceived in good faith to reduce the taxes of the taxpayer and the rentpayer as well, and to give the voters control over this important function of government.

"The law provides that the voters in any municipality shall have the right to determine the rate which shall be levied against them.

"Misstatement No. 2 consists in the assertion that the rate in your city is limited under the act to $1.70. The fact is, there is no limitation of rate in the law applicable to your city. Your board may impose upon you a tax rate of $1.70, plus the State school tax, plus a tax necessary to satisfy any judgments against the city.

"As the State school tax is 27½ cents on the hundred, your board may levy a rate against you property of $1.97½, plus an additional rate necessary to satisfy judgments. This rate can be increased by the votes of your own citizens.

"Indeed, the only difference between the old law and the Hillery law, so far as the tax rate is concerned, is a difference not in the rate but in the power to fix the rate. Formerly your board had absolute power to determine the tax rate for your city. Under the Hillery act they may fix it up to $1.97½, plus judgments, and for any rate above that must have your co-operation.

"In other words, the Hillery act gives every voter a voice in determining the amount of taxes you will pay. The citizens of Elizabeth, under this act, voted for a rate of $2.86; the citizens of Paterson for a rate of $2.50; the citizens of Passaic for a rate of $2.90, and the citizens of Ocean City for a rate of $2.25.

"To characterize as a railroad measure a law that gives the people a voice in the determination of their tax rates at the ballot box, just as they have a right to select their own public officials, is a charge that lacks sincerity and insults the intelligence of the people.

"Whatever your views may be upon this subject, it is fair that you should know the provisions of the law. The Hillery tax law is, of course, a legitimate subject for discussion and difference of opinion, and I shall be glad to give your request the fullest and fairest consideration.

"Before your request reached me Senator Hillery had already introduced in the Legislature a modification of the act, known as Senate Bill No. 108.

"I take the liberty of sending you a copy of my message, and refer you to page 27, on tax payers and tax spenders.

"With best wishes, I am,
"Very sincerely yours,
"(Signed) E. C. STOKES."

PRIESTS PLAN TO TAKE A HAND IN POLITICS.

Will Stand by Legislators Who Make Efforts to Pass Liquor Moderation Measures.

Jersey City, March 10.—The Catholic clergy of New Jersey have decided to continue in the political arena to neutralize pernicious influences and secure the election of legislators to their liking. This decision has been brought about by the success of the clergy in the liquor fight. The initial organization has been formed in this city and Hoboken. The Catholic priests of the two cities have formed the Rectors' Union. Its future political course has been set forth in the following preamble and resolution, adopted at a meeting held in Hoboken and made public yesterday:

"Whereas, In their agitation for the elimination of immorality and lawlessness from the liquor traffic they were not inuuenced by politics; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That assurances be given to the State Legislature that if its members can consistently pass Senate bills Nos. 136 and 137, in case any man or body of men in the future attempts to injure them politically, we will exercise in every legitimate way all the influence we possess with our people to defend them."

Similar action, it is said, will be taken in every other section of the State. It will not be purely a Roman Catholic church movement. Protestant clergymen will be banded together in a similar organization wit ha State federation of the unions. A prominent local priest, in defending the course chosen, said:

"There are times when the cause of common decency and morality men of my calling feel it to be their conscientious duty to become active in the futherance of legislation such as we have agitated in the present excise law controversy. I am well aware that our attitude may be construed as 'butting into politics,' to quote a vulgar phrase, but in this instance we do not care one jot for adverse criticism, from whatever source it comes. We are convinced in the present case that we are justified in our course."

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The Rogers Brothers close their run in "The Rogers Brothers in Ireland" at the New York Theatre this evening and will be followed on Monday, the 12th inst., by Klaw & Erlanger's revival of the Drury Lane spectacle of last year, "Humpty Dumpty," which will be presented by the same cast and with the same magnificent detail as when staged at the New Amsterdam Theatre. No increase in prices will be made during this engagement, which means that the theatre patrons of the New York for several weeks to come will see the largest attraction ever presented at popular prices. William C. Schrode, who made such a hit as the clown at the New Amsterdam, Frank Moulan, John McVeigh, Geo. Schiller, Maude Lillian Berri, Nellie Daly, Diamond Donner, John G. Schrode, Joseph C. Smith, Madeline Saville, Augusta Greenleaf, William Fables, David Abrams, Clinton Caly and Eugene Everett are all favorably remembered for their clever work. The Grigolatis troupe of aerialists will appear in an entirely new feature presenting a flock of marvelously trained pigeons which follow them in their wonderful gyrations through the air. More than 400 people will be seen in the ballets. Prices will range from 25 cents to $1.00 and seats may be ordered two weeks ahead by mail or telegraph.

W. A. Braby's production of Donald MacLaren's new play, "The Redskin," has created a sensation at the Liberty Theatre. It is a dramatic novelty and the first ever presented with all Indian characters. The locale is the region of the great lakes; year 1750. It is staged in four acts, the scenes showing the council wigwam, the Lily Pool of Namabin, Niatawa's wigwam, The Great Cave of Many Spirits, Lonawonda's barricade and Autumn, Winter and Spring. The last three scenes are wonderfully beautiful. The acting of the characters in this play is superb. Tyrone Tower plays the blind Chief and Edwin Arden acts Niatawa. Katharine Grey plays Adulola. The staging is superbly beautiful. To add realism to council scenes, ten real Brule Sioux from the Rosebud Agency in South Dakota have been brought to New York. Anyone who delights in the best in dramatic art will be well repaid for a visit to "The Redskin" at the Liberty.

Those who saw "The Girl of the Golden West" the other night wondered why Miss Blanche Bates wore a neat, white cloth on her left hand. The bandage seemed not to have any connection with the action of the drama, and Miss Bates, as "The Girl," did not vouchsafe any explanation. Neither did any character in the play. The truth is that it was a real injury, which necessitated Miss Bates calling in the services of a surgeon. "Jack Rance," the Sheriff, was responsible for it, although it must be said, in justice to that picturesque Californian, it was accidental. In the second act of "The Girl of the Golden West," Rance, represented by Frank Keenan, tries to kiss "The Girl," and, when she repulses him, he becomes only the more insistent. It is a powerful dramatic episode, and is always followed by the audience breathlessly. A few nights ago, Miss Bates, in sweeping her hands across the bureau with a characteristic freedom that is well understood by her admirers, came in contact with a tack, which a careless stage hand had left sticking up in the polished wood. A long, jagged wound was made. It was red and angry, and Miss Bates hastily staunched the flow of blood with her handkerchief. Mr. Keenan saw that she was hurt, although she was too plucky to admit it, but could not assist her in the midst of the scene. He asked her, sympathetically, whether it was serious, and she replied, sotto voce, while defying him aloud, for the benefit of the audience, that it was nothing. All the same, Miss Bates has been in the care of Dr. W. Seamon Baimbridge ever since. He has considered it necessary to go behind the scenes nightly to dress the wound, as he was afraid of blood poisoning. Miss Bates hopes to take the bandage off altogether in the course of a few days.

William B. Reed, of Whitehouse, who underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. D. De Lenardo, of Liberty street, are the parents of a daughter who came to their home a few days ago. Mrs. De Lenardo was formerly Miss Paoli, of North avenue.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.
Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.
Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

"The Man on the Box"

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Author of "The Grey Cloak," "The Puppet Crown."

Copyright, 1894, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"I demand to know how you intend to accomplish this end," the colonel said. "My daughter shall not be dragged into this trap."

"To-morrow night I shall explain everything; to-night, nothing."—imperturbably.

"Karloff, to-night I stand a ruined and dishonored man. My head, once held so proudly before my fellow-men, is bowed with shame. The country I have fought and bled for I have in part betrayed. But not for my gain, not for my gain. No, no! Thank God that I can say that! Personal greed has not tainted me. Alone, I should have gone serenely into some poorhouse and e ed out an existence on my half-pay. But this child of mine, whom I love doubly, for her mother's sake and her own,—I would gladly cut off both arms to spare her a single pain, to keep her in the luxury which she still believes rightfully to be hers. When the fever of gaming possessed me, I should have told her. I did not; therein lies my mistake, the mistake which has brought me to this horrible end. Virginius sacrificed his child to save her; I will sacrifice my honor to save mine from poverty. Force her to wed a man she does not love? No. To-morrow night we shall complete this disgraceful bargain. The plans are all finished but one. Now leave me; I wish to be alone."

"Sir, it is my deep regret—"

"Go; there is nothing more to be said."

Karloff withdrew. He went soberly There was nothing sneering nor contemptuous in his att'tude. Indeed, there was frown of pity on his face. He recognized that circumstances had dragged down a noble man; that chance had tricked him of his honor. How he hated his own evil plan! He squared his shoulders, determined once more to put it to the touch to win or lose it all.

He found her at the bow-window, staring up at the moon. As I remarked this room was dark, and she did not instantly recognize him.

"I am moon-gazing," she said.

"Let me sigh for it with you. Perhaps together we may bring it down." There was something very pleasing in the quality of his tone.

"Ah, it is you, Count? I could not see. But let us not sigh for the moon; it would be useless. Does any one get his own wish-moon? Does it not always hang so high, so far away?"

"The music has affected you?"

"As it always does. When I hear a voice like madam's, I grow sad, and a pity for the great world surges over me."

"Pity is the invisible embrace which enfolds all animate things. There is pity for the wretched, for the fool, for the innocent knave, for those who are criminals by their own folly; pity for those who love without reward; pity that embraces . . . even me."

Silence.

"Has it ever occurred to you that there are two beings in each of us; that between these two there is a continual conflict, and that the victor finally prints the victory on the face? For what lines and haggards a man's face but the victory of the evil that is in him? For what makes aged ruddy and smooth of face and clear of eye but the victory of the good that is in him? It is so. I still love you; I still have the courage to ask you to be my wife. Shall there be faces haggard or ruddy, lined or smooth?"

She stepped inside. She did not comprehend all he said, and his face was in the shadow—that is to say, unreadable.

"I am sorry, very, very sorry."

"How easily you say that!"

"No, not easily; if only you knew how hard it comes, for I know that it inflicts a hurt,"—gently. "Ah, Count, why indeed do I not love you?"—impulsively, for at that time she held him in genuine regard. "You represent all that a woman could desire in a man."

"You could learn,"—with an eager step toward her.

"You do not believe that; you know that you do not. Love has nothing to learn; the heart speaks, and that is all. My heart does not speak when I see you, and I shall never marry a man to whom it does not. You ask for something which I can not give, and each time you ask only adds to the pain."

"This is finality?"

"It is."

"Eh, well; then I must continue on to the end."

She interpreted this a a plaint of his coming loneliness.

"Here!" she said. She held in her hands two red roses. She thrust one toward him. "That is all I may give you."

For a moment he hesitated. There were thorns, invisible and stinging.

"Take it!"

He accepted it, kissed it gravely, and hid it.

"This is the bitterest moment in my life, and doubly because I love you."

When the portiere fell behind him, she locked her hands, grieving that all she could give him was an ephemeral flower. How many men had turned from her in this wise, even as she began to depend upon them for their friendships! The dark room oppressed her and she stepped out once more into the silver of moonshine. Have you ever beheld a lovely woman fondle a lovely rose? She drew it, pendent on its slender stem, slowly across her lips, her eyes shining mistily with waking dreams. She breathed in the perfume, then cupped the flower in the palm of her hand and pressed it again and again to her lips. A long white arm stretched forward and upward toward the moon, and when it withdrew the hand was empty.

Warburton, hidden behind the vines, waited until she was gone, and then hunted in the grass for the precious flower. On his hands and knees he groped. The dew did not matter. And when at last he found it, not all the treasures of the fabled Ophir would have tempted him to part with it. it would be a souvenir for his later days.

As he rose from his knees he was confronted by a broad-shouldered, elderly man in evening clothes. The end of a cigar burned brightly between his teeth.

"I'll take that flower, young man, if you please."

Warburton's surprise was too great for sudden recovery.

"It is mine, Colonel," he stammered.

The colonel filliped away his cigar and caught my butler roughly by the arm.

"Warburton, what the devil does this mean—a lieutenant of mine peddling soup around a gentleman's table?"

CHAPTER XIX.

"OH, MISTER BUTLER."

Warburton had never lacked that rare and peculiar gift of immediately adapting himself to circumstances. To lie now would be folly, worse than useless. He had addressed this man at his side by his military title. He stood committed. He saw that he must throw himself wholly on the colonel's mercy and his sense of the humorous. He pointed toward the stables and drew the colonel after him; but the colonel held back.

"That rose first: I insist upon having that rose till you have given me a satisfactory account of yourself."

Warburton reluctantly surrendered his treasure. Force of habit is a peculiar one. The colonel had no real authority to demand the rose; but Warburton would no more have thought of disobeying than of running away.

"You will give it back to me?"

"That remains to be seen. Go on; I am ready to follow you. And I do not want any dragging story, either." The colonel spoke impatiently.

Warburton led him into his room and turned on the light. The colonel seated himself on the edge of the cot and lighted a fresh cigar.

"Well, sir, out with it. I am waiting."

Warburton took several turns about the room. "I don't know how the deuce to begin, Colonel. It began with a joke that turned out wrong."

"Indeed?"—sarcastically. "Let me hear about this joke."

M'sieu Zhames dallied no longer, but plunged boldly into his narrative. Sometimes the colonel stared at him as if he beheld a species of lunatic absolutely new to him; sometimes he laughed silently, sometimes he frowned.

"That's all," said Zhames; and he stood watching the colonel with dread in his eyes.

"Well, of all the damn fools!"

"Sir?"

"Of all the jackasses!"

Warburton bit his lip angrily.

The colonel swung the rose to and fro. "Yes, sir, a damn fool!"

"I dare say that I am, sir. But I have gone too far to back out now. Will you give me back that rose, Colonel?"

"What do you mean by her?"—coldly.

"I love her with all my heart,"—hotly. "I want her for my comrade, my wife, my companion, my partner in all I have to do. I love her. and I don't care a hang who knows it."

"Not so loud, my friend; not so loud."

"Oh, I don't care who hears,"—discouragedly.

"That beats the very devil! You've got me all balled up. Is Betty Annesley a girl of the kind we read about in the papers as eloping with her groom. What earthly chance had you in this guise, I should like to know?"

"I only wanted to be near her; I did not look ahead."

"Well, I should say not! How long were you behind that trellis?"

"A year, so it seemed to me."

"Any lunatics among your ancestors?"

Warburton shook his head, smiling wanly.

"I can't make it out," declared the colonel. "A graduate of West Point, the fop of Troop A, the hero of a hundred ball-rooms, disguised as a hostler and serving soup!"

"Always keep the motive in mind, Colonel; you were young yourself once."

The colonel thought of the girl's mother. Yes he had been young once, but not quite so young as this cub of his.

"What chance do you suppose you have against the handsome Russian?"

"She has rejected him,"—thoughtlessly.

"Ha!"—frowning. "So you were eavesdropping?"

"Wait a moment, Colonel. You know that I am very fond of music. I was listening to the music. It had ceased and I was waiting for it to begin again, when I heard voices."

"Why did you not leave then?"

"And be observed? I dared not!"

The colonel chewed the end of his cigar in silence.

"And now may I have that rose, sir?"—quietly.

The colonel observed him warily. He knew that quiet tone. It said that if he refused to give up the rose he would have to fight for it, and probably get licked into the bargain.

"I've a notion you might attempt to take it by force in case I refused."

"I surrendered it peacefully enough, sir."

"So you did. Here." The colonel tossed the flower across the room and Warburton caught it.

"I should like to know, sir, if you are going to expose me. It's no more than I deserve."

The colonel studied the lithographs on the walls. "Your selection?"—with a wave of the hand.

"No, sir. I should like to know what you are going to do. It would relieve my mind. As a matter of fact, I confess that I am growing weary of the mask." Warburton waited.

"You make a very respectable butler, though,"—musingly.

"Shall you expose me, sir?"—persistently.

"No lad. I should not want it to get about that a former officer of mine could possibly make such an ass of himself. You have slept all night in jail, you have groomed horses, you have worn a livery which no gentleman with any self-respect would wear, and all to no purpose whatever. Why, in the name of the infernal regions, didn't you meet her in a formal way? There would have been plenty of opportunities."

"SHALL YOU EXPOSE ME?"

Warburton shrugged; so did the colonel, who stood up and shook the wrinkles from his trousers.

"Shall you be long in Washington, sir?" asked Warburton, politely.

"In a hurry to get rid of me, eh?"—with a grim smile. "Well, perhaps in a few days."

"Good night."

The colonel stopped at the threshold, and his face melted suddenly into a warm, humorous smile. He stretched out a hand which Warburton grasped most gratefully. His colonel had been playing with him.

"Come back to the army, lad; the east is no place for a man of your kidney. Scrape up a commission and I'll see to it that you get back into the regiment. Life is real out in the great west. People smile too much here; they don't laugh often enough. Smiles have a hundred meanings, laughter but one. Smiles are the hidden places for lies, and sneers, and mockeries, and scandals. Come back to the west; we all want you, the service and I. When I saw you this afternoon I knew you instantly, only I was worried as to what devilment you were up to. Win this girl, if you can; she's worth any kind of a struggle, God bless her! Win her and bring her out west, too."

Warburton wrung the hand in his till the old fellow signified that his fingers were beginning to ache.

LOCAL FIRM WINS AN IMPORTANT CONTRACT CASE.

Suit Heard Before Justice Squires and Jury at Springfield.

VanZandt & Voorhees, of Park avenue, were defendant in an important suit brought before Justice E. R. Squires and a jury at Springfield yesterday by the United Law and Adjustment Agency, which seeks to settle by adjustment any claims or trouble a patron may have in business affairs. The action was on a written contract. The Plainfield firm, represented by Isaac P. Runyon, secured a verdict, the jury being out but ten minutes.

In 1900 the defendants signed a contract to pay $25 for two years' services. If the firm did not comply with the certain conditions in a written contract, which conditions were numerous and in fine print and couched in technical language, it would forfeit so much money. It was proved at the trial that the conditions were so many and worded so peculiarly that it would take a bookkeeper and a lawyer to comply with them.

It was shown that VanZandt & Voorhees did comply with the contract, and the jury promptly gave the firm a verdict. There were three or four other suits returnable against Westfield merchants, W. D. Wolfskeil, of Elizabeth, representing them, but as the VanZandt & Voorhees case was before a jury it was tried first. The verdict is considered important in that it establishes a precedent for other merchants who have contracted for this or similar services.

RELIEF CORPS' AUCTION.

Women's Lunch Boxes Bring $20 When Sold by Capt. Smith.

Under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., a successful lunchbox social was held in G. A. R. Hall last night. There were not nearly enough boxes to go around and they were quickly disposed of by Auctioneer Captain W. C. Smith. In this way nearly $20 was realized.

During the evening there were vocal and piano selections by the Misses Edgar, several selections by a stringed orchestra, of which Dr. Berg was the leader; soprano solos by Mrs. Sadie Baglin and iano solos by Miss May Smith.

The social festivities began after a short meeting of the corps, when one new member was elected. Past Commander I. L. McVoy took charge of the programme of the evening and in addition to the music there were short speeches by the comrades and women. Mrs. William Edgar was chairman of the general committee, assisted by other members of the corps.

J. HENRY CRANE'S SUCCESS.

Young Lawyer Recently Admitted to Bar Now a Counsellor.

J. Henry Crane, son of Rev. Arthur Crane, has received notice from Supreme Court Clerk Riker, at Trenton, that he has successfully passed his examination as counselor at law and master in chancery, which gives him many additional privileges in the practice of law.

Mr. Crane held a responsible position with the Equitable Life Assurance Company for nine years, during which time he was for one year in the office of Former President Hazen Hyde, where he was engaged in the law and inspection department. When the troubles of the Equitable began, Mr. Crane resigned his position, but in the meantime he had studied law and was admitted to the New Jersey Bar in 1902. After giving up his position in New York he opened an office in Park avenue for the practice of law, and today he enjoys a generous share of patronage.

DIOGENES'S JOB WOULD BE MUCH HARDER TODAY

He'd Find Honest Men Scarce Today, Says Rev. Mr. Osborn.

CHEAT GOVERNMENT

Tells Men's Club Members Modern Life Furnishes Surprising Evidences of Lack of Honesty In Business.

"Put on the whole armor of God" was the slogan of Rev. Louis Shreve Osborne, of Trinity church, Newark, to his hearers in Grace Episcopal church last night. The service was held under the auspices of the Men's Club of that congregation, which fact, together with the prominence of the clergyman, attracted a goodly number of men to the service, as well as a large number of women.

Faith was the keynote of Rev. Mr. Osborne's theme. To be a true follower of Christ and child of God, a Christian should be clothed with this virtue. When Christians lose their faith, he said, the devil starts to creep in a man's character. It is then a man weakens. He loses his armor of righteousness in one way by lying or trying to cheat his fellow man.

This is evident, said the preacher, by the many scandalmongers in the world of society; business men unconsciously lie to make money, and many so-called upright citizens today lie consciously in an effort to cheat their town or city government by trying to swear off their taxes. City fathers, who haven't the armor of righteousness, he said, do not hesitate to become interested in graft. Graft in business life, he declared, had become so great that men receive salaries of $100,000 who are not worth one-fifth of that amount.

The lack of righteousness among business men of today, he declared, was surprising. With emphasis, he declared, "Should Diogenes walk through the streets of our principal cities today he would find it a harder task to find honest men than he did in the corrupt city of Athens three thousand years ago."

Faith in Christ is the safeguard of a Christian. This virtue, he said, predominates in the characters of America's greatest men of today, including the successful business men, the sound financiers, the honest legislators and the reformers that are now waging a warfare throughout many sections of the country for civic righteousness. With faith, the Christian can defy all the world, and every victory gained by faith will hasten the final triumph.

Corrupt politics, ballot box stuffing, vote buying, crooked business dealings, trickery of all kinds, and society snobbery are the inevitable fruits of a weakness in faith. These vices, he said, go hand in hand, and until a Christian starts to love God with his brains as well as with his heart no relief will come; but if Christians will inject faith in their religion, a marked change will be visible in current proceedings of life.

Without faith the Roman legions could never conquer. So it is today,

BILL SMITH GETS OUT OF HIS LATEST SCRAPE

SETTLEMENT WITH CALDWELL BARBER ENDS HIS EXILE.

His involuntary exile ended, Mayor "Bill" Smith has abandoned his New Market refuge and returned to his home in Caldwell. The barber he nearly killed two weeks ago in a row, has forgiven him on a cash basis, and withdrawn proceedings. Besides, the barber is getting better, and the coroner has lost interest in the case.

Announcement of the settlement of the trouble was made this morning by R. P. F. Von Minden, Smith's counsel. The sum necessary to salve the barber's wounded feelings and his more material injuries was not made public, but it is reported in New Market, where most of Bill's other family secrets have leaked out at various times, that the tonsorialist got $500.

Mrs. Smith, whom it was rumored, had decided to let Bill go his own way, wherever it might lead, gave the lie to the story by sticking faithfully to him through the trouble. She conducted the negotiations, with the assistance of Lawyer Von Minden, and visited Bill in his exile at New Market, to cheer him up with encouraging news from the firing line.

SAYS REAL JEWS ARE BLACK PEOPLE

SO DECLARES ELDER TRENT IN CALL FOR PASSOVER CELEBRATION.

The congregation of the Church of God and the Saints of Christ will hold its annual passover at Reform Hall for seven days, April 14-21, and in the words of Elder Alexander Trent, pastor, and Saint H. L. Chase, secretary, "This is the first passover ever held in Plainfield by the real Jews, who are the black people; and we, the Church of God, do expect to make this a great event."

It is announced that there will be representatives of this church from the Eastern and Western districts of the United States to the number of 1,000 and elaborate preparations are being made to entertain the delegates.

This religious denomination believe that its followers are the only real Jews and strict adherents to the principles of the faith. This claim is based on the words of Scripture found in the twelfth and thirteenth chapters of Exodus and the sixteenth chapter of Deuteronomy.

Author of "Texas" Wrote It.

Jane Mauldin Feigl, the author of "The Girl Patsy," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday night, wrote "Texas," the play in which Sidney Ayers starred for two seasons and which had a long run at the Fourteenth Street theatre, New York. She is one of New York's best known literary women and is credited with having a sense of humor seldom possessed by one of her sex. "The Girl Patsy" gives evidence of this fact in every act and it is one of the most delightful plays that has come from her pen.

SUPPORT THE "BISHOPS' BILL," NOW!

The "Bishops' Bill," as the high license measure now in the Legislature is known, is supported by the best men of New Jersey. It was framed by the two Catholic and the two Episcopal bishops, and meets with the hearty approval of hundreds of clergymen, irrespective of denomination. Should it become a law, the iniquitous "side room," which has been the cause of the downfall of hundreds of young women, will be abolished. Furthermore, the screens which hide the barroom from public gaze will be a thing of the past, and no persons under age will be allowed to loiter in a saloon. High license fees is one of the provisions of the bill. Naturally the saloon proprietors and the brewers are actively opposing the measure. If you want to help in the good work of doing away with many of the evils of the saloon, and at the same time defeat the brewers' efforts, cut this out and mail it to your representative at Trenton:

.....

Senator from ..... County,

Senate Chamber, Trenton, N. J.

Dear Sir:

As one of your constituents, I urgently request that you do everything in your power to secure the enactment of the "Bishops' Bill" now pending in the Legislature.

Respectfully yours,

"TREATING" A GREAT EVIL

Clergyman Scores Practise; Says Make Saloon as Public as Grocery Store.

FOR BISHOPS' BILL

"No Side Room" and "No Screens" Good Features of Measure to Be Offered in the Legislature.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson, rector of Grace P. E. church, spoke strongly in favor of the Bishops' bill for the control of the liquor traffic, at the morning service yesterday. The arguments advanced by those in support of the measure, he said, were, for the most part, what had already been his convictions on the subject. The sermon was preached in accordance with Bishop Scarborough's general request.

The temperance question was to be divided into three heads, he said. There was, first, the question of drinking at all. It was one that every man should decide for himself; it was a matter for his conscience to govern. It was for the individual to decide what things were lowering him morally and for him to eschew everything that tended to lower his Christian dignity.

Secondly, there was the relationship of the individual to his fellow man. That brought in the question, "Will my drinking hurt my brother?" The treating habit was the great evil that centered about this phase of the subject. Mr. Stevenson scored the treater severely. The treating system, he said, should have no place in society. In general, the individual should not drink if his drinking served to unman or weaken his fellows.

The third head was the question of the State's relation to the liquor traffic. There was no doubt that the traffic was a dangerous one, and it followed that the State was entirely justified in stepping in and controlling it. The question of degree or method was to be decided after careful thought. Mr. Stevenson was especially pleased with the "no-screen, no side-room" clause in the amendment.

"The removal of the screens is the fundamental step in the reform of the saloon business," he said. "Make the saloon as public as the grocery or the chemist's shop. If it is right to drink, drink in public. Secrecy is always a ground for suspicion. In moral ills, as in physical ones, disease vanished when the air and the sunlight was admitted freely."

Mr. Stevenson urged his parishioners to think the temperance question over earnestly, as a civic duty, decide on a stand, and make that stand known. It was a question that was not to be swept away as of no immediate interest by the man with the nice home, and the quiet life.

BAKER'S SAFE CLEANED OF BANKNOTES BY THIEF

JOHN WIRTH REPORTS $300 ROBBERY TO THE POLICE.

John Wirth, a West Front street baker, reported to police headquarters at five o'clock this morning that his safe was robbed of $300 in bills yesterday. Mr. Wirth told the police he suspected Thomas Raritan, an eighteen-year-old youth, who has been driving one of his wagons.

Wirth discovered the robbery at 11 o'clock last night. He found his safe door and the cash drawer within the strong box wide open. The $300 in bills that had been in the drawer when he last looked in the safe was missing. Checks and silver in the same drawer had not been disturbed.

Raritan, Mr. Wirth told the police, left the shop early in the day, and did not return. He was still missing this morning. The youth entered Mr. Wirth's employ six months ago.

ELIXIR FOR DEMOCRACY

Convention Called to Start Party on a New Life.

CALL BY BIG CHIEFS

James E. Martine Signs Call, Which Is Headed by Allen Benny and John Moody.

Democratic leaders in Central and Central Northern New Jersey have issued a formal call for a convention to be held in Newark March 21, to infuse new life and progressive ideas in their party in this State. The movement, at the head of which is Allen Benny and John Moody, is designed to bring about the complete reorganization of the Jeffersonian forces. James E. Martine is among the active workers in the movement, and his name is among the signatures to the call.

The call is addressed to "the citizens of New Jersey" and its signers are representative Democrats in all parts of the State, both of the "old school" and the "new school."

In the circular are set forth principles of a "progressive democracy." They coincide in a measure with the tactics of the Colby movement in the Republican camp and go further than the original manifesto of the Newark Democratic League. Simon Northrop, president of the latter organibation, and many of its leading members are among the signers of the State call.

In the list are also the names of Charles C. Black and Senator James F. Minturn, of Hudson county. Former Judge George H. Lambert, of Newark, is said to be the foremost spirit in Essex county in the movement. Julian A. Gregory, of West Orange, and Thomas A. Davis, of Orange, are also on the list. Others are Edmond A. Whittier and Mayor Edward Kenny, of East Newark.

Among the principles advanced as a basis for the movement are government and municipal ownership of public utilities, equal taxation, laws to prevent election frauds such as the improper use of money, election of United States Senators by popular vote, the Assembly district plan, a better primary law, direct legislation through the initiative and referendum and revision of the tariff laws.

It is declared that political conditions were never before so unsettled in the United States as now and that men are renouncing their party affiliations because as now constituted the parties no longer represent the principles in which they believe. It is also set forth that a study of politics discloses the fact that the machinery of the two old parties has fallen completely under the control of corporate and other privileged interests, and the spirit of independence has reached the highest point in the history of American politics.

It is expected that more than a thousand prominent Democrats will attend the convention which is proposed.

The convention will be held at the New Auditorium, Orange street, organizing at about noon.

SMALL DOG WENT TO JAIL WITH A DRUNK.

Andre Champagne's Little Friend Was Faithful in Trouble.

Andre Champagne, a Frenchman employed by Albert Rajotte, a Dunellen brickmaker, lived up to his name yesterday. Patrolman Higgins found him in a very soused condition on Grant avenue.

Champagne had Rajotte's dog with him, and the animal stuck to him through his incarceration. It chased faithfully after the patrol wagon when Champagne was carted to jail, and insisted on going into the cell with him. When he was brought before City Judge Runyon this morning the dog lined up before the bar at his side, ready, evidently, to share whatever the magistrate handed out to his comrade.

"Sentence suspended," said the judge, and the small dog, hungry, but still faithful, wagged his tail joyfully at Champagne's heels as he went out to freedom.

EVANGELISTS BEGIN WORK

O. P. Spiegel and J. E. Sturgis Conduct the Christian Church Revival.

MEETINGS NIGHTLY

Mr. Spiegel Delegated by the General Church—Subject Tonight "Is There a God?"

After a week of preparation the revival at the Christian church began last night in earnest. A large audience heard Evangelist O. P. Spiegel on "The Beggar at the Door" and was greatly pleased by the special music rendered by the singing evangelist, J. E. Sturgis. Saturday and Sunday small cards were distributed among the congregation, containing an announcement of the subjects for Sunday and Monday nights.

Evangelist Spiegel, who is general evangelist of the South for the Christian church, is a speaker of remarkable power and adaptability. His specialty in the past fifteen years has been the entering of hard fields and building up of small congregations, and his labors have been crowned with remarkable success.

The subject last evening was treated in a logical and persuasive manner, picturing Christ as a beggar at the door of the human heart, from which he is barred by intemperance, worldly amusements, and gambling, which last was made to include playing for prizes and all games having an element of chance. The audience gave undivided attention throughout the somewhat lengthy discourse, being greatly pleased with the speaker's style and persuasion.

As a soloist Mr. Sturgis is a young man of exceptionable ability, and although comparatively new in the work his success has been unusual. In the recent simultaneous campaign in Pittsburg and vicinity, where two thousand persons were brought to Christ, he was conceded to be without a superior as a soloist.

The subject this evening will be "Is There a God?" Mr. Sturgis will give another of his solos. The spiritual awakening in the church bids fair to carry on the successes of the congregation in the recent financial difficulties to triumphs in broader fields of usefulness.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERT STRIKING IN EXCELLENCE

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

A Sunday-school concert took the place of the evening service at the Congregational church last night. The programme was one that can scarcely be overpraised. The music was of striking excellence, and there was but one, very brief and very pointed, talk. The attendance of adults was large.

In addition to the quartet choir, composed of B. F. Tallamy, James Sanford, Mrs. Thomas McDonald and Miss Jessie Haynes, an instrumental quartet took part. The latter was made up of J. Herbert Smith, first violin; Miss Edna F. Smith, second violin; Miss Rhea G. Smith, flute; and Miss Morgan, piano. Miss Haynes sang the solo part of Gounod's "Praise Ye the Father," and Mrs. McDonald sang the offertory, accompanied by Mr. Smith. Edson C. Martin led the Sunday-school in singing. Mrs. B. T. Barnes, the organist, directed the choristers.

G. E. Hall, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, who has had wide experience in Sunday-school work and is recognized as one of the leaders in that field in the State, gave a talk on Sabbath-school advancement that was strong and suggestive out of all proportion to its length. He spoke for scarcely five minutes, but his talk was full of matter for everyone of his hearers who had any interest in the Sunday-school. He dwelt, for the most part, on the danger of allowing the school to become rutted. He compared the school in a rut to a trolley car off the track.

"Get out of the rut and back on the track, where you can use the power from above, or all your passengers will leave the car. Use jack-screws, if necessary, but get back on the speedway; back to the road of advancement."

The concert was arranged by the Sunday-school music committee, composed of Miss Alice Morgan, chairman; Stacy Raynolds and Miss Myra Emmons. The concerts have been made a permanent feature of the school.

Mrs. F. E. Williams, of Albert street, has gone to California for a few weeks.

BASEBALL CLUB ENTHUSIASTICALLY LAUNCHED

Mayor Smalley Heads Fans Who Effect Temporary Organization and Arrange for Stock.

MR. McCARDELL HELPS

Committee Appointed to Secure Financial Assistance — Manager Daab on Hand—Judge Runyon Wanted.

The Plainfield Baseball Association was launched Saturday night at the Hotel Iroquois by a large number of enthusiastic supporters of the game, and there is every indication that Manager Daab and his fast aggregation of players will again represent the city on the diamond this season. Within a short time a little less than $300 was subscribed for shares of stock, Mayor Newton B. Smalley, chairman of the meeting, starting the list with a subscription of $100. Every one present took one or more shares at $5 each, and it was the general opinion that success would attend the efforts to secure 400 subscribers.

Officers were elected and a committee of twenty appointed to solicit subscribers for shares of stock. This committee, as well as the officers, will go to work at once, it being necessary to ascertain by Thursday whether a sufficient number of shares will be taken to insure the return of Mr. Daab and his team.

These officers were elected temporarily: President, Newton B. Smalley; vice president, Andrew McCardell; treasurer, Charles W. Runyon; secretary, Robert Gow. Mayor Smalley took the presidency temporarily with the idea that City Judge William N. Runyon be chosen as permanent officer. Judge Runyon was unable to be present but it was believed by all that he would accept the position.

Manager Daab addressed the meeting, reviewing last year's experience here in baseball. He explained how he was induced to bring his team here by Lines Groo and enumerated the various items of expense. He also told how the franchise was purchased from the Alis Club. He then showed how certain expenses could be cut out if an association was formed and properly conducted. Last year Mr. Daab was under a weekly expense for ticket sellers, ticket takers, police, and for the care of the grounds, and he thought an association would be able to cut out at least $1,000 expense by taking direct charge of affairs here.

His plan appealed to those present as being reasonable and fair, and it was finally voted to accept this proposition, which was made by Mayor Smalley. The association is to have half interest in the game and Mr. Daab is to retain a half interest, manage the team and arrange the schedule of games, while the association will look after the local end of affairs such as caring for the grounds, police, the sale and taking of tickets, etc. The association proposes to raise money by subscriptions to shares of stock, it being desired to sell at least 400 shares. This will establish a fund and make it possible for the association to conduct the game along right lines. Any profits or losses will be shared alike by the association and Mr. Daab. There was a free and full discussion of plans and everybody was enthusiastic about having a good article of ball in Plainfield this year.

Mayor Smalley complimented Mr. Daab for last season's success in giving the town the best baseball in its history and said that the fans realize that with him at the head there would be a continuance of it.

Mr. Daab expressed himself as being in hearty accord with the plans proposed and said he was well pleased with the outlook. It is necessary for him to know by Thursday the decision of the association so that he can arrange his schedule of games and sign his players for the season. With this end in view the committee of twenty will hustle between now and Thursday to secure the neecssary number of subscribers to give Mr. Daab the assurance he desires. This committee will meet tonight at the offices to decide on its plan of action.

PRAISE FOR LOCAL SALOON GOVERNMENT

RECTOR OF HOLY CROSS CHURCH ON BISHOPS' BILL.

Before his morning sermon yesterday, Rev. George A. Warner spoke in favor of the "Bishops' bill" from the chancel. The measure, he said, did away with the most objectionable features of the liquor traffic. Mr. Warner read Bishop Scarborough's letter, in which the salient arguments for the bill are noted.

In the course of this talk Mr. Warner paid a tribute to Plainfield's government of the saloon business. With high license on both sides of the brook and a restricted district in the city, the community was one of the best governed, so far as the saloon business went, of any in the State.

Mr. Warner urged his men to work for the passage of the bill, and to write Senator Frelinghuysen, asking for his support. It was not enough for Plainfielders, he said, that their own town was well governed. They had a duty to the State, and as good citizens they were required to help make conditions better in places less favored than Plainfield. That was their duty as good Christians, because a man could not be a good Christian unless he was a good citizen.

NEARLY GOT AWAY WITH BUNDLE OF SILVERWARE

NERVY DAYLIGHT CROOK FRIGHTENED AWAY FROM G. W. REIGHTON'S HOUSE.

A thief with nerve enough to carry two Jimmy Hopes through seven or eight Manhattan Bank jobs wasted some time in G. W. Reighton's house, 145 West Second street, Saturday morning. With two of the three families living in the house at home, the bold crook gathered $150 worth of silverware and jewelry together in an upper room and came within an ace of getting away with the goods. He was frightened off just as he was on the point of carrying the stuff away. As it was, he made his escape without allowing anybody to see him or leaving any clues.

The crook entered the house, apparently by the street door, which is rarely locked fast, between 9 and 9:30 o'clock. Somewhere about the latter hour Miss Bessie Reighton went upstairs to do some housework. In her father's bedroom she found the drawers and closet open, with the things scattered about. She hurried to the next room, where more evidences of a thieving visit were in view. Going into the hall to give an alarm, she stumbled over a bundle of silver and jewelry, belonging to Mrs. Burkins, who lives on the second floor. The swag was wrapped in a sheet, and the thief had evidently drpoped them at her approach. She heard a noise as of somebody walking on the floor above when she entered her father's room, which is supposed to have been the sounds of the crook's retreat. How he got out of the house and away was not plain.

The swag in the bundle was worth at least $150. The case was reported to the police.

FIELD IS NOW RIPE FOR GLORIOUS HARVEST.

Rev. Dr. C. L. Rhoades Brings Good Tiding From Foreign Fields.

Rev. Dr. C. L. Rhoades, secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church, yesterday morning, speaking in the interest of the work in foreign lands. Dr. Rhoades is a speaker of exceptional ability and his knowledge of the foreign fields and work being accomplished there is of great value to the denomination.

Dr. Rhoades spoke especially yesterday of the opening up of the educational work, of the desire of the natives in China, Japan and Africa for more schools and teachers, and he then told something of what has already been accomplished in these countries by Christian missionaries. In each instance Dr. Rhoades said there was a hunger and real desire to learn more about the Christian religion and added that the field is now ripe for a glorious harvest. At the close of the sermon the annual offeting for foreign missions was received.

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." A NOVEL SCHOOL TEST

Borough Pupils Prove That the "Three R's" Are Not Being Neglected.

CAME UNEXPECTEDLY

Questions in Spelling and Arithmetic Were Same Used in Springfield, Mass., Schools in 1846.

The recent discussion in educational circles as to whether the "Three R's" were being neglected in the schools of today through the introduction of fads, was indirectly due to a novel test conducted by Superintendent Krebs in some of the classes of the Somerset School this week. It dealt alone with spelling and arithmetic and the questions were similar to those presented to pupils in the Springfield, Mass., schools in 1846. They were contained in the last annual report of City Superintendent Maxwell, of New York, concerning which the following particulars are given:

Dr. Thomas M. Balliet, while superintendent of school of Springfield, Mass., discovered in the archives a volume of examination papers in spelling and arithmetic written by eighty-five pupils in the Springfield High School in 1846. With these papers were the original questions. These questions were given last March to 245 pupils in the ninth grade of the Springfield public schools. The results were published in the Springfield Republican, together with the questions, and data establishing that the pupils of 1846 were older and had more hours of schooling per year than the present ninth year pupils of Springfield. Mr. Mills, principal of Public School No. 75, Brooklyn, gave these same questions to ninety-four pupils of the eighth grade of his school, with the results mentioned below.

The pupils of the North Plainfield High School are younger than those in the Springfield High School were in 1846. Those of the eighth grade are fully three years younger than the average high school age. The schools of Springfield in 1846 were then, as now, among the best in the United States.

Much care was taken to secure absolute fairness in the test in the borough schools. Neither pupils nor teachers were told in advance that the test was to be given. The classes were unexpectedly confronted with the questions and set to work immediately. Every pupil in the classes took the test—not one was excluded.

It is likely that the questions given in 1846 were based on work that the pupils had done during the year. The spelling words were most probably selected from lists that the pupils had at some time studied. Hence whatever advantage there was should be credited to the Springfield schools of 1846. The examination questions and results were as follows:

Arithmetic Questions, 1846 and 1906—1. Add together the following numbers: .009, 29., 1., 301., 61., 702., 9,000., 19½ and 1½.

2. Multiply 10,008 by 8,009.

3. In a town five miles wide and six miles long, how many acres?

4. How many steps of 2½ feet each will a person take in walking one mile?

5. What is 1-3 of 175½?

6. A boy bought three dozen of oranges for $0.37½, and sold them for $0.01½ apiece; what would he have gained if he had sold them for $0.02½ each?

7. There is a certain number, 1-3 of which exceeds ¼ of it by 2. What is the number?

8. What is the simple interest of $1,200 for 12 years, 11 months and 29 days (at 6 per cent.)?

Results and Comparisons—No. of Pupils—Springfield, 1846, boys, 56; girls, 29; total, 85. Brooklyn, 1905, boys, 40; girls, 54; total, 94. North Plainfield borough, 1906, boys, 19; girls, 38; total, 57.

Examination Returns, Arithmetic—Percent correct, Springfield, 1846, 29.46; Brooklyn, 1905, 71.27; North Plainfield, 1906, 86.62. Per cent. having first example correct—Springfield, 50; Brooklyn, 92.55; North Plainfield, 87.72. Per cent. having second example correct—Springfield, 58.82; Brooklyn, 93.61; North Plainfield, 98.24. Per cent. having fourth example correct—Springfield, 12.94; Brooklyn 72.34; North Plainfield, 87.72. Per cent. having sixth example correct—Springfield, 8.23 (all boys); Brooklyn, 46.80; North Plainfield, 72.00 Per cent. of girls who failed in fourth example—Springfield, 100; Brooklyn, 25.92; North Plainfield, 1.6. Per cent. of girls who failed in sixth example—Springfield, 100; Brooklyn 46.29; North Plainfield, 26.31. Per cent. of girls who solved interest example—Springfield, 10.34; Brooklyn, 68.51; North Plainfield, 100. Total average of girls—Springfield, 19; Brooklyn, 72.69; North Plainfield, 85.2.

Spelling List—Accidental, accessible, baptism, chirography, characteristic, deceitfully, descendant, eccentric, evanescent, fierceness, feignedly, ghastliness, gnawed, heiress, hysterics, imbecility, inconceivable, inconvenience, inefficient, irresistible.

Results and Comparisons—Number of Pupils—Springfield, 1846, 85; Brooklyn, 1905, 94; North Plainfield, 1906, 90. Per cent. of pupils who received 70 per cent. or more—Springfield, 17.64; Brooklyn, 35.10;

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Local fandom is interested in the efforts of the Plainfield cranks to keep Manager Daab's team in Plainfield the coming season. Ever since the disbanding of the local team the lovers of the game here have fell in with Plainfield and followed the fortunes of her team. As there is no chance for a team here this season, not even an effort having been made to form one, the local cranks will be interested in Plainfield more than ever this year, as Willie Deegan, their star twirler, is a full fledged resident of the 'Plains now.

Miss Harriet Halloway, who has been engaged by the Board of Education to fill the vacancy in the corps of teachers caused by the resignation of Miss Little, began her duties today. Miss Halloway comes well recommended and has been acting as substitute teacher in the Plainfield schools for some time past.

The members of Bucket and Engine Company realized over $25 from their dance and social held Wednesday night of last week. The money will be placed in the hose fund. The success of the first dance has encouraged the members and another is being planned for during April.

Superintedent Maxwell argues from these results that the schools of today, while cultivating through manual training and other lines of work the various mental powers of the pupils which were not given any attention sixty years ago, are through the power thus gained making the pupils at least twice as efficient in the "Three R's" as they were in 1846.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The element of sympathy is very pronounced, the pathos is genuine, and even the comedy is such as will make a distinct appeal. The version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which Al. W. Martin's company will present at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight is the original, and is one of the purest and most instructive stories ever told.

Blanche Walsh in "The Woman in the Case" is the very strong attraction announced for tomorrow evening at the New Plainfield theatre. "The Woman in the Case" is conceded on all sides to be the best of the many plays that Clyde Fitch has contributed to the American stage. It is, we are told, replete with pungent and witty dialogue; but, in addition, it has a vitally interesting story, and possesses more dramatic suspense than any of his previous efforts. In other words, it is one of those "popular" plays that managers and public alike are always looking for but seldom find. In the character of Margaret Rolfe Miss Walsh is seen as an up-to-date, cultured American woman, made most attractive by her youth, beauty and musical speaking voice. In the famous third act an opportunity is supplied which demands much more of that potent virility and fire which Miss Walsh possesses perhaps more than any other actress on the American stage. Managers Wagenhals and Kemper are said to have surrounded Miss Walsh with a company that has been highly commended by the New York critics during the two phenomenal engagements of the star in that city.

It would be hard indeed to find more swinging and characteristic music than will be heard in "The Tenderfoot," that great Western operatic comedy that will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Thursday matinee and night. The stars of the opera are Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White, two players who are well known all over the country for their splendid work as stars of "The Tenderfoot," when the big revival of the piece was made two seasons ago. Figman has taken front rank among the comedians of the day by his portrayal of the character of Professor Pettibone in "The Tenderfoot." His delightful comedy and dancing have been a surprise even to his warmest admirers, and it is said by the Chicago critics, where "The Tenderfoot" has just finished a run, that he is the best Pettibone that the piece has yet had. Miss White has a fine soprano voice, and acts the breezy Western girl, Marion, to perfection.

Jane Mauldin Feigl's smart comedy of fashionable country life around New York, entitled "The Girl Patsy," is announced for appearance at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. Like this author's "Texas," so pleasantly remembered as one of last season's delightful novelties, the new play makes its strongest appeal to the best class of theatregoers. It is a most amitious offering, having more than the usual number of well known players, and being equipped with special effects of the most elaborate description.

NOW A COUNSELOR.

Charles M. Dolliver Successfully Passes Examination.

Charles M. Dolliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Q. Dolliver, of Fairview avenue, received today word from Trenton that he was successful in passing the examination as counselor at law and master in chancery. Mr. Dolliver was admitted to the New Jersey Bar in 1902, after passing a highly creditable examination.

Mr. Dolliver is a graduate of the North Plainfield High School and afterwards took a clerical position with the New Jersey Central Railroad, which he filled to the entire satisfaction of his superiors. Later he began the study of law in the offices of Swackhamer & Codington. Since he began the practice of law he has been very successful and the case of Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, whom he represented in an action against the Old Dominion Steamship Company, in which he secured a satisfactory settlement after two years of litigation, is evidence of this.

BASKET BALL.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball five will meet the Newark association team at Newark tonight in the third of the series of games this season. Newark was the winner of the other two contests and Plainfield will make an extra effort to score a victory tonight.

This afternoon at Hope Y. M. A. gymnasium, the P. H. S. girls' team will play a game of basketball with the girls' team from the Englewood High School. The game will be called at 3 o'clock. It was hoped that this game could be played in the gymnasium of the new High School, but the floor is not quite ready. The Englewood five is probably the hardest proposition the local team will meet this season.

728 Webster place,
Plainfield, N. J.,
March 8, 1906.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In your paper of the 7th inst. appeared very insulting remarks about a basketball team which played the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. on Saturday night at New Brunswick. Those remarks do not appeal very much to the personal characters of the members of this team. I, Louis P. Hanson, who acted as manager of this team on the night in question, demand an immediate apology from you for allowing such insults to be printed in your paper, and furthermore, I demand that you send me the name of the culprit who handed this piece of insults to your office to be printed in your paper. This joking matter as the remarks made about the players who participated in this game are very insulting.

Most of these young men who took part in this game, are well known in Plainfield, and such remarks will make them very indignant in the matter.

You will greatly oblige me by apologizing to me for these remarks, and also turn the name of the one who handed this piece to your office, over to me. Do not dare let this letter go in print.

LOUIS P. HANSEN.

And this is what "I, Louis P. Hansen," rises in wrath over:

The Plainfield Ex-Scholastic Basketball team was routed by the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. team at the latter place Saturday night. The locals, managed by Louis P. Hansen, next season's star pitcher of the Jersey Central baseball team, were buried under an avalanche of goals, the final score of the game being: New Brunswick Y. M. C. A., 78; Plainfield Ex-Scholastics, 14.

Phil Smith, the High School star, was the mainstay of the Plainfield team. Wyse played a fast game at forward for the home team, and Peterson, of the New Brunswicks, who played against Hansen, made a wonderful record for a guard, scoring 23 goals in thirty minutes of play, while Hansen, playing forward, only made two.

Up to the hour of going to press, "I, Louis P. Hansen," had not sent the sheriff around.

DIAMOND DUST.

Bogert Conklin, manager for the West End team of Somerville, has been in consultation with Manager Daab regarding a series of games between Plainfield and Somerville, and it is almost a certainty that such a series will be arranged. This would mean a revival of the old-time interest and enthusiasm.

Manager Murphy, of the Summit Baseball Club, has signed Cruzius and Goldstein for the season. Thus far the men signed for Summit are Duquette, pitcher; Lamar, catcher; Richardson, first base; Kurfess, second base; Cruzius, shortstop; Klett, right field, and Goldstein, left field. The only positions remaining to be filled are third base and center field. A new man will have to be secured to replace Reinacher at third, but it is probable that Rogers will again wear the Summit uniform. The league season will begin the second Saturday in May and end the second Saturday in September, playing one game each week and double headers on each of the six holidays, or a total of twenty-five games for each team.

FELL OVER THE PALISADES.

Wagon, Horse and Driver All Escaped Serious Injury.

A team of horses owned by John Tully, a Hudson City contractor, fell over the Palisades yesterday opposite 212 Palisade avenue, on Jersey City Heights. The wagon caught on a rock within a few feet of the opening of the Lackawanna tunnel. Walter Gannon, the driver, rolled down the hill forty feet. He is not thought to be dangerously injured.

The team was carting dirt from the Lackawanna excavation work on the western slope of Hudson City. The dirt is being used to fill in at the foot of High street, near Palisade avenue. Gannon backed his team to the edge of the cliff. The horses slipped and down tumbled the wagon, dragging the horses with it. The driver stuck to his seat. The team and wagon slipped thirty-five feet, and the sudden stop threw Gannon from his seat. The horses were only slightly hurt.

Senator and Mrs. Everett Colby, of Orange, spent Sunday with Mrs. Colby's mother, Mrs. Charles Hyde, of East Front street.

Plainfield, N. J., March 12, 1906.

It is cheering news to hear that the New Jersey Democracy is to be revived. Good government is only maintained when there is a healthy minority to keep the dominant party in check, and if ever there has been need of reform since the days when the Democracy itself was drunken with power, that time is right now.

The Elizabeth Journal is wrong when it surmises that the opposition here to the Tucker school board bill comes "apparently from the faction opposed to Mayor Buckle." It is not a factional question in Plainfield at all. So far as Mayor Buckle is concerned, while we do not pretend to speak for him, it is quite safe to say that he would oppose the measure had he a voice in the Legislature. One thing is certain and that is that the Journal can dispell any doubt it has as to what position Senator Ackerman will take when the bill comes up for passage. He will be squarely against it from first to last.

Tidings from Trenton say that the "Bishops' bill" will be up for consideration in the Senate this week, therefore it is incumbent upon the friends of good government to spare no time in working for its passage. The least that can be done is to write to your representative in the Upper House at Trenton to use his efforts in behalf of the measure. The fact that Senator Ackerman, of Union county, has received ten protests to every single endorsement of the bill shows to what extent the liquor interests are working. Cut out the blank on page one and, after signing your name, mail it to your Senator at Trenton. Do it now!

Thomas Doud's Birthday.

Former Recorder Thomas Doud, of Duer street, celebrated his birthday anniversary on Saturday, and in honor of the vent his daughter, Mrs. James R. Blair, prepared a family dinner which was greatly enjoyed. In further celebration of the anniversary, Mr. Doud attended another large family dinner party last night, given by his other daughter, Mrs. Herbert C. McVoy, of Sandford avenue. At each event he received hearty congratulations of all and wishes for many returns of the day.

Preached on God's Will.

Rev. George Mooney, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, exchanged pulpits yesterday morning with Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. A large congregation greeted Mr. Mooney and listened to an excellent sermon on "Doing the Will of God," Mr. Mooney taking his text from the second chapter and seventeenth verse of the first epistle general of John.

Aged Dunellen Woman Dead.

Mrs. Euphemia Ramsey, 92 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Gaston, Dunellen, Saturday night. Death was caused by senile debility. She will be buried tomorrow in Whitehouse. A service will be held at the Gaston home at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow noon, conducted by Rev. W. W. Casselberry, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Senator's Brother Robbed.

Alexander Kean, brother of United States Senator Kean, reported to the police of West Orange Saturday night that, with several other residents, he had last five hundred chickens within a week. The only clue to the thieves is a trail of chicken feathers where the men picked the fowl.

Rev. G. W. Bailey Preached.

Rev. G. W. Bailey, of New York, preached at the Calvary Baptist church, yesterday morning and evening, and harmony prevailed. The collections for the day amounted to $55.

NEARLY WON FROM NEWARK CHAMPION FIVE

NEWARKERS JUST MANAGED TO WIN, AFTER A HARD FIGHT.

The Newark Y. M. C. A. basketball team, winner of the Northern New Jersey Y. M. C. A. championship, was given a close tussle in the game with the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team, Saturday night, nosing out Plainfield only after a hard struggle by the score of 20 to 15. The Newarks, with their fast team work, had the Plainfield team on "Queer street" during the first half, which ended in the score reading 16 to 8 in Newark's favor.

In the final period, however, Plainfield took a decided brace and for a time Newark's clean record on its home court was in grave danger of being tarnished. Plainfield made a strong up-hill fight. They broke through the locals' defense and caged the ball three times in quick succession, which, together with a point scored on a free throw, made the score 17 to 15, with Newark on the long end.

The excitement was intense at this stage of the game. The players dashed around in pell-mell fashion and so great was the noise of the rival rooters that the referee's whistle could scarcely be heard. Toward the close of the half, however, Long and Vreeland dropped the ball through the network. On a neat shot from the field and another point scored when a foul was committed, the Newarks placed themselves beyond danger. The line-up:

Newark.	Plainfield.
Vreeland	Smith
right forward.
Long	Thompson
left forward.
Seidler, Wagner	Scull
centre.
Pollard	Leary
right guard.
Spaulding	Letson
left guard.

MUCH HARDER TODAY

if Christians are not imbued with the true faith, the Christian cause will never advance. Take the Word of God, it is sharper than a two edged sword, he said. Christianity is nothing unless it advances.

"A good many people," he said, "think they are right with God if they join the church, pay their pew rents regularly, and put a dime in the collection box every Sunday; but a true Christian hero is to be found out in the by-ways preaching the gospel to sinners and battling with sin in all iniquitous quarters."

In closing, the clergyman exhorted his hearers to renew their faith and follow God more closely, especially during the Lenten season.

HISTORY TEACHERS MEET.

Delegates from All the Middle States and Maryland.

Trenton, March 12.—The fourth annual meeting of the History Teachers' Association of the Middle States and Maryland began here yesterday afternoon. About three hundred are attending the meetings.

There was a session this afternoon, which was addressed by carious educators and at which papers were read on history teaching.

Last evening President C. M. Andrews' annual address was the feature. This evening there will be reading of papers and lectures, and in the afternoon a business session. The meetings are at the State Normal School.

EDWIN FORREST CENTENNIAL.

Actors Honor Anniversary of American Tragedian.

Philadelphia, March 12.—The one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Edwin Forrest, the great American tragedian, was appropriately celebrated yesterday at the Home for Aged Actors which he founded at Holmesburg. The principal members of all the companies now playing in the city were present.

Colonel A. K. McClure was the principal speaker, and City Solicitor Kinsey made an address. The Mayor was also invited. The nine inmates of the home, following a yearly custom, placed upon the tragedian's grave in St. Paul's churchyard a beautiful basket of fresh flowers.

REV. MR. YATMAN RESIGNS.

No Longer to Conduct Young People's Meetings at Ocean Grove.

A prominent official of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association announced yesterday that Rev. Charles H. Yatman, for twenty-six years the leader of the summer young people's meetings at that place, had resigned. Ill health, induced by a hard winter's evangelistic work, was given as the reason. Mr. Yatman is known as an exponent of progressive thought among his summer following, and in this he has come in conflict with the conservative, old fashioned forces of the association. This is believed to be the real cause of his resignation.

Well lighted, perfect ventilation, large roomy aisles, but best of all the low prices we're selling goods at, and there's reason for it Take for instance the space we occupy for this department and place it along Front Street and you'd have five large stores. Then compare the rent for these five stores with our basement rent and you can readily see how we are now able to give you bigger and better bargains than what you've been accustomed to getting.

Demonstration of the "Eclipse" Bread Maker under the direction of Miss Howard.

The "Eclipse" is the only machine that mixes and kneads bread by compression, therefore making the best bread. It does the work in three minutes, and you never touch the dough.

Miss Howard fully demonstrates the process of bread making from start to finish.

BASEBALL CLUB LAUNCHED

Bunn. From this committee William Addis, B. A. Mumford and George Voehl were appointed to see the business merchants. This action was taken so as other members of the committee will not conflict. Each member will have a list to which all interested will be asked to subscribe and it is hoped that there will be a liberal response.

There was also some talk of partially enclosing the grounds with a fence and this matter will be discussed a little later. Among those present Saturday night were several who volunteered their services to help at the games, thus making it possible to cut down the expenses. Mr. Daab stated that with the exception of Cregan and Cosgrave he would have the same team as last year.

As a business proposition baseball was decided to be a good thing for the city, being an excellent means of advertising and the prospects of putting the game on a business basis with an association behind it was considered the only thing to do. An adjournment was taken to Saturday night, when the association will meet at the Hotel Iroquois. At that time it is hoped that everything will be in shape so that when the time for opening the season comes all details will be attended to.

PRIESTS ARE SATISFIED.

Express Assurance that Supt. Snyder Will Act Fairly.

The Roman Catholic rectors of Jersey City have sent to the Board of Education a letter expressing "confidence in the broad minded fairness and justice of Supt. Snyder," on whom the board has conferred power to supervise the admission to the City High School of graduates of the parochial schools.

The board took this action in consequence of a petition of the rectors that the admission should be without examination.

U. of P. Men to Dine.

Gibson, who will respond to the toast, "The College Man in Politics;" the Rev. Henry R. Rose, who will speak on "Benjamin Franklin;" Charles C. Harrison, provost of the university, who will speak on "Pennsylvania;" Dr. Kirk, dean of the Dental School, who will touch on some phase of college life, and the Rev. Charles I. Hoffman, of Newark. Dr. William George Hanrahan, of Newark, president of the North Jersey Alumni Society, will act as toastmaster.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Annotated list of new books recently added to the library, part 2. Part 1 was in last week's issue.

Nahan, A. T.—Sea power in its relations to the War of 1812.

"Like its distinguished predecessors, a substantial contribution to the history of naval warfare and a suggestive exposition of the force of the doctrine of 'preparedness.'" Outlook, Dec. 2, '05.

Montalembert, C. F. R. de.—Life of St. Elizabeth of Hungary.

"He was perhaps his best in those works in which he reproduces the spiritual side of life. In this volume we have an excellent translation of Montalembert's ripest work." Spectator.

Poore, H. R.—Pictorial composition and the critical judgment of pictures.

"No one who desires to judge pictures intelligently can afford to pass it by. The work is in no way popular, composition in pictures is hardly a popular subject, but the style is so direct and the treatment so intelligent that the main points cannot fail to become clear to the careful reader." Dial.

Ringwalt, R. C.—Briefs on public questions.

"A series of argumentative briefs and lists of references of the most important public questions of the day, with discussions from the affirmative and negative points of view."

Sage, E., & Cooley, A. M.—Occupations for little fingers.

"This little manual illustrates and describes simple forms of handwork. . .The writers are teachers who have worked out with their classes the things of which they write. . . They give with each lesson the necessary cost." Nation.

St. John, T. M.—How two boys made their own electrical apparatus.

"Contains complete directions for making all kinds of simple electrical apparatus for the study of elementary electricity."

Thompson, E. S.—Monarch, the big bear of Tallac.

"The biography of another of those wild animals that Mr. Thompson has known, and in which Mr. Burroughs absolutely refuses to believe." Churchman.

Tillson, G. W.—Street pavements and paving materials.

"One rarely sees a better balanced technical book then this, nor one, which on the whole presents so large a subject in so thorough a manner, without burdensome detail and excessive bulk. . . The illustrations. . may be cited as models of illustrations that illustrate." Engineering News.

Veblen, T.—Theory of business enterprise.

"Deals rather with the methods of modern financiering and the quest of profit rather than with the other less prominent commercial data. If we have to choose between the ten chapters of which the volume consists, we should particularly recommend the last five as appealing more generally to the unbiased reader." Jour. of Political Economy.

Waddington, M. A. K., Mme.—Italian letters of a diplomat's wife.

"The sights and personalities of Italy—the dinners, balls, fetes, fashions and all the brilliant pageantry of court and Vatican are presented in attractive fashion. . . The style is vivacious, chatty and brilliant." Literary digest, 10 June 1905.

Wells, Carolyn, col.—Satire anthology.

"The selections, from innumerable authors, have been made with skill; but certain of the pieces from very minor modern authors might have been spared in favor of some omitted bits from Lowell and Holmes." Critic.

White, E. O.—An only child.

"First and foremost a child's book; its appeal is to the child. . . We need more children's books of just this simple, life-like sort." Churchman.

Wilson, H.—Silverwork and jewelry.

"'Silverwork and jewelry' is a practical guide to some of the more simple processes of the jeweler's art. . .The subject is treated not from the standpoint of a trade, but from that of an art."

In Dr. Yerkes' Memory.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, made appropriate reference at the morning service yesterday to the late Rev. Dr. David J. Yerkes, who died one year ago yesterday, and who was pastor of the church for a great many years. A large picture of Dr. Yerkes, suitably draped, occupied a prominent position over the organ. In the course of his sermon, Dr. Chambliss took occasion to speak of the long and faithful service of the departed pastor.

Men's Club Meeting.

The Men's Club of the First Baptist church will hold its monthly meeting tonight. The programme will include selections by Miss Helen M. Miller, reciter, and impersonator; violin selections by Miss Florence Wohlfert and a twenty minutes "straight talk" to men by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, the pastor. All men are invited.

A Merry Party.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The one best bet of the day is that big audiences will be at the New Plainfield on the afternoon and night of April 5. That's the date for Treasurer Sam Cunningham's benefit and it's going to be a hummer. "McFadden's Row of Flats," three times as funny as "Happy Hooligan," is to be the attraction.

Manager Counihan gave a box party at the New Amsterdam Friday night for several friends from Perth Amboy. "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" pleased them very much. By the way, plans for that new Perth Amboy house are well under way and there is no doubt but what it will be built and under Manager Counihan's wing next season

Evidence that there is "mazuma" somewhere in the vaudeville business has come to light through the rental of the Herald Square theatre to George Hunans for a brief term at $60,000 a year. He will open the house next season as a home for high class vaudeville and declares that the attractions will cost him $4,000 a week. No wonder the big ones are deserting the "legit" for the continuous.

Plainfield had the honor of seeing another of its young men make good as a thespian, Saturday night, when William Vail interpreted the leading part in "Deserted at the Altar." He has only been before the footlights for six years but has made rapid strides in the profession and gives promise of making a name for himself. The knowledge that he was in the cast brought a large number of friends to the New Plainfield and he was accorded an enthusiastic reception. The family last resided on Lafayette place, Mr. and Mrs. Vail now being residents of Brooklyn. Two other sons, Frank and Bert, are also on the road with companies.

RICHES GIVEN TO PRINCETON COLLEGE

OLD NASSAU GETS NUMBER OF GIFTS THAT AMOUNT TO QUARTER OF MILLION

Princeton, March 12.—The sum of $245,577 has been announced by the trustees of Princeton University as the amount of gifts to the university since the last meeting of the board. In addition to the gifts that were officially announced it has become known during the last week that the university has been made residuary legatee of the estate of Mrs. J. Thompson Swan, which is said to be worth about $3000,000, and will be used by the graduate school.

The Passage property, adjoining the Guyet property on Nassau street, valued at about $25,000, has been purchased by a number of alumni and turned over to the university. The trustees announced that Dewitt C. Blair, of New York, a trustee of the class of 1856, has agreed to complete Blair Hall to the Halsted Observatory, a distance of nearly 100 feet. This will make a series of buildings that completely encloses the western side of the campus for over a quarter of a mile.

The resignations of Charles B. Alexander, of New York, and Colonel John J. McCook, of New York, trustees, were presented and accepted. Leave of absence for one year was granted to Professor W. M. Daniels of the political economy department. Enno Littman, Ph. D., librarian of the Oriental department, and lecturer in Semitic philology, was elected professor of Semitic languages.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Harold G. Murray, '93, as secretary of the Committee of Fifty, in place of George W. Burleigh, '92, resigned. This is the committee which last year raised $1,000,000 toward the endowment of the preceptorial system. It was decided to name the new alumni dormitory which is now being constructed Patton Hall, in honor of ex-President Francis L. Patton.

COLBY INVADES PASSAIC.

Secret Conference in Paterson Results in an Organization.

Paterson, March 12.—The first step in Passaic county toward the advancement of the Colby move was taken last night, when Senator Colby and George L. Record held a secret conference here with several Republicans. It is understood that details for the formation of a new Republican organization were discussed.

Among the supporters of the Colby-Fagan movement it is understood that Assemblyman Marelli will be the Passaic county leader and that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator against Senator Wood McKee.

It is said that public meetings will be held here and in Passaic, at which the features of "the new movement in politics" will be explained.

Will Try to Save Rahway Trees.

Rahway, March 12.—Dr. George E. Gallaway and David H. Ramsey, councilmen, accompanied Assistant Entomologist E. L. Dickerson, of New Brunswick, on a search for "scales" on the trees in various parts of Rahway. A curious fact was brought to light in the course of the trip. Esterbrook avenue, on which most of the trees are kept trimmed well toward the tops, allowing plenty of light and sun, were comparatively free from the pest. Other sections where the shoots were allowed to grow up about the roots of the trees, where the lower limbs were allowed to hang, or if trimmed at all, done with an axe or pulled off, the "scale" was abundant, and in some cases the trees were nearly ruined. Household and garden shrubbery was found the same. It was decided that prompt measures may save many of the trees and a thorough pruning and trimming will be instituted at once. A spraying outfit will probably be secured during the summer for next winter's use.

At the P. H. S.

Principal Ira W. Travell, of the Plainfield High School, has appointed Miss Ethel M. Ferry proctor of the senior class for the present term. Miss Ferry is a member of the faculty and is popular with the pupils.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.
Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Thorp's foot relief still continues to be a solace to many weary feet. Try a bottle.

I. N. Wyckoff, the West Front street painter, is ready to make contracts for spring and summer work.

W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, would be pleased to furnish you a trial order. His goods are strictly fresh and are sold at city prices.

Worth & Marsh, the Somerset street hardware dealers, can supply your every want in this line. Their stock is one of the largest in the city.

When you want a suit of clothes or an overcoat cleaned and pressed go to A. LeVine's tailor shop on Watchung avenue. The work will be done right.

S. Frucht, the West Front street sporting goods man, is closing out a fine line of bicycles. Don't miss this opportunity if you wish a wheel at a cheap figure.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, is prepared to move household and other goods at short notice promptly. Goods removed to all parts of the country.

One good job brings another; that is why Ralph Bullman, the carpenter, is kept busy. Drop him a postal when ready to build a house or barn, or wishing repair work.

On a breezy March morning there is nothing so delicious as Berkshire sausage. It is sold by Smalley Brothers, of North avenue, who are positive that it has no equal in the market.

A. M. Griffen, the hardware merchant, is ready for a large spring and summer trade. He is showing an exceptionally large line of hardware and builders' materials, as well as housefurnishing goods.

Spring has not yet arrived, but all the best styles in men's hats, neckwear and furnishings can be found at James R. Blair's "Town Toggery" at any time of the year. Drop in some time and look things over.

Since locating in their commodious quarters in the Babcock building Shirley & Johnston have added a fine line of iron and brass bedsteads. They are original in design and are the most desirable made. Prices unusually low.

The army of patrons of Woodhull & Martin's store has been quick to appreciate the many improvements made at the store, which includes the placing of the carpet department on the main floor and the housefurnishing goods department in the basement. With the approach of spring housekeepers will be looking for carpets, rugs and all kinds of housefurnishings and this is just the place to get these things at low prices. Don't forget the up-to-date dress goods department, where all the latest patterns are shown.

Girl's Amateur Theatricals.

The production of "When Paddy Went to College" will be given by and for the benefit of the Girls' Athletic Association of the Plainfield High School on Saturday night, March 17. This will be the first play to be given in the auditorium of the new High School.

"The Man on the Box"

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Author of "The Grey Cloak," "The Puppet Crown."

"Do you suppose she suspects anything?" ventured Warburton.

"No. She may be a trifle puzzled, though. I saw her watching your hands at the table. She has eyes and can readily see that such hands as yours were never made to carry soup-plates. For the life of me, I had a time of it, swallowing my laughter. I longed for a vacant lot to yell in. It would have been a positive relief. The top of Troop A peddling coup! Oh, I shall have to tell the boys. You used more pipe-clay than any other man in the regiment. Don't scowl. Never mind; you've had your joke; I must have mine. Don't let that Russian fellow get the inside track. Keep her on American soil. I like him and I don't like him; and for all your tomfoolery and mischief, there is good stuff in you—stuff that any woman might be proud of. If you hadn't adopted this disguise, I could have helped you out a bit by cracking up some of your exploits. Well, they will be inquiring for me. Good night and good luck. If you should need me, a note will find me at the Army and Navy club." And the genial old warrior, shaking with silent laughter, went back to the house.

Warburton remained standing. He was lost in a dream. All at once he pressed the rose to his lips and kissed it shamelessly, kissed it uncountable times. Two or three leaves, not withstanding this violent treatment, fluttered to the floor. He picked them up; any one of those velvet leaves might have been the recipient of her kisses, the rosary of love. He was in love, such a love that comes but once to any man, not passing, uncertain, but lasting. He knew that it was useless. He had digged with his own hands the abyss between himself and this girl. But there was a secret gladness; to love was something. (For my part, I believe that the glory lies, not in being loved, but in loving.)

I do not know how long he stood there, but it must have been at least ten minutes. Then the door opened and Monsieur Pierre lurched or rolled (I can't explain or describe the method of his entrance) into the room, his face red with anger, and a million thousand thunders on the tip of his Gallic tongue.

"So! You haf leaf me to clear ze table, eh? Not by a damn! I, clear zee table? I? I t'ink not. I cook, nozzing else. To zee dining-room, or I haf you discharge'!"

"All right, Peter, old boy!" cried Warburton, the gloom lifting from his face. This Pierre was a very funny fellow.

"Petaire! You haf the insolence to call me Petaire? Why, I haf you keeked out in zee morning, lackey!"

"Cook!"—mockingly.

Pierre was literally dumfounded. Such disrespect he had never before witnessed. It was frightful. He opened his mouth to issue a volley of French oaths, when Zhames's hand stopped him.

"Look here, Peter, you broil your partridges and flavor your soups, but keep out of the stables, or, in your own words, I keel you or keek you out. You tell the scullery maid to clear off the table. I'm off duty for the rest of the night. Now, then, allons! Marche!"

And M'sieu Zhames gently but firmly and steadily pushed the scandalized Pierre out of the room and closed the door in his face. I shan't repeat what Pierre said, much less what he thought.

Let me read a thought from the mind of each of my principals, the final thought before retiring that night.

Karloff (on leaving Mrs. Chadwick): dishonor against dishonor; so it must be. I can not live without that girl.

Mrs. Chadwick: (when Karloff had gone:) He has lost, but I have won.

Annesley: So one step leads to another, and the labyrinth of dishonor has no end.

The Colonel: What the deuce will love put next into the young mind?

Pierre (to Celeste): I haf heem discharge!

Celeste (to Pierre). He ees handsome!

Warburton (sighing in the dolorosa): How I love her!

The Girl (standing before her mirror and smiling happily): Oh Mister Butler! Why?

CHAPTER XX.

THE EPISODE OF THE STOVEPIPE.

In the morning Monsieur Pierre faithfully reported to his mistress the groom's extraordinary insolence and impudence of the night before. The girl struggled with and conquered her desire to laugh; for monsieur was somewhat grotesque in his rage.

"Frightful. Mademoiselle, most frightful! He call me Petaire most disrrrespectful way, and eject me from zee stables. I can not call heem out, he eez a groom and knows nozzing uf zee amende honorable."

Mademoiselle summoned M'sieu Zhames. She desired to make the comedy complete in all its phases.

"James, whenever you are called upon to act in the capacity of butler, you must clear the table after the guests leave it. This is imperative. I do not wish the scullery girl to handle the porcelain save in the tubs. Do you understand?"

"Yes, Miss. There were no orders to that effect last night, however." He was angry.

Monsieur Pierre puffed up like the lady-frog in Aesop's fables.

"And listen, Pierre," she said, collapsing the bubble of the chef's conceit, "you must give no orders to James. I will do that. I do not wish any tale-bearing or quarreling among my servants. I insist upon this. Observe me carefully, Pierre, and you, James."

James did observe her carefully, so carefully, indeed, that her gaze was forced to wander to the humiliated countenance of Monsieur Pierre.

"James, you must not look at me like that. There is something in your eyes; I can't explain what it is, but it somehow lacks the respect due me." This command was spoken coldly and sharply.

"Respect?" He drew a step back. "I disrespectful to you, Miss Annesley? Oh, you wrong me. There can not be any one more respectful to you than I am." The sincerity of his tones could not be denied. In fact, he was almost too sincere.

"Nevertheless, I wish you to regard what I have said. Now, you two shake hands."

The groom and the chef shook hands. I am ashamed to say that James squeezed Monsieur Pierre's flabby hand out of active service for several hours that followed. Beads of agony sparkled on Monsieur Pierre's expansive brow as he turned to enter the kitchen.

"Shall we ride to-day, Miss?" he asked, inwardly amused.

"No, I shall not ride this morning," calmly.

James bowed meekly under the rebuke. What did he care? Did he not possess a rose which had known the pressure of her lips, her warm, red lips?

"You may go," she said.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION TO HOLD CONVENTION

DIRECTORS OF N. J. ORGANIZATION TO PREPARE FOR MAY MEETING.

Trenton, March 12.—Directors of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs met in the Senate chamber of the State House here Thursday to hear reports of departments and to plan for the big spring convention, to be held in Metuchen in May. A delegation of club women from that town was present to tell what arrangements had been made for the accommodation of the delegates, who will represent the 100 or more clubs in the federation and who will probably number between 400 and 500.

The principal speaker for that meeting will be Mrs. Ballington Booth and the date for the meeting will be set to suit her convenience, and will be during either the first or the third of May. The general trend of the spring meeting will be on subjects of sociological interest and it is expected that Mrs. Caroline B. Alexander, of Hoboken, chairman of the department of sociology of the State federation, will have something to say on the Vigilance League, recently formed in Hudson county to fight conditions at "Little Coney Island," near Guttenberg.

Reports were made by the chairman of all departments, showing what has been attempted during the last two months. Mrs. Andrew J. Newbury, of Jersey City, president of the federation, presided. All of the North Jersey delegation arrived here together, having left Newark at the same time.

Miss Emma Grannet, of West Fourth street, has returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. William F. Edgerton, of Bound Brook.

FARMERS UP IN ARMS AGAINST HUNT CLUB

WARN MEMBERS OF ORGANIZATION TO KEEP OFF THEIR PROPERTY.

Angered because of the destruction that follows in the wake of the usual Saturday afternoon chases, the farmers in the Alton section of Fanwood township are up in arms against the Watchung Huna Club, of this city. Legal steps have been taken to prevent the members from riding over restricted ground and each one has been served with a notice detailing the names of property owners who would rather see the red-coated horsemen go some other way. The territory now prohibited included one of the favorite routes of the club and will lessen the diversity of the Saturday afternoon and holiday runs.

The riders who have been served with copies of the notice by the township authorities are S. A. Cruikshank, George C. White, Chauncey Sayre, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, W. Bourne, Duncan Bulkley, W. Webster, Dr. H. O'M. Knott, C. E. Bellows, C. B. Chebbeare, Miss Leila Cruikshank, Miss Holly, Miss Noe and Mrs. VanBeck.

The farmers claim that in going across their fields, the club members' horses not only injure the winter grain but break down wooden fences and loosen the wire guards. Since the chases started, bills have frequently been presented the club for damage done and they have been paid promptly. In addition officials of the organization have gone over the route during the week and generously offered to settle for any loss caused by them.

This has been unsatisfactory, howeven, as the breaks in fences on several occasions have allowed cattle to wander away and has caused no end of trouble that could not be computed as money damage. The chief sufferers held a conference and decided the only way to abate the nuisance was to stop the club from going over their property and this has been done. The notice sent out is signed by fifty-three Fanwood borough and township residents.

PRINTERS CELEBRATE THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Typographical Union Has a Dinner at Hotel Kensington.

Celebrating the advent of the eight-hour day, the members of Plainfield Typographical Union, No. 399, enjoyed a spread at the Hotel Kensington Saturday night. Covers were laid for seventeen. G. Emerson Mowen, president of the union, was in the chair, and after the feast of good things he introduced the various speakers.

William Trembath brought up the question of forming a pressmen's union in this city, and after an informal discussion it was decided to lay the matter over for the present. It is possible that the local pressmen may join the organization in Elizabeth.

Want Bicycle Shed.

The plans for the new Plainfield High School called for a bicycle room, but in cutting down the expense to get within the amount appropriated for the structure, it was found necessary to omit the wheel room. As a large majority of the pupils of the school ride wheels it is almost a necessity that some place be provided for the storage of bicycles. In view of this it is quite likely that a shed will be erected in the rear of the building in the near future.

Missionary Meeting.

There will be a joint meeting of the Women's Foreign and Home Missionary Societies and the Ladies' Aid Society in the Bible Class room of the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Reports of the past year's work will be presented and officers elected for the year. A social hour will follow.

Edward Mosher Hurt.

In saving himself from a fall of twenty-five feet from a slipping ladder, Edward Mosher, of West Fifth street, an employe of A. M. Griffin, was forced to grasp two pipes through which live steam was circulating. Before his fellow workmen could rescue him his hands were frightfully burned.

A Trio of Offenders.

James McGauley, Achie Davie, Sr., and Michael Lacey were arrested at different times by the borough police Saturday night, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They were unable to furnish bail and are being held for appearance before Mayor Smalley tonight.

Miss Crampton and Gertrude Moody did the best work for the city school, while the Misses Lancaster and Smith did excellent work for the visitors. The line up:

New Classes in Old Building.

The Whittier School classes took possession of the old Stillman High School building this morning. The desks in the study hall used by the High School pupils have been removed and put in class rooms on the first floor. Desks also have been brought over from the Whittier building for other rooms. The assembly room will be equipped with sufficient folding chairs to seat all classes, but until they arrive the school will not have morning exercises. The Whittier building is now being refitted for the reception of the sixth grade classes in the other schools which will be transferred some time this week.

Delightful Lenten Recital.

The second Lenten recital at the Holy Cross church Saturday afternoon, attracted even a larger congregation than at the first recital and the programme as arranged by Mr. Lee, organist and choirmaster, was greatly enjoyed. In addition to the several numbers by Mr. Lee, a feature was the singing of Mrs. William L. Saunders, who gave two delightful renditions. The programme comprised ten numbers and everyone was fully appreciated. The third recital will be given at the church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when another attractive programme will be presented by Mr. Lee, assisted by a well-known soloist.

Discussing Sewer Question.

George W. Pearson, engineer for the Municipal Construction Company, of New York, was in the borough Saturday, and held a consultation with Mayor Smalley and Councilman VanArsdale relative to the sewer system agitation. The situation was thoroughly discussed and the engineer explained several phases of the question. He will probably attend the next Council and Board of Health conference to be held Thursday night.

To Adress Teachers.

Dr. Thomas M. Balliet, dean of the School of Pedagogy of New York University, will address the teachers of the Plainfield and North Plainfield public schools Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School. The lecture is free to all. Dr. Balliet is an able speaker and his address will be of value to any one interested in the training of children.

H. Raymond Loder the Soloist.

H. Raymond Loder, baritone, of Birmingham, Ala., who sang so acceptably at the first Lenten recital at the Holy Cross church two weeks ago, sang a solo at the morning service in the church yesterday. His singing was highly praised. Mr. Loder has consented to render another solo at the service on Sunday.

John Brown Resting Easily.

John B. Brown, of Park avenue, who was recently seriously injured by a fall and who has since been ill in addition with bronchitis, was reported as resting easily today. He has been very weak and unable to retain nourishment, but the physicians look for a change for the better within the next two days.

The King's Messengers of the First Presbyterian church will have charge of the mid-week prayer meeting at the church on Wednesday night. The programme will include a consideration of work in the foreign mission fields.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold its annual meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Miss Annie Morton, of Ningpo, China, will speak, and tea will be served at 5 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold a sale of cake, candy, useful and fancy articles at the home of Mrs. Walter Freeman, 1008 South avenue. Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6. There will also be an informal programme of music.

LITERARY NOTES.

What is the matter with Friday? Is it really such an unlucky day after all? asks The Scrapbook.

According to tradition, Friday is unlucky because it was on that day that Christ was crucified. In nearly all the countries of Europe, Friday is regarded as the black sheep of the days of the week, and it is so esteemed by Buddhists and Brahmins. The old Romans called it nefastus, from the utter overthrow of their army at Gallia Narbonensis.

In England it was once the custom to execute the sentence of death on condemned criminals on Friday, which, therefore, has been commonly known as "hangman's day." There is an English proverb to the effect that a Friday moon brings foul weather. Most sailors refuse to go aboard a vessel that is to start its voyage on a Friday.

On the other hand, evidence is not wanted that Friday is one of the luckiest days in the week. Charles Dickens says that nearly all the fortunate events in his life occurred on this day. In Scotland, Friday is the favorite day for weddings.

Below is given a list of some important events that have occurred on Friday:

Moscow was burned Friday.
Washington was born Friday.
Shakespeare was born Friday.
America was discovered Friday.
Richmond was evacuated Friday.
The Bastile was destroped Friday.
The Mayflower pilgrims were landed Friday.
Queen Victoria was married Friday.
King Charles I was beheaded Friday.
Napoleon Bonaparte was born Friday.
Julius Caesar was assassinated Friday.
The battle of Marengo was fought Friday.
The battle of Waterloo was fought Friday.
The battle of Bunker Hill was fought Friday.
The battle of New Orleans was fought Friday.
The Declaration of Ipdependence was signed Friday.

METUCHEN STIRRED UP

Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman's Book "The Debtor" Has Angered Her Neighbors.

ITS LOCAL CHARACTERS

Authoress Denies She Portrayed Village Folk In Her Novel—Who the Originals Are.

"How does she dare to call us snoopers?" is the indignant inquiry of every middle aged woman in Metuchen, N. J., whenever anyone mentions the last novel of their neighbor, Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman. One of them has already called on the authoress for an explanation. The town is in a turmoil and the "types" go about the streets. The grocer, the milkman, the leading liveryman all eye each other askance as they pursue their vocations and salute each other by the names which they bear in "The Debtor"—for that is the much discussed book. They are rather pleased than otherwise, although the barber objects to the putting of a dumb canary in his shop and has taken down the lambrequin.

Nor do the feminine contingent look less complacently upon the portrayals. The maelstrom of gossip and recrimination which is whirling over the place reached its lowest depths last week when a young woman was informed that her mother was one of the aged ladies with violets in her bonnet who examined the wardrobe of a family on whom she had called when she thought that none of its members was at home.

Nothing will agitate a feminine resident of Metuchen more than to address her as "Mrs. Lee" or "Mrs. Van Dorn," or to remark in a stage whisper:—"Oh, they must have elegant wardrobes and be very wealthy people indeed. This petticoat is real lace, don't you think so, Mrs. Van Dorn?"

Women who once dwelt in amity even though they were members of the same bridge whist clubs, have in the last week been seen to glare at each other as they passed in Main street.

"Mrs. Freeman," said one yesterday, "had no call to say such things as that. I do think it is a perfect shame. Metuchen folks have always minded their own business, and besides, they don't take up with strangers unless it is for the good of the church."

Protest comes from all sides. The young woman, who thinks that somebody had tried to refer to her mother as showing an undue anxiety concerning the tea stains on her absent neighbor's table cloth, is willing to declare that no relative of hers gave way to an exhibition of curiosity, and other young persons who have elderly relatives, as well as the aunts and the grandmothers and the stepmothers, are raising their voices in indignation. They wish to go on record as having no more than a proper interest in the affairs of newcomers. The small boys from safe distances are now wont to cry aloud:—"Hi there, snoop the snoop!"

About the postoffice, in the library, at the afternoon teas, this breach of etiquette is widely discussed, and every woman in the place who has shown even an ordinary neighborly interest has a self-conscious expression as she comes home from church. Few in Metuchen will now wear simple flowers in their bonnets, clean their gloves with gasolene or use Russian violet as a "calling perfume" for fear they will be covertly spoken of as the originals of Mrs. Henry Lee and Mrs. William Van Dorn.

Some of the citizens of Metuchen, however, are pleased and flattered as they are identified with the story. The Samson Rawdy of fiction and Bainbridge closely resembles John Dempsey, of Metuchen, for he has "the two fat bays sacred to fashionable calls and the coach, quite a resplendent affair, with very few worn places in the cloth lining."

Flynn, the barber's original, may be seen in Metuchen in the person of Frederick Smith. His establishment has had its scheme of decorations slightly changed since the book was published, but substantially it is the description given in "The Debtor," which is as follows:—

"There was a lace curtain in the show window, a palm in each corner, between which stood a tank of goldfish, and below the lace lambrequin swung a gilt cage containing an incessantly hopping though silent yellow canary."

Edward Kramer is recognized in the guise of Rosenstein, the leading dry goods merchant, and Mr. Martin, the milkman, appears as Tappan.

As to who was "The Debtor" himself the delicate question is often discussed, but as far as that is concerned, it is considered best to let the dead past bury its dead. One supposed original is dead and another was last heard of in Philadelphia. The main story of Mrs. Freeman's book, however, closely follows the career of a dashing stranger who came from some mysterious place and cut a wide swathe in Metuchen society. He had teams of horses and his family lived in the best style. The house where he lived is pointed out.

At least six tradesmen lay claim to the title of the philanthropic grocer who sold supplies to "The Debtor" and his family. The natives of Metuchen say that about three years ago this personage sought to disappear. His intention was divined, however, and the freight car containing all his household effects, which was on a siding, was plastered with injunctions. Like the character of Mrs. Freeman's book, he finally gave checks to all his creditors. The paper, however, was worthless. The merchants managed to intercept the car and reimbursed themselves by selling his furniture. "The Debtor" of fiction earned money to meet his obligations by singing and dancing in black face at a vaudeville house; the supposed original also gave his creditors the proceeds of a song and dance.

Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman expressed astonishment when she was told how much Metuchen had taken the book to heart.

"I never intended," said she, "to portray my neighbors in such a way, and, in fact, I did not draw my material from Metuchen. I would not do such a thing. I was amazed only a few days ago when an estimable woman of this town and a dear friend of mine called and wished to know if she was described as one of the women who went through a neighbor's house in the absence of the family. Of course the characters were entirely imaginary."

Puzzling Orders.

A chemist is making a collection of the queer orders he receives from people who send children to the store for things they need. Here are a few samples of them: "This child is my little girl. I sent you a penny to buy two sitress powders for a groan up adult who is sike." Another reads: "Dear dochter. Yes gif bearer pennies worse of Auntie Toxyn for to garble babi's throte, and obleage." An anxious mother writes: "You will please give the leetle boi pennuf worth of epeac for to throw up in a five months' old babe N. B.—The babe has a sore stummick." This one puzzled the druggist: "I have a cue pain in my child's diagram. Please give my son something to release it." Another anxious mother wrote: "My little baby has eat up its father's parisl glasther. Send an anecdote quick as possible by the inclosed little girl." The writer of this one was evidently in pain: "I haf a hot time in my insides and wich I wood like it to be extinguished. What is good for to extinguish it? The inclosed sixpence is for the price of the extinguisher. Hurry. pleas."—Pearson's Weekly.

Maine's Great Aquamarine.

The minerals of Maine are becoming of world-wide reputation. The great aquamarine, found in Stoneham, and probably the most valuable gem ever found on the American continent, has recently been purchased as a valuable acquisition to the crown jewels of Germany. The German prince, while in this country, saw the gem at Chicago and admired it so much that the government has been negotiating for it ever since, and recently sent a man over to this country, who finally succeeded in closing the trade, taking the gem back to Germany with him. At the world's fair at Chicago the gem was valued at $30,000. It weighed 133 carats. By the way, one crystal taken at Paris, Me., this summer has been sold for $500.

Snow Blinds Britishers.

Many of the British soldiers suffered greatly from snow blindness in Thibet. The native Thibetans escape snow blindness, as do the inhabitants in other snowy parts of the world, by greasing the face and then blackening the skin all around the eyes with a burned stick.

NEW SCHOOL BILL WILL NOT EFFECT PLAINFIELD

Amended By Assemblyman Tucker as Result of Senator Ackerman's Efforts.

TO HELP ELIZABETH

Amended Measure Affects Only Cities of More Than 50,000 Population—This City Out of Fight.

Through the good offices of Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, the Tucker bill, which provides for a radical change in the method of choosing school boards, has been killed insofar as it relates to Plainfield. Assemblyman Tucker has informed the Senator that he will substitute a new measure for bill No. 25, which he withdrew in favor of his second bill, No. 209, which is also dead. Plainfield is let out of the severe punishment to be afflicted by the new bill, which provides that the provision shall only apply to cities of the second class having more than fifty thousand population.

Assemblyman Tucker's new bill, therefore, will relieve the alleged condition of affairs in Elizabeth, for which it was originally intended. At the same time it will not apply to Plainfield, which has but 18,476 population. Senator Ackerman's argument to Assemblyman Tucker was based on the constitutionality of his bill. The fact that it has been so modified as to apply to certain cities of the second class, it is said, will not ewaken the ground that it is unconstitutional, but it will prevent a new school board being appointed here.

Plainfield's Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Henry M. Maxson, realizing what it would mean, used their efforts to have the Tucker bill killed. They communicated with Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, who in turn field with Senator Ackerman a brief setting forth the legal objections to the bill. Senator Ackerman at once got in conference with Mr. Tucker and the desired result followed.

The Tucker bill provides for the appointment of school boards by mayors instead of being elected by the people.

CONVERTED 7 THESPIANS

Members of Troupe Moved by Pleadings of Minister at a Men's Meeting.

ASKED FOR PRAYERS

Dramatic Climax to Rev. Mr. Finn's Query "Where Will You Spend Eternity?"—Go to Church Service.

Inspired by the old time songs sung by the Georgia Jubilee Singers and the earnest plea of Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, at the meeting for men in Y. M. C. A. Hall Sunday afternoon, six members of the Uncle Tom's Cabin theatrical troupe raised their hands and asked for prayers, expressing the desire to lead Christian lives in the future.

It was a dramatic climax to a deeply religious meeting which was in charge of Mr. Finn. "Where will you spend eternity?" was the theme of Mr. Finn's plea. In simple language he portrayed the love of the Saviour for the sinner. He told of the uncertainties of each hour, and why one should be always prepared to meet his Maker. His remarks were interpreted with many touching incidents.

Mr. Finn concluded his address by making an earnest plea in urging all to accept Christ without further delay—those who had not already given their hearts to God. One by one the six thespians arose on their feet and made manifest their desire to lead better lives by raising their hands. The meeting was followed by a special prayer session, at which the young men openly confessed Christ.

They carried the news of their conversion to their boarding house to other members of the company, with the result that Sunday night another one of their number requested prayers at the service in the Park Avenue Baptist church at the conclusion of Mr. Finn's sermon.

A visit to the stage after the matinee performance found the newly converted members of the troupe all happy and determined to lead Christian lives in the future. Fred Debble, who takes the part of Skeggs, the auctioneer, was one of the most enthusiastic of the converted. "Yes," he said to a Daily Press reporter, "It is true that I was converted yesterday. I already feel the effects of leading a better life and intend to continue in the right path with God's help. The first thing I did last night was to write home and tell the folks."

Chester Keyes, who fills the role of George Shelby, another member of the troupe, appeared in a joyous mood when he was seen by a Daily Press reporter after the show last night. Keyes is the sole support of his widowed mother, who lives in Newport, Kentucky. He said: "It was the best Sunday I spent in my life. I am happy myself, and have made the best friend of mine in this world happy, too—my mother. I have sent a letter to her which she will get tomorrow."

"To what do you ascribe your conversion?" asked the reporter. "Well, to be honest with you, I believe my change of heart is entirely due to the ceaseless prayers of my old mother. Every letter I receive from her while I'm away on the road she never fails to tell me that she is praying."

SUPPORT THE "BISHOPS' BILL," NOW!

The "Bishops' Bill," as the high license measure now in the Legislature is known, is supported by the best men of New Jersey. It was framed by the two Catholic and the two Episcopal bishops, and meets with the hearty approval of hundreds of clergymen, irrespective of denomination. Should it become a law, the iniquitous "side room," which has been the cause of the downfall of hundreds of young women, will be abolished. Furthermore, the screens which hide the barroom from public gaze will be a thing of the past, and no persons under age will be allowed to loiter in a saloon. High license fees is one of the provisions of the bill. Naturally the saloon proprietors and the brewers are actively opposing the measure. If you want to help in the good work of doing away with many of the evils of the saloon, and at the same time defeat the brewers' efforts, cut this out and mail it to your representative at Trenton:

STRAIGHT TALK IN LIFE

Rev. Dr. Chambliss Tells How Strife Would Be Avoided in All Pursuits.

EVASION AS AN EVIL

"What Would Become of the Lawyer?" Asks the Divine—Address at Men's Club Meeting.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss gave a highly instructive address before the Men's Club of the First Baptist church last night on the subject of "Straight Talk to Men." He said that people will go year in and year out to hear the same person preach on the same line of subjects, all of which he considered a severe test of not only the preacher, but those who hear him. He did not believe that anyone would care to see the best actor one hundred times, nor crowd themselves into a court room to hear a lawyer many times, no matter how witty or interesting he might be. Continuing, Dr. Chambliss said, in part:

"What could we do without talk in the literal sense of the word. It is indispensible. There is nothing that is not affected or accomplished without talk, from the sweetness of the home and success in business to usefulness in the Christian life. All depends so largely on talk that it is something that demands our earnest attention.

"Straight talk is a necessity for the best things, the kind of talk with the most simplicity and directness toward a given aim, without evasion. If there was straight talk between husbands and wives there would be no more divorces. If there was straight talk between young men and women there would be no more heartbreaks. If there was straight talk between business men there would be no more trickery. If there was straight talk between employer and employe there would be no strikes, and if there was straight talk between politicians there would be no more graft, boodle or bosses, but I don't know what would become of the lawyers. Their occupation would be gone, and there might be a little less trading between merchants and manufacturer. And what would the newspapermen and the physicians do?

"Probably, if you were in my place you might have something to say about the preacher. I must confess that some of the most diffident, evasive and worse preaching comes from the pulpits today. It reminds me of a class of candidates for the ministry who were questioned as to the personality of God, whether they believed in Him as the living Son of God and whether they believed in a personal conscience after death. In every instance the candidate wanted to qualify his answer by reference to some new thought on the subject.

"How can such apostles preach or deal with souls? Let us put it down rather to ignorance. Straight talk does not mean harsh, blunt words, the kind of talk that speaks out whether it hurts or not, but the kind with nothing of doubleness, insincerity, or the shadow of a lie about it. It is not so much orthodoxy and religiousness that we need nowadays as goodness. We must have straight talk between us and God and no profession without practice. There must be straight talk between members of the church and the fulfilling of the covenant which binds us one to another and straight talk with the outside world among men, so that they will say that there goes a Christian."

In addition to this entertaining talk by the pastor, other features of the programme were the recitations and impersonations by Miss Helen M. Miller, of New York, and violin selections by Miss Florence Wohlfert, of Westfield. These two artists delighted the club by their clever performances. Miss Miller was a favorite with all, while Miss Wohlfert was never heard to better advantage. Both received numerous encores. Howard M. Case accompanied Miss Wohlfert on the piano. Samuel St. John McCutchen, president of the club, was in charge, and his humorous remarks were fully appreciated.

HOSPITAL GETS $4,000

Members of Board Makes Contribution Towards Isolation Ward Fund.

COMMITTEE ON PLANS

Necessary Fund Partly in Hand—Report to Be Made at the Next Meeting.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital at its March meeting last night instructed the buildings and grounds committee to prepare at once complete plans for a building for the care and treatment of contagious diseases, to be known as the "Isolation ward." The matter has been under consideration for several months, as stated at the last Common Council meeting by Councilman George P. Mellick, who is a governor of the institution.

A member of the board has, on behalf of himself and wife, offered to contribute $4,000. The probable cost of a suitable building will be much more than that sum, but there is a sum in hand and others will be asked to make up the requisite amount when the total cost is ascertained.

An isolation ward has been in great demand, there being no place at present for the treatment of contagious diseases. The ward will not be used for the care of smallpox patients.

At present there are thirty-one patients at the hospital and the work for the past month has been unusually active.

HOSPITAL LIGHT PLANT

Committee Appointed by the Governors to Secure Estimates for Improvement.

BILLS ARE TOO HEAVY

Private Water Hydrant Also for the Institution—Action at the Next Regular Meeting.

The feasibility of installing an independent electric light plant at Muhlenberg Hospital and thus reducing the expenses of a very important item at that institution was one of the chief topics discussed at the monthly meeting of the Board of Governors last night. A committee was instructed to secure estimates for this improvement and it is more than likely that it will be authorized at the next meeting of the board.

Considerable electric light is needed at the hospital and the bills reach enormous proportions every month. This has been especially true since the new hospital has been in use, and for some time the board has been considering a change. It is believed that with an independent plant a great saving would result.

Another very important improvement discussed last night and one which will undoubtedly be made is that of installing a private water hydrant back of the hospital.

The hydrant will be connected with the mains of the Plainfield Water Supply Company on Randolph road by a six-inch service pipe. The plan is to install in the hospital three-inch standpipes at the entrance to each ward and a standpipe in the main building, with an outlet on each floor. This will give the hospital ample fire protection, the lack of which has heretofore given those in charge much anxiety in behalf of the great number of occupants, made up for the most part of helpless invalids and their nurses.

The committee on buildings and grounds was instructed to report to the Board of Governors proposed plans for the erection of an isolation ward for the care and treatment of contagious diseases. Several very substantial gifts for this improvement have been received and there is no doubt but what the ward will be built within a short time. The board acknowledged the receipt of communications from the Board of Health and the Common Council relative to this matter and the secretary was instructed to notify both bodies as to the action taken.

ARRESTED BY THE COURT

FISTIC JURISPRUDENCE

William Peepe Kicked Up a Row In Court and the Squire Yanked Him to Jail.

Another man with the notion that anything goes in the justices' courts was set right yesterday afternoon. He was awakened from the delusion by Justice Hezekiah Hand, after he had kicked up a row in the squire's court in the First National Bank building, that scared the typewriters in all the law offices and made the men sit up and listen for a riot call.

Wrought up because the justice had held him in $100 bail for the Grand Jury, to answer to the charge of stealing a pig, the victim of the delusion, William Peepe, a middle-aged Hebrew, addressed a lot of bald statements to the court, and breathed contempt and defiance of all its rulings.

Peepe is a husky man, but the justice did not hesitate.

"This court has full and ample authority under the constitution of New Jersey," he said, "and I propose to see that it is respected. You are under arrest for contempt and for disorderly conduct."

Justice Hand is something of fine figure of a man himself, and he has been called "The Fighting Justice." He lived up to the name. Stepping down from the bench, he strode up to the defiant Peepe and gathered the slack of the defendant's neck in a brawny hand.

"You come with me," ordered the justice, and Peepe went. Not that he wanted to. He pulled back and tried to tear the justice's grip loose, but the grip was there to stay, and Peepe found that it was go along decently and in order or be dragged. The justice marched his prisoner downstairs and across the street to police headquarters, where he turned him over to Doorman McCue. Charged with disorderly conduct, Peepe was locked in cell number 1. The justice's hands were scratched a bit where Peepe tried to break the judicial grip, but the court was unwinded and in shape for another lesson in Jersey justice at call.

Peepe was arrested by Constable Manley yesterday morning, on complaint of Douglas Darby and Peter Robinson, the latter colored. Darby and Robinson raise pigs on shares in Fanwood, an dthey charge that Peepe stole one of their choicest porkers on Washington's Birthday. They claim that he has resisted every effort to induce a settlement since them, ignoring their offers and adding insult to injury.

Peepe had been taking something to fortify his nerve before his arraignment in court, and he started to sniff at the justice as soon as proceedings began. He intimated that nobody within sight had any authority to arrest him, and that an apology was due. After Lawyer F. J. Huff, for the State, had presented evidence sufficient to establish the charge, and the justice ordered him to appear before the Grand Jury, Peepe's outraged feelings flowed over. He raised a sinful fuss, making so much noise that the sound of the excitement reached every office in the building.

After Peepe had cooled off in the cell for two hours, Justice Hand decided that he had learned enough about the dangers and discomforts attendant on defiance of the courts, and sent an order of release to headquarters. Peepe was in a tractable mood when freed, and meekly consented to go under bonds. The bail was furnished by James B. Guttridge.

LOCAL GOOD ROADS MADE HIM AN AUTO ENTHUSIAST.

Treasurer Vail, of Philadelphia Grand Opera House, Now Negotiating for a Machine.

The smooth roads in and about Plainfield and the novelty of a delightful spin out in the countryside in an auto proved a combination that converted W. J. Vail, treasurer of the Philadelphia Grand Opera House into an auto enthusiast Sunday. Mr. Vail and his wife have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Counihan for the past few days and in his efforts to show them the city and adjacent territory, the New Plainfield manager took the visitors and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cunningham for a spin to Perth Amboy. At the Middlesex county place they were entertained at dinner at the Packer House by Joseph F. Stricker and his hospitality aided in Mr. Vail's conversion.

On the return home he waxed enthusiastic over autoing and the local system of good roads, and finally declared he was going to buy himself a machine and began negotiations with the F. L. C. Martin Company for a car.

AMOS MOFFETT, OLDEST CONSTABLE, IS DEAD

Succumbed Last Night After a Week's Illness With Complicated Diseases.

OFFICER FOR 41 YEARS

Terror to Plainfield Evil-Doers In His Younger Days—Court Constable For 34 Years at Elizabeth.

In the house at 434 West Sixth street, where he had lived for fifty years, Amos Moffett, the oldest ex-policeman of this city and the dean of the constables of Union county, died last night, eighty-six years of age. Death followed a week's illness with a complication of diseases, the most acute of which was what the doctors call old man's bronchitis.

For forty-one years Amos Moffett was a member of the constabulary. He was a court constable at Elizabeth from the day the county court, created for the then new county of Union, was opened, and attended every term from that time until two terms ago. He was made a regular policeman here thirty-five years ago, when the force consisted of three men.

Mr. Moffett was born in the northern part of Somerset county on August 26, 1820. In 1837 his brother, Simeon Moffett, was a blacksmith in Scotch Plains, and Amos came down to learn the trade under him. He worked with Simeon until about 1850, when he came to Plainfield to enter the employ of William Shangle, who had a blacksmithing shop on North avenue. Later he entered the employ of J. B. Brown, a wagon-maker, who lives now on Park avenue, doing the blacksmithing jobs of the business. He left Brown's employ to set up a forge of his own, locating on West Second street, where the Plymouth Brethren now worship. He gave that up to re-enter Shangle's employ. Not long after Shangle was killed in Newark, where he had gone to buy nails, and Mr. Moffett bought the business from the widow.

Mr. Moffett was a big man, and in his prime his strength was tremendous. Steady-going and hardworking himself, the town authorities saw in him just the man they wanted for police work. In 1865 he was induced to become a constable, and six years later he was made a regular policeman, on night duty. He became a terror to the town roysterers, and the occasional disturbers of the peace learned to fear Constable Moffett as they feared sudden death.

He gave up his business when he was put on the police force and never returned to it. He gave up police work after a few years and devoted himself to service as constable. In 1862 he made his headquarters in Justice Nash's court, and his headquarters it remained until he left it for the last time a week ago. For twenty-four years he was to be found there every day, except when illness or duty in the county court kept him away.

Mr. Moffett was a familiar figure to practically everybody in the city, and none of the attaches of the county court was better known. He was liked by everybody who knew him, and no man was ever liked with better reason. He was simple, kindly and courteous, and no one ever suspected Amos Moffett of a crooked thought. He never learned the modern art of knocking; he was far readier to speak a good word of his fellowman than to count up the specks on his soul.

Mr. Moffett's strength began to fail him a year ago. When the term of court opened he was not able to continue his work there, and he was still unable to take up his duties during the last term. He went to Elizabeth early in the year, however, to be sworn in, as he had done for two-score years. Last Tuesday he complained of illness in Justice Nash's office, and lay down on a couch in the back room. He grew worse hourly, and the justice urged him to go home. The old man looked about the room and shook his head.

"I'm afraid I will never come back if I go," he said.

Justice Nash finally persuaded him to leave, and sent him home in a hack. Mr. Moffett lived with his daughter, Mrs. John G. Stryker, and he received every care and attention in the illness that ensued. He never left his bed after Tuesday night. He grew worse every day, despite everything that Drs. Boone and E. W. Hedges, in consultation, could do. His last feeble bit of life flickered out at 10:30 o'clock last night. He died, exactly as he had lived, peacefully and unafraid. Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist

MRS. VAN EMBURGH DEAD

Active Worker in Trinity Reformed Church Succumbs to Bright's Disease.

AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Wife of George L. Van Emburgh—Funeral Services Friday Afternoon—Interment at Newark.

Following a short illness, Mrs. Saphronia Van Emburgh, wife of George L. Van Emburgh, passed away at her home, 331 East Second street, at 6:30 o'clock this morning. She was taken ill on Sunday, Febraury 18, with a severe attack of gastritis, to which she had been subjected On the previous Friday she and her husband made a trip to Bloomfield by trolley to visit her brother and Mrs. Van Emburgh caught a heavy cold. Acute Bright's disease with gastritis was the direct cause of death. During her illness she was a great sufferer, yet she patiently bore it all, only praying for the end to come. About 5 o'clock this morning she went into a sound sleep and at 6:30 passed away.

Mrs. Van Emburgh's maiden name was Miss Saphronia Ryerson Colfax. She was born at Ringwood, near Greenwood Lake, Passaic county, and was next to the last of thirteen children, a brother, William R. Colfax, living at Bloomfield, now being the sole survivor.

In her early married life Mrs. Van Emburgh and her husband were active church workers and were among those who labored so hard and successfully for the starting of Trinity church in Newark. She has been a resident of Plainfield twenty-seven years. Soon after moving here she and her husband joined with Trinity Reformed church, where they both have been active. Mr. Van Embrugh is the senior elder of the church.

Mrs. Van Emburgh possessed a sunny, happy disposition and made friends wherever she went. She was thoroughly devoted to her home, and it is there that she will be greatly missed. She is survived by a husband and two sons, F. M. Van Emburgh, of Westervelt avenue, and H. C. Van Emburgh, of Richmond street. Two years agó Mr. and Mrs. Van Emburgh celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 from the home, 331 East Second street, and the interment will be in the family plot in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Newark.

QUARTERS FOR TEAM AT HOTEL IROQUOIS.

Jerome Leary's Liberal Offer to Baseball Association.

As an evidence of his personal interest in a successful baseball season, Jerome Leary, proprietor of the Hotel Iroquois, has agreed to fit up a room at his hotel for the use of the Plainfield team during the summer, where they can go and don their uniforms prior to the game and then dress afterwards. The room will be provided with a shower bath and other conveniences for the comfort of the players.

The accommodations at Crescent Oval last year were not of the best, a great inconvenience being the lack of running water, while the dressing rooms were small and not well adapted for the purpose for which they were intended. Besides miscreants would break the locks and do other damage which necessitated constant repairing.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." MANY WORK WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

SELF-SUPPORTING STUDENTS ARE WELCOMED TO PRINCETON'S BEST CLUBS.

A matter which is causing not a little discussion among the undergraduates at Princeton at the present time is the organization of a freshmen's glee club. Such an organization has been tried before with small success, but it is generally felt that with the larger freshmen classes which now enter Princeton, the proposition would work well if properly managed. There are always a large number who, on entering college, cannot quite qualify for the University Glee Club, but whom, it is felt, should be kept in line for the future by proper training in an intermediate club, and not be allowed to drop entirely out of the work because of failure to qualify during their first year.

The prominence and popularity which the Triangle Club has attained at Princeton in recent years has considerably overshadowed the Glee Club, which, nevertheless, is far from being without value or dull. For, while the former is bound to be more popular and to attract greater attention, the Glee Club holds an important place in college life. It may be considered necessary in many ways, but it also has great possibilities for being a delightful and entertaining side of activity for the students fortunate enough to qualify for membership.

It is expected that another year will see the addition of a regular professional coach to aid the leader of the University Glee Club in training the men. In order that the best results may be obtained, however, from the University Glee Club, even with a professional coach, a freshmen organization should be organized and it is probable that a capable manager will be appointed soon to conduct the work in the fall.

A communication was recently received by the Alumni Weekly of Princeton from a graduate of the university asking whether it is still possible for a student to work his way through this college. The fact is that there are a surprisingly large number among the undergraduates of Princeton who are doing that very thing today in part and in some instances in whole.

Princeton's pride is her democratic spirit of social equality, and these self-supporting students will be found in the best clubs of the university, as well as in every other grade of the social scale. The fact that Princeton has grown wonderfully during recent years makes the opportunities for helping one's self more and more numerous "for bright and alert young men blessed with good health and common sense," as The Weekly says. "And we need not add that they are held in unusual respect and admiration by their fellow-students. For, while they are yet boys in years, their courage in undertaking the expense of their education and in successfully carrying the undertaking through in most instances, proves them to be men in affairs. But we would not encourage dull fellows to try the experiment or even the boy of ordinary gifts. Either unusual ability or some special accomplishment with a market value in the college world is essential. It's a case where a capable stenographer would succeed but a prime minister might fail."

Colby May Be at Y. M. C. A.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

How many shares of stock have you subscribed for in the Plainfield Baseball Association?

"Tip" O'Neil is anxious to return to Plainfield this season. He made a host of friends here last year and he likes the town.

There is no better judge of a ball player that Phil. Daab and he can be depended upon to engage the right material for the Plainfield team.

"Willie" Deegan, who is now basking in the sunshine at Scotch Plains, keeps posted on baseball affairs here and is anxiously waiting for the season to open.

If Manager Daab returns here it will be up to Ben. Mumford to furnish a pole from which last year's pennant will fly. Ben. says he will keep his word.

Manager Daab assures the baseball public that if he returns here this summer he will give the same high class ball that he did last year, and every fan knows what that was.

"Teddy" Shortman, well-known to fandom here, will be given a try-out by Manager Daab. His many friends would like to see him make good. During the past few seasons he has been playing fast ball.

"Pete" Cregan was popular with the baseball crowds, but all agree that $14 per game was too much money to pay a fielder. His inability to draw that much this year no doubt influenced him to give up playing here.

With the exception of Cregan and Cosgrave the Plainfield team will be the same this year as last, and Captain Driscoll will occupy first sack in his usual faultless manner, with Dalton, Kiernan and Leonard for the other infield positions.

If all the baseball fans unite to make the Plainfield Baseball Association a success there will be no doubt about the results. An opportunity is now offered to furnish good sport throughout the summer and every little bit will help the thing along.

NEW NEWARK THEATRE.

Vaudeville House to Be Established in Austin Fynes Circuit.

Newark is to have another theatre, if plans announced by J. Austin Fynes materialize. Mr. Fynes is president and general manager of the International Amusement and Realty Company, of New York city, and his purchase of the Bijou theatre, in Jersey City, and a site for a new Harlem theatre has just been announced. He intends to establish theatres in Brooklyn and through New England besides Newark. All of these will be vaudeville houses. Mr. Fynes will also run a chain of moving picture shows in stores and halls in New York and vicinity. Up to two months ago he was general manager for F. F. Proctor, and had been connected previously with the Keith circuit.

Mr. Fynes is negotiating for a site in Newark, and its location is a source of many rumors, among them one concerning the purchase of the old T. P. Howell residence in Broad street, north of Fulton, and another regarding property in Halsey street and Central avenue. He is represented in Newark by M. T. Barrett, who in his local office yesterday stated that nothing definite regarding the site for the new local theatre could be announced, although developments might be expected immediately.

SHOT BY HIS OWN GUN.

Luther Badgley Seriously Wounded in Mishap.

New Providence, Mar. 13.—While duck hunting on the Passaic Saturday afternoon Luther Badgley was seriously wounded by his own gun. With Dave Totten, he had been hunting a little above Stirling. They had been successful, and were bringing their game down the river in a rowboat. They started to land at Stirling, where Badgley had left his horse and carriage.

Badgley first got out of the boat and then reached for his gun which was lying muzzle toward him. In drawing it to him, one of the triggers was accidentally pulled by something in the boat. The gun was discharged, and the entire load of number one buckshot passed through the young man's left forearm.

Totten assisted him to Stirling, where the wounds were dressed by Dr. Bebout. Badgley was then taken home. He has since been attended by Dr. Risk, of Summit, who says that it may be necessary to amputate the arm. Later Badgley was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, Newark.

EGGS WITH HANDLES ON THEM MAKES THE USE OF AN EGG CUP UNNECESSARY NOW

Newton, March 13.—Robert E Foster, Jr., an ornithologist and biologist, has succeeded, with the able assistance of his white Leghorn roosters and hens, in developing an egg with a handle. Mr. Foster will not tell how he educated the Leghorns up to this, but he has seven eggs with handles. One such is on exhibition and proves the power of suggestion over intelligent and observant fowls. On the small end of this egg is a protuberance from the shell about as big as the handle of a tiny demi-tasse. The butt of the egg is flattened, so that the egg stands by itself. Any one can see the immense economic and commercial value of an egg so shaped. Egg cups will be superfluous hereafter. But Mr. Foster is adding gradually whisky, sugar and nutmeg to the water his Leghorns drink. He expects soon to ship egg-nogs by the crate labeled: "Slice off the top. That's all."

FOURTEEN-THOUSAND AUTOISTS GO FREE IF THE FRELINGHUYSEN BILL PASSES

A point has been raised in connection with the legislative committee substitute for the Frelinghuysen automobile bill that it is contended will vitiate the whole legislation if the substitute is passed in its present form.

Section 2 of the substitute provides: "Automobile fire engines and such self-propelling vehicles as are used neither for the conveyance of passengers nor for the transportation of freight, such as steam road rollers and traction engines, are excepted from the provisions of this act. The evident intention of this section was to except the fire engines, rollers traction engines, etc., not used in general traffic. But as drawn it excepts all automobiles not used for the conveyance of passengers, and there is the hitch.

The courts of New Jersey have decided in connection with steam railroad litigation that a passenger in a conveyance is only one who pays fare for being transported. A person riding on a pass, or one stealing a ride, is not legally a passenger. It is contended that this will apply to automobiles or other vehicles as well as railroad cars.

Section 2 of the substitute bill excepts all automobiles not used for the conveyance of passengers. No private automobile carries "passengers" within the meaning ascribed to that term by Jersey law, because the owners, or his friends, or the members of his family who may ride, pay no fare. Therefore, it is held that every one of the 14,000 private automobiles operated in this State, the very ones at which the bill is aimed, will be absolutely exempt from the provisions of the bill if it is passed in its present form.

The bill has already been reported and it will be necessary either to recommit it or amend it on second reading if the section referred to is to be changed.

DISCARD NAMES AND NUMBER CHURCHES.

Rabbi Silverman's Method of Obliterating Denominational Nomenclature.

New York, March 13.—Rabbi Joseph Silverman said at a meeting of the New York State Conference of Religion, held Sunday night in the Universalist Church of the Divine Paternity, that he wished all the churches in the city could discard their different names and be numbered like the public schools.

Dr. Silverman declared that the great religions, such as Christianity, Buddhism, Mohammedanism and Judism were in essence one and the same thing and that the differences were those of nomenclature only.

His reason for suggesting that the churches discard their names was that in this way the people would forget to what denomination they belonged and the interdenominational strife would be eliminated.

Miss Anna Hopewell, of East Fifth street, has returned from a visit in New York.

Miss Sarah Hopewell, of East Fifth street, spent Sunday with relatives in Flemington.

Superintendent of Motive Power McIntosh, of the New Jersey Central, who resides in College place, is taking a few weeks' trip to Cuba.

—The Y. M. C. A. orchestra met last night. The brass band will meet tonight.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Blanche Walsh, the most gifted of emotional and tragic actresses, comes to the New Plainfield theatre tonight in her latest and greatest success, Clyde Fitch's "The Woman in the Case," the play with which she took New York by storm at the Herald Square theatre last winter, and which ran at that house for four months. Even then so great was the popularity of this latest vehicle for the exploitation of Miss Walsh's versatile art that she opened her season at the Madison Square theatre two weeks earlier than was at first intended, in order that "The Woman in the Case" might again be seen in the metropolis before beginning an extended road tour embracing the principal cities between the Atlantic and Pacific. Had Managers Wagenhals and Kemper imagined the tremendous sensation, followed by the remarkable success achieved by Miss Walsh in the new Fitch play, it is unlikely that they would have signed contracts for this and other cities, and "The Woman in the Case" would probably have remained in New York for one of those prolonged runs known only in that city and London.

That dashing operatic comedy, "The Tenderfoot," with Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White as the stars, will be at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday afternoon and night. The music of this piece has made it a general favorite, as there is a swing about it that sets the feet tapping and the blood moving faster. H. L. Heartz, who is responsible for the score or more of tunes, caught the spirit of Richard Carle's book when he wrote the music. It is characteristically Western in its free swing and easy rhythm. Carle's book is not only witty, but there is a well defined plot that carries the story to a definite conclusion. Mr. Figman and Miss White will be generally remembered as the stars of the big revival of "The Burgomaster," which was seen here two seasons ago and which made such a hit on account of the general excellence of the cast. "The Tenderfoot" is under the same management and it is promised that it is the largest production of the opera that has been seen on the road, being an exact replica of that in Chicago during the three runs there.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Hoboken is the only city in New Jersey where the theatres give performances on Sunday nights just as at any time during the remainder of the week. In this respect it reaches beyond New York, which has to be satisfied with vaudeville only on the Sabbath.

A party of Plainfielders were at the Grand Opera House, New York, last night, to see "The College Widow" and incidentally applaud Wyatt Barnes, the former Plainfielder, who has a part in the cast. He has been with the company from the time that it opened at the Garden theatre in the fall of 1904.

The third act of "The Woman in the Case," which appears here tonight, is said to be the strongest ever written by Clyde Fitch, who has a dozen good plays to his credit. It calls for emotional work that only the gifted Blanche Walsh can provide and holds the audience breathless at one period for nearly ten minutes.

James Cochran, who formerly held the title of champion "sticker" in St. Louis, has been made chief publicity agent for the New Plainfield. The way the city has been billed of late shows that what has been St. Louis' loss has been Plainfield's gain and that Manager Counihan has secured a winner. "Jim" likes Plainfield, too, and has turned away some tempting offers to take to the road.

Martin's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which showed at the New Plainfield last night, is the first real "Tom" show that has been in the city in years. The play was really given and not merely held out as bait for a conglomeration of darky nonsense. Mr. Martin has plans to further elaborate it next season and will again visit this city. Big audiences were present at both performances and the people were well pleased.

Plainfield, N. J., March 13, 1906.

The "Bishops' bill" will come up in the State Senate at Trenton either this afternoon or tonight. It will be on second reading and the amendments agreed to after a conference with the prelates and clergy will be tacked on. That Plainfield is interested in its passage is shown by the fact that last night alone, Senator Ackerman received half a hundred letters approving of it from readers of The Daily Press. These with a batch of others received from readers of this paper will be handed up to President Wakelee today. A blank is published today again. Fill it out and mail it to Mr. Ackerman. Residents of North Plainfield should address Senator Frelinghuysen.

Plainfield people have the proper amount of civic pride. That fact is proven on every occasion when an appeal is made in the interests of the community. An instance will be demonstrated in the way in which not only the lovers of good healthy sport, but the townspeople generally, respond to requests for support of a ball team. Last season it was shown that a fine article of ball could be had here at a nominal price. There was no complaint as to the patronage accorded Manager Daab, but it takes money to maintain the sport. Funds are needed now, and not alone those who attend the games regularly, but every citizen, is asked to contribute what he can. There are many men of the late Paul Taylor Brown kind whose purses are open when anything that is of direct benefit to the city is at stake. To these principally we appeal to subscribe for stock in the newly organized association. The shares are five dollars each. Will you be one of the number to send a subscription to The Daily Press for this object? Proper acknowledgment will be made and amount of the subscription turned over to Treasurer Charles W. Runyon.

PICKS HIS LAWYER'S POCKETS.

Acquitted Man "Dips" Attorney Who Defended Him.

New York, March 13.—"Gentlemen of the jury," pleaded a young attorney in General Sessions yesterday, "my client is an honest man. He is not a pickpocket. Give him a chance. Set him free."

The jury acquitted and the lawyer parted with his client under the bridge of sighs.

"I am glad you told the jury that I'm honest," said the client, and then he hurried away. A few moments later the young lawyer missed $25.

"I wonder if he was honest, after all," mused the lawyer, who had received no fee. It was an assigned case.

Orange, March 13.—While working over a pot of hot metal at the Sprague Electric Works, in Watsessing, last night, Albert Olsen, of No. 6 Lawrence street, East Orange, was burned by the upsetting of the metal. The stuff splashed in his face and into both eyes. It is believed he will become blind.

UNITED AFTER FORTY YEARS' SEPARATION.

Brother and Sister Had Lived Thirty Years a Mile Apart.

Trenton, March 13.—John Bryer and Mrs. Mary Runyon, brother and sister, separated in early childhood, more than forty years ago, have lived only a mile apart for the past thirty years; unaware of each other's existence. They met yesterday for the first time in all these years at Mrs. Runyon's house.

Both brother and sister were born at Baker's Basin, Mercer county. Their parents died at the close of the Civil War, when the brother and sister were children. The girl was adopted by Enoch Hart, a farmer of that vicinity, and the boy was taken to the West by a farmer, a friend of his father.

Ten years later the boy ran away from his Western home and returned to this locality. He tried to find his sister, but Mr. Hart had moved away from the farm, coming nearer to Trenton.

Bryer remained in Trenton and his sister married a man named Duncan and came to Trenton to live. Duncan died and his widow married Oliver C. Runyon, of this city.

Last week Capt. Van Kirk, of Lawrence Station, who knew both Bryer and his sister, met Bryer. Although he had not seen him in many years, he recognized him after a brief conversation and informed Bryer that his sister was still living. Mrs. Runyon learned Saturday that her brother was coming to see her. Both brother and sister have large families.

MARRIED ON THE SLY.

Couple Have Parental Blessing and Will Start Housekeeping.

Miss Mary Hand, seventeen years old, of Montgomery avenue, Belleville, prominent in society circles, surprised her friends yesterday by the announcement of her marriage to George Boyd, of Bloomfield. The ceremony was performed last October by Rev. Joseph M. Nardiello, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Bloomfield.

Fearing opposition from their parents on account of their age, they withheld knowledge from all except two intimate friends, who acted as witnesses at the wedding. They were bound to secrecy.

After the wedding the couple went to their homes. They have received the parental blessing and will begin housekeeping.

U. OF P. CHALLENGES YALE.

Football Games Between the University Teams May Be Resumed.

New Haven, Conn., March 13.—It was stated here yesterday that Yale had received a challenge from the University of Pennsylvania for a football game next fall. This is the first time that football negotiations have been entered into between the two universities since relations were broken off by Yale in 1893 on the ground of alleged roughing on the part of Pennsylvania men.

It is understood that a game may be arranged provided Yale does not play Harvard as usual.

Jerome Sues Hearst.

New York, March 13.—District Attorney Jerome began yesterday two suits for libel, one against the New York American and one against the Evening Journal. In each suit he asks for $100,000 damages. Jerome charges that his official integrity and honesty have been attacked editorially in the two papers. "I know it is now the custom," he said, "for abuse to be heaped on public officeholders, but when charges of corrupt practices are made or insinuated, it is going over the line."

Dowie, the Prophet, Near Death.

Chicago, March 13.—Deputy General Overseer Voliva, who is in supreme control at Zion City, announced at a meeting of the faithful in the tabernacle in Chicago that Dr. John Alexander Dowie is near death. He stated that Dr. Dowie's letters, regularly received from Jamaica up to a few days ago, demonstrated that he still retained a vigorous mind, but unless a miracle should be worked, he believed that Dr. Dowie could not live much longer.

AUTOMOBILE BILL MAKES PROGRESS.

Proposed Amendments to Frelinghuysen Measure Are Offered

A row broke out in the New Jersey Senate last evening when the Frelinghuysen automobile bill was up on second reading.

Amendment after amendment was offered, some of them making the bill more acceptable to the autoists, while other were just the other way. The limit of attack of the auto drivers was reached when Senator Horner, Burlington, introduced an amendment making it a misdemeanor for an autoist to disobey the provisions of the law. Of course, this proposed amendment was lost, as was the proposition to changing the authority over the law from the secretary of state to the state road commissioner, increasing salaries of commissioners of motor vehicles from $1,500 to $2,000 a year.

Senator Frelinghuysen said the revenue under the bill would be $60,000 to $10,000. Then the bill in the form of committee substitute passed second reading.

It was said last evening that this bill will go through the Senate this week.

Bishop's Bills Out This Week.

The Bishops' bills will probably be reported to the Legislature this week either favorably or with some amendments. The opponents of the measures will endeavor to get some amendments tacked on when the bills reach second reading, unless a compromise is made in the mean time. The interest in the temperance question has increased rather than diminished since the big hearing of last Tuesday. It certainly would not be surprising to see the subject take the center of the floor before long and hold it for some days.

Rector Preached, Burglars Robbed.

While Rev. Cornelius S. Abbott, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Belleville, was conducting the services in the church Sunday evening, thieves entered the parsonage and stole jewelry and money belonging to Miss Emma Abbott, a daughter of the rector. The thieves ransacked the house from cellar to garret, and while much silverware was in plain view they did not touch any of it.

Wednesday This Week?

It is still in order to make up pools as to whether the solons at Trenton will catch the 5:45 train, as usual, on Wednesday afternoon, or surprise the people and themselves by continuing in session through Thursday. Odds have prevailed hitherto on Wednesday, but the betting may be even this time, for several reasons.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY DIED THIS MORNING

END COMES TO THE FAMOUS WOMAN SUFFRAGIST IN ROCHESTER.

Rochester, March 13.—Miss Susan B. Anthony died this morning soon after midnight. She had been sinking steadily since her relapse three days ago. The Rev. Anna B. Shaw was with her.

Yesterday morning the following nieces arrived at her bedside: Mrs. George L. Baker, of Chicago; Miss Lucy E. Anthony, of Philadelphia; private secretary to Dr. Anna Shaw; Mrs. Alvin T. Jones, of Philadelphia. At 10 o'clock the following meassage was telegraphed to her nephew, Daniel R. Anthony, of Leavenworth, Kan.: "Little or no hope."

Sunday night in a delirium Miss Anthony spoke of the work in Oregon, where the battle for woman's suffrage is now being waged. Shortly after she sank into a stupor.

Susan B. Anthony was born at Adams, Mass., February 15, 1829, the second child of Daniel Anthony and Lucy Read. The Anthonys were Quakers.

At the age of three Susan B. Anthony was taught to read. After her father moved to Battenville, N. Y., she attended private school until she was fifteen. In 1838 her father lost his property and she taught almost continuously from 1840 to 1845.

In April, 1846, Miss Anthony was invited to take charge of the female department of the Canajoharie academy. She joined the Daughters of Temperance and an address delivered by her to the society was her first platform utterance.

In 1848 the first woman's rights convention was at Seneca Falls. Miss Anthony's parents attended and she learned much of what had occurred there from them. She was at once interested.

Miss Anthony's public life may be said to have begun fairly in 1852. She attended a convention of the Sons of Temperance at Albany, to which the Daughters had been invited.

From 1870 until her death Miss Anthony devoted her time to woman's suffrage.

DOCTORS OPPOSE OSTEOPATHY BILL.

Physicians from All Parts of the State Appear Against Measure to Legalize the Cult.

Trenton, March 13.—The House Committee on Public Health gave a lengthy hearing yesterday afternoon on Assemblyman Berg's bill to legalize osteopathy without requiring its practitioners to take the examination required of regular doctors. Physicians from all parts of the State were here to oppose the bill and lively argument was waged for several hours between them and the osteopathic advocates. The principal contention of the osteopaths was that they were not physicians in the sense of using drugs, that the Supreme Courts of this and other States had so decided and that it was not fair to compel them to submit to the tests exaced of doctors who dispensed medicines.

The doctors disputed the claims of the osteopaths and pointed out that the Supreme Courts of the various States were divided on the question whether osteopaths were medical practitioners. Osteopathic books were quoted at length to show that the cult believed in the use of drugs in some instances and attention was called to the fact that the Berg bill would give to osteopaths all the rights and privileges of other physicians. It was declared that the interests of public health demanded that osteopaths be thoroughly educated in all branches of medicine in order that they might be able to handle all cases of disease that might come to their notice.

THE GIRL PATSY MAKES DEBUT HERE

JANE MOULDEN FEIGL'S SHOW TO HAVE PREMIERE PERFORMANCE IN PLAINFIELD

The production of "The Girl Patsy" at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday matinee and night will be the premiere presentation of the play on any stage, but rehearsals have been going on in New York for nearly a month, so that everything is now in readiness. With such a competent company as the author, Jane Mauldin Feigl, has engaged, and with such thorough stage management, a smooth first performance is assured. All of the scenery, which is of the most elaborate description, will be set up in advance to prevent any delays between the acts.

Klaw & Erlanger, who are booking the route of "The Girl Patsy," selected Plainfield on account of the large business the big shows have been doing here this season. Manager Counihan naturally feels highly complimented and is working hard to fill the house at both shows Saturday. He has the promise of a first class attraction, and judging from the advance sale, which has started briskly, no one concerned will be disappointed in the attendance.

Jane Mauldin Feigl, who is responsible for "The Girl Patsy," will be remembered as the author of several good plays. Many years ago she launched "The Paris Model," which was an unqualified hit. Later came "Texas," which ran for so long at the Fourteenth Street theatre in New York, and is still on the road. She also has a number of other pieces that are to be done next season. A company of New York showmen has been organized to take over everything that she writes for the next five years, with the promise on her part of two new plays each season. In private life she is known as the wife of Col. Fred Feigl, the editor of Tammany Times. They have a beautiful estate called "The Boulders," near Mount Kisco station in Westchester county, where Mrs. Feigl does most of her writing. As her plays show, she is fond of out-of-door life. Among her pets she has everything from a prize bulldog to a Kentucky thoroughbred.

Without reflecting on the sex, it may be said that Mrs. Feigl has an abnormal sense of humor. She never fails to see the funny side of things and has a keen and ready wit. She is not only an author but a stage manager of ability. There is not an effect that she does not understand, nor a situation that is too complex for her analysis. Moreover, she selects her own companies and seldom makes a mistake, as is evidenced by the fact that "Texas" still has more than half of the actors and actresses that Mrs. Feigl engaged for the original production. In "The Girl Patsy" she has chosen for the title part winsome Mary Ryan, as clever a girl as has been seen here this season. Miss Ryan created a prominent part in "Home Folks" at the New York theatre last season, and is surely destined to win a great name for herself in the histrionic world. More than the usual number of high priced people are to be found in the cast of "The Girl Patsy." Among others may be found William C. Mortimer, Jack Drumier, John Sutherland, John Morris, W. Clinton Hamilton, Melville Alexander, Robert Wagner, Harry V. Williams, Grace Cahill, Olive Heraine Briscoe, Marie Haines, Rosalie DeVaux and Alice Knowland.

To Contest Appointments

The Fagan faction in the Hudson County Republican Committee will take to the courts the appointments by Chairman Kaiser of John P. Landrine and George T. Vickers as trustees, on the ground that they are not Republicans. It is alleged that Landrine voted for Charles C. Black, the Democratic candidate for Governor, and that Vickers voted against Mayor Fagan's re-election, and they are not eligible under the rules of the Republican committee. It is also likely that the Fagan men ousted as committeemen from the 11th ward of Jersey City will apply to the court. One of those forced out is Andrew Knox, Street and Water Commissioner, and the legal action will probably be entered in his name.

—Mrs. Carlotta Q. Fitz Gerald, of 1052 Arlington avenue, will remove tomorrow to 414 East Sixth street.
